FOR CAR-OWNERS IN SEWER DITCHES

Several weeks ago, a notice was published in the Sun that if automobiles should sink in sewer excavations or be damaged in such a way that a tow-car is needed, owners are urged to telephone Millburn 324 and the trouble will be remedied. We wish to add to this announcement by reminding readers to telephone 324 and ask for "Flaherty Construction Company," and a man employed by that firm will call immediately. If, in calling this number, the garage is asked to tow the cars away, Flaherty will not pay for the service. Remember, telephone Millburn 324 and ask for "Flaherty's man who is always at that place at night."

Who's Who In Springfield

Supervising Principal Fred J. Hodgson has been in charge of the Springfield public schools since 1920. When he came here from Paterson there was only the original eight-room James Caldwell building, while today there is the eighteen-room Caldwell School and the four-room Raymond Chisholm School. In 1920 the school population was 380, while today the entire enrollment, including senior and junior high schools, is 776, of which the Raymond Chisholm School is 128, the elementary grades of the Caldwell school is 406, the junior high school is 375, and the senior high school is 67.

Mr. Hodgson was born in Paterson in 1887, and attended the elementary schools of that city. After graduating from there, he was employed in the Paterson silk mills and worked his way through high school. He then enrolled in the Montclair Normal School and took courses in Rutgers University, Columbia University and New York University. In 1915 Mr. Hodgson began his school experience as a teacher and principal of a two-room school in Wayne township, in Passaic County. He was here for a year and was engaged as principal at a school in Pompton Lake, in the same county, and that winter, 1917, he enlisted in the U. S. Navy. He never reached the scene of battle, and in 1920 he was engaged by the local Board of Education as supervising principal, to succeed Roy Jackson.

FLIRTING WITH THE UNDERTAKER

"Remember, a fire truck has full right of way over everything, and that you are violating the law and common sense when you dash in front of it going to a fire. And besides, you are flirting with the undertaker, both for yourself and for those on the truck. Everybody in a country town wants to get to a fire first. That's natural. And interest, of course, should be shown when property is at stake. But remember that the truck should get there before you do, and that it should be unhampered when it does get there. Who can do the most good at the fire, out of the truck? All right, then, let us all be governed accordingly. Next time the fire whistle blows let everybody get out of the way of the truck, and by all means, for God's sake, remember, don't park in front of a fire truck!"

The fully local residents in Springfield should be aware of the fact that the fire truck at every fire is coming to help the above message, taken from a notice in the daily.

FRED J. HODGSON
Supervising Principal

SEIZED AFTER THEFT OF AUTO ACCESSORIES

Dunellen Man Admits Stealing Parts Valued at $300 From Newark Packard Co.

On a charge of stealing automobile accessories valued at $300 from the Packard Motor Company in Newark, where he was employed, Robert Stryker, 32, an electrician, of 230 First street, Dunellen, was arrested by Patrolmen Schander and Siles in Mountain avenue last Friday night at 9:40 p. m. The articles, consisting of batteries, electrical wire, cables, radiator caps, a five-gallon can of anti-freeze solution and other automobile parts, were found in the rear of the car, and it was also said that a home-made blackjack was taken from Stryker.

Police say he admitted the theft and others during the year at the company. Other goods, valued at $1900, were found at Stryker's home. The patrolmen were attracted to the accessories in the car and investigated. Stryker could not produce a driver's license nor a registration license and was taken to headquarters. Newark police took him away Saturday to await charges.

TOWN AND SCHOOL LEVIES FALL OFF; FIRE TAX RISES

District Tax Up Nine Points, Makes Actual Rate $4.17, A 12-Point Decrease

COUNTY AND STATE, RATES STATIONARY

Springfield's tax rate for 1930 is $3.90 per $100 of valuation, a drop of twenty-one points over the 1929 rate. It was officially announced Wednesday by the County Board of Taxation and Frank E. Meisel, clerk of the Board of Tax Assessors. Last year the rate was $4.11.

The principal reasons for the decrease are shown in the budgets of the Township Committee and the Board of Education, and the increase in ratables of $209,341. The township rates to be raised this year are $65,298.17, a decrease of $179.55, while the school's budget calls for $89,150 to be raised, a decrease of $4,700.

