WEIGAND STREET PAVING ORDERED BY TOWN BOARD

Ordinance Passed Wednesday Night—Red Cross Nurse Desk Asked For

OTHER NOTES OF COMMITTEE MEETING

An ordinance to provide for the paving of Weigand street with a six-inch bituminous macadam penetration and concrete curbs and gutters, was introduced for first reading at a special Township Committee session Wednesday night. It will be given its final reading June 11, at a regular meeting.

An application of Mrs. Charles D. Horster, chairman of the Local Red Cross, for desk room and telephone space for a nurse here, was received for consideration. The Newark Chapter of the Red Cross is planning to inaugurate a nursing service here in October. Similar to a plan offered by Health Inspector Dr. Henry P. Dengler some time ago to provide a community nurse, with this plan such a service will be offered at Springfield at no cost whatsoever to the taxpayer. The chief objection to the plan of Dr. Dengler was that the town board thought additional expense to taxpayers with the coming sanitary sewers, was not proper. In answer to Mrs. Horster's request, and after she explained to the committee that the Township would not bear one cent as expense, Mayor Larsen declared: "It would be good business, especially if it was free, to have a nurse in the township at all times. At no cost whatsoever to the taxpayers."

William Hoffert, who conducts a service station in Seven Bridges road, asked that the Sunday "traffic loop" be discontinued, since his business was falling off considerably since its first trial a month ago. The committee told him they would notify him of their actions after a conference with Police Chief Rymon.

A representative of the M. & K. Auto Station, in Mountain avenue, presented a petition, with signers from the neighborhood of his establishment, approving of the condition of his place. He requested that a permit be granted, and he was asked to get more signers from a section which had registered a complaint against his place. After that is accomplished, the permit will be given him, the board decided.

Herman Shack of Morris avenue, applied for the right to sell fireworks for July 4, and the board decided to allow no concessions to anyone, in accordance with an anti-fireworks ordinance adopted several years ago.

Ordinances to regulate gasoline curb pumps and a ban on s-l-h-o-r-s were passed on second and final readings.

A report was given that the trolley F. Bowe, stated that Section No. 1 of the sanitary sewer system, being undertaken by George Miller, must be completed by June 15, to meet the time requirement of the contract, while the time for E. J. Flaherty, building Section No. 2, was set for July 1 to 15.

A report was given that the trolley (Continued on page seven)

MARION PINKAVA LEADING IN RACE FOR POPULAR GIRL

Is Closely Followed By Alice Reed With 11 Votes Margin In Firemen's Race

GROUNDS BEING MADE READY FOR CARNIVAL

First results in the "Most Popular Girl" contests, being sponsored by the Fire Department, in conjunction with their Carnival, to be held June 9 to 14, show Miss Marion Pinkava in first place with 247 votes; and Miss Alice Reed, second, eleven votes behind. Other standings are as follows: Gladys Chennels, 152; Evelyn Ross, 150; Ruth Ray, 140; Helen Welter, 70; Grace James, 60; and Virginia Anderson, 33. These include tickets turned in up until last Monday night.

Tickets and money must be sent into Reuben H. Marsh, chairman of the contest, as soon as disposed of, or it will be impossible to indicate just how the race is progressing. A chart is being made by Mr. Marsh, and due to the fact that the contestants have been slow in making their returns, the work has been hindered.

The prize in the popularity contest—a wrist watch, valued at fifty dollars, will be displayed this week in one of the local store windows, and another chair, equal to the one used at the Lyons-Conley office, will also be placed there.

The Carnival grounds are being leveled off, and preparations for placing cinders there, will be undertaken some day next week. Prizes for the various stands are being piled up at the Firehouse, and everything is set for the Grand Opening, which is now less than two weeks distant, to be exact only ten days.

Meeting Monday Night To Prepare Budget, Name Final Committees

FLOATS WILL BE ENTERED IN MARCH

A parade on Saturday afternoon, June 21, through Springfield's streets will be one of the features of the three-day celebration being held June 21, 22 and 23 in observance of the one-hundred-and-fiftieth anniversary of the Battle of Springfield, the executive committee of the affair decided at a meeting held Monday evening at the home of the general chairman, the Rev. William I. Reed. Business men desiring to enter floats are encouraged to do so, and arrangements for the parade are being taken care of by Charles H. Huff, who was appointed by Mr. Reed to succeed Charles S. Cannon on the program committee. Mr. Cannon asked the members of the executive committee to have him act as a member of the program committee, instead of being chairman, since his business did not permit sufficient time to handle the duties attached.

