ANNUAL PHYSICAL EXHIBIT HELD IN CALDWELL SCHOOL

Junior High Pupils Present Demonstration Before Large Gathering

The annual demonstration of the pupils of Springfield's Junior High School department was presented last Friday evening in the James Caldwell School before a gathering which filled the auditorium to capacity. The demonstration was under the supervision of John M. Nies, physical director.

The audience consisted largely of parents and friends, and the program opened with two selections by the School Band, "Silver Cascades," and "Ferns and Flowers," by G. E. Holmes with Rochford Era as the leader. A burlesque dance, "Phases," by Ruth Danelseker, Edith Gorma and Emma Hopler followed, after which the sixth grade boys and girls performed in class squad work and a "Virginia Reel."

The seventh-grade boys were seen next in a series of relays, consisting of a boat race, walking race, kangaroo race and basket ball relay; and the seventh-grade girls presented an athletic drill, followed by parallel vaults and dives by the boys of the eighth grade.

A fencing drill, a new feature in the schools this year, was performed by Lorraine Smith, Katherine Blake, Florence Leiman and Anna Richards.

A group of clog dances included: "Yuba," with Florence Hubbs and Hanna Markus; "Eliza Jane," by the eighth-grade girls; "East Side, West Side," with Florence Hubbs and Hanna Markus; and "Alcibiades Jones," with Gertrude Douglas and Mae Parsell.

The exercises closed with the ninth-grade boys performing pyramids; "Threes," "The Tower," "The Fan," and the "Arch Parallels."

TAU GAMMA PHI SIGMA SORORITY DANCE HELD

The Tau Gamma Phi Sigma Sorority held an informal Spring Dance Saturday evening in the Columbian Hall, 8 Grant avenue, East Orange. Music was furnished by Jack Morley and his Orchestra of Irvington. A large attendance was present.

Members of the society include the Misses Dorothy Doherty and Edna Dambros of Springfield, Marilyn Cover of White Oak Ridge, Marguerite Hegeman of Maplewood, Claire Wahl of Hillside, Meta Sturm, Emma Suck and Cella Donahay of Vaux Hall, Emma Lind, Ollie Saurin of Elizabeth, Marquette Holshum, Janet Muller and Elsie Klein of Irvington, Blanche Kazary of East Orange and Mary Dunn, Eleanor Dunn and Evelyn Glick of Newark.

LIONS HEAR PHONE COMPANY OFFICIALS

C. S. Anderson and J. T. Clark, special representatives of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company were heard by members of the Lions Club last Friday noon at their weekly meeting.

In connection with the talk, stereophonic slides were shown, depicting beauty spots and interesting places in the state.

President Dr. William G. Huff presided. Eleven members and five guests were present. In addition to Mr. Anderson and Mr. Clark, the other guests were A. B. Anderson of Springfield, W. G. Baumhild of the Westfield Lions Club, and Mr. Truquet of the Borden Company.

The club met this noon in the Colonial Inn.

DALCO COMPANY GAS STATION NOW OPEN

In response to an increasing demand for Dalco Gasoline by motorists in Springfield and vicinity, the D & L Oil Company of Newark has opened its newest station in its chain in Flower Avenue, near Morris Avenue.

As an introductory offer at the new station, motorists will receive one gallon of oil free with every purchase of five or more gallons of Dalco Gas.

The D & L Oil Company was founded nine years ago with a single station, by its President, Joseph F. Lynch.

The company now operates a chain of 18 service stations throughout Essex County and in Elizabeth, Clifton and Passaic, in addition to pumps in independent stations. The D & L Oil Company distributes Dalcoene, 100% Pennsylvania oil and also does a large fuel-oil business.

HAS LARGE STOCK
Edward Jaekel florist, of 37 Morley avenue, announced a large stock of Easter flowers on hand for the coming holiday. Mr. Jaekel grows close to 60,000 bulbs a year, and suggests that local residents try his cultivation for tulips, hyacinths, lilies, hyacinths and other Easter flowers.

CHURCH GROUP WILL HOLD TURKEY SUPPER

The Ladies Benevolent Society of the Presbyterian Church will hold a turkey supper this evening in the chapel of the church, from 5 to 8 o'clock. Mrs. A. Palmer Hill and Mrs. William Steockle are general chairmen for the affair, together with members of the society's ways and means committee.

Tickets for adults are one dollar and for children twelve years of age and under, sixty cents.

DISCUSS INITIAL LIBRARY DETAILS

Commission Sets Machinery in Motion At Meeting

The Public Library Commission met Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. A. B. Anderson, of 36 Maple avenue, and formulated plans for a drive to secure necessary funds to create a library in Springfield.

The commission of twelve were recently named by President Alfred G. Trundle of the Parent-Teacher's Association, which aided materially in starting the movement on foot.

Mrs. Anderson was chosen chairman, Nicholas C. Schmidt as secretary and Mrs. Ralph H. Titley as treasurer. The Rev. W. I. Reed, pastor of the Methodist Church and Mrs. John E. Gunn were appointed to serve in charge of publicity.

Other members of the group are Mrs. E. Cook, Supervising Principal Fred J. Hodgson, Rev. Thomas B. Larkin, Rev. Dr. George A. Liggett, Mrs. Frank C. Geiger, Gabriel Larsen, and Miss Frances D. Wahl.

P.T.A. WILL HEAR COLLEGE PROFESSOR

Miss Wilma Lloyd, assistant professor of psychology at the Montclair State Teacher's College, will address members of the Parent-Teacher's Association at a regular monthly meeting in the James Caldwell School Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

The topic of Miss Lloyd's talk, which she announced will deal with child psychology.

A program has been arranged, including individual selections by members of the Junior High School Orchestra, Mrs. Eileen Ward, a member of the James Caldwell School faculty, will give several vocal solos.

A feature of the evening will be a talk by a member of the Board of Education, of important interest to members and friends, who are invited to attend the meeting.

AMOS 'N' ANDY AT ROTH STRAND

"Amos 'n' Andy" come to the Roth Strand Theatre in Summit this week-end in their first appearance on the talking screen in "Check and Double Check." This pair of black-faced comedians, heard nightly by millions as owners of the "Fresh Air Taxi Cab, Company, Incorporated" are seen in that role, as operators of the "Fresh Air Taxi Cab." Irene Rich and Sue Carol are also in the cast.

Greta Garbo in "Inspiration," is the attraction for Monday and Tuesday. Robert Montgomery heads the supporting cast which includes Lewis Stone, Beryl Mercer, Marjorie Rambeau, John Miljan and others.

Grace Moore, famous Metropolitan soprano, is leading player in "Lady's Morals," at the Strand Wednesday and Thursday. Reginald Denny has the leading male role and two former opera stars appear in the film. They are Paul Porges, famous Italian Opera singer and composer, and Giovanni Martino, formerly with the Metropolitan Opera Company in New York.