The county and State taxes are increased by $2,392.39, but there is no raise in the county and State rates, the ratables having increased.

The fire tax in the fire district rises this year nine points to .27, while last year the rate was .18. The increase is due to the greater amount of money for fire appropriations. In 1929, $7,000 was raised, while for 1930, $11,250 will be needed, a paid fireman and additional hydrants being resubmitted for the increase.

Therefore, the total tax in the fire district will be $4.17, a decrease of 12 points over 1929. The rate last year, $4.11, not including the fire tax, was an increase of 27 points over the 1929 rate of $3.84.

Floating Service Stations Convenience to Yachtsmen

SILVER KING SAMUEL L. FULLER, NEW YORK CAPITALIST'S PALATAL YACHT BEING SERVED BY A FLOATING STATION AT MIAMI

ON THE HIGH SEAS

MIAMI, FLA.—For years wealthy Americans who whiffed away their summer leisure off Bar Harbor and the Grand Banks, and in winter sailed the Gulf Stream around Miami and the Florida Keys, were often hard put to find pure water, gasoline and oil for their palatial yachts. In recent years these difficulties have gradually disappeared and today floating service stations which purvey fuel, lubricants and supplies to yachts and pleasure craft are becoming a familiar part of the marine scenery in the principal harbors of the United States, according to a bulletin issued here by the American Research Foundation. "These supply boats," says the bulletin, "are as much a convenience to yachtsmen as service stations on dry land are to automobile owners. Moreover, the ships are as completely equipped for service as their counterparts on terra firma. They supply gasoline, kerosene, lubricants, distillate fuels for oil-burning Diesel engines, grease, soaps, disinfectants, ice and drinking water certified by the health department. "A feature of these service boats is that they cruise around and deliver supplies to yachts at their moorings in the harbor. Hose lengths of forty feet carry fuel to the tanks of the yacht from the pumps of the supply boat, which are electrically operated. To prevent scraping and rubbing paint off the yacht while the fueling operation is taking place, the supply boats are equipped with rope fenders around their sides. "Fuel and similar supplies sufficient to service a yacht on a cruise from New York to Florida winter resorts can be furnished by these supply boats at a moment's notice."

Science Studies Ways of Hen To Learn Method of Hatching

DR. ELERY H. HARVEY, IN CHARGE OF THE RESEARCH LABORATORY OF MONTGOMERY WARD & CO.

"Thousands of young chicks' lives will be saved this spring as the result of a simple new egg turning device for incubators just perfected. This device keeps the eggs with the big end up, saves time and effort and brings the science of artificial incubator a long step nearer the perfecting of nature," Dr. Elery H. Harvey, director in charge of the scientific laboratory of Montgomery Ward & Co., announced recently in presenting his report of hatching tests carried on in the laboratory over a period of two years. "Decreasing the mortality rate of baby-chicks has been one of the major problems of the laboratory," Dr. Harvey said. "More than a thousand chicks have been hatched, with the automatic turner, to test the relation of proper turning to the mortality rate.

"Hens are not always ideal mothers. They accidentally break many eggs, and often prove temperamental and irresponsible. And they cannot hatch all the eggs required in the modern market. But the principles which the hen uses in hatching her eggs, even her casual movements, have been studied carefully and applied in perfecting incubators. "Proper ventilation, temperature and humidity, taken care of by nature in the ruffling of the hen's feathers, her body temperature, and her movements on and off the nest have been determined with scientific exactness in the new incubators. "It is vital to the life of a baby-chicken that the egg be placed with the big end up, that it be turned twice a day, and kept at an angle. The hen's nest with its sloping sides permits the egg to lie at the correct angle, and the hen getting off and coming back to her nest turns the eggs. By means of this new turning device, an entire trayful of eggs in an incubator may be turned at one time, with no difficulty and with no danger that any of the eggs will fail to be turned. "The same degree of ventilation permitted by the ruffling of the feathers of the natural hen-mother, is preserved in the modern incubator, and the temperature of the artificial nest is made to equal that produced in the nest by the hen."