Headquarters during the celebration will be in the chapel of the First Presbyterian Church. Here all information will be given out during the observance and a general headquarters maintained.

A new committee was organized, dealing with an exhibition of old historical objects, principally those found in or near Springfield. Mrs. Benjamin M. Woodruff was selected as chairman, and she will become a member of the executive committee. This proposed museum will be opened to the public and the exhibits committee will have charge.

A suggested time for the parade was set between 2 and 4 o'clock, with a baseball game at the county park after. The Springfield Baseball Club will play that afternoon in a Union County Baseball League contest.

Sunday will be devoted to services in the churches and the dedication of the gateway at the Revolutionary cemetery under the auspices of the Sons of the American Revolution. It is being planned to have a noted speaker make an address at the unveiling ceremonies of a tablet at the new gateway, and Passaic Valley Chapter, S. A. R., of Summit, will erect a fence around the cemetery.

The members of the executive committee are: General chairman, the Rev. William I. Reed; general secretary, A. B. Anderson; finance, Nicholas C. Schmidt; program, Charles H. Huff; publicity, Joseph (Continued on page seven)

Asks for More Flags

To the Editor of the Sun: Dear Sir:

It is with regret that I have observed so few of the business houses and homes in the historic town of Springfield displaying the Stars and Stripes on holidays when it should be displayed.

One of the best methods of exemplifying Americanism and showing your loyal American spirit is by the observance of legal, patriotic and state holidays, or on historic or special occasions, when the Flag should be displayed by everyone, at every home, by every business house, and above all at every public school, every polling place, and at all public buildings.

Be proud to "Fly Your Flag" at every opportunity, but display it properly, showing it the utmost honor, love and respect.

Should you be in doubt as to the proper position for the display of the Flag, I would be pleased to mail to any one free, a copy of the "Etiquette of the Stars and Stripes" if they will mail their name and address to me in care of P. O. box 152, Springfield.

Very truly yours,
THEODORE G. BETZLER,
President, of Camp 209, Patriotic Order Sons of America, Springfield.

TIRES THAT'LL GRIP ANY ROAD AND CARRY ANY LOAD

DRIVING THROUGH INDIANA.

By Anne Campbell.
When driving through the Hoosier State

My thoughts are woven round
With all the folk-lore Riley penned,
The beauty that he found.
I find myself recalling them—
Each well-remembered name
That sprang from Indiana soil
And brought a poet fame.

Is little Orphant Annie still
A-picking up the crumbs,
And does the hired man spin yarns

To youngsters, when night comes?
And are there little boys who tell
With accents of surprise
A tale of bears and "gobolins"
And things with great big eyes?

And are the old men dreaming
now
Of sweethearts and of youth;
And do October's pumpkins glow?
... Does joy still live, and truth,
And all the simple virtues caught
Upon the homely pen
Of one who dreamed them long ago
And told them to us then?

The sun on Indiana shines
And Indiana boasts today
The farms of long ago.
Her hearts are just as honest now:
Her virtues are as true,
As in the tranquil days gone by—
The days Jim Riley knew!

Critic A. ... with us.

The human race is divided into two classes—those who go ahead and do something, and those who sit still and inquire: "Why wasn't it done the other way?"—Oliver

Springfield is situated only 55 minutes on the Lackawanna R. R. from New York City (20 miles) and has excellent bus connections to Newark, Elizabeth, Summit and Plainfield. The Rahway Valley R. R. has a freight station in Springfield, giving service for factories, commercial and industrial purposes.

With the completion of the new State Highway No. 29, this year in the southern section of Springfield, it will be possible to get to the downtown part of Newark by automobile in eleven minutes, within speed limits. The Holland Tunnel in Jersey City will be reached in twenty-five minutes.

Two building and loan associations, one national bank, and two schools as well as excellent fire and police protection, are afforded.

The sanitary sewer system, covering nearly all of the township, part of the Rahway Valley Trunk Sewer, will be completed early next year. Water is available in all parts of the township.