Wallace Beery, Gus Shy, and George Marion also have roles in the picture. On Wednesday's and Thursday's program will be shown "Brothers."

Funeral Services Held For Rev. W. C. Snodgrass Yesterday

The second annual card party and dance held Saturday evening in United Singer's Grove under the auspices of the St. Vincent de Paul Society of St. James Catholic Church, proved to be a successful affair, with more than 500 persons present.

Fifty-four tables of bridge and twelve tables of pinocle were in play, and high scores at each table received prizes.

Music for dancing was provided by Schwartzman's Orchestra.

William C. Davis, president of the society, was general chairman. Other members of the committee are as follows: Mrs. Arthur C. Prinz, Mrs. William C. Davis, Mrs. Joseph H. Gunn, Mrs. William Drow, Mrs. Harry J.

ANNOUNCE RHYME CONTEST WINNERS

Scotch Plains Resident Wins High Electric Co. Prize

The ten February prize winners, selected by judges for the Jersey Central Power and Light Company's "Jingle" contest, were announced this week. Harold Johnson of Scotch Plains, won first prize. Many hundreds of entries were received, few of the 196 New Jersey communities to which the company furnishes electric service being represented by less than a score of contestants while some produced several times that number.

Those who entered wrote short rhymes advertising electric washing machines. A sample rhyme and illustrations accompanied every electric light bill rendered last month. The winning rhyme, written by Mr. Johnson, read "Every Monday little glooms, 'I used to park in all our rooms; Mother used to snarl and fret, Washing day was just 'all wet'. Monday now our washer's busy, Whirling undies 'till they're dizzy, Linen sturdy, blouses fragile, on the job—severe and agile."

This was considered to compare well with the sample jingle by a well known writer which read "On washing day we used a tub, and wash board—how we'd toil! We had to rub and rub and scrub, to free our clothes from soil. But now our work is done for us, E-lec-tri-cally! There is no labor and no fuss, in this way, as you see."

Next month's cash prizes will be awarded for jingles about cooking by electricity. The other nine prize winners this month were, in the order of merit Miss Claudia Anderson, Box 154 Morris Plains; Miss Anna E. Hadden, 100 Boulevard, Summit; Mrs. Gerard M. Abbott, Hopper Avenue, Pompton Plains; Mrs. Ruth E. Dickson, 379 Fifteenth Avenue, Paterson; Miss J. N. Krasby, 33 McCullough Avenue, Morris-town; Miss Muriel A. Baker, 255 Main Street, Mahanwan; Mrs. Herbert Barber, Forrest Avenue, Red Bank; Mrs. B. L. Bowen, Lincoln Park, and Mrs. J. H. Sabo, 313 Broadway, Keyport.

WILL OPEN SHOPPE

The Martha Dress Shoppe will open tomorrow, Saturday, at 240 Morris avenue, in the Liechtenstein Building, with a full line of moderate priced dresses and hats. Mrs. M. V. Pultz, a well-known resident of the township, is the proprietor of the new establishment.

TRANSFERS POSITION

J. R. Golligly, former manager of the Springfield Coal Company, residing in Morris avenue, has transferred his business connections and is now affiliated with the Millburn Coal and Ice Company, in Millburn.

WILL LEAVE FOR TRIP TO EUROPE

Ephraim Muller of 31 Clinton avenue and Victor Gromost of Hillside, will leave next month on the De-France steamship for Paris. They will spend the summer traveling throughout Europe.

LASTING SIGNATURES

Ancient Chinese documents were sometimes signed by fingerprints impressed into clay seals.

Celebrates 87th Birthday Today

Mrs. Henrietta Meyer of Evergreen avenue, one of the oldest residents in the township, will celebrate her eighty-seventh birthday today. Relatives including children, grand children and great-grand children, will flock here to greet her on the occasion.

The birthday is to be celebrated quietly, for the aged lady has not recuperated sufficiently from an operation on facial nerves performed last December which did not fully prove successful.

Mrs. Meyer has always been active, having up until the time of the operation, been able to use without glasses. Now as a result of the operation, her eyesight is failing.

GOLFERS MUST SHOW THEIR PHOTOGRAPHS

Identification cards bearing the photograph of the holders will be issued to all persons playing the Galloping Hill Golf Course this coming season. The Union County Park Commission after making a careful study of various plans to control the out-of-county play, submitted this system to the Administration Building of the Union County Park Commission, on Wednesday evening. All those present unanimously endorsed it as being sound and practical.

A camera will be installed at the Galloping Hill Club House and all those who wish to play will be requested to make out an application blank and pose for a photograph, a copy of which will be affixed to their identification card after the residence of the applicant has been verified. This same plan of requiring photographs will also be used for the season card holders as well.

This system will do away with the necessity of requiring a police officer to pass out tickets in the parking space, thereby preventing arguments and absolutely guaranteeing the residence of all players. As last year, out-of-county players may play only as guests of county residents.

Application blanks will be ready for distribution in the near future and players will be encouraged to visit the Golf Course prior to the opening day to have their photographs taken and thereby eliminate as much confusion as possible the first few days.

W. R. Tracy, engineer and secretary of the Union County Park Commission, who acted as chairman at the meeting of the golfers on Wednesday evening, expressed the appreciation of the Park Commission and himself for the cooperation which the group showed by attending the meeting and discussing freely the proposed changes. Several attending the meeting complimented the Park Commission and its employees at the Golf Course for the splendid service which they are rendering and the pleasure which was being derived by the thousands of golfers who play at Galloping Hill.

The opening date has not as yet been definitely decided upon as this will depend upon the weather. In 1929 the course opened on April 13, and in 1930 on April 25. It is, therefore, believed the course will be ready for play sometime between April 15th and 30th.

St. James Society Card Party, Dance For Unemployed Is Well Attended

Funeral services for Dr. Winfield C. Snodgrass of 302 Morris avenue, one of the leading ministers in the Newark Conference of the Methodist Church, who died Monday morning at his home were held yesterday. Buryal was in the Springfield Methodist Cemetery.

He leaves three sons, Orrin W., Harlan E., Rhey T., and three daughters, Mrs. Tracy C. Waring, Mrs. William A. Jones and Mrs. Lyndon W. Bridge-man.

Mr. Snodgrass was born in Ritchie County, Va., eighty-one years ago. He prepared for the ministry and became a circuit rider in that section. He was appointed presiding elder of INSTITUTE PLANS MADE BY W.C.T.U.

Set All-Day Affair April 24 in Methodist Church

Plans for an all-day institute and covered luncheon to be held in the Methodist Episcopal Church on Tuesday, April 24, under the auspices of the local Women's Christian Temperance Union, were furthered at a regular monthly meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Bobl of 18 Morris avenue. Mrs. Edwin D. Pannell, president, was in charge.

