PAVING FOR ROSE AVENUE REQUESTED BY RESIDENTS

Wait on Township Committee Wednesday Night At Special Meeting

Residents of Rose avenue appeared before the Township Committee Wednesday evening at a special meeting to petition that Rose avenue be accepted by the township and that the street be paved. A sufficient number of signers was furnished and the board notified the spokesman, Mrs. G. M. Duitweiler, that as soon as the resident engineer is consulted, action would be taken. Four hundred and forty feet of the street was paved before sewer construction, and the petitioners asked that the entire street from Mountain avenue through to Salter street and continued through the planned extension of Lyons place be included in the program. The signatures of owners of property on the locations were on the petition.

A. L. Terwilliger of South Maple avenue appeared before the committee to notify them that his street was in a poor condition, although the sewer contractors had remedied the situation to some extent by placing rocks in certain places, but he maintained that it would be better to remove excess dirt from the surface, since hard, sunken dirt ten inches beneath the top would permit automobiles to go through safely. The matter was referred to Mr. Leslie, chairman of the sewer committee.

The ordinance, fixing the election districts was passed on final reading. A letter was received from the State Highway Commission that it is planning action on filling the car tracks on Morris avenue with dirt, but that no definite work has been planned yet.

Arthur H. Lentox was notified by the board to appear at the next meeting Wednesday evening on the subject of water in the southern section of the town. Thomas E. Bowe, consulting engineer, will also be present.

License Revoked Here for Topsy Driving, Man Drives Back, Has Accident, Is Nabbed

John Paterson, of 6 Vain Court, Hampton Court, Jersey City, is in the Overlook Hospital, Summit, with a fractured skull, and Fred Paterson (not related), 39 years old, a painter, of 18 Baltusrol avenue, Summit, was placed in $2500 bail yesterday morning by Recorder Everett T. Spinning to appear in court Monday night, as a result of an automobile accident early Wednesday morning, when the car in which the injured man was a passenger and Paterson was the driver, crashed into a telephone pole on Mountain avenue, near Shunpike road, going towards Mountain side. The cause of the accident was given that the driver lost temporary control when the car hit a stone. Paterson, the driver, was arrested here last August 20 by Patrolman Thompson on a charge of drunken driving, and he was fined $200 and his license was revoked by Recorder Spinning. As a result, he did not have a license to operate the automobile, and the owner, Michael King, of 11 Prospect avenue, Summit, who at first said he was the driver, was held on a charge of allowing an unlicensed driver to operate his car. After the accident, Paterson attempted to flee, but he was arrested by Patrolman Searles.

It was only after hours of grilling by Chief M. C. Runyon that Paterson admitted guilt. At first, fear of being convicted for driving again after he had been convicted for drunken driving caused him to lie as to who the real driver was, he is said to have remarked in his confession to the police.

The injured man was said to be improving slowly at the hospital. Charles Bjurning, of 6 Vain street, Jersey City, a passenger in the car also, was held as a witness.

Who's Who In Springfield

T. C. DAVIDSON, JR.
Fire Commissioner, Newly-elected Member of the Board of Education, and active in development of the Fire Department.

Fire Commissioner T. C. Davidson Jr., achieved a notable accomplishment several weeks ago when he was elected a member of the Board of Education on a Tuesday and four days later, on a Saturday, he was re-elected a member of the Board of Fire Commissioners for the third term. He served on the Board of Elections of the first district for three years and was prominent in school work, having been an active member of the Parent-Teacher Association of some years back.

