"DELAYED ON REPAIRS"
The action was brought about in the form of a recommendation from the consulting engineer, Thomas F. Bowe of New York City, received last week, in which it was alleged that Flaherty was not complying with the provisions of his contract and was "unnecessarily delaying" on repairing certain defective parts of the sewer.

Section 2, the major part of the system, has been finished by the contractor but has not been accepted by the township and will not, it was declared, until every part which does not conform to the specifications of the contract, is in perfect condition.

The engineer was authorized to prepare a set of plans and specifications of the work still to be performed, so that the committee may advertise for bids to complete the job. The Constitution Indemnity Company of Philadelphia, the bonding company for the contractor, has been notified of the board's action. According to the terms of the contract, the bonding company must pay for the construction in the event the contractor fails to live up to his contract.

Flaherty has already been paid $410,511.50 for the work he has finished, and a percentage is being withheld until the governing body is satisfied that the system is fit to use.

Copy of Resolution
A copy of the resolution passed and approved by the committee declaring the contract null, is herewith presented:

WHEREAS, Thomas F. Bowe, Consulting Engineer of the Township of Springfield has certified to the said Township Committee that the E. J. Flaherty Contracting Company, with whom the Township of Springfield heretofore entered into a contract, dated May 14th, 1929, for the construction of Section 2 of the sanitary sewage system in said Township, by reason of the non-compliance of the said company with the instructions to fulfill the contract, certain parts of the work are being unnecessarily delayed; and

WHEREAS, it appears to the Township Committee that certain parts of the said work are being unnecessarily delayed;

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE TOWNSHIP COMMITTEE of the Township of Springfield, that the said E. J. Flaherty Contracting Company, in consequence of its non-compliance with instructions to fulfill its contract for the construction of Section 2 of the sanitary sewage system.

THE LITTLE CHILDREN

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

THE little children, chide them not,
 Though noisy at their play,
 Although in yonder vacant lot
 They make a holiday.
 He does not know a father's cares,
 The boy with ball and bat,
 The girl the burden mother bears—
 Thank heaven for that.

The little children fill the room
 With many a merry shout.
 They have not learned how great the gloom

That shunts the earth about,
 The world's a fairyland, and elves
 The dancing lass and lad.
 But, if we cannot laugh ourselves,
 Let them be glad.

The little children find it fair,
 This world we find so drear.
 But time shall bring the graying hair.
 The grief, the losing year.
 So greet them not with frowning brow,
 Reprove the shouts of glee;
 For, if they are not happy now,
 When shall they be?

Name for Form of Ice

Title's Humble Origin

Just why so humble a word as "marshal" should come to be a title of such dignity, nobody knows. It is an English rendering of the French word "marechal," which originally meant a shoer of horses.

Dirigible Los Angeles Goes Over Springfield

Hundreds of Springfielders were treated to a thrill shortly before noon, Tuesday, when the giant U. S. Navy dirigible Los Angeles passed over the township. The ship was on a training flight from Lakehurst, and was traveling north inland and returning by way of New York City, Atlantic City and Cape May, and the Jersey coast. The airship was directed toward Short Hills, having come from over Elizabeth, and local spectators were afforded an exceptionally fine view of the air wonder, with the horizon being clear, and the sun shining in its full rays.

Early Advertising

All advertising in early newspapers was in the form of "readers," like the present-day classified ad. The P. T. A.

EVERYONE, including parents of school-children, as well as those interested, are being urged to attend a meeting next Tuesday evening in the James Caldwell School, to organize a Parent-Teachers Association. Certainly all our erasers will cooperate in such a body, which result in a better contact between the school teacher and the parents of the boys and girls into whose minds they impart a higher knowledge.

Such an association existed in Springfield several years ago, but it has since disbanded, and its revival is anticipated with joy by the many fathers and mothers of children of school age.

The president of the County Association, Mrs. Joseph Jones of Roselle Park, has been engaged to deliver a short address at the meeting, and a large attendance is being predicted.

Our best wishes are extended to Supervising Principal Fred J. Hodgson and to those instrumental in bringing about a Parent-Teacher's Association, and may it be successful in its objectives!