Mrs. Charles H. Huff, Mrs. E. E. Clayton and Mrs. Fred A. Brown are members of the covered luncheon committee and Mrs. Pannell is assigned to secure speakers for the program. The institute will open at 10 a. m. and be held until 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mrs. Mark M. Brady conducted the devotional service at the meeting, using as her topic, God's message to Joshua, "Be strong and brave of courage; be not afraid; neither be thou dismayed for the Lord thy God is with thee, whithersoever thou goest."

Several local members have been invited to attend the local institute of the Cranford W. C. T. U., on April 23. Mrs. Pannell will be one of the speakers at the session.

Spring Institute May 12
The Union County Spring Institute will be held May 12, in the Third Presbyterian Church in Elizabeth, with an afternoon and evening session planned.

Miss Agnes Slack of London, honorary secretary of the World W. C. T. U. and a noted Christian Endeavor worker, will be the principal speaker. Miss Slack is in this country on her way to attend the World W. C. T. U. Convention in June in Toronto, Canada.

A large delegation of local members and their husbands are expected to attend the evening session, as well as the afternoon meeting, and it is expected that many members of the Christian Endeavor Society will also take the opportunity to hear Miss Slack speak.

PRINCETON AND DANA COLLEGE IN DEBATE

NEWARK—Dana College of Newark will hold its first intercollegiate debate with the Princeton University team tomorrow evening, Friday March 27, in the First Presbyterian Church, 820 Broad street, Newark.

The question of debate is "Resolved, that the Federal Government should enact legislation providing for compulsory unemployment insurance." A number of high school debating coaches and teams have been invited to attend, and because of the timeliness and wide spread interest the question holds, a large attendance is expected.

DELAY SEEN IN NAMING OF TWO EXTRA FIREMEN

Expect Action To Select Paid Additions to Department; Provided in Budget

Appointments of two paid firemen to the local department, expected to be announced after the fire election held February 21, has been delayed and the company still consists of one paid man, Chief Charles Pinkavik.

The budget of $12,500 as approved by the voters at the current election, includes salary for the two additional men for this year.

It has been stated that the appointments will be announced after a joint meeting of the Board of Fire Commissioners and the Township Committee is held.

While the Commissioners manage the fire department affairs, the joint meeting is planned in view of the fact that the department will, sometime this year, be transferred to the jurisdiction of the Governing Body, thus uniting both public safety departments, fire and police. Thus the group of Commissioners will be abolished.

The consensus of opinion is that the Commissioners will choose the men from within the list of volunteers. No definite information has been given on who will be selected.

MISS MARTHA GANSKA HONORED AT SHOWER

A surprise miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Martha Ganska, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. Ganska of Mountain avenue, was held Saturday evening by Mrs. John W. Wyczkoff, Jr., at the home of her mother, Mrs. Henry Ruban, of South Springfield avenue. Miss Ganska's engagement was announced in November to Carl Menic, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mattheu Menic, of Union.

Decorations were in Easter colors, purple and white, and Easter eggs and ornaments adorned the dining table. Miss Ganska received many gifts.

Guests were the Misses Marie Merck of Newark; Dorothy Shalleross of Kenilworth; Ruth Schweers of Roselle Park; Mr. and Mrs. Chester Ditzel of Elizabeth; the Misses Louise Pierson of Stockton; Jessie Ruby, Alice Reed, Rose Marie Ruban, Daisy Ruban; Mrs. Charles Kraemer; Mrs. Frank Clark; George Klop; Frank Clark, Charles Kraemer, John Hasselmann, Warren Ruban of Springfield; and Harry Shalleross of Elizabeth.

EASTER SALE IN CHURCH TOMORROW

The annual Easter Sale of the Church School of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Millburn, will be held tomorrow afternoon, Saturday, in the parish house in Main street from 2 o'clock to 6.

Miss Alta Robinson, chairman of the committee in charge, has planned many features, including a cake sale, sale of candy, flowers, and ice cream. A special attraction is offered in an invitation to children to attend the sale and find what is "At the End of the Rainbow."

On the committee in charge of arrangements, beside Miss Robinson are the following assistants, Mrs. E. H. Chas. Mrs. Mueller, Mrs. Harry Venn Misses Virginia Anderson, Charlotte Clark, Constance Cooper, Dorothy Deller, Ruth Gelsler, Eva Griffiths, Helen Hamburger, Evelyn Hoffman, Lorraine Hoffman, Marion Phillips, Margaret Richards, and detelie Silnce.

Shortest Railway in World Condemned and Torn Up

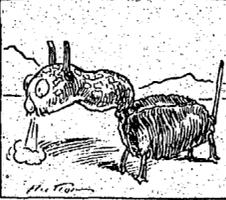

What was said to be the shortest railroad in the world, running for one and one-half miles between the docks and warehouses on Governors Island, has been condemned by the United States Army and torn up. Built during the war to transport stores and machinery on the island, the railway, with the official name, Governors Island railroad, gradually decreased in usefulness.

THE BEARDED BLOW-WORM

By Hugh Hutton
Author of "Natty Natural History."

NONE of these curious creatures has been seen in recent years, but were formerly quite numerous in the Black Forest of Bavaria, where they were put in small cages by the peasants to put out the glow worms when they lit up the country too brilliantly. The blow-worm has a powerful pair of lungs that will draw all glow worms within a radius of ten feet. Although historians are not clear on the subject, it is supposed that several bowls of blow-worms were used by Martin Luther in his famous Diet of Worms.

A double peanut with split navy bean eyes, paprika nose, and clove ears make up the curious head of this beast. The body is a Brazil nut, the tail a toothpick, and the legs are clothes. All the parts are stuck together with chewing gum.

Odd Methods of Intermitt

Upright burial was the recognized and traditional form of interment favored by the kings of ancient Ireland. It was not considered fitting that a monarch should be buried, accordingly they were buried erect, and in their war panoply, and usually with their faces turned toward their enemies.

The ancient Irish believed that so long as their kings remained in this position they exercised an evil influence on their foes. So powerful was the belief in this ability that on one occasion the body of a king was disinterred by those hostile to his clan, and placed in another grave, head downward, in order to break the succession of disasters which dogged them while he rested in his grave with face turned toward them.

Snow Dessert Is Easy to Make

By BETSY CALLISTER

NO DESSERT is much easier to make than so-called snow and certainly none could be any more wholesome. The ingredients needed are egg white, strained fruit, and powdered sugar. One egg white calls for one-half cupful of fruit and will provide four moderate-sized portions. Beat the egg white stiff, add the sugar, beat light and then fold in the fruit pulp. Mix well and put into individual dessert glasses and chill well before serving. It is best when made about an hour before serving.