Mr. Davidson was born in Newark, forty-three years ago, and was educated in the schools there. When but a lad of thirteen summers, together with two other chums who incidentally were always found to be inseparable, not unlike "The Three Musketeers," he spent a week's vacation in Springfield at the home of a Mrs. Harry Wright, a widow, and friendly soul, who lived in the house now standing at 22 Mountain avenue. Springfield immediately won the man A. Mende, florist, two primrose plants; Edward Jaekel, florist, potted plant; J. Castronova, a pair of rubbers, won by James

CAR CRASHES INTO GROCERY WINDOW

Automobile Is Believed To Be Stolen—Driver Flees

Conrad Kraemer, 53 years old, of 194 Court street, Newark, was arrested by Patrolman Searles early Monday morning at 6:40 a. m. after the alleged stolen automobile in which he was a passenger crashed in the fog into the window of the National Grocery Company in Morris avenue and Seven Bridge road, smashing the glass to bits and also breaking a window of the confectionary store of Frank A. Maiorino, of 161 Morris avenue, next door. Thomas Spracker, of 641 Grove street, Irvington, named by Kraemer as the driver, fled after the accident and is being sought by Newark authorities.

Kraemer told the police the car was "borrowed" without permission from the Howard Garage, Howard street, Newark, and was the property of Max Teitelbaum, of 229 Court street, Newark. Spracker is employed in the garage as a watchman. The next morning, Tuesday, Newark was given a suspended sentence and released by Recorder Everett T. Spinning, after Newark police notified the local department they did not want him, but were after Spracker, on a charge of grand larceny.

The car, a Peerless sedan, was badly damaged and towed to a garage nearby.

CONTRACTOR OFFERS FREE TOWING SERVICE

The E. J. Flaherty Construction Company, sewer contractors, wish to remind local residents that they have secured the services of a garage in town to tow out all automobiles or vehicles which sink in muddy streets as a result of the sewer excavations. This service is rendered twenty-four hours a day, and the company feels that it is not obligated to pay for any towing charges unless it's own designated station is called for the purpose. The telephone call for towing cars is Millburn 324.

ST. JAMES PLAYERS WIN THIRD PRIZE IN AMATEUR DRAMATIC CONTEST

The St. James Dramatic Society placed third in the annual amateur competitive show contest held last Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings in Bloomfield, under the auspices of the Bloomfield Lodge 788, B. P. O. E. The sketch given by the local group was entitled, "The Sorcery House at Yum-Yum College" and had as its scene a girls' sorcery house on a college campus. First prize in the contest, $100, was won by the Masque Players of South Orange presenting "The Bishop's Candlesicks," and second prize, $50, was taken by the George Kahn Amateur Entertainers of Newark, with the show, "Fiquette." The "deals" won $25. Judging was made from a standpoint of plot, character, delivery, entertainment value, and applause.

About fifteen persons from Springfield, vocalists of the society. The members of the cast and plot is as follows:

Sorority girls: Helen Maczak, Madeline Santora, etc.

Marie Bender, Minnie Bellgrath, Dejah, Jane Owens, Fraternity Boys, William Drew, Tom Bryne, William Mente, Anthony and Charles Schaffernoth, Victor Blind.

The scene opens with the girls sitting in a room, planning mischief and the dean, Jane Owens, appears. She, naturally prudent, inquires as to the actions of the girls. After receiving a satisfactory answer, she departs and immediately the boys from the college, namely, Kath-Walk College, appear and prepare to make "whoopie." The dean returns, is shocked, and then is treated to a short lecture by Tom Bryne on "Astrology." It becomes so interesting that she leaves still listening to the astronomical wizard. She returns later and is converted to the side of skepticism. The play was well received. William drew sang several songs and Minnie Bellgrath received many encores. When the song, "I'm a

THREE HUNDRED ATTEND WASHINGTON BIRTHDAY DANCE OF VOLUNTEERS

A colorful social occasion was held Saturday evening when more than three hundred persons were present at the annual Washington's Birthday Dance, held in the Municipal Building, under the auspices of the Springfield Volunteer Fire Department. The hall, decorated in red and white, with Washington hatchets about, represented the holiday spirit.