Fire Prevention Week

THE National Board of Fire Underwriters reports that the fire loss during July was $34,847,750—$2,862,257 more than in July, 1929. The total loss for the first seven months of this year has been $277,137,521, as compared with $262,078,288 during the same period last year, an increase of more than $15,000,000.

The discouraging fact is that we are once more on our way toward a half-billion dollar annual wast. For the past few years there has been a small but steady decrease in annual loss and it was hoped that the American people were at last becoming "fire conscious." Apparently the hope was unfounded. Carelessness and ignorance continue to destroy, through the medium of fire, thousands of irreplaceable lives and a gigantic amount of property each year.

The week of October 5-11 has been set aside as "Fire Prevention Week." Once more private and public organizations will endeavor to instill in the public a knowledge of fire hazards, of the need for better building construction and the like. Once more we will have the opportunity to learn, under expert guidance, lessons that are of direct financial benefit to all of us.

The issue is up to the public. Our gigantic fire loss is a menace to prosperity, to home building, to industrial progress. It is a national disgrace that can be remedied only by unceasing vigilance in our homes and places of business.

Say It Again.

YOU can say this out loud:
"Like many diseases, in which nature is the best healing agent, the cure for a considerable number of traffic ills lies within the victims themselves. It is easy to advocate more policemen, more signal lights, more arrests, more fines, more license

What the SUN Advocates

Believing that the following improvements are vital necessities to nourish Springfield's betterment and substantial progress, the SUN advocates:

1. A high school.
2. Removal of delapidated buildings which are "sorespots."
3. Sidewalks wherever needed.
4. Encouraging clean factories, to increase the ratables.
5. Better and more powerful street-lighting system.
6. Postal-carrier delivery.
7. Entire township under one Fire District.
8. Ample police protection in North End.
9. Set of Building Zones, before township is developed.
10. A county park.

reservations, the elimination of blind intersections, wider roads, fewer curves, but all these are, primarily, palliatives. They do not effect a permanent cure for the disease has its roots in the carelessness and selfishness of the drivers themselves."—Motor Vehicle Commissioner Harold Hoffman.

Making A Living.

POLITICS is the science of organization in government. Economics is the science of relationship among men in the providing of a living for them. Government in the last analysis means no more than the effort to keep people congregated together on a harmonious footing. All the complications of industry and trade, mean, in their final analysis, no more than making a living.

There is a point at which politics touches economics, and certainly ill advised politics can harm economics. But to think that government can regulate and always assure good economics is baseless. It ought to be plain that a man can't secure bread and butter by having a law passed for him. And likewise the mass of men can't have their economics solved for them by delegates assembled to make speeches and laws. Making a living is a matter of work, of intelligent planning in the field of enterprise, and of balanced co-ordination in production. In a complex civilization it becomes a resultant of numerous factors, almost impossible of analysis, and certainly beyond the scope of legislation alone.

Yet there is a prevailing opinion that good times can be attributed to government, and that responsibility for bad times is chargeable to government. We see that exemplified now all over the world. Industrial depression is, not, limited to any one country. Therefore, political reversals occur throughout the world. In those places where a fiery emotionalism is generally interspread with political action, the change takes the form of violent overthrow. In those where people have learned to be temperate and orderly, the ballot box registers change.

