Business To Be Regulated By Township Inspector Is Chairman

ALL PLUMBERS TO BE LICENSED

Plumbers doing any work in Springfield will be required to appear before a Board of Plumbing Examiners and pass an examination to be licensed here, is part of an ordinance passed Wednesday night by the Board of Health. The ordinance states that the Board consist of the Plumbing Inspector as chairman, and two other members, one a master plumber and the other a journeyman, and be appointed by the Committee as examiners.

An annual registration fee is set at ten dollars and the application fee for an examination is fifteen dollars, not to be refunded if the applicant fails, and if another examination be tried in one month, the fee is the same, with the same provision.

The ordinance will be found in full in another column of this newspaper, and will be considered for final reading Wednesday evening, May 28.

POLICE NAB PAIR WITH STOLEN CAR

Otto Beyer, 24, of 279 Seventeenth avenue, and Arthur A. Gray, of 366 South Twelfth street, both in Newark, were apprehended by Patrolmen Searles and Selander early Wednesday morning, at 2:45 a. m. in Mountain avenue, on suspicion, and after being questioned at headquarters, admitted having stolen the automobile in which they were riding.

Beyer, operating the car, could not produce a driver's license, and police learned the machine was the property of John M. Burke, of 35 Irving avenue, Newark. Beyer and Gray were taken back to Newark by detectives, and will be arraigned on a charge of grand larceny, before the Essex County Grand Jury.

"Free Verse" Old

The term "polyphonic" prose" is sometimes used as the equivalent of vers libre or free verse. There are examples of it in ancient literature, such as the Old Testament.

Joseph S. Frelinghuysen Gives Speech Here Tuesday

Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, candidate for the Republican Senatorial nomination at the primary election June 17, addressed more than twenty-five persons in the Lions' Club Rooms, Tuesday afternoon, while on a tour of Union County. Mr. Frelinghuysen gave his views on the support of the voters by his service as a public official twenty-five years ago, and enumerated the many improvements he created and planned in 1870. He also stated he was against public control of utility plants, the various monopolies of the companies in New Jersey.

A dinner to which would have been shown had a luncheon been made sooner, but several members of the Women's Republican Club at a luncheon held in the Hotel Windsor-Spots Monday afternoon, heard Mr. Frelinghuysen speak, and when informed he would pass through Springfield, prevailed upon him to stop in Springfield enroute to other places in the county, and give a short talk.

Among those present at the luncheon Monday afternoon which was sponsored by the Women's Republican Clubs of Union County, were Mr. G. M. Duntweller, Mrs. Arthur D. Warner, Mrs. William Aldrin, Mr. John E. Kiser, Miss Anna Lindberg, Mr. William J. Shawcross, and Mr. Andrew Parve.

VOLUNTEERS SAVE MORE THAN $5,000 IN GARAGE FLAMES

Butcher's Equipment In Shed Fire Untouched Due To Firemen's Work

Butcher shop equipment valued at $5,000 and many valuable drugs were saved, from destruction by firemen Monday afternoon when fire of undetermined origin broke out in a garage, in the rear of the Charles Building, at 238 Morris avenue. The equipment was stored in two of the six different sections of the garage, which were furthest away from the other four burning parts, and the fire was checked in time to prevent serious losses.

Smoke hindered the volunteers, but after a half-hour battle, several lines of hose played on the building, extinguishing the flames. Two hours after the firemen had left, little Harold Ross, of Walnut Court, took out of the building six kittens, which were in hiding in the safe section. Damage was estimated at $500. The building was owned by M. Lichtenstein.

A large shed in the Howland Estate, in Seven Bridges road, was burned to the ground, Saturday noon. Firemen attempted to put it out, but the fire had reached a fair start. Smoke also hindered the volunteers, and damage was estimated at $150.

The department was called out Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock to a brush call in the rear of the Union County Coal & Lumber Company, in Clinton avenue, when the flames reached close to lumber piles nearby, but it was extinguished. Other calls for the week were:

Saturday, 2 p. m.—Alarm No. 53—brush.

Sunday, 10 p. m.—Barn in Bryant avenue.