Apple snow—which most children like immensely—is made from apple sauce. If the apple sauce is sweetened then add only a little powdered sugar. You may use freshly grated raw apple if you like instead of the apple sauce, allowing one medium-sized apple to one egg white. If peaches are used they should be crushed and put through a coarse strainer. Cooked dried prunes and apricots, bananas or berries may be used.

A nice dessert may be made by splitting lady fingers and breaking each piece in half. Lay two or three of these quarters in the bottom of each dessert glass and pile up with fruit snow of any sort and set aside to chill. A spoonful of slightly sweetened whipped cream may be placed on top of the snow if you like, and on top of the dab of whipped cream a maraschino cherry.

"Tools" Used by Mosquito

Nature has provided the mosquito with a neat outfit for boring operations. When she settles unnoted upon your arm she first applies a little fluid to soften the skin. Next she brings into operation a sharp-pointed saw with which she proceeds to make a hole. The softening fluid enables the saw to cut easily—so easily that you don't feel her at work. When the hole is made she inserts a miniature hypodermic into it and through this she pumps up the blood.

It is the softening fluid which causes the subsequent irritation. Scratch the place and you cause it to spread, making matters worse. Further, there is always the danger of introducing microbes into the hole the mosquito has seen. Ammonia or washing soda will calm the irritation and a dab of iodine will serve to prevent infection.

To be a Healthy Woman watch your Bowels!

What should women do to keep their bowels moving freely? A doctor should know the answer. That is why pure Syrup Pepsin is so good for women. It just suits their delicate organism. It is the prescription of an old family doctor who has treated thousands of women patients, and who made a special study of bowel troubles.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is made from fresh, laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other harmless ingredients. It doesn't sicken or weaken you. No restrictions of habit or diet are necessary while taking it. But its action is thorough. It carries off the sour bile and poisonous waste. It does everything you want it to do. It is fine for children, too. They love its taste. Let them have it every time their tongues are coated or their skin is sallow.

"When you've a sick headache, can't eat, are bilious or sluggish; and at the times when you are most apt to be constipated, take a little of this famous prescription (all druggists keep it ready in big bottles), and you'll know why Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the favorite laxative of over a million women!

Her Mistress Was Dead.

When a man whose name she did not know, but who she stated, had picked her up in his car two weeks before.

"This man, she declared, entered the home, criminally assaulted her, and then gave her $23, after which he struck Mrs. Clark heavily with his fist. The girl testified that she fled from the house, to summon help, and that when she returned her mistress was dead—and the stranger had vanished.

Washed Her Dress.

Police insist, however, that the money which the girl obtained was Mrs. Clark's property, and that Isabel was either the slayer or an accessory before and after the crime. They say that she surreptitiously washed her dress soon after the murder, supposedly to remove bloodstains from it.

Several of the men named by Miss Carr as her lovers have been detained and questioned by the authorities, but none have yet been definitely linked with the crime. The girl insists that she does not know the name or the whereabouts of the man whom she accuses, although stating that she could identify him if she saw him again.

Mrs. Clark was the mother of C. V. Clark, city editor of the Fredericktown Glensher, who was in charge of making up the edition of that newspaper in which her murder was reported.

Victim, 70, Routs Two Holdup Men With an Ax

Stockton, Calif.—Two bad men with six guns received a lesson in etiquette when they attempted to rob A. C. Nixon, seventy, in his grocery store.

One of them stuck his gun against Nixon's body. In his eagerness to be impressive, he poked the grocer a little too hard.

Nixon suddenly developed a decided pluck. He disdainfully ignored the gun pressed against him, grabbed a cleaver, let out a war whoop—and the fun began.

It all ended with Nixon and his battle ax in complete possession of the field of hostilities. He chased both men out of the store and down the sidewalk. They went empty-handed, except for their "utensils."

Mother Cat Revenges Slaying of Her Kitten

Warsaw, Poland.—Even animals can nurse grievances and take their revenge—in the best melodramatic style. This is proved by the strange story of a mother cat in Volhynia. A baby of two years old, while playing with the cat's kittens one day, threw one of them into the stove, where it was burned to death. The mother cat, who had watched the incident, disappeared for several days, only to return at an opportune moment when the baby was alone and killed it by fastening her teeth in its throat.

IF CLOTHES are soiled in ironing, wet the soiled part, cover it with cornstarch and rub it in well. When dry, remove the cornstarch and all traces of soot will be removed.

If a pinch of bicarbonate of soda is added to fruit while stewing, it will lessen the amount of sugar to be used. Only half the required quantity of sugar will be needed.

In pouring drippings into a basin add to them an equal part of water. This is the quickest, and best way of clarifying drippings, as all pieces of meat that may be in the liquid sink to the bottom and the drippings remain clear.

A fine knitting needle is excellent in testing whether baked or boiled fruits and vegetables are sufficiently cooked. It does not break them or leave unsightly marks like a fork.

WITTY WINSTON

At a crowded meeting in Dundee one night Winston Churchill dwelt at some length upon the subject of women during the war. Some of his remarks were greeted with a fierce storm of disapproval, during which one of the hecklers rose and shouted in a derisive voice, "Experience teaches fools."
"That," returned Churchill calmly, "is why I ask you to profit by my experience."—Boston Transcript.

SAVING TIME

"Bridget, why are you sweeping the living room a second time? You did it an hour ago."
"Yes, ma'am, but you see tomorrow is my day off, an' I won't have a chance to do it at all."

Delusive Glitter

"Eyes are the index of the mind," says a saying—that can't be right. For lots of girls are dumb, I find. Whose eyes are very bright.

Sounds Like the West

Visitor—I believe your village is very healthy, is it not?
Inhabitant—It is the healthiest spot on earth.
Visitor—And yet your cemetery is pretty full.
Inhabitant—Yes, but they are the graves of doctors and undertakers who have died with broken hearts.—Exchange.

At Their Best

"Mother, we heard a quartette in church last night," said the little boy.
"Daddy liked to hear them sing."
"Didn't you?" asked Mother curiously.
"Well," explained the tot, "I like quartettes best when they're eight or nine singers."—Chicago Daily News.

What's a Neighbor?

Mary, five years old, called on the woman next door.
"Mrs. Gallitler," she said, "let's play neighbors."
"Surely," said Mrs. Gallitler; "but how do you play it?"
"All you do," said Mary, demurely, "is to borrow something."—Liberty.

"I heard you come in at eleven o'clock sharp."
"No, flat."

Politician—A few cheered, but the majority seemed to lose interest.

For COLDS

We all catch colds and they can make us miserable; but yours needn't last long if you will do this: Take two or three tablets of Bayer Aspirin just as soon as possible after a cold starts. Stay in the house if you can—keep warm. Repeat with another tablet or two of Bayer Aspirin every three or four hours, if those symptoms of cold persist. Take a good laxative when you retire, and keep bowels open. If throat is sore, dissolve three tablets in a quarter-glassful of water and gargle. This soothes inflammation and reduces infection. There is nothing like Bayer Aspirin for a cold, or sore throat. And it relieves aches and pains almost instantly. The genuine tablets, marked Bayer, are absolutely harmless to the heart.