Four churches: First Presbyterian, Methodist Episcopal, St. James Roman Catholic and First Colored Baptist.

THE SESQUI-CELEBRATION

Three weeks ago, no one had heard of plans for a public celebration, commemorating the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the Battle of Springfield, other than several minor observances being thought of. Today, the project of a town holiday is beginning to become warm in spirit, and three weeks hence, Springfield will be dressed in American flags, decorated on buildings, homes and telephone wires, as well as a parade, with floats and music, fireworks, and a church dedication of a memorial tablet on a gateway to the Revolutionary Cemetery, in which are buried twenty-six fighters of the Revolution.

Public-spirited citizens have rallied to join forces in making the sesqui-centennial celebration of the Battle of Springfield a memorable event, such as the local demonstrations in 1880, for the centennial anniversary, and in 1905, when the one-hundred and twenty-fifth anniversary was observed, both of which are still recalled by persons living in Springfield today.

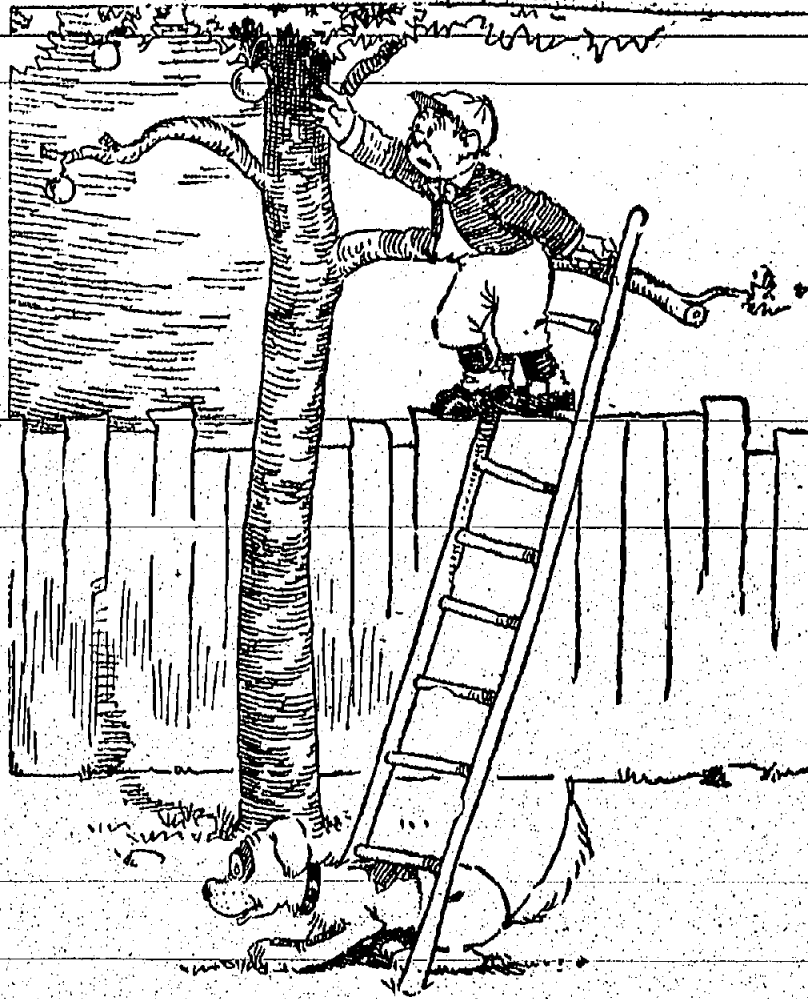

A burden of work rests upon the shoulders of the responsible heads for this three-day holiday and without cooperation of Springfield's people, such an affair could never succeed. Final details will be announced soon, and in a short time of space, Springfield will be in the midst of a "grand old time."

They Call It Politics

By CARTER FIELD

Boston, Mass., May 29.—For the second time Calvin Coolidge, one of the best vote getters the Bay State has ever seen, has gone to the bat for William M. Butler, one-time Senator, and Claudius Huston's predecessor as chairman of the Republican National Committee. There is no doubt in anyone's mind up here that if Coolidge himself were running again, for President or whatever, that he would pile up the votes as he always did. But delivering votes to somebody else is something else again. That is a talent peculiar to political bosses, and very seldom possessed by men who are successful candidates themselves.