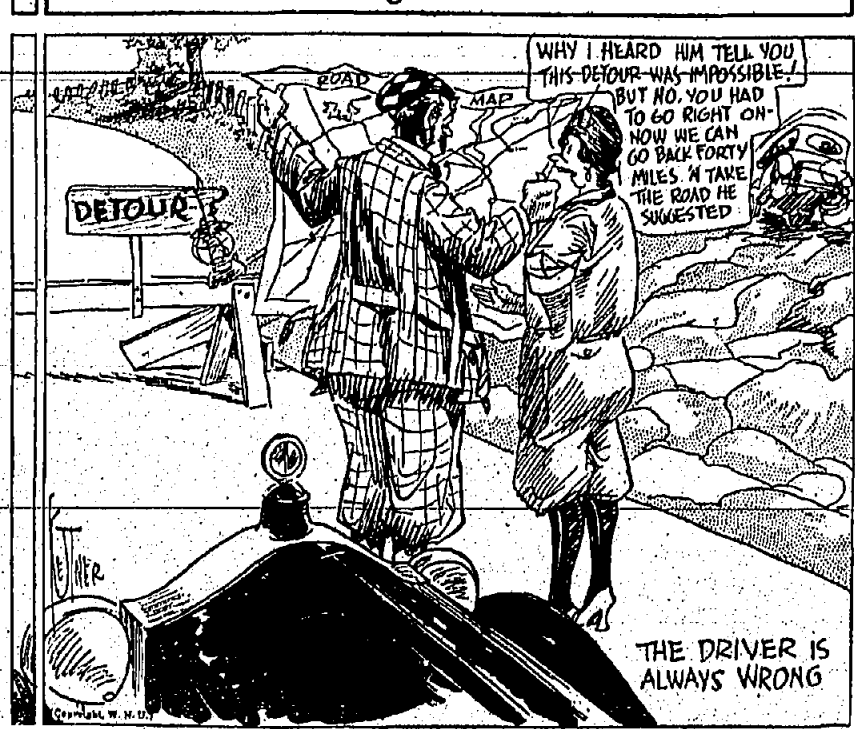

It is a sign of imperfect thinking on the part of people when they allow industry to be the sport of political opportunism. Good men should be retained in office when they have demonstrated their integrity and ability for government work. Politics and industry should keep their separate fields.

Press Opinion

OUR SPEED-MAD GRANDFATHERS
Great-grandfather who courted his sweetheart in an ox-cart, and grandfather who travelled in a stagecoach, were as speed-mad as young men of today, declares Edward A. Filene, veteran Boston merchant, in the September "Rotarian."

"The underlying truth about the airplane," he says, "is that it goes places, and gets there quickly over routes that were never open to travel before. But that was equally true of the stagecoach. People of the stagecoach era were as speed-mad as the people of today. They did things and went places as quickly as they knew how. "The essential difference between this and other ages is not one of materialism versus spirituality, nor of speed versus a leisurely, patient, and philosophical attitude, but a difference in what we are able to do.

Along the Concrete

DOLLAR-A-WEEK SLAVES

Life in America has become a matter of a dollar down and a dollar a week, if we are to believe an analysis of business methods appearing in a recent issue of a retail clothing journal. "The country is going time payment mad," is the charge, which declares further that wage earners have signed away their wages for years to come to procure the immediate use of both necessities and luxuries, mostly luxuries.

Credit not only is the life of business, but it is the salvation of a modest home. But isn't there a possibility that business rivalry makes credit so easy to get that we are inclined to abuse it? Today we buy homes, insurance, automobiles, musical instruments, washing machines, magazines, furniture, clothing, gas and electric equipment, engagement rings, radio sets, in fact about everything imaginable on the part-payment plan, mortgaging our incomes for years.

Discounting the future is, to a certain extent, an aid not only to our social, but to our economic life. It not only establishes our faith tomorrow but it heralds the fact that our financial transactions are honorable enough for us to obtain credit. But there is always the danger that overindulgence in this form of buying is going to make us dollar-a-week slaves

MAKING CRIMINALS BY LAW

(From Cranford Chronicle)
After 25 years Kansas repealed its law under which it was a crime to manufacture, sell or give away cigarettes. In order to close this breach in the wall of prohibitory legislation, the people of Oregon will be asked at the November election to suppress the cigarette by constitutional amendment. This mania of a few fanatics to "judge their neighbor" is a national menace. They do not wait until the neighbor has broken a fundamental law before trying to punish him; they must pass a new law which is almost sure to make him a law-breaker. In the plea of preventing crime, these same reformers propose anti-gun laws under which law-abiding citizens would be denied the right to own small arms. The self-respecting gun-loving American is thereby placed in the class with crooks and criminals when he has done nothing whatever to deserve that classification. Such restrictive and prohibitory legislation is all proposed and presented to the people in the name of liberty and freedom. The irony of the situation is that when the people adopt such measures they simply reduce their own rights and liberties, make hundreds of thousands of new law-breakers and increase business opportunity for the real criminal element which obeys no laws. In the words of the San Francisco Chronicle, "Creating so many artificial crimes seems a rather high price to pay even for the pure joy of passing laws to regulate other people's habits."