An unlooked-for surprise caused considerable comment in the latter part of the evening when at a given signal several American flags were unfurled, and inflated balloons dropped from the ceiling. Everyone present was given a bag, containing a gay-colored holiday hat, a bag of confetti, a noise-maker and streamers. At different stages of the evening, colored lights were thrown on the dancers, so that with the noisemakers, the streamers, confetti, colored hats, and excellent music by Murphy's orchestra, of Irvington, a "Marlboro" spirit was prevalent. Some times, the syncopated music would appeal to the younger dancers, while at other times, appropriate waltzes satisfied the older folks.

The Fire Company wishes to thank the following merchants who helped make the dance a success by donating different prizes: Springfield Meat Market, 12-lb. ham, won by Mrs. Charles Pinkava; Mutual and American Grocers, mixed groceries; Cardinal Poultry Farm; two dressed chickens; Springfield Department Store, military and shaving set; Miss Wood's store, gentleman's shirt; Springfield Garage and Morris Avenue Motor Car Company, motor supplies; Detrick's Service Station, two inner tubes; Springfield Bakery, large cake, won by Township Clerk Robert D. Treat, who immediately announced that it would be presented to Committeeman Fred A. Brown, who is in the Elizabeth General Hospital, as a result of injuries he received in the explosion of the Standard Oil Plant, in Linden, and also to some of the other patients there; Schneider's, delicatessen, coffee; (Continued On Page Two) admiration of the young Davidson boy as a typical home-like country town, far different from the city to which he had always been accustomed. The beautiful trees adorning the sides of Mountain avenue, were a novelty.

Mr. Davidson still recalls the old barn on the corner of Morris avenue and Mountain avenue, now the site of the Springfield Garage. Swallows used to dip there in and out of the shadows, making a very impressive scene. There was a pond nearby toward the present site of the Railway Valley Railroad, where the boys used to fish and swim. It was with reluctance that the boys left Springfield. But the young subject of our story did not forget the wonderful time she had at the home of the hospitable and amiable Mrs. Wright, and that summer, frequent bicycle trips were made to Springfield. These continued for several years. Then Mr. Davidson's schooling days were over and he did not see Springfield again for some eighteen years.

Meanwhile, he was travelling in different parts of the country, spending two years at the home of a friend in Colorado, on a cattle ranch, and back again to the East in Pennsylvania.

Then Mr. Davidson married and it was necessary to choose a home. Mr. Davidson, remembering his good times here, chanced one Sunday to visit Springfield after so many years. That was in 1919. Mrs. Wright had moved away and many of the old neighbors were still dead. Right then and there, Mr. Davidson's mind was made up that he would live here in Springfield. He bought a house at 53 Mountain avenue and is still there.

Mr. Davidson's pet hobby is the development of the Fire Department. He has been a member of the company for eight years, is an exempt fireman, and while a member of the Board of Commissioners, assisted in purchasing two new fire trucks.

He is financial secretary of the Carpenters Local Union 1113, and has served in that capacity for nine years. He is a member of George H. Adams Council 36, Jr. O. U. A. M., of Newark, and a director in the Battle Hill Building and Loan Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Davidson have three children, Robert, Walter and Virginia Joy.

OLD SPRINGFIELD FIRE TRUCK BOASTS OF ANCIENT HISTORY

There are a number of people in Springfield who are ignorant of the fact that the body of the Reo fire truck, which is resting in the fire house now between the comparative giant horse truck and the hook and ladder truck, at one time reposed on four wheels and was driven to fires by a team of horses twenty-years ago. The fire company at one time could not afford an automobile for fire purposes and besides cars were not "the rage" as they are now. Some years later a Reo chassis was purchased and the body rested on that.

The original body was built by Joseph Koch in 1910. Mr. Koch, who was a wagon builder and blacksmith, had a shop on Seven Bridge road, died here recently, and his son, John Koch, is now a member of the volunteer fire company. At that time the company did not have horses of its own, and when a fire broke out, any team of horses which were nearby were hooked up to the wagon and driven to the fire. As a rule, either Elmer Sicklely or Charles H. Ruby's horses were used, since they were always in the center of the town. Mr. Sicklely having had a coal and lumber yard in the rear of what is now the Lyons building.