WHAT'S IN A NAME? MUSKRAT AS HUDSON SEAL PROVES WORTH

SORTING AND GRADING A CHOICE SHIPMENT OF MUSKRATS TO BE MADE INTO HUDSON SEAL

Possums are proud of their southern lineage. Badgers stay close to their northern climes. Coyotes are exclusively western. But there's one all-American furbearing animal—the muskrat! He inhabits every state in the union and every province of Canada, indiscriminately from the Gulf of Mexico to Baffin Bay. The unobtrusive little brown animal is known as the most versatile and most valuable of all furbearers on this continent, according to Stanley T. Keshen, vice-president of A. B. Shubert, Inc., the largest house in the world dealing exclusively in American raw furs. "The value to American trappers of an average season's catch of muskrat is from seven to eight million dollars," Mr. Keshen told a group of manufacturers at a furrier's meeting in Chicago recently. "With the modern vogue for Hudson seal, muskrat is more in demand this season than ever before. The small brown skins have been increasing in popularity from the time when it was discovered that they could be made to bear such a striking resemblance to the valuable Alaska seal. As Hudson seal, the fame and worth of the American Muskrat have spread until today Hudson seal has an unequalled prestige among furriers. And the easily trapped prolific muskrat has become the steadiest and most profitable source of income to the American trapper. "The art of shearing and dyeing muskrat, changing it to Hudson seal, reveals the most advanced skill of the American furrier and stylist. From six to eight weeks are required to complete the shearing and dyeing of one skin, and each muskrat is handled thirty to forty times before it is ready for matching with the fifty to seventy other skins required for one garment. "Only the best grades of the best sections producing muskrats are used for the fashionable Hudson seal. But the uses for all grades of muskrat are practically limitless. Thousands of pelts are used annually for coat and glove linings, for trimmings, caps, and hats. Some of the finer felts are made from muskrat."

Warns Mothers

MOTHER'S PET

CHICAGO.—"Back seat drivers" who ply mothers with free advice cause as many fatal accidents with babies as those who try to direct the operation of automobiles. Esther Ackerson Fischer, noted dietitian declared in an address here. "It is a hardy baby that can thrive under the 'remote control' treatment of neighbors and friends," said Mrs. Fischer. "Such advice may be given with the best intentions in the world, but neighbors and friends are notoriously bad physicians. Babies grow so rapidly that they frequently change in the course of twenty-four hours. What is good for them at one age may not be advisable a little later. The baby's health program should be adjusted to meet its constant physical changes and this program should be supervised constantly by a proficient doctor. "Let a good doctor take the wheel and the infant's trip through babyhood is usually a healthy, prosperous journey."

EMANCIPATION OF THE MIND

The intellectuals of our time often congratulate themselves upon the emancipation of the mind, which they assert has been achieved.

It is true that we have greater freedom of thought than ever. There seems to be no limit to the exploratory range of reason. Taboos are vanishing. Nothing is taken for granted. Anything can be questioned. Everything is put to the test of dissection.

The new liberty is better than the old prejudice, which placed closed doors of fear and superstition in the face of the mental impulse that seeks to ferret out the wherefore of things. Physical science paved the way. Truths of chemistry and astronomy dispelled fantastic notions about our earth and the universe, and the flare for knowledge, once given rein, would not content itself with the laboratory, but searched out error wherever it could be found.

Certainly freedom of mind is better than repression, just as freedom of speech is better than terrorism. But there are some spots even in the new era of emancipated thought.

There were times when no questioning was brooked. Now we have questioning without limit, and analysis to the point of futility. We become so challenging in our mood, that no sooner are standards set up, than the inquisitive portion of our newly liberalized minds tears them apart to see what makes them tick, and we are left in a constant state of flux, without moorings.

The tendency of unrestrained questioning is to carry the process of analyzing to absurdity, so that after we have arrived at the analysis, the analysis itself is analyzed, and ultimately the substance of inquiry is dissected into annihilation.

There should be no quarrel with the right to examine into our ideas, our institutions, even our beliefs. But it can be overdone. Analysis is a process of division, and division, after all, does not build up, but takes things apart.

The sapient king of the Old Testament fittingly advised us to get wisdom, which is another way of saying to get a correct analysis of things. But when all human analyzing is done, there are some things left which defy further inquiry, and have to be taken on faith. The new freedom of thought has been unable to dispense with the supreme necessity of faith.