TO GIVE SHOW FOR CATHEDRAL OF AIR

Trenton, N. J.—An Eastern States air race meet will be staged at the Mercer County Airport, near this city, on Saturday and Sunday, October 18 and 19, for the benefit of the Cathedral of the Air, the American Legion Memorial Chapel to be erected at the U. S. Naval Station at Lakehurst by the Department of New Jersey. No aviation event ever staged in this country, with the possible exception of the Chicago air races this year, has had a program in any way comparing with that arranged for the Legion show here.

President Herbert H. Blizzard, of the American Legion Memorial Chapel Association, with the assistance of a board of trustees made up of enthusiastic workers, is arranging the air meet and has been given the most cordial assurance of support from every side.

The Navy and Marine Corps have literally fixed the sky as the limit to their help. All sorts of planes and the best of the pilots of the Navy and Marines will be on hand and there will be several of the Navy dirigibles present. The Army and the National Guard also will participate.

Civilian fliers from all parts of the country have offered to cooperate and the roster of those who will be seen in the air at the chapel benefit reads like a list of Who's Who in Aviation.

The co-operation of every legion post in the state will be sought in the sale of tickets. Every cent of profit will go into the fund for the Cathedral of the Air and it is hoped the response will make it possible to break ground at Lakehurst in the spring of the coming year for the chapel, which will be an outstanding monument, unlike anything else in the world, to the men who have lost their lives in military and naval aviation.

Scholastic Raiment

The wearing of caps and gowns in American schools was comparatively rare until the last quarter of the Nineteenth century. A movement toward a general adoption of a uniform system resulted in the calling of an intercollegiate commission, which met in 1894 at Columbia university under the chairmanship of President Low. Yale, Princeton and New York university being also represented.

Rambling Around Town

A PUBLIC HEARING ON WHETHER or not Springfield should permit Sunday miniature golf has been set for Wednesday evening, October 15, on the first floor of the Municipal Building. If a large delegation appears, it is understood that the location will be transferred to the auditorium on the second floor. Residents in the "south neighborhood", in Milltown road and Hillside avenue who are most anxious that water be placed in their streets, may have their desires satisfied. The Commonwealth Water Company, upon being assured that the Board of Fire Commissioners will apply for fire hydrants there, will commence to lay water mains. And certainly, the firemen are set to approve of more hydrants. Election day, November 4, is only five and a half weeks distant. Both political parties are commencing their campaigns and a struggle is evident. For the Republicans the candidates are, freeholder, Charles H. Huff town committeeman, Fred A. Brown and tax collector, William Hoppaugh. For the Democrats, their respective rivals are Howard L. Potter, George B. Gaskill and Frank E. Meeker. While it is a bit early to mention primary possibilities for next spring, the SUN has exclusively learned that Mayor Gabriel Larson will not be a candidate for town committeeman next year, having already devoted six years to public duty, in which he has contributed a major share in the installation of the Springfield sanitary-sewer system. The term of Francis Leslie also expires next year, but Mr. Leslie has not been queried as yet. We may be speaking of our "chickens before they're hatched," but Springfield's baseball team for next year is being moulded together now, with the hope in mind of copping the championship of the Union County League. Kiggle Coplan will be the field manager, and the other new players will be Al Lorenzo, Jimmy Sullivan, Sammy Ranklin, of this year's Elizabeth A. A., Mike Lauer, Norman Erlberger, the ace of the Lackawanna pitchers this year, Bill Mullen, and many players of this year's team, including the Thorne brothers, Chet Bosalavage, Jake Jackson, Bennett, Herb and Emile Pennoyer, and last but not least, the old war-horse hurler, Johnny Pentz. If they don't cop the pennant next year, the Stars never will. It is understood only certain players will be reimbursed, and the remainder of the receipts and contributions banked, and a banquet at the end of the season will be planned.