On one occasion, one Sunday in 1915, an alarm was sent out from Union that a big fire was in progress there and asked for help here in Springfield. Being the Sabbath Day, no horses were available and Volunteer Fireman Chas. Pinkava, who is now a paid fireman, got out a tow car from his garage, the Springfield Garage, and towed the wagon to Union. That marked the first time that any fire truck in Springfield was pulled by motor. The Board of Fire Commissions at this time realized the necessity of a motor vehicle and had an arrangement made so that the fire wagon could be towed to fires. This method was used for several years, and then the board purchased a Reo chassis and had the body of the old wagon placed on the truck.

Prior to buying the original wagon, the equipment of the local company was so negligible that it was necessary to purchase an entire new set of accessories for the newly-purchased wagon. This consisted of a small and large reel of hose, with about 500 feet to each. But when the motor vehicle was rejuvenated, another set of equipment was bought.

Meanwhile the township was steadily progressing and in 1924, a Mack hose wagon and chemical truck was bought. This was supplemented by another addition, a Mack hook and ladder, combination hose and chemical truck, with a 900-gallon capacity pump. When the new machine was purchased, a celebration was held in the firehouse and ice cream and cake served, at which the majority of those present were children. With all these new additions still the antique Reo truck is used just as ever. When house calls are sent to the firehouse, all the trucks are sent out. If a brush fire alarm is sent, the Mack hose wagon and little Reo are used.

Any visitor inspecting the firehouse would gaze at the new, highly-polished trucks with admiration, but how many remember that the "midget" truck in the middle can remember fires from way back in 1910?

TODAY

Tomorrow plays a big part in some people's lives. Yesterday takes up considerable space with others. There are those who pin their faith in the future. There are others who dwell in the past.

It is not strange that the young, whose powers have not yet arrived, should mentally live by anticipation. It is not unnatural that the aged, whose splendor is gone, should revert in their thoughts to previous glory.

But both in a sense are wrong. There is only one mood, and that is the present. Our past and our future are conceptions, seen through the eyes of the present. We live always in the immediate instant.

The mind has the marvelous faculty of glancing backward, or peering forward, or turning attention to itself. But what it does is done in a present moment. What we perceive, or feel, or think, or plan, is something that occurs at the time, a sort of present moment that is forever moving forward, but always remains instant and immediate.

We lead our lives on the assumption of things to be attained and finished, of goals to be reached and concluded. We have the conception of beginnings and endings. But as a matter of fact, when we strive to put our fingers on an exact beginning spot, we always find something stretching farther back. And when we fancy that we have marked the boundary where we think something ends, we find it merging into the beginning of something new.

Henry Van Dyke, the Princeton essayist, said a lifetime of reflection convinced him nothing is static. A more profound philosopher of today, Bergson, expresses very penetratingly the idea of the continual creative evolution of things. A Greek, 400 years before Christ, said that the net result of philosophizing was that all things were in a continual state of flux, a process of becoming. Which goes to show that new ideas are not divorced from the old, and old ideas are not necessarily antiquated.

If there is anything useful in these abstractions, it is this: The present is the only real time. The past and future are shadows. Whatever we are to do, or feel, or think, or enjoy, must be done actively in the present. Don't lean on the past. Don't discount the future. Live in the present.