BAYER ASPIRIN

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoclohexylacetate of Salicylic Acid

Cuticura—assurance of a good, healthy scalp.

This regular, consistent use of Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap is assurance of a healthy scalp. Let the shampoo be preceded by an application of Cuticura Ointment (if there is dandruff or skin irritation); then shampoo with a strong soda, or with a soft soap made by dissolving shavings of Cuticura Soap in a little hot water. You will be pleased with the healthfulness of your scalp.

He Was Worthless.
The numerous embezzlements and swindles that followed the Wall Street slump led Eugene Burris, the New York banking expert, to say: "There will always be men who will try to get rich quick by dishonesty. It reminds me of a story."
"My son, John," an old man said, "went out West to seek his fortune."
"Yes?"—And what's he worth now?" said another old man.
"I don't exactly know," said the first old man, "but the authorities are offering $5,000 for him."

Can't PLAY Can't REST—child needs Castoria

WHEN a child is fretful and irritable, seems distressed and uncomfortable, can't play, can't sleep, it is a pretty sure sign that something is wrong. Right here is where Castoria fits into a child's scheme—the very purpose for which it was formulated years ago! A few drops and the condition which caused the trouble is righted; comfort quickly brings restful sleep. Nothing can take the place of Castoria for children; it's perfectly harmless, yet always effective. For the protection of your wee one—for your own peace of mind—keep this old reliable preparation always on hand. But don't keep it just for emergencies; let it be an every-day aid. Its gentle action will ease and soothe the infant who cannot sleep. In more liberal doses it will effectively help to regulate sluggish bowels in an older child. All druggists have Castoria; it's genuine if you see Chas. H. Fletcher's signature and this name-plate:

What the SUN Advocates
 Believing that the following improvements are vital necessities to nourish Springfield's betterment and substantial progress, the SUN advocates:

1. A high school.
2. Removal of dilapidated buildings which are "scurf spots."
3. Sidewalks wherever needed.
4. Encouraging clean factories, to increase the taxables.
5. Better and more powerful street-lighting system.
6. Post-carrier delivery.
7. Reduced bus fare within town limits and to Millburn R. R. station.
8. Plan whereby dead-end streets are eliminated.
9. Set of Building Zones, before township is developed.
10. A county park.

 Springfield is situated only 80 minutes on the newly electrified Lackawanna R. R. from New York City (40 miles) and has excellent bus connections to Newark (6 miles), Elizabeth (10 miles), Summit (2 miles), and Plainfield (10 miles).

The Lackawanna R. R. stations at Millburn and Plainfield are a half mile from Springfield Center, and may be reached by foot or bus. The Railway Valley R. R. has a freight station in Springfield, maintaining a service for factories, and commercial and industrial purposes. Springfield is on State Highway Route 29 which, when completed, will lead to the mouth of the Holland Tunnel.

Springfield has two building and loan associations, one national bank, two schools and an annex, and well-equipped police and fire departments, and four churches.

There are 4.6 miles of state roads, 8.5 miles of county roads and 14.5 miles of other roads, making a total of 26.4 miles of roads in the township.

BUSY FIREMEN
 The large number of fires here during the past week, should make all Unionites increasingly grateful for the splendid fire department which the township boasts. The strength of our department lies largely in its efficiency rather than in its size.

Despite the frequency of fires, the opportunities for their spending, the large territory which the department must protect and the high winds which have prevailed of late, the men have been faithful to their jobs, and many possible tragedies have been avoided. The firemen deserve our highest praise.

But the other citizens of Union should feel themselves responsible in the prevention of fires at least. A little more care in burning rubbish and a more strict attitude toward the matter of letting children play with matches, would do much toward lessening the number of fires here. Fires always cost the town money. They may also cost us lives sometime.

TRAINED DOG ACT ON THEATRE BILL

As a special attraction for the kiddie matinee, Saturday afternoon at the Union Theatre, Manager Harry Furman has arranged for the appearance of "Lady, the Wonder Dog," who only recently made her debut upon the stage.

Lady is a thoroughbred German Shepherd, better known as police dog. She is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Bailey of Cranford. Training and matinee is one of Bailey's hobbies and Lady did her tricks to the delight of all the children of her neighborhood long before she appeared behind the footlights. She is extremely fond of children and delights in performing for them.

Trained entirely with kindness, Lady does her routine of "stunts" in a perfectly natural manner which will draw particularly enjoy. She runs through her program with the same enthusiasm she always shows in her play, entirely free from the mechanical nature which usually stamps the ordinary dog act.

Why Boys Leave Home

Profitless, Needless Speed Condemned by Commissioner

"The demands for safety in the operation of an automobile are more stringent than the demands of the law, and rightly so. Laws are primarily to insure justice. A full appreciation of safety saves and limbs no matter who is to blame.

"Reckless driving is not a demonstration of skill, although the conduct of many motorists would make it appear that the reverse is the general belief.

"A moment or two saved by reckless speeding is not efficiency, for speeding tomorrow may result in a smash that will lay up the car for several days and the driver for several months. I have said before and I now repeat that speed alone is not invariably dangerous, and I have pointed out that a speed of twenty miles an hour under certain conditions may be far more hazardous than a speed of sixty miles an hour under other conditions.

"The trouble with so much of our speeding is that it is senseless, profitless and needless. We hurry to get ahead of a train, a street car or another automobile, saving only a moment or two at the ultimate destination. The pain is not worth the chance of accident, particularly when we waste time so lavishly in other ways. I read a pamphlet issued by the National Safety Council recently which developed this point admirably. It is worth pondering.

"The best drivers are especially careful at dusk or twilight. There is then neither enough daylight nor sufficient artificial light to make objects distinguishable at ordinary distances.

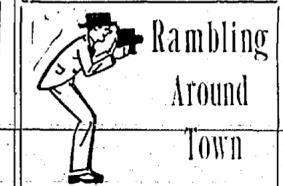

"Slow up for all turns in the road. Blind corners are dangerous. When it is impossible to see what is coming from around the corner, be prepared to stop. These are precautions at which many motorists scoff, but they soon at the peril of their very lives.

"When installing chains, put them on both wheels. Only one chain may result in a serious accident.

"Those are rats at the bottom of almost every hill. Hitting these rats at too high a speed may cause the driver to lose control of his car. Drive slowly at bridges and at culverts. A bad cut or a stain in the road may throw your car against the structure.

"When attempting to pass another vehicle going in the same direction, start turning out to the left at least seventy-five feet to the rear. If you cut up too close your view of the road ahead is obstructed and you may turn directly in front of another car coming toward you. When you have passed a car do not cut back into the road, but slow down too soon.

