BRUSH FIRE WARNING GIVEN BY CHIEF SISCO

With spring-cleaning coming soon and rubbish being burned in backyards, Fire Chief George W. Sisco warns housewives to be cautious that the flames do not get beyond control, since the grass is very dry and the March winds help spread flames rapidly. The two brush fires the early part of this week are but a fore-runner of what is in store, and unless due caution is used, damage, which up to now has been slight, will rise to a high toll.

Chief Sisco also wishes to remind smokers not to throw ignited matches or cigarettes on the ground, but to be sure they are extinguished. Until some years ago, brush fires were not thought of as being dangerous, with homes being far apart, but with the changing conditions, of houses closer to each other, slight winds will spread brush fires very quickly.

RICHARD TRIVETT

President of the Sinking Fund Commission; former Township Committeeman and Chairman of that body for twelve years.

FUGITIVES ARE CAPTURED HERE

Patrolman Searles Nabs 4 New Yorkers After Chase

After an automobile chase of five blocks, four young men were arrested as suspicious characters by Patrolman Searles in Morris and Short Hills avenues Tuesday at 1:35 a. m. and after being questioned at police headquarters, admitted having stolen the automobile in which they were driving, from New York. After getting in touch with authorities there, local police learned that two of the four had criminal records and served eighteen months in jail for attempted burglary.

The four, James Murray, 21, alias James Glynn, of 123 Henry street, Newark; Joseph Rinaldi, 18, alias Joseph Russo, of 44 Rutgers street; Michael Weiner, 18, of 189 Madison street, and Roger Waters, 22, of 294 Cherry street, all of New York City, were taken to headquarters and New York police took them back the next day.

Patrolman Searles, who was on the lookout for the five youthful bandits, who, earlier in the evening held up and robbed a gas station, became suspicious when he saw a large black sedan bearing New York license plates, going towards Summit. He signalled the driver, Weiner, to stop at Morris avenue and Main street, and when the former refused, gave chase and forced the fleeing car to stop at Short Hills avenue.

The proprietors of the two gas stations, who were robbed this week, could not identify the four as the same who had held them up.

ANOTHER GASOLINE STATION IS PREY OF BANDIT GANG

Sixty-Dollars Stolen Monday by Five Daring Robbers In Mountain Avenue

Five youthful bandits, flashing menacing automatic pistols, held up and robbed a gas-filling station at Mountain and Tooker avenues Monday night at 10 o'clock and escaped with $60 in cash after cutting the telephone wires. This was the second gas station robbery here in seventy-two hours. The five bandits caused police in Newark and East Orange to be on the alert, and in each of four similar robberies the same night, the descriptions of the highway thieves and their high-powered black sedan with stolen New York license plates, caused police to believe that it was the same gang which robbed a gas station in East Orange, two gas stations in Newark, as well as a barber shop there and the robbery here.

The gas station in Springfield was owned by Steckel and Stahl of Newark, and was operated by one of the partners, Emil Stahl, when the sedan came to a halt outside the station, and two men came inside to buy cigarettes while the others were putting air in their tires. Inside, the proprietor was ordered to turn over his money, and the cash register was rifled. After cutting the telephone wires with a hacksaw, the quintet left towards Plainfield. Stahl was unable to give a good description of the quintet but said they escaped in a high-powered car. Earlier in the day it was learned later, he had taken out burglary insurance, and his loss was covered.

Patrolmen Stiles and Selander were sent to investigate.

FIREMEN PUT OUT TWO BRUSH FIRES

Firemen were called to two brush fires Monday afternoon. The first at 1 o'clock, believed to have been caused by a spark from a train on the Rahway Valley railroad, was on the side of the railroad near 79 Tooker avenue, and was quickly extinguished by chemicals. The other, two hours later, at Morris and Molter avenues, spread rapidly with the aid of a high wind, but it was also extinguished without much difficulty.

There was no damage in either case.

Plans For Swimming Pool Submitted To Committee

State Wide Bond & Mortgage Firm Would Build Bathing Center 80x100

NEAR 7 BRIDGE ROAD AND MAPLE AVENUE

Application for a permit to build a swimming pool, having frontage on Seven Bridges road and on Maple avenue, was made at the Township meeting Wednesday night. The company seeking the permit, the State Wide Bond and Mortgage Company, of Elizabeth, plans to erect an open-air pool 80 by 100 feet, in such a way that a triangle of property will still exist at the intersection of the streets.