In short, there is a very popular opinion that Mr. Coolidge's renewed endorsement of his old friend Butler is worth precisely nothing, although Mr. Coolidge's political strength and prestige has not shrunk since he left the White House. Quite the contrary. There is undoubtedly a curious thing, which for want of a better name might be termed "Political It." Some people have it and some haven't. Your best friends may realize its lack in you, or they may not. They may tell you and they may not. It does not seem to make any difference.

Mr. Butler does not possess it. That has been demonstrated many times. It is rather peculiar, in a way, for assachusetts as a whole admires Mr. Butler tremendously. It regards him as a man of very high intelligence. It regards his integrity as of the highest. It would take his judgment on most things. It feels that he would make a Senator worthy of the highest traditions of this State, which is most proud of its past Senators. But vote for him? That is another story. He has no "It" politically.

The best judgment is at the present moment that Mr. Butler is going to win the Republican nomination for Senator. This is on the theory that no one not now in the race should enter. But it is common talk in the clubs, on the street corners and in the hotel lobbies that anyone of a dozen men could enter the race tomorrow and defeat him. Also it is common talk that his only possible chance of actually going to Washington as a Senator in his own right does not grow out of his own strength as a vote getter, but out of the expectancy that the Bay State Democrats will repeat history and make fools of themselves by their own dissensions.

Mr. Butler's case is most peculiar and interesting in that, in his private life, both in business and socially, he is an unusually forthright person. He has opinions aplenty, and does not hesitate to express them. But when he comes to politics, he is pretty nearly the record holder for caution. Everything is weighed in the balance as to whether it is "expedient."

But because he does not possess this strange attribute referred to as "Political It," the folks do not like this trait in Mr. Butler. They adore it, on the other hand, in his political friend, Mr. Coolidge. They apparently adore the opposite in a figure which has been very disturbing to Mr. Butler lately, that of ex-Governor Alvin T. Fuller. Mr. Fuller never hesitates to rush into print with any thought that occurs to him. It never seems to hurt. Indiscretion on his part has again and again apparently rebounded to his advantage. Caution has again and again hurt Mr. Butler.

It was the spectre of Fuller, who does not want to be Senator at all, he tells his friends, but who just revels in a fight for any reason at all, that frightened Mr. Butler into coming out dry in the present battle. He feared if he did not come out dry that Fuller, who is ardently for prohibition, would enter the race against him.

Opinion here is that Fuller could enter the race tomorrow and get more votes than Butler and his wet opponent, Eben Draper, put together.

Rambling Around SPRINGFIELD

"Nosey" Returns.

With this column again the Rambling Reporter "rambles." Given up as lost and deceased, the Rambling Reporter again pops up on the scene. The last contribution of the robust sly sleuth appeared in the March 14th issue of The Sun, and, no doubt, many readers are anxious to learn just where that famed pencil-pusher remained, whether it be in hiding in a "hunt for lost gold" in a sunken ship, or a competitive contest on sitting on top of a flag pole.

Well, it shall be promptly brought to your attention just where the adventures of "Nosey" (Att. E. L. Meise) brought him to. On March (the Ides of March) he received a letter from a newspaper in Peking, China; that the menu editor had become deathly sick over a dinner recipe he had recommended, and that the publication was in dire need of a substitute. Having heard that the "Rambler" was an authority on good menus, since he had gained more than twenty-five pounds avoirdupois in weight in three months, he would be the man for the job, the communication went on to state.

After being promised $10,000 as an annual salary, it was only after a long persuasive debate with friends, in which they told him it was for the good of his country, and most of all, readers in the "Rambling Around Springfield" column that he leave, then did the author agree to the terms offered him ($10,000???)

It wouldn't be much trouble to originate a good American menu of a rare steak, French fried potatoes, with tomatoes decorating a plate of lettuce and other juicy vegetables, thought "Nosey." But the Rambling Reporter forgot or was ignorant of the fact that the Chinese coolie didn't have enough money to tip a bootblack, let alone a waiter.

We turn the scene two weeks ahead (to allow the ship to reach the Orient) and we find the Rambling Reporter in a Chinese newspaper office, with Chinese symbols staring him in the face, and meaning just the same as those laundry tickets back in the States. But this was worse. While the sheet of paper the laundryman handed the Rambler back in New Jersey measured two inches by four, in China they make a reading sheet by measuring in yards.