"Clean windshields give you a clear view ahead. Dirty cars should have windshields when which will prevent snow or rain from obstructing the driver's view.

SPRING ARRIVED IN THE FORM of good weather this week...not only were the brilliant rays of the sun proof that it had arrived, but numerous other things...men painting new white lines in Morris avenue...boys playing baseball in Flermer Oval and the school playground...miniature golf course and driving course owners starting to get their prospective fields in working shape...seeds on display in a local hardware store...talk about baseball and less about basketball...quite a few golfing enthusiasts lugging their clubs to nearby courses which open early for the benefit of such golfing bugs...the date on the calendar, March 27, exactly seven days after the official spring season opening...abundance of motorists using the local highways on week-ends...mention somewhere that several universities have commenced spring football practice...and of course baseball training in the south and on the Pacific Coast...already we've seen flashy colored sweaters on several of Springfield's Beau Brummels...hedges are being trimmed and in a few weeks blossoms on flowers will be in full bloom, grass green and trees burdened with leaves...announcement of a county marble tournament trial at the Flermer Playground next Wednesday afternoon...and if a reader still persists it's not spring, four hundred and eighty-seven thousand and sixty-eight reasons still remain in our "argument box" which, without a doubt, never fails to come out on top after a controversy...such as if we're wrong...each year the local volunteer firemen put forth all combined efforts to make their annual dance a howling success, and judging from the interest being shown by the committee in charge for the affair to be held Saturday evening, April 11, in the Municipal Building, the dance this year will equal that of its predecessors...the hall is usually decorated with a "mardi gras" spirit with balloons, flags and other attractive ornaments...while it is always held either in February or March, the celebration of the department's twenty-fifth anniversary early in February has resulted in postponing the date several months.

Defies Mountain Climbers

Mount Everest is 29,141 feet high. No one has as yet succeeded in reaching the summit. Three expeditions were conducted; a reconnaissance expedition in 1921. The first attempt to ascend was in 1922, when an altitude of 27,300 feet was reached, and the second attempt, 1924, when 28,200 feet was reached.

Soviet Premier Attacks the United States and Secretary of State Stimson Begins Study of the Russian Question.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

V. Molotov

Much attention is being paid these days to our relations with Russia, or the lack of them in Moscow. The opening session of the All-Union Soviet congress was supposed to be an enthusiasm by a vobout attack on the United States—and incidentally all other "capitalist" countries—delivered by V. Molotov, president of the council of people's commissars, which means premier of the Soviet government.

Molotov characterized the lack of diplomatic relations with the United States as abnormal and as being part of a plot of European groups, headed by the Vatican, against Soviet Russia. He said that twenty countries are having satisfactory relations, except Poland, whose relations might be improved.

He denounced the charges of dumping and forced labor that have been made against the Soviet government, and declared the American "Foolish Fish bill"—framed by Representative Hamilton Fish, Jr., after a congressional investigation into Communist activities—undoubtedly would affect trade relations between the two countries.

"America must remember," he declared, "that the imports of the United States to the Soviet Republics depend upon her exports."

The premier called the attention of the delegates to a statement by an American senator that "a thousand persons are starving to death daily in the United States." He asked the delegates to compare this situation to that in the U. S. S. R. where, he said, there was no unemployment and no starvation.

In Washington it was learned that Secretary of State Henry Stimson is now devoting most of his time to a careful study of the Russian question in all its phases, presumably at the request of President Hoover. That this indicated any important change of policy by the administration was considered unlikely by the well-informed. Indeed, William B. Castle, acting secretary in the absence of Mr. Stimson, said that the latter's study had no significance beyond the fact that the secretary desired to inform himself more fully on the Soviet problem. Since becoming secretary, Mr. Castle pointed out, Mr. Stimson has been devoting his time to disarranging Latin American affairs and other problems, leaving no time to study Russia.

From the statements of state department officials it was gathered that no consideration would be given to the suggestion that a separate division for Russia be established in the state department, and that there was nothing in the report that an assistant secretary of state would be appointed to handle Russian affairs. President Hoover has in the past stood firmly by the policy that there can be no recognition of Russia before the Soviet government agrees to recognize official and private obligations to this country and cease propaganda intended to overthrow the American government.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY Thomas C. Crain of New York county is liable to lose his job as a result of the exposure of corruption in the magistrates' courts of the metropolis. The City club through its officers filed formal charges against Crain, alleging inefficiency, incompetency and misfeasance in office, and asked that Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt remove him. The governor promptly appointed Samuel Souby as special commissioner to investigate the charges and report back to him. If he seeks the governor may remove Crain and name a successor to serve the remainder of the year. Souby already has been serving as special referee investigating the magistrates' courts and will continue that work. It is expected that the Crain inquiry will lead into the police department and any other department of the city government or phase of political life which may be related to the district attorney's conduct of his office.

Republican leaders and others are urging that the legislature authorize a thorough nonpartisan investigation of the entire New York city government, and a mass meeting of citizens was called to promote that plan.

IT IS understood now that the new naval treaty between France and Italy will be signed by only those nations and Great Britain. It will not be incorporated in the London naval treaty of 1920, but both parts will run concurrently until 1926. Official expressions of approval of the convention will be asked of both the United States and Japan, but neither will be called on to sign it, because it was recognized that this might embarrass them owing to the high submarine tonnage which the pact allows to France.

The London treaty as ratified by the American senate provides for 52,000 tons of submarines for the United States and Great Britain. The Franco-Italian British agreement provides for 80,000 tons of submarines for the French navy. If this figure were to be inserted in the London treaty it is possible the higher tonnage would be questioned by the senate and the whole treaty would need the senate's consent again. This the administration desired to avoid. The same parliamentary reason applies to the case of Japan.

Arthur Henderson, British foreign secretary, made public the terms of the three-power accord in a long memorandum. They cover three outstanding considerations in the armaments situation. Technical problems of European naval power are swept away; removal of an armaments race such as led to the World war has, it is hoped, been prevented; success of the world disarmament conference at Geneva next year is brought measurably closer.

The basis of the agreement as outlined in the details of the limits of both the French and Italian building programs in all fleet categories until 1930. It is estimated by naval experts that France will continue to hold a superiority of about 157,000 tons over the Italian fleet, although this is not stated explicitly in the memorandum.

ONE of the state department's most valuable men, Undersecretary Joseph Potter Cotton, died in Baltimore after a long illness and two severe operations for spinal infection. Mr. Cotton, who was fifty-five years old and a native of Rhode Island, worked under President Hoover when the latter was food administrator and later secretary of commerce. He was appointed to the state department post in 1929 and made a reputation for his frank and direct diplomatic methods.