AN OBJECTIONABLE BILL

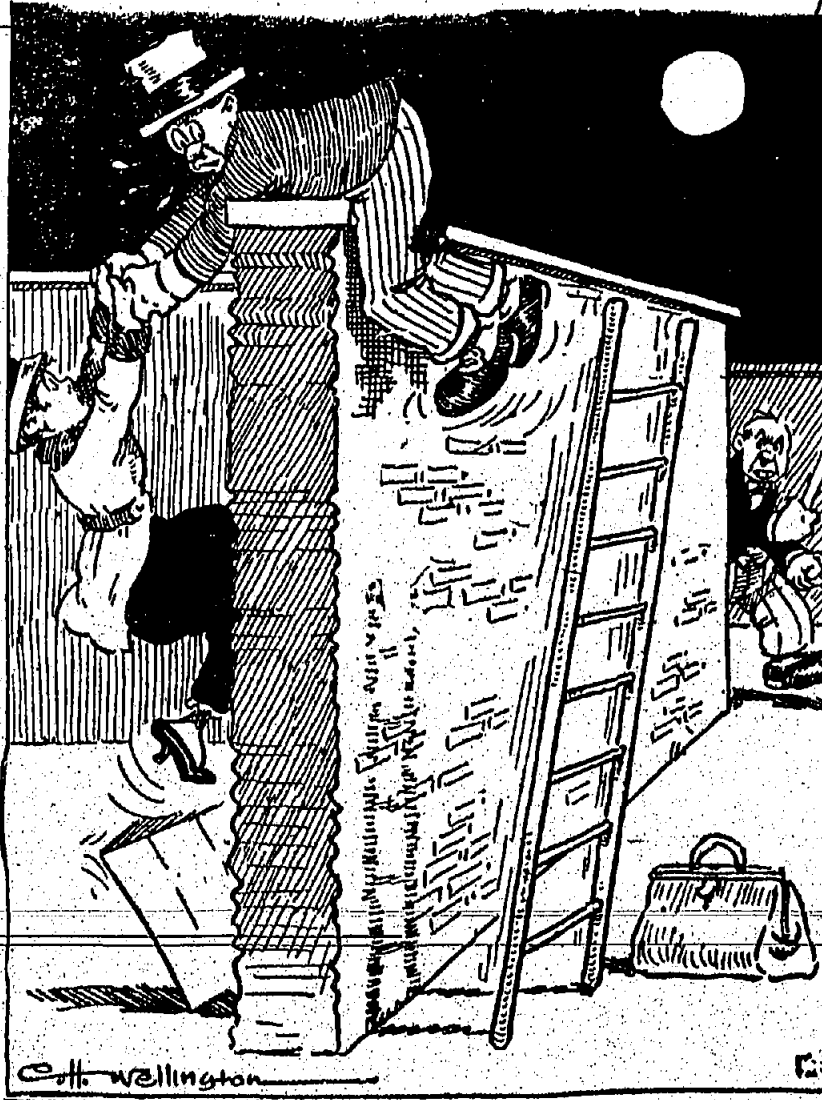

An example of the kind of legislation which could very well be dispensed with is furnished by the introduction of a recent bill in the Senate known as Senate Bill No. 72.

We have on the statutes today a law affording tenure of office to clerks in all municipalities who have served for five years. When this law was adopted, the reasons given were that this office had close association with important work of a municipality, and that one who familiarized himself with its details became a valuable adjunct to governmental administration, making it worth while to remove the position from the vicissitudes of politics.

The present bill is designed to amend the law by omitting townships from its provisions. If it is a good law, it is proper for townships also. If the law has objectionable features, they apply to all municipalities, not alone to townships.

The constitution requires all legislation to be of a general and not of a special character. This legislation not only seems special, but probably has some undisclosed motive behind it. It is a type of legislation which outwardly appears to conform to constitutional requirements, but in substance is the sheerest kind of special legislation.

—and the Worst is Yet to Come

Rambling Around SPRINGFIELD

The firmer's Washington Birth- dance last Saturday evening brought back memories to some of the older folks present of a ball presented by the fire company some eighteen years ago. At that time, the company was but a few years old, and a Valentine's Day Dance was held. Men were charged forty-nine cents admission, and the women n' ty-eight cents, an one matron present at the dance here Saturday quoted herself as saying that this ball reminded her of the Valentine Day affair. An- certainly, -ry one who attended the dance were of the opinion that this was one of the best, if not the most enjoyable dance the fire company has ever held, and that makes exceptions to none. Credit is due to the members of the company who helped assist in making th- dance of 1930 the greatest f- all firerem's dances.