Wisdom may show us the road. But by itself it gets us nowhere. The onward sweep of existence, the transcendent movements in personal lives, the paramount processions in history, have been maintained by fervid faith in the things distilled by wisdom, and by the enthusiasm engendered by that faith.

SPRINGFIELD BUSINESS REVIEW

MEAT MARKET ONE OF BUSIEST STORES IN SPRINGFIELD

The Springfield Meat Market at 268 Morris avenue, often referred to as "Mike's Meat Market" is one of the main establishments in Springfield. Selling a complete and fresh line of Swift's Select Prime Meats, fruits and vegetables of every kind and the popular White Rose Canned Goods, it has customers in Summit, Newark and many in Millburn, as well as most housewives in Springfield.

The Springfield Meat Market has two Model A, Ford trucks, always ready for deliveries and these are made at all times of the day, in fact a good portion of the customers of the market never come to the store. They use their telephones instead and know that they will be given as good a service and will get as fresh a quality of meats, fruits and vegetables as if they were to make their purchases at the market, in person, and this at a great saving of time.

The Market, owned by Michael Dandrea, was founded eight years ago in the store next to the present location. Increasing business forced a change to the present quarters at 268 Morris avenue a year and a half ago. At first, only meats were sold, then vegetables were added. The market employs seven persons, always ready to give service and eliminate long waiting to make purchases.

The Market is installing this week a sanitary meat cutter, known as a "James Vaughan" electric machine, and is the only one of its kind in Springfield. It is one of the latest of compliances, and the possibility of splinters in meat bones is eliminated with this cutter. Also, all cuts are equal and no hand touches the meat at any time. It weighs 750 pounds.

A fresh supply of White Rose Canned Goods is always obtainable at the Springfield Meat Market, including every brand of food-stuff the White Rose Concern puts out in cans.

The Market also has a large electric refrigerator, eight by nine feet in size, which keeps the meats always at proper temperatures.

AT ROTH-LYRIC

Probably the most welcome announcement made at the Roth-Lyric Theatre since the John E. Coutts' Stock Players commenced making weekly visits to that playhouse, was made last Wednesday night, when the genial Leon O. Mumford, general manager of the Summit Theatrical Enterprises, Inc., which operates the Strand and Lyric Theatres, stated that a section of the Lyric Theatre would be held and sold as reserved seats.

The first ten rows in the centre of the house will be set aside for that purpose. Each row contains fourteen seats, making a total of only 1440 seats of the 1000 seats

Chevrolet announces

A NEW

SERVICE POLICY

The Chevrolet Motor Company and its dealers are pleased to announce a new service policy—one of the most liberal ever offered on a low-priced automobile.

owner may travel to any part of the country, with assurance that the guarantee on materials and workmanship will remain in force.

Put into force as a written agreement given to the purchaser by the Chevrolet dealer when the car is delivered—it offers the following provisions:

This new policy constitutes proof of Chevrolet's high quality—for such liberal provisions could only be made in connection with a car built of fine materials to exacting standards of workmanship.

1 Every Chevrolet owner receives his car from the dealer in perfect condition—thoroughly lubricated, properly adjusted, and ready to operate efficiently from the first mile of ownership.

Back of this policy, and assuring its successful operation, is one of the most complete and efficient service organizations in the world.

2 Every Chevrolet owner is entitled to free inspection and adjustment of his car at the end of the first 500 miles of usage.

There are more than 10,000 Authorized Chevrolet Dealer Service Stations in the United States alone. Each employs skilled mechanics thoroughly trained at Chevrolet Service Schools. Each has specially designed tools and machinery developed exclusively for Chevrolet service work. And each has on hand, at all times, an adequate stock of genuine Chevrolet replacement parts.

3 Every Chevrolet owner is entitled to free inspection of his car every 1000 miles thereafter, so long as the car is in operation.

Chevrolet's flat-rate charges, including both parts and labor, are the lowest in the industry on many service operations!

4 Every Chevrolet owner is entitled to free replacement of any part which may prove defective in workmanship or material, within the terms of Chevrolet's standard warranty. This includes both parts and labor.

In considering the purchase of a low-priced automobile, think what this service means—in terms of lasting satisfaction, as well as in increased economy.

5 Provision number 4 will be carried out by any Chevrolet dealer in the United States. As a result, the Chevrolet