Plans call for ladies' and men's dressing rooms, special ladies' dressing rooms, showers and a refreshment place, and a total capacity of 2,000 persons. The company has built a pool in Van Courtland street, New York City and in several other places. The matter was laid over for further consideration.

A delegation of residents of Diven street, headed by Aaron Garner, appeared before the board, asking that their street be fixed. It now has holes large enough, Mr. Garner stated, "to bury a few horses and an automobile." He was notified that the street would be repaired the next day.

Arthur D. Warner of Alvin terrace, appeared before the board in reference to the sewer right-of-way in his property, the proposed Harris place. He claimed compensation for the right-of-way and asked why the township used the street without his permission, Mr. Weeks, the attorney, explained to a legal advisor of Mr. Warner's, that when a map was submitted for work in Warner avenue and Alvin terrace, several years ago, Harris place was shown on the map as a proposed street, and that the law is interpreted to say that if a map be made up, and one lot on the entire map sold, then all streets on the map are dedicated public streets.

At the February meeting of the board, an anonymous letter was received that certain dog kennels in town were a nuisance, and asked the board to remedy the situation. Police Chief Rinyon was ordered to make a survey of the conditions and report to the Township Committee. He submitted the report and found everything all in proper order.

Bids will be received at the April 9 meeting for the disposal of ashes and garbage, from May 1, 1930, to May 1, 1931.

A communication was read from the Baltusrol Golf Club on the street conditions in Hillside avenue, west of Mountain avenue, known as Turkey lane. Mr. McNulty, resident engineer, was ordered to have the street temporarily repaired as soon as possible. A communication was received from the Mosquito Committee of the Board of Freeholders, asking the board to notify the committee of bad mosquito breeding places in Springfield, so that oils might be sprayed in those parts. Mr. Treat was ordered to write to the Board of Freeholders and notify them that Freeholder Huff would be able to explain of any bad breeding places.

It was also ordered that residents of Rose avenue be told that they will not be able to get any allowance on the 400 feet of pavement put in their street by the sewer construction, since the engineer's report showed that only two inches of stone existed, while the township regulations stated there must be six inches of crushed stone. The residents affected are to be informed of this.

A petition given the Township Committee at its last meeting by Frank Carter asked for paving in Remer avenue as far as the center of a proposed street, Wenz ave, which runs crosswise at the end of Remer avenue. Since neither of these streets have been accepted by the township, property owners would have to divide the costs of paving in that small part of Wenz avenue. However, if the streets would be accepted by the township, the township would have to pay for the costs at the intersections of the two streets. Mr. Treat was asked to explain this to the property owners on Remer avenue, and to see whether they would pay for the expenses there at that square formed by the coming together of the two streets.

FLEEING NEGROES ESCAPE IN SWAMP

Automobile Thieves Hide Off Seven Bridges Road

Police chased Saturday night, three negroes who were driving an automobile which they had stolen from Union. They escaped in the swamps in Seven Bridges road after a close adventure with the law.

A call was sent to Desk Sergeant Thompson who was at headquarters about 9 o'clock that a car, bearing Passaic County license plates, was stolen from Union Patrolman Sorge at the church corner was notified to be on the look out and when he saw the automobile come out of Main street from Millburn, he ordered the driver to stop and gave chase into Seven Bridges Road. Patrolman Stiles, who was at the junction of Seven Bridges road and Morris avenue, joined in the chase after notifying headquarters of the chase. Meanwhile, Patrolman Selander was dispatched to go through Warner avenue and Alvin terrace to cut off the trio at the swamps.

When the stolen car reached the Vaux Hall line, the occupants placed the car in "second gear," swerved to the left, and as the car was about to plunge into the embankment, the three jumped out to the right into the swamps and ran away. Patrolman Sorge searched the buildings nearby while Stiles followed through the swamps. After a long search, it was futile to continue. The car, which was owned by a resident of Paterson, was badly wrecked.

WHO'S WHO IN SPRINGFIELD

Trivett and Walters, building contractors. His intention in coming here was to lead a quiet life, but most of his important duties came after his fiftieth year, when he settled in a farm which he still owns in South Springfield avenue, opposite the Raymond Chisholm School.