Walter Thorne's Double in 10th Inning Beats Braves, 5 to 4

Springfield Stars Enter Play-Off Series to Decide Second Half Winner

Walter Thorne's smashing double off third base in the tenth inning, scoring Johnny Allen, defeated the Braves, 5 to 4, last Saturday at Flamer Oval and brought to a close one of the most exciting baseball contests ever staged here. It was enough to eliminate the Braves from the top notch in the second half of the Union County League and avenged the locals stinging defeats last fall in the series-play off when the Stars captured the second half and lost the league championship to the Braves, first-half winners, and it also enabled Springfield to enter a series of games between the two other teams tied for first place in the second half, Westfield and the Elizabeth A. A. It appeared to be a certain Braves victory in the eighth inning with the score, 4 to 2, in favor of the Indians, but the locals scored two runs in their time at bat, and went on to victory in the extra inning.

Mike Lauer, New Brunswick speed artist, hurled a fine game for Springfield, and his batting proved to help win the game. He allowed the Braves eight hits, struck out only two, and issued one base on balls, while his rival, Eddie Chmiel, Indians' ace, struck out eight, yielded eleven healthy bingles, and passed six.

Bill Lawson, Chet Boslavage, and Walter Thorne each collected a pair of hits, all figuring in the scoring.

The Stars scored in the first inning when Boslavage singled to center, advanced to second on a passed ball, and came home on Walter Thorne's wicked single through second and third.

The Braves came back in the second inning with three runs, as a result of a triple by Tommy Lamont over Jack McHugh's head, scoring both Dreesen and Kearney who were on base through a hit and an error. Lamont scored on Chmiel's sacrifice fly, and a large delegation of Elizabeth rooters commenced to cheer wildly.

Artie Lamb was robbed of a double or possible triple in the third inning, when his long drive to left center was snared by Feller after a long run with two out. Duke Thorne and Bill Mullen were past home when the ball was caught and the side was retired.

The Stars picked up a run in the next inning on Jake Jackson's single through to center, scoring Lawson.

A misjudged ball between Jackson, Duke Thorne and Walter Thorne resulted in the final Braves' scoring, when all three fielders hesitated about catching a high Texas Leaguer.

The locals threatened in the fifth and sixth innings, but Chmiel was given excellent support from his teammates, and it looked like the "curtain" for the Stars until the eighth inning when Lawson got his second hit. Springfield suffered a bad break when Fitzsimmons, batting for McHugh, beat out a perfect bunt, and suffered a slight sprain, ten feet from first and was easily put out, when two men should have been on the paths. Mike Lauer rose to the occasion with a long double to deep center, and Lawson scored. Duke Thorne, next batter, hit to the third baseman, and he threw wildly over third, attempting to catch Lauer, and the latter scored, tying the score at all.

Pandemonium reigned over the entire field, while the Braves' supporters were dumb-founded at the sudden change of affairs. Noise and clamor lasted for some time, and the side was quickly retired. Chmiel was beginning to weaken after having kept the locals in check up until this time.

Both teams failed to score in the ninth inning. A fast unassisted double play by Kiggle Coplan in the tenth inning, ended a possible Braves' rally. Incidentally Coplan played a bang up game, making fifteen put outs, and turning many wild throws from the infield into brilliant catches.

Allan, substituting in right field for McHugh, walked to begin the tenth inning. Lawson sacrificed him to second with a bunt, and Walter Thorne proved the hero, with a long double, which was fair by inches off third base, and ball was over.

to see the Elizabeth team beaten. If there's any outfit in the league the locals aim to win over, it's the Braves.

Elizabeth must have been a bit shaky to see Kiggle Coplan, Mike Lauer and Bill Mullen in the Stars line-up, and the general odds before the umpire called, "Play Ball" was 3 to 2 that Springfield would win.

Jack McHugh was out of position when Lamont's hit went over his head for a three-bagger. Before it was finally thrown to the infield, it was juggled by at least three players.