OLIVER WEN-dell Holmes, the grand old man of the Supreme court of the United States, celebrated his ninetieth birthday on Sunday, and received at his home the affectionate congratulations of countless friends and admirers. In the evening the venerable associate justice made his first radio speech, after listening to the tributes of Chief Justice Hughes and others. Justice Holmes said, through the microphone: "In this symposium my part is only to sit in silence. To express one's feelings as the era draws near is too intimate a task."

"But I may mention one thought that comes to me as a listener," he added. "The riders in a race do not stop short when they reach the goal. There is a little finishing spur before coming to a standstill. There is time to hear the kind voices of friends and to say to one's self: 'The work is done.' But just as one says that the answer comes: 'The race is over, but the work never is done while the power to work remains.' The career that brings you to a standstill need not be only coming to rest. It cannot be, while you still live. For to live is to function. That is all there is to living."

Next day Justice Holmes accepted his nomination of being down a decision after he was ninety. In the Supreme court ruled that within the meaning of the motor vehicle theft act an airplane is not a motor vehicle.

STEALING a march on the insurgent Republicans and Democrats, the Republican national committee announced the organization of an advisory council for agriculture, with Senator-elect L. J. Dickinson of Iowa as its chairman. The other members are Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas and Representatives Robert G. Simons of Nebraska and Fred S. Parson of Indiana. The council will have headquarters in Washington and in the West, and will immediately begin work in the corn and wheat belt. One of its purposes, it was stated, is to be the dissemination of accurate information regarding the various constructive steps the administration has taken to aid the farmers and to save them from bankruptcy in this critical period of economic depression and drought.

Two days after this announcement was made, the insurgents opened their scheduled conference the purpose of which was to demonstrate that the Hoover administration did little—if anything—to relieve the economic depression in the country. Five sessions were held, each devoted to discussion of a major topic. Senator Borah, who still advocates the export debenture, presided over the session on farm relief; Senator Norris, chairman of the conference, presided over the public utilities session; Senator Cutting over the representative government session, and Senator-elect Costigan of Colorado over that devoted to the tariff. All of these except Costigan are nominally Republicans.

ONE more emotional issue was provided for the Democrats when President Hoover vetoed the Wagner bill for a reorganized employment service. Even if the measure is again introduced and passed by the next congress, the Democrats are sure to make the veto one of their principal talking points, claiming the bill should have been enacted and signed at the height of the business depression.

EMPEROR NA-gako of Japan has given birth to a daughter, her fourth, and the imperial family and the Japanese nation are rejoicing and celebrating. But the joy is mainly over the safety of the new princess, a daughter, and there is little excitement of the disappointment that the child is not a son. The throne of Japan can pass only to male descendants of the sun goddess and Emperor Hirohito is yet without a direct heir to carry on the line that has been unbroken for many centuries. Prince Chichibu, the emperor's next younger brother, continues to be the heir presumptive.

REAR ADMIRAL SAMUEL McGowan, retired, appearing before the war policies commission that is now conducting hearings, advocated the adoption of a constitutional amendment to prevent the country from going to war without a referendum of its citizens. He added the amendment also should provide that if the referendum resulted in war every able bodied male citizen between the ages of eighteen and thirty-five be drafted. He advocated prohibiting any increases in wages during war also.

Chairman Johnson of the house veterans' committee and General Delfield, former chairman of the war department board of contract adjustments, opposed the referendum plan as impracticable and unnecessary. Bernard M. Baruch, who was chairman of the war industries board during the World war, proposed that, to prevent profiteering during a war, all prices should be fixed by Presidential proclamation at the prewar level.

SCORES of towns and villages in the Balkans, in Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Greece, have been wrecked by earthquake shocks, and the dead, though officially put at 150, probably numbered nearer 1,000. The tremors continued for several days. King Alexander of Yugoslavia and King Boris of Bulgaria both left their capitals and personally directed the relief work in the stricken districts, which was carried on effectively by the Red Cross.

Terrific gales, accompanied by snow and extreme cold, swept over most of Europe during the week, and flooded rivers, blocked highways and delayed trains added to the distress. The island of Magritus was devastated by a hurricane that killed a number of persons and left 10,000 homeless. Northwestern Japan had an earthquake that destroyed many houses.

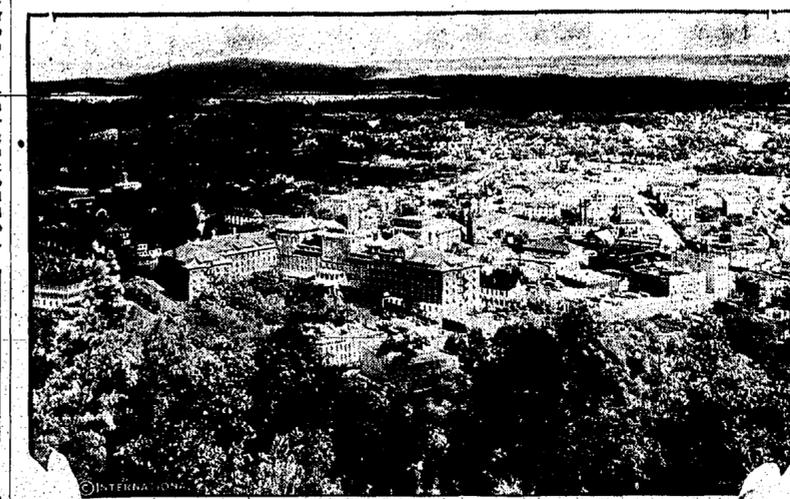

PERU'S new provisional president is Lieut. Col. David Sanchez Ocampo, and he has assumed the office in Lima after flying there from Arequipa. Ocampo was the head of the "southern Junta" which was set up by Arequipa revolutionaries. He and his followers, to bring peace to the country, gave up their regime in favor of the new Junta at the capital, and Ocampo was promptly put at the head of the government.

SECRETARY of the Interior has accepted the bid of the Six Companies, Inc., of San Francisco, which offered to build the Hoover dam, power house and appurtenant works at the Boulder canyon project for $48,800,000. This huge engineering job, the biggest ever undertaken in the United States, will be directed for the present from a hospital in San Francisco, for William H. Wattle, president of the Six Companies, is confined in the institution.

The entire project, including erection of a dam and power house, installation of machinery and building of a canal, is estimated to cost the tremendous total of $105,000,000. Congress has already authorized expenditure of $108,000,000 for the dam and appurtenant work.