About the year 1900, Mr. Trivett was elected a member of the Town Committee, which at that time had only three members. He was defeated a second time when he ran again, he was elected a member. The next term, Mr. Trivett was made chairman and he served in this capacity until a few years before the war and he left the board. While Mr. Trivett was a member and chairman of the Township Committee, telephones were installed here, electric lights placed in the northern districts and Main street from Morris ave. to the Millburn line was paved and made a thoroughfare. Many streets were laid out during his administration. It is interesting to note that only $600 was used for road repairs one year, while that amount might be used in one day at the present era. The streets at Mr. Trivett's time were by far worse than they are today. Mr. Trivett recalls when his wagon wheels sunk in mud a foot deep, and the wagon drove over the surface of the road.

Mr. Trivett succeeded the late William Flemer as a member of the Board of Education, upon the former's death, and was also elected a member of the board for one term.

Mr. Trivett is president of the Sinking Fund Commission, and the other members are commissioner, Robert L. Ferguson, and secretary, William Hoppaugh.

Mr. Trivett was the owner of the plot of ground upon which the Town Building is now located. He filled it in with dirt and transformed it into a good plot of land from a swampy area. He sold the ground to the township in 1918, and the grounds for the building were laid out by Elmer Sickley, who was then a member of the Township Committee.

Mr. Trivett was instrumental in having Flemer avenue put through from Mountain avenue to Morris avenues and had the present trees planted there. He advocated the street to prevent heavy traffic from using Mountain avenue, and thus endangering the lives of school children in the James Caldwell School.

He is a member of the executive committee of the Union County Agricultural Society, and has been a member of the society for thirty years. He has six children, Mrs. Charlotte Harriet Quinzel, wife of former Town Committeeman Charles S. Quinzel; Mrs. Hannah Elizabeth Shawcross, of Springfield; George Henry, Charles Roberts, of Glen Ridge; Harry Richard of East Orange, and Mrs.

Sarah Ellen Armstrong of Bloomfield.

Mr. Trivet has been a member of the Methodist Church since coming to Springfield and has also been a member of the Board of Trustees for more than thirty years.

RELATION OF PUBLIC UTILITIES

Recent decisions of the United States Supreme Court revive the question as to what will be the ultimate method of handling public utilities.

The decisions have sweepingly favored the utility owners. There were appeals from the State Courts, which had already granted rate increases, and the Supreme Court added to these increases.

The traveling public is interested in getting the lowest cost of transportation. The company wishes an adequate return. So far as courts are concerned, they can do nothing more than apply the law to what they find to be facts. The present law fixing transportation rates makes the value of the company holdings the main foundation on which transportation costs rest.

Granted that a company has certain usable and useful holdings necessary in the business, granted that it has a fixed cost of operation, the court will follow the law, which allows a rate based upon these factors. If the value of the holdings is high, the rate is proportional. If the value of the holdings is low, the rate drops. Also, values are considered from the standpoint of actual present replacement costs, namely, what it would cost to go out in the open market and buy the things, and replace the structures used.

In these contests between the community and the company, the community is always at a disadvantage. The company has information of its own affairs, and intimate details, and intimate details. The community must start from scratch and pay for the exhaustive work of gathering details, and for expert testimony in their presentation. It is a costly job. Besides, when the fray is over, the bill of the company for contesting the rate case is added to its cost of operation. The community not only pays its own expenses, but frequently has to pay what it costs the company to have a defeat administered to the community.

The system certainly is not a satisfactory one. When utilities first appeared on the horizon, they were private ventures. It soon became apparent that it was wasteful to have duplicate service. Natural monopolies, such as transportation, came into the hands of single owners.

Just as it is economically wasteful to have a unit industry in competitive hands, so likewise it is socially unsafe to have a natural monopoly in private hands without regulation.

Utility Commissions have sprung into statutory being to meet this exigency. They have probably done the best they could, within the limitations of the law. But an arrangement of private ownership, private administration, practically complete private control and operation, with the public share of regulation consisting mostly in gathering testimony about values so as to fix rates, is an unsatisfactory solution of transportation problems from the standpoint of the man who pays for the transportation.

—and the Worst is Yet to Come

Rambling Around SPRINGFIELD

Discussion has been heard around town that streets will be paved in not so many weeks ahead, and that the sewer contractor is nearing the completion of the sewer for the original contract, although there has been additional work added since the plans were made up several years ago. There must be quite a few persons in town who can't wait to see the streets looking as they did before the ground was torn up for construction work. It reminds an imagist of the feelings of the French peasants when the World War was over, or else like a person moving into a new apartment, and then starting to fix things up a bit, after the moving man is gone. We could go into hundreds of other similar examples, but we won't mention them until the sewer is actually finished.