Kiggle Coplan hit a hard single in the first inning, and his batting activities ended there for that day, but when it came to fielding, the big first-sacker sure knew his "outs." Practically every other inning, he contributed some gem, and after he completed an unassisted double play in the tenth inning, the home team fans gave him a big ovation.

The Braves' rooting section included a large number of the fair sex and the girls were continually razzing the local players.

"J. C." Carter, Springfield's most excited supporter when it comes to exciting vocal support, was very much evident. When he cheered the opposing team even had to smile and acknowledge that he certainly had some pair of vocal cords.

Automobiles were parked all along the roadway in back of the left side of the field. A crowd of at least 500 or 600 persons was present. Seems strange, but Springfield does not have many attending ball games, even though they be "crucial" ones.

Tuscan Farmers Will Cross Bats With Maplewood Nine

The Havana Red Sox traveled to Irvington Sunday and put an end to the winning streak of the Tuscan Farmers, winning 6 to 3. The game was played at Olympic Park before one of the biggest crowds of the season.

The Tuscan Farmers trailed until the eighth inning, when they scored three runs, evening up matters, only to have the Cubans retaliate with three more runs that sewed up the game.

Next Sunday morning the Maplewood Maples will provide the opposition for the Tuscan Farmers and in the afternoon the Elizabeth Braves will make an appearance at Olympic Park.

Elizabeth A. A. Defeats Stars in Play-Off, 4 to 0

Locals Lose Elimination Contest to New Champions In Union County Circuit

Springfield's hopes for capturing the second half championship of the Union County League, were smashed to bits last Sunday afternoon at Warinanco Park when the Stars were blanked by the Elizabeth A. A., 4 to 0. By virtue of the victory, the Betsytowners won the second half, and earned the right to meet Hillside, first-half winners, for the supremacy of the league. The A. A. defeated Westfield, on Saturday 8 to 6, and thus captured its two elimination games, brought about as a result of a three-cornered tie between themselves, Springfield and the Westfield Hawks. The Elizabeth Braves were also in the fight until Saturday when they lost to Springfield, 5 to 4.

FALLENSTEIN LOCAL PITCHER

The services for the local nine of big Ed. Fallenstein, erstwhile International Leaguer, did not awe the Elizabeth team, and coupled with excellent pitching by Collie Velbinger and a steady barrage of hits at the right moment, they bowled over the Stars, 4 to 0. Fallenstein deserves better results, but his teammates failed to produce hits when needed. In practically every inning, Springfield's runners were stranded on the bags, for lack of that batting punch needed to collect runs.

Velbinger was in rare form, striking out seven, walking three, and allowing only five safe hits but Fallenstein also gave a commendable performance, striking out six and yielding seven bingles, and despite the poor and fielding support given him, permitted the enemy to score only one earned run.

Jimmy Sullivan, hard-hitting Elizabeth A. A. second-baseman, was partly responsible for the win with his three successive singles, while Emil Frey, a teammate captured some of the laurels when he hit one of Fallenstein's fast curves for a long home run, in deep left center, in the fourth inning.

For Springfield Chet Bosalavage was the batting star, collecting two singles, besides playing a sparkling game in right-fielder, making four put-outs and two assists.

About 5,000 fans were on hand as Duke Thorne opened the hostilities with a single through second base, but the Springfield fans joys were short-lived when Bosalavage, the next batter hit to Sammy Rankin, shortstop, and a brilliant double play ended the rally.

In the next inning, Bobby Wade poked out a single, barely beating a hit to the shortstop, and Bill Lawson shot a ball to third base, when Regney threw wildly to first. Wade went all the way to home, and the local fans commenced to howl. Meanwhile Lawson advanced to second. Al Lorenzo, A. A. manager, protested to the umpires that Wade could not score on the play, and after much discussion, the runner went back to third base. Jackson ended the inning by hoisting a high fly to center.