The St. James Play - the members of the Dramatic Society of the St. James Catholic Church, in placing third in the amateur three-day competitive show contest of the Bloomfield Elks, defeated some of the finest dramatic clubs in this part of the State. This prize carried with it a sum of $25. Entries were present from Newark, Bloomfield, South Orange, East Orange, Woodbridge and Springfield. Only invited organizations could take part.

Petitioners who signed an application to the Township Committee on regulating sites of gas stations in town and the abolition of automobile graveyards on main highways here, and who presented it to the governing body last week will be glad to hear that rumors have been heard that favorable action on the plan will be taken.

Springfield's bowlers start a good chance of finishing in the money in the Lackawanna League if they stop losing two out of three games to the weaker teams. If they only understood that to the printer, WIN THREE GAMES means less work than writing LOSE TWO OUT OF THREE, of course no doubt arises in the minds of their followers that they would close the season with a perfect slate. But it becomes our duty to remind them of the great time-saver they would effect if they would win three games instead of losing two out of three.

The exclusive feature of the Sun, "Who's Who in Springfield," has proven itself so popular that we feel readers should be permitted to send letters to the Sun suggesting certain persons for this column and giving sufficient reason for their choice. Why not this moment, recollect that some one should be placed in "Who's Who in Springfield" who has not been written of before?

hind it. It is a type of legislation which outwardly appears to conform to constitutional requirements, but in substance is the sheerest kind of special legislation.

There is not, and hardly can be, any good reason why townships should be singled out from the provisions of the act and considered on a plane different from other municipalities. This is the sort of legislation which could fittingly remain buried in committee. It not only appears to be special, but is likewise discriminating.

SPRINGFIELD BUSINESS REVIEW

DOERRIES' GARAGE IS OLDEST HERE

Springfield Garage - Founded On Present Site 20 Years Ago

The Springfield Garage, at the corner of Morris and Mountain avenues, is the oldest automobile service station in Springfield, and specializes in expert repair work. The motto of this concern is "No repair job too difficult and certainly not too small to handle." The well-equipped machine shop of the garage compares favorably with any in this vicinity.

The garage was established on its present sitetwenty years ago by Joseph, Albert, and Charles Pinkava. Erwin S. Doerries, who purchased it a year ago, continues to use the same businesslike policy as its founders. Joseph Pinkava is still employed in the establishment, as well as three other men, each thoroughly experienced in their profession.

Day and night service is available at this garage, and a wrecker is always on the job ready for any emergency. Mr. Doerries also has for hire a straight-eight Packard sedan for livery purpose, and anyone on giving the garage a telephone call, will find the automobile with the chauffeur ready for use, and the rates for this service are very moderate.

The garage is always filled to its capacity of thirty cars for parking space, illustrating that the patrons of the garage are well-satisfied with the service the owner gives them.

Mr. Doerries is also the agent for all styles of Oakland, Pontiac Cars, as well as Philco Neutrodyne Balanced Screen-Grid Radios.

Goodrich-Silvertown Automobile Tires may be obtained from the Springfield Garage from $7 and up. This nationally-known tire may be supplied in all sizes. A one-hundred per cent guarantee is given with every tire and this is available regardless of the price paid. There are three types of tires: the Cavalier, the cheaper type; the Goodrich-Silvertown, supplied in 4 and 6 ply; and then the De Luxe, considered one of the best tires put out on the market. The last named tire is a durable article and is guaranteed to give good service, or a new tire will be exchanged for it.

About two hundred suppers were served at the annual Washington's Birthday Supper of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the lecture room last Saturday evening. Many persons were present from out of town. The number of suppers served this year was considerably less than the year before, due to the reason that other affairs conflicted, and that the holiday was part of a week-end. However, the supper was estimated to be a success.