Springfield supplied a first "Lady of the Land" and the mother of a United States President, according to a sermon given in the Presbyterian Church last Sunday. The Rev. Dr. George A. Liggett, who is well acquainted with history of the church, in looking up historical manuscripts, found that the granddaughter of the first pastor of the Presbyterian Church, her last name being Sims, married William Henry Harrison, the hero in the War of 1812, who became president and afterwards had a son, Benjamin Harrison, who became president of the United States. At the church service Sunday, Dr. Liggett gave extracts from a sermon delivered in the same church in 1791 in the opening service by the Rev. Jacob Van Arsdale, which was found in records of the New Jersey Historical Society by Miss Celia Landers.

An application for a swimming pool in Seven Bridges road and Maple avenue was given to the Township Committee Wednesday, and the plans called for a pool 80 feet by 100 feet. The capacity of the proposed pool will be 2,000 and accommodations for ladies' and men's dressing rooms are included. The pool, while it might be beneficial to many, would bring many undesirables here, causing considerable traffic delays and force addition of policemen for the purpose. The best plan for a pool would be a municipal pool, open to the tax-payers and residents of Springfield. The Township Committee notified the applicants, the State Bond and Mortgage Company of Elizabeth, that they would consider the matter.

DETRICK GARAGE YEAR OLD TODAY

Have Confidence of Customers Until Today Is One of the Largest Garages Here

Detrick's Service Station at Seven Bridges road and Morris Avenue, celebrates its first birthday today. Taken over March 14, 1929 by two brothers, William and Charles Detrick, it has had a successful year, having as its motto, "Service To the Public." Regardless of the detail work needed, the station is always ready for an emergency. If a car be towed under bad weather conditions, it is done, and if a flat tire forces a car not to be able to get to the station, Detrick's tow-car will bring it to the garage.

The Detrick brothers are experts in their line, both having served in the U. S. Navy as machinists, and have between them twenty-one years of experience. Two other assistants are on the staff of the garage.

Detrick's Station offers a good guarantee on Griffith's Tires, which they claim are the only tire sold direct from dealer to consumer at mail order prices. The tires are from $5.55 to $28.75. The super-thread is guaranteed for 25,000 miles; the 6-ply for 15,000 miles and the 4-ply for 12,000. Regardless of any circumstance, if the workmanship on the tire shows defects from the factory, the tire will be replaced with a new one. Griffiths also make batteries from $8.50 and up. These are guaranteed for one and two years. Willard batteries from $13.50 may be obtained at Detrick's Station.

Beginning April 1, motorists will be able to obtain Shell gasoline, oils and grease at Detrick's Station. This will be the only garage in Springfield selling the Shell products. The station is to be painted on the outside in the Shell colors.

Detrick's Garage has a capacity of 35 cars and one may be convinced that patrons are satisfied with the service given them by glancing at the inside of the station which is always filled to its capacity.

The station is opened 24 hours, day and night, and will repair, tow or supply gasoline to any motorist at any time of the night or day. A wrecker is always ready for emergencies.

Detrick's Garage are repair experts and are well-equipped to fix defects in the most intricate parts of your automobile.

AT ROTH-LYRIC

One of the ambitions of Harold Corbett, manager in charge of the unit of the John E. Couitt's Company of Stock Players, appearing on Wednesday of each week at the Roth-Lyric Theatre, Summit, has been to have his talented company diverge from the realm of comedy for a sufficient length of time to all for the presentation of a good dramatic play and he is to gratify that ambition next Wednesday,
March 19th, at the Roth-Lyric
Theatre, Summit, when the Couitts' Stock Players present "Hell Bent
for Heaven," the Pulitzer Prize play, which scored a sensational hit in New York, on the road, and stock players' presentations thruout the country.
"Hell Bent for Heaven," by Katcher Begee, is a highly imaginative drama, full of human character and alive with understandable sentiment of a mountain

The new picture, directed by King Vidor, famous director of "The Big Parade," is the first all-Negro drama of the screen and is to the silver sheet what "Porgy" and such plays have been to the speaking stage. Most of it was filmed near Memphis, Tennessee, with actual cotton workers augmenting a cast of picked professionals including Daniel Haynes, of "Show Boat" fame on the New York stage, Nina Mac McKinney,
"Lehjah," all-talking film drama

de Knight, who played in "Lulu Belle," Harry Gray and Victoria
Spivey.
Our Gang all-talking comedy,
"Shivering Shakespeare," and "The Jazz Fool," a Mickie Mouse cartoon, are the two outstanding short subject films listed at the Roth
Strand, on the same program.