ANTI-SOLICITORS BAN IS ORDAINED BY TOWNSHIP BODY

Affects House-to-House Canvassers Of General Wares —Permit Is Necessary

OTHER NOTES OF COMMITTEE MEETING

To prohibit many house-to-house solicitors who operate here, and to regulate them, an ordinance, prohibiting soliciting magazines, goods, wares, and merchandises of any sort, without getting permission from the Chief of Police, was passed on first reading, at a meeting of the Township Committee Wednesday night.

Only reliable persons will be given permits after they have been queried, and their license to operate for ten days without renewing the license, will be given at no cost whatsoever. The final reading is set for Wednesday evening, May 28.

A letter from J. S. Wintermute, owner of a service station in Flermer avenue, complained about the traffic loop used Sunday afternoons, stating that it hindered his business. It was received for consideration.

Charles Nagel, of South Springfield avenue, asked for water in his street. He lives in that section between the intersection of South Springfield avenue and Mountain avenue, and the Raymond Chisholm school. The township clerk was asked to notify the Water Company that they place water in this section.

The contract for paving Remer avenue, for a distance of eight hundred feet with a six-inch bituminous penetration macadam and concrete curbs and gutters, was awarded to the South Orange Paving Company, the lowest bidder for $6,558.42.

An unofficial report to the Township Audit showed that the books of the Township are in excellent condition. The official report will be ready soon.

Otto Sturm, of South Springfield avenue, sent in an application for consideration as a member of the Police Department. It was received and filed.

Fire Commissioner T. C. Davidson, representing the Fire Company, asked that new doors be placed on the fire house, since the old ones are worn out. It was decided to have new doors placed there. Mr. Davidson also asked for a permit for the Firemen's Carnival, to be held June 9 to 14, in Meisel and Morris avenues, and it was granted. Police protection was also given for the carnival.

Mr. Brown, Highway and Road Commissioner, requested permission to ask State Aid on maintaining Maple avenue repairs so that traffic using it during the use of the traffic "loop" should not warrant additional expense to the township.

A resolution was passed that Weigand street, formerly known as Evergreen avenue, be accepted by the Township. An ordinance to provide for the paving of the street with a six-inch bituminous penetration macadam, will be prepared and introduced at the next regular meeting.

Township Clerk Robert D. Freat was asked to write a letter to the consulting engineer, Thomas F. Bower, to inquire as to the status of the George Miller Company, and how much work remains to be completed on the trunk sewer.

The attorney was asked to pre-

A special committee, appointed by Charles H. Huff, president of the Business Men's Association, consisting of the Rev. William L. Reed, Mrs. John E. Gunn, Richard T. Bunnell, A. B. Anderson, and Howard L. ### Listen, friends!

Shoes may be repaired in any form of fashion with cheap leather and at a low price, but how long will it be before you'll repair them again? Our price is reasonable, and our leather is Oak Tanned. Tanned Leather, seasoned by the old "Vat" Method, gives twice the durability and what's more, Oak Tanned Leather will form a perfect shoe balance, and reconstruct the entire shoe.

Why deny yourself the luxury of a well-constructed shoe, built to stand hard wear, and at the same time, fit comfortable when "we rebuild them and make them look like new."

RE-WISED VERSION AGAIN

Let me park my car by the side of the road,
And watch my fellow man,
Then let him doze my eagle eye—
That is if he thinks he can.

To tear necking I am wised,
And those who park by the side of the road
If you knew you'd be surprised.

GRACE NOTES

Pleating is again to the fore. Box-pleated skirts and pleatings in casual group effects are reported as having scored at the Paris openings. In one collection box-pleated evening skirts were sponsored.

Contrasting facings are an attractive feature of many of the smartest hats. Flesh and rose color facings because of the flattering glow they cast are best liked.

All shades of pink and all shades of blue are in high repute for summer wear and the combination of pink and blue is much worn for evening, both here and in the South.

Small patterned prints on a black ground are voted smart, but for that matter, all prints are smart.

Prints in star designs are among the spring novelties, and a large navy bakou hat was scattered with silver stars.

MY NEIGHBOR SAYS:

To wash chiffon squeeze it gently in warm, soapy water until it is clean, then thoroughly rinse it in warm water in which a lump of sugar has been dissolved. This will give the material a little firmness after being ironed. It is best to dry the chiffon before ironing it.