Jimmy Sullivan was the first batter for the home team in the second inning, and started off by beating out a hit to Jake Jackson. Lamb was having difficulty handling Fallenstein's fast ones, and Sullivan stole second on a passed ball. Here the local hurler lost control and passed both Dietz and A. Sullivan. Manager Lorenzo threw a scare into the locals by hitting when a long ball to right field, labelled for a home run, but it was foul by inches. He rolled to Fallenstein and J. Sullivan was forced at the plate. Lamb in trying to catch Lorenzo at first, for the final put-out, made a good heave, but Bill Mullen dropped the ball.

Velbinger batted next, and plastered a single between second and third to score Dietz and Sullivan. Had Mullen caught the throw from Lamb, the side would have been retired.

The Lorenzo brigade started to tremble in the third inning, when Bosalavage and Walter Thorne hit successive singles, with two away. The stage was set for a score with Chet on third, but Bill Mullen heard the ump called a third strike, with his bat on his shoulder, and protested, but to no avail.

The first ball pitched to Frey in the fourth inning went for a circuit blow, the first and only earned run of the game.

Bosalavage got his fourth hit in two days in the sixth frame, and it appeared as if Velbinger was beginning to weaken when he walked Mullen after fanning Walter Thorne. Only one man was out, and the count was three balls and no strikes on Lamb when he crossed the pitcher and struck at a high ball, forcing Mullen at second for the final put-out.

Bosalavage was left on third when Jackson failed to produce a hit.

Fallenstein got out of a dangerous situation in the sixth inning when he kept Lorenzo's men from scoring with the sacks all populated and one out. J. Sullivan got his third hit of the day, and Frey reached first on an infield error. Both pulled a double steal, and A. Sullivan was purposely passed. Lorenzo helped the locals by forcing J. Sullivan at the plate. Velbinger hit a terrific liner to Jake Jackson, who caught it while sitting on the ground, retiring the side.

Rankin singled in the next inning, and stole second. J. Sullivan was trying hard for his fourth straight hit, but Fallenstein succeeding in striking him out.

Duke Thorne's error in dropping Dietz' fly, his first in many games, and a single by A. Sullivan brought in the last score of the game.

SPRINGFIELD COPS 2 OUT OF 3 FROM SUMMIT B PINNERS

Captain Charles Huff's Lackawanna Bowlers make their standing at an even percentage of 500 last night when they defeated the Summit B. quintet two games out of three, at the local alleys.

Both teams rolled erratic games, the locals going from 758 in the first to 910, in the second winning the first by four pins.

Gus Schmidt, with a high score of 207, had the highest average of the night, 176, while Brewster and Parse of the losers also got into the "200" circle with 201 and 202, respectively, in the last game.

Next Thursday, Springfield meets Rockaway, at the latter's alleys.

ahead of the locals, and turned many possible hits into easy put-outs.

Johnny Pentz, veteran pitcher, coached the Stars at first and third, and was waiting to take Fallenstein's place, if needed. Big Ed certainly had his hands full. No pitcher could win when his mates failed to sock the old apple.

Fallenstein frequently asked for a new ball in the early innings, since the pill was too heavy to throw. Everyone in the stands thought he was too particular, but his fast ball has so much stuff on it, well, ask Artie Lamb. Poor Artie had his hands full trying to hold Fallenstein's speed, and on several occasions, the winners took advantage of that by stealing bases.

NECESSITIES VS. LUXURIES

BUSINESS economists inform us that the first step in making a market for a new product is to create a demand for it. Jobbers must become acquainted with the product, and retail storekeepers must know all about it.

When clerking in a country store a person came in, asking for a jack-knife. There were no jack-knives in stock. Presently another customer made the same demand, then a third came with the same request. After this third demand the store was supplied with plenty of jack-knives for sale. Keeping a supply on hand proved to be a necessity.

We hear these days about the demands luxuries make upon us. Truly money is spent for luxuries, more so, perhaps, than for necessities. But necessities come first because they are essential. Luxuries are nonessential.

Nature also cases only for necessities. You cannot find a single thing in nature that might be classified as a luxury. She refuses to have anything to do with the nonessentials.

Luxuries, while enjoyable, should not be necessary to health, life or one's happiness.