"If there is any truth in that epigram, 'There's no place like home,' I wish I was home in Plover avenue," was the thought constantly prying upon the mind of the hero of this story.

But he plodded on for two months and after collecting a salary of $2,000 (???) the Rambling Reporter gave up and returned home again, ready to make the nervous more "fidgety" and the guilty more "nervous." A pledge is made to continue this column every week, and see if a reader perks his ears when he hears that. Proceed to the first trouble finder:

Not having been home in two months and having heard from friends back home that the streets had been repaired, due to the sewer excavations, it was evident that the Rambler would never recognize the old avenues in their new dressings.

A preliminary inspection failed to disclose any new, repaired streets and after a long tussle with stubborn opposition and cold facts it was agreed upon that stones and tar had been placed in Morris and Mountain avenues. Yes, only stones in Morris avenue, which were not even filled with a "hinder." However, the Rambling Reporter did watch activities on repairing Mountain avenue in front of the Municipal Building to the James Caldwell School and to his utter disgust saw automobiles permitted to travel over the streets while tar was being laid on the ground. A bad way of doing things, it seemed. The fine stones sored around the street scattered in only a few days.

Well, until we find something else to rave about, the Rambling Reporter will think up something new, and, by the way, if a reader wishes to have published a communication, address it to the Sun, and leave your name and address to be used at the writer's request. The published letters will appear in a new column called "Our Readers Say."

Many new direct circuits to speed telephone calls from northern and central New Jersey points to distant communities, to the north, south and west are being opened this month. Stars Advance In League Standing With Two Wins

TAKE NOS. 3 AND 4 IN UNION COUNTY BASEBALL CIRCUIT

Nose Out Strong Elizabeth A. A. 4 to 3—Beat Roselle Park 4 to 1 on Home Grounds.

Springfield advanced two notches in the Union County Baseball League standings over the week-end by defeating the strong Elizabeth A. A., 4 to 3, Sunday after a three-run rally in the ninth at the Elizabeth grounds, winning a 4 to 1 victory over the Roselle Park Cardinals at the home diamond Saturday afternoon. As a result, Springfield passed both Garwood and Roselle Park as these two teams lost both week-end contests.

The Stars took advantage of Elizabeth A. A. errors in the Sunday contest, and scored thrice in the last inning to win. This is how it all happened: McHugh worked the pitcher, Strausberger, for a walk, with none down. Thorne hit of third base, and an error left both runners safe. Crennens' misplay was mused by the shortstop, and Fitzsimmons walked, forcing in McHugh. Big "Artie" Lamb hit into a double play, while Thorne scored from third. Debold's single, scoring Crennens, proved the downfall for the Elizabeth outfit, and the locals found themselves in front after McHugh held the rivals down for the last half of the ninth.

Lamb and Debold starred at the stick for the Stars, with two hits apiece while Anderson had six chances in left field. Manager "Ed" Ruby was not in the lineup. Doer started on the mound for Springfield and gave way in the sixth for McHugh.

Behind the good steady hurling of their new pitcher, Spittler, the Stars beat the Roselle Park Cardinals Saturday at the home grounds by the score of 4 to 1. The local hurler gave one base on balls and struck out nine, while his opponent struck out and gave an equal number of free passes.

Debold's triple in the fifth inning with Lamb and McHugh on base proved to bring in the winning runs. Springfield got a run in the first inning on a base on balls, a sacrifice bunt and a single, and Penoyer's double in the eighth, scoring "Jake" Jackson, resulted in the final marker. The Cardinals threatened in the ninth frame, when they hit three singles and scored a run, but Spittler tightened up and forced the last two batters to pop up with two of the bases populated.

Debold was the hitting star for the home team with two hits, while Luyster lead the losers with a like number. The score:

INITIAL PLANS ARE MADE BY CHAIRMEN

H. Gunn, reception and headquarters, the Rev. Dr. George A. Liggett, safety and health, Police Commissioner Fred A. Brown, and exhibits, Mrs. Benjamin M. Woodruff. Mr. Schmidt reported that he had already placed an order for 5,000 windshield stickers, four inches square, with a patriot in the center of an oval, and the name, Springfield at the sides, giving the dates 1780 and 1930. It was decided upon to charge 25 cents for each sticker. These stickers may be placed on windows of dwellings or business establishments or on automobiles.