Decorations were in red, white and blue. In the center of each table was a high hat and streamers of red, white and blue. A red candlestick also adorned the center of each table. Mrs. Hattie Doerries was in charge, assisted by Mrs. Robert Matthews and Mrs. Charles Stearns. Other committees were as follows: Reception, Mrs. William J. Reed, Mrs. Robert L. Ferguson, Mrs. Elmer Sickle and Mrs. Phoebe Quick; posters and tickets, Mrs. Edna B. Smith and Mrs. Arthur Kendall; publicity, Mrs. Charles H. Huff; decorations, Mrs. Howard Day and Mrs. Manning Day, Jr.; serving room, Mrs. Charles Stearns; kitchen, Mrs. Albert Croot, and tables, Mrs. A. Leona Crane.

ABOUT 100 ATTEND JR. O. U. A. M. PARTY

About one hundred persons were present at the card party held Friday evening in the Municipal Building under the auspices of Battle Hill Council 120, Jr. O. U. A. M. Several merchants in town donated gifts to be distributed. They were the Springfield Bakery, which donated a supply of Simoniz, and the Sunoco Gas Station, which donated five gallons of gas. Charles S. Quinzel, of Flemer avenue, won first prize for the men and Mrs. Catherine M. Cain of Bryant avenue won first prize for the women. Twenty-five prizes were offered.

Fifteen tables of bridge were in play as well as three tables of dominoes and a table for bean bag. The Battle Hill quartet, consisting of Peter B. Kaeper, Harold Baker, J. H. Baker and M. Marty, sang several songs, and refreshments were served after the party. Mrs. Ida Puppinger accompanied the quartet at the piano.

A short business meeting preceded the card party. A report was given that Harry C. Stewart, who has been seriously ill for several weeks, is steadily improving, also that Henry Schuster, a member of General Putnam Council of Newark, and father of John H. Schuster, past Councilor, is also improving in health and is being cared for by members of the local council.

AT ROTH-STRAND

Sue Carol, portraying the leading feminine role in "The Lone Star Ranger" Movietone all-talking border romance, was selected as one of the 13 Wampus baby stars in 1928. She is co-featured with George O'Brien who enacts the character of a Texas Ranger.

A. F. Erickson directed the picture which comes to the Roth Strand this Friday and Saturday. A. H. Van Buren was in charge of stage direction.

The all-talking comedy, "The Gentlemen of the Evening," the Mickie Mouse cartoon, "Choo, Choo Cars," and the vodvil film, "The Alpine Love Call" are the outstanding short subjects at the Strand this Friday and Saturday. "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is this Saturday's matinee special. This is an elaborate and stupendous super-feature production with an all-star cast of screen notables.

A cast of all-star calibre was assembled to play the leading roles in "Murder on the Roof," the all-talking mystery drama coming to the Strand Summit next Monday and Tuesday. In the dramatization of the famous Liberty Magazine serial, Columbia was determined to lavish every care and spare no expense.

George Jessel, starred in "Love, Live and Laugh," Movietone production coming to the Strand Summit next Wednesday for one day only is one of the best educated men on screen or stage, although he only attended school six months in his life. He is entirely self-educated, being an omnivorous reader. His favorite subjects are philosophy and religion and he boasts one of the most complete libraries in the world on Jesus of Nazareth.

"Frozen Justice," Leonore Ulric's talking picture, which Allan Dwan directed, opens at the Strand Summit Theatre next Thursday. This Fox Movietone picture tells the story of a half caste northern princess who turns songstress in a Yukon dance hall. Miss Ulric is said to have created a character even more turbulent than either "Kiki" or "Lulu Belle."

The cast includes such distinguished players as Robert Frazer, Louis Wolheim, El Brendel, George MacFarland, Charles Judels, Alice Larkie, Gertrude Astor, Adele Wind, J. La La Winter, Ulrich Haupt and Brian Donlevy.

Through the generous aid of friends in town, Mrs. Brown has visited the injured man every day since the accident. Several persons have volunteered the use of their automobiles to Mrs. Brown and she has taken advantage of the opportunity to get to the Elizabeth General Hospital.

Mr. Brown was placed in a wheel chair Tuesday and physicians say he will be in the hospital for at least three weeks.