When any portion of a velvet gown is crushed from pressure, hold the part over a basin of hot water, lining side next to the water. The pile will soon be restored.

When using gum arabic for starching put 1 tablespoon into 1 quart of cold water. Let it stand overnight. In the morning stir it well, then strain it and it will be ready to use instead of starch.

Rub liquid wax over dark woodwork, allow it to stand for a few minutes and then polish the woodwork with a flannel cloth. This treatment will make it look as though newly varnished.

SCOUTS ENTERED IN EXHIBITION

Troop 66 To Take Part in Merit Badge Display at Elizabeth Tomorrow

Troop 66, Boy Scouts of America, of Springfield, will take part in a Merit Badge Exhibit, in the Elizabeth Armory tomorrow afternoon and evening, and the auspices of Union Council. Nineteen members of the local group will take part and the title of the Springfield Boys' display is "Scoutercraft."

Those taking part in the exhibition, and the various tests they will portray are: tenderfoot—oath and law, William Clark; history of the flag, Richard Spinning; knot-tying, Howard Lott; second class—first aid, William Buckalew; signalling, Rysle Gogel; tracking, William Quinzel; knife and axe, Martin Fazio; fire-building, Harry Elberle; cooking, James Widmer; compass, Albert Quinzel; safety, Robert Marshall; first class—signalling, Kenneth Hoagland; hike, John Falk; first aid, Willard

Day and Harry Quinzel; cooking, Harry MacFarlane; mapping, Raymond Pierson; axe, Warren Boss; and nature, James Able.

Other members will act as orderlies. Several silver loving cups will be awarded to the troop having the best display, and Troop 66 will strive to take home one of the cups. Tickets for the exhibit, at twenty-five cents, may be obtained from any member of the troop or at the club. It is good for the evening exhibit, and if used before 6 o'clock will admit one adult and a boy under fifteen years of age. Therefore, those who intend seeing the exhibit should go early in the afternoon.

Sixty troops in Union County, representing fifteen hundred boys, will give exhibitions. General contests on building a bridge in record time, making fire by bow and drill, and by flint and steel will also be held.

SPRINGFIELD'S CENSUS

SPRINGFIELD'S census was announced last Friday in this newspaper as 3,725. While it was discouraging to many, it was true, coming direct from the office of the Census Supervisor in Elizabeth, Peter J. Olde. To offset the number, some local persons spread a rumor that 3,725 represented only one district, with the second district to be enumerated and announced in a week or two, but as far as this paper was informed, the entire population of Springfield is 3,725, subject to slight corrections.

It was disappointing to many to learn the correct report, when predictions ran as high as 4,500 and 5,000, but we must expect to hear optimistic forecasts in deciding the population of any growing community. As it was, the increase was of a good percentage, showing an increase of 117% over the 1920 census of 1,715.

"CRYING over spilt milk" is not "Goose for the Gander," or whichever way the conflicting proverbs go, but we feel safe to predict for the benefit of the hopeful, not for that of the pessimistic, the Springfield's population will, in a few years, be 5,000. No great trend of home-seekers have invaded this place as yet, as they have down in other places near the great cities.

THE many improvements needed here for the past twenty years are being realized now, with the number of inhabitants being great enough to warrant the costs, and with everyone looking ahead, instead of backwards, it will be in proper anticipation of the future of Springfield to predict an increase of 1,000 a year in population here in the next three or four years.

CITY PLANNING

The 1930 New Jersey Legislature made it possible for city planning to be more effective than in the past. Various municipalities have ventured into systematic planning for the future. Some appointed Planning Commissions and gave heed to their recommendations.

There is a weakness, however, inherent in all organizations that can recommend but have no power to enforce their recommendations. This disability operates detrimentally in two directions. The driving power behind worthwhile recommendations is lacking. Secondly, the knowledge that a commission can do nothing to effectuate its findings and cannot proceed beyond mere suggestions has a tendency to vitiate the suggestions themselves.

There results a sense of futility in presenting proposals which, after serious study and mature investigation, often get no farther than the depository of dead files.

Commentators on the recent Act adopted by the New Jersey Legislature commend it as the best work that has yet been undertaken by a State. It remains for the municipalities to avail themselves, if they desire, of its powers.