It was also reported that action has been taken to have the United States Postoffice issue a cancellation stamp, with the date and object of the anniversary to be used on cancelling all mail handled at the local postoffice about the time of the celebration.

A tentative budget to determine the amount of money needed to carry on the celebration will be prepared by the finance chairman, Mr. Schmidt. The chairmen of the different committees gave an approximate amount as to what they would require, so as to help make the budget.

Mr. Gunn, publicity chairman, announced a long list of suggestions, and the members appeared in favor with these. Among Mr. Gunn's plans were exhibiting movie trailers announcing the celebration at theaters in Summit, Millburn, Westfield, Elizabeth, Union and Westfield; a banner stretched across Morris avenue at the center advertising the celebration; posted placards, radio announcements and flags on all buildings and homes.

An elaborate display of fireworks will feature the actual anniversary date of the battle on Monday evening. It was decided upon that no political organization should take part as an association, and that final committees should be named at an executive meeting Monday night in the new headquarters in the First Presbyterian Chapel at 8 o'clock.

HEALTH BOARD MEETS
 An adjournment was held, and the Board of Health session followed, with the same members, and Fred A. Brown as president. Four applications for members of the Board of Plumbing Examiners were received, and the board decided that everyone in Springfield should be given an opportunity to apply. An advertisement, giving complete details for the positions, will be found in another column of the Sun. Applicants are to write to the Township Clerk before June 13.

An ordinance to establish a Board of Plumbing Examiners was passed on second and final reading.

STARS WILL TRY TO STRETCH WINNING STREAK TO THREE STRAIGHT AT HOME TOMORROW AGAINST GARWOOD TEAM

A. A. last Sunday at the same diamond, will again pitch.

Fresh after winning twice in the Union County League over the Elizabeth A. A. and the Roselle Park Cardinals last week-end, the Springfield Stars will oppose the Garwood outfit in an attempt to win their third straight victory. Garwood at one time in the race threatened the champion Elizabeth Braves for first place and, having made their bid and lost, slipped down the league ladder until they rested one game to the rear of the local nine in eighth place.

"Cy" Spittler, who hurled the local boys to a win over Roselle Park last Saturday, striking out nine batters, will take the mound tomorrow, and Manager "Ed" Ruby will put his strongest lineup in the field.

The Garwood team is favored to whip Springfield and a merry tussle is to be expected. With only one-half of the first half of the league schedule completed, Springfield stands a chance of winning if they extend their winning streak tomorrow.

Sunday the Stars encounter the St. Joseph's nine at Diamond No. 1, in Warinanco Park, Elizabeth. McHugh, who beat the Elizabeth

GAYNOR FARRELL AT THE STRAND

It was a moonlight night. He was heir to millions but had no family prestige. She was heiress to social prominence—plenty of had debts if her father played the market—and an engagement ring from a real live, titled count.

Laughs follow heartaches in swift succession—making this newest Janet Gaynor, Charles Farrell musical romance, "High Society Blues," the finest effort yet produced with this perfect pair of screen sweethearts—comedy, "The Tramp."

Laurel and Hardy in "Below Zero," and the Krazy Kat symphonized cartoon, are the principal short subjects.

Tomorrow's matinee special, to be shown at two o'clock is "Charlie Chaplin in a revival of the two reel comedy, "The Tramp."

"What the well-dressed woman will wear" is one of the many attractive features of "The Big Party," the musical offering which comes to the screen of the Strand Monday and Tuesday.

During the action in the spectacular modiste's shop sequence, a series of professional models are seen displaying the latest modes in afternoon gowns, evening gowns and other feminine apparel as a background for the delightful story.

"Dixie Lee, Sue Carol and Walter Catlett enact the featured roles in this tangleful story of a shop-girl's romance.

Eddie Kane, whose characterization of Florenz Ziegfeld in "Broadway Melody" is said to have delighted the famous "Follies" producer, is cast again as a producer in the all-talking, all-musical picture, "Street Girl," coming to the Roth Strand next Wednesday and Thursday.