AT THE STRAND

For today and tomorrow only William Haines appears in his first grown-up role in "The Girl Said No," his new talking picture which opens at the Roth Strand Theatre. Leila Hyams plays the heroine and the cast includes Polly Moran and Marie Dressler in riotous comedy roles.

Hal Roach's Rascals will contribute their new "Our Gang" comedy, "Bear Shooters" to the current week-end program at the Roth-Strand. "Spook Easy," a Crazy Kat cartoon is also included.

"Pep and Prep," a college farce comedy-drama featuring Nick Stuart is announced as this Saturday's matinee special.

Latest cabaret steps may be seen in the talking picture, "The Woman Racket," featuring Tom Moore and Blanche Sweet, to be at the Roth Strand Theatre next Monday and Tuesday.

Talk about big families—you will not find many larger than that of Eddie Dowling's parents. Dowling, the star of "Blaze O' Glory," which comes to the Roth Strand theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, was born in Providence, R. I., the home of George M. Cohan, and was one of a family of seventeen children, but the only one to go on the stage. He ran away from home to become a cabin boy but wound up in the English music halls, and finally on Broadway.

"ABIE'S IRISH ROSE"

Have any local playgoers ever wished they could see Anne Nichols' famous comedy, "Abie's Irish Rose" as presented by the original New York company which ran for five and one-half years in that city? If so that desire is about to be realized for this sensational success comes to the Lyric Theatre, Summit, Thursday night, only, May 22nd, with practically the entire original cast, assembled for this request revival and farewell tour. This coming engagement is not the motion picture version of "Abie," but portrayed by flesh and blood actors who made theatrical history in New York City. Probably never before has such a company been organized to play the smaller cities, and at a specially reduced scale of prices. This will positively be the last opportunity of again seeing "Abie's Irish Rose."

Stars Win Over Plainfield, 6 to 5, in Home Opener

SCORE FOUR IN EIGHTH, SEW UP GAME IN NINTH

Marks First County League Tilt Won By Local Entrants

MAYOR LARSEN THROWS FIRST BALL

Scoring four runs in the eighth inning to be ahead by the score of 5 to 4, and then making another run in the ninth inning, to win 6 to 5, after their opponents had tied the count in their half of the ninth frame, the Springfield Baseball Club got off to an auspicious start Sunday afternoon at the County Park by defeating the Plainfield Acmys in a Union County League contest before a home opening crowd of more than five hundred, with Mayor Gabriel Larsen starting the ceremonies by throwing out the first ball to Committeeman Francis Leslie.

An error in the ninth by the Plainfield right-fielder with the bases full and two out paved the way for the winning run. Errors also played a part in securing the four runs in the eighth, but an error by the home team earlier in the game was also responsible for a Plainfield score.

Mayor Larsen's throw was slightly wild, three feet to the left of the plate, and Committeeman Leslie just about touched it with his glove. However, that did not stop the home team, and they proceeded to give a good exhibition.

Dor started on the mound for Springfield and was hit freely, giving way in the eighth, for McHugh, who held the Plainfielders in check, besides hitting in two runs in the eighth. Fitzsimmons was hitting star for Springfield, with four singles. Rogers pitched a good game for Plainfield, striking out eleven, and deserved a better break. Cooper, the Plainfield Catcher, led the losers in hits, with three singles.

This marked the first game won by Springfield in the league, and as a result, the local team is sharing the cellar with the St. Joseph's nine of Roselle and the Acmys.

Springfield lost a hard game Sunday against the leading Elizabeth Braves, losing out in the tenth when a wild throw brought in the winning run, making the final score 5 to 4. Burkhardt was on the mound for the locals, fanned nine Braves, and walked only one, but five errors proved his downfall.

A single by Madjeski, Handzo's walk, together with Madjeski's steal of home after Lamb dropped Pennoyer's wild throw, led to the winning run. Springfield was ahead until the eighth when the Braves tied the score and went ahead in the tenth. Anderson made three hits, more than anyone on both teams, while "Artie" Lamb hit two singles.

No Identical Chapters
 No two chapters of the Bible are exactly alike, as so many people suppose. There is very little difference, however, between the thirty-seventh chapter of Isaiah and the nineteenth chapter of II Kings. Other portions of the Bible are duplicated, also, but there are no two out-of-the-chapters that are the same.—Pathfinder Magazine.

They Call It Politics

By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON, May 15—Belief that the United States is drifting into a period of Parliamentary government is strong here since the rejection of Judge Parker's nomination by the Senate.

Not only are American leaders interested, but diplomats from foreign countries are enormously concerned. They are more selfishly affected by the tariff, and they are more amused by prohibition, and its enhancement of the desirability of their hospitality, but what seems to them the swing in the mode of government of this republic grips their imagination.

"I have noticed in the newer republic of Germany," said one veteran in the foreign service of his country, "that when the head of the state attempts to dictate the members of Parliament cry out against him, and demand their constitutional rights. But when he permits them to have their heads, and does not seek to interfere, they say: 'We want a leader. Away with this fellow.' Maybe there is something like that here, too, yes?"

"The Senate seems to resent advice from the President," said an outstanding guru from the Northwest, who has always been a stalwart Republican, though with an understanding which has permitted him to survive radical land-slides. "The question comes to me, is not the Congress, unconsciously perhaps, on the road to the re-establishment of its prerogatives? Congress controls the nation's purse. Are they becoming resentful of government by executive order? Perhaps we are drifting away from the monarchical regime brought in by Roosevelt and continued in the war dictatorship by Wilson. I believe the drift is towards the supremacy of the parliamentary idea of government.

"From Runnymede the supremacy of Parliament has been the cornerstone of Anglo-Saxon liberty and government. The creation of a free and independent judiciary was the one really new contribution to civil government found in the Federal constitution.

"It now appears that the Senate, which, as a body, shares the appointing power with the President, insists that members of the Supreme Court shall hold political and economic views in accordance with the Senate coalition. I am old-fashioned enough to think the judiciary should be independent of the Senate as well as of the President. Let the judiciary remain independent and untrammeled. It will bend to public sentiment in its own time. "You remember that Mr. Dooley said he was sure 'the Supreme Court followed the general elections.' I think the Supreme Court will move forward fast enough without being spurred by either the Senate or the President."

But these quotations are from, as he admits himself, an 'old-fashioned fellow.'

"The chaos at Washington is rather disheartening to me," he continued, "for I believe in political parties. I do not like blocs. They may suit the French people, but they do not fit into our scheme of government."

The gentleman in question is so far out of step with the radical element which fought Hughes and Parker, augmented by other elements in the latter case, that he believes "Hughes was a perfect appointment."

Meanwhile close personal friends of the President are wondering at his moderation, especially in not issuing a statement excoriating senators who voted against Parker, and also in sending in a nomination so quickly, thereafter which was really calculated to appeal to the element fighting Parker.

While it might be supposed that a steamship crew could catch its own fish, large liners now in the transatlantic tourist business carry for each trip 8,000 clams, 200 crabs, 600 barrels of oysters, and 1,500 pounds of fresh fish.

 part an ordinance to change the name of Weigand street to Prospect Place.
 A group of Rose avenue residents appeared in regards to paving of their street, and after Charles Ruby, stated he had placed six or more inches of stone in the street for a distance of four hundred feet, contrary to the resident engineer's statement that only sewer excavation began, the board decided to consider the matter and make a decision as to the subject as soon as possible.

 A representative of the M. & K. Auto Wrecking Company, in Mountain avenue, applied for a permit to operate an automobile "graveyard." While the state governs the sites of automobile "graveyards," permits must be secured from the municipality's governing body, and the applicant was requested to send in a written form, and the committee will decide whether a permit be issued or not.

 John Courtney was appointed inspector for the Remer avenue paving, and Arthur H. Lennox Township Engineer, who drew up the specifications, will also supervise the construction work.
 The Township Attorney was authorized to write a letter to the Chemical Company of America, stating that if they do not redeem their property, which the township purchased at a sale for unpaid taxes, they will lose their redemption rights.

WINDOW SHOPPING

 It takes a clever person nowadays to find the radio, so cleverly are they concealed. A beautiful desk, a copy of an old piece, has been used in one instance to house the radio, thus combining utility with beauty.