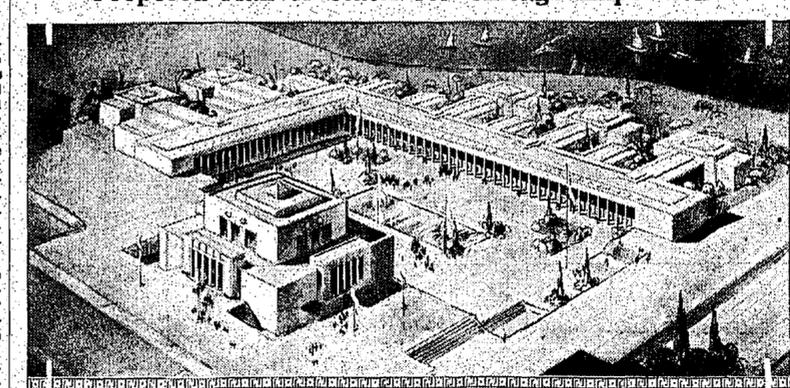

NAVY department officials announced that contracts for the construction of at least six of the eleven destroyers appropriated for during the short session of congress will be awarded early this summer. The designs for the new destroyers call for the largest, most heavily armed, fastest and most seaworthy vessels of this class ever built for the United States fleet. They will have a speed of 40 miles an hour, weigh 1,500 tons each, carry 5-inch guns and, in addition, have a large fuel carrying capacity to provide a larger radius of action.

New Mecca for Those Who Are Seeking Divorces

Here is a general view of Hot Springs, Ark., which expects to rival Reno as a divorce center, for the legislature has passed a law providing that a 90-day residence, instead of one year, is necessary before divorce proceedings are filed.

Proposed Hall of States for Chicago Exposition

Architect's study of the proposed Hall of States of Chicago's 1933 Century of Progress exposition. In this structure, to be situated on Northery Island near the Adler planetarium, the states and territories will exhibit not only their resources and present development, but the possibilities of future progress opened up by application of scientific principles to industrial and social problems.

ARMY'S LAW CHIEF

A new portrait study of Col. Blanton Winship, whose appointment as Judge advocate general of the United States army, with rank of major general, for a term of four years, is announced at Washington. General Winship succeeds Maj. Gen. E. A. Kregger, who retired because of physical disabilities.

VATICAN CITY COINS

Obverse and reverse of the new coinage just issued for use in the Vatican City. On one side are the heads of St. Peter and Paul, and on the other, the words "PIUS PAPA XXI."

Here's a New Congressional Record

Representative Will Wood of Indiana, chairman of the House committee on appropriations, proudly displaying the 145-pound sailfin that he caught at Iowad Island. The fish, which has been stuffed and presented to the Smithsonian Institution, is the largest of its kind on record, weighing 137 pounds and measuring 10 feet 1 inch in length.

8-Cent Check Sends

Two Men to Prison
Minneapolis, Minn.—One 8-cent check brought two men to the penitentiary recently. Harold Bassett pleaded guilty or raising the check to $83 and Joseph B. Runyan pleaded guilty to stealing it from Bassett. Bassett will have to serve four years, while Runyan received a year and a day.

MARRIAGE IS BAD DEBT, KILLS WIFE

Dentist Was Promised $4,000 Dowry; Didn't Get It.

Berlin.—It does not pay to be businesslike about marriage, Dr. Fritz Gutmann, a dentist of Schweid, told the court in Prenzlau when tried for the murder of his second wife whom he married sight unseen, simply because her family had promised to pay a dowry of $4,000.

That promise was made in 1923 by the relative of a Cracow family traveling in Germany looking for eligible Jewish men for so-called heiresses. In those days $4,000 bought millions and millions worth of paper marks and Doctor Gutmann, in his middle thirties, was hard up. Rost from Cracow and $4,000 sounded good to him and he agreed to marry her.

"Her looks were not bad," he told the court, "but she was a bore and she had no money. She was jealous and she was stingy and her scenes were indescribable."
The marriage started off wrong. The $4,000 were never paid. Not until last year did Doctor Gutmann discover that Rost had salted away the money that was his by rights. After many stormy fights Rost and her husband worked out a scheme which they hoped would draw money from Rost's family. It involved forging signatures and taking out a heavy life insurance for Rost.

Business was bad because Rost would get jealous of every lady patient in sight. On November 20 one of the last remaining patients paid her bill. The couple fought on how to split the money. Rost was found dead in the bathroom—in the same bathroom, at the same spot where the first Frau Gutmann had been found dead.

Gutmann claims he did not throttle Rost on purpose—he simply lost his mind in a rage. His first wife died of an overdose of morphine. The dentist waxed eloquent in speaking of the happiness of his first marriage, but the court frankly distrusts him—as one of the old-fashioned Schweid witnesses voiced the general feeling: "A man mercenary enough to marry for money without having looked at the wife first, cannot be trusted." And now Doctor Gutmann is defending himself against the charge of being a new Bluebeard or Landru in the making.

Plumber "Forgets Tools"; Prisoners Lose No Time

East View, N. Y.—Not by chicanery or by criminal cleverness did Charles Sirico, master jailbreaker, procure the hacksaw with which he severed the bars on a secluded ground floor window at the East View penitentiary, landing three other prisoners in an escape, an investigation by Warden Romanus Fellman has revealed.
A plumber who had been working on a new building at the institution forgot his tools in the traditional manner of members of his craft and one of the four fugitives stole the saw from the tooling. It was said. The hacksaw was found and was identified as his by the plumber, Sirico and his companions, William Rapp, Peter Reynolds, and Ames Clark escaped.

Grandmother Saves Tot From Death in Flames

Washington.—Braving smoke and flames, Mrs. Eva T. Jones, sixty, ran blindly into a burning room on the third floor of her home and rescued her twenty-four-month-old grandson, William Jones, Jr.
Mrs. Jones was in the kitchen with her husband when she heard flames crackling. Before her husband had time to move, he said, she ran upstairs.
The bedroom was a mass of flames, Jones said, when his wife dashed into the room and caught up the child. Although the bed clothing was smoldering, the baby was not burned. Before flames arrived Mrs. Jones went back and fought the fire with buckets of water.

Pastor in Jail Charged With Stealing Chickens

Pomeroy, Ohio.—When Rev. J. C. Ward, colored pastor of Rutland, went on alleged chicken-stealing expeditions, he neglected to change his shoes, one of which left a round imprint, according to police.
He is in jail here, charged with robbing hen roasts and he's shoeless. They are being held as evidence.

Fire Halts Trial of an Arson Case in Cambridge

Cambridge, Mass.—While Assistant District Attorney Frank G. Volpe was prosecuting an arson case in Middlesex Superior court, he was informed that a foundry he owned in Somerville was afire.
Court recessed while he rushed to the foundry, which was destroyed.

Climb the mountains and get their good tidings. Nature's peace will flow through you as sunshine flows through trees. The winds will blow their own freshness into you, and the storms their energy, while cares will drop away from you like the leaves of autumn.—John Muir.

HELPFUL HINTS

AS ALL digestion begins in the mouth, young children should be taught the habit of good mastication. When the food is well chewed it is ground into fine bits and well mixed with the saliva, which is the first digestive juice which acts on starch. The stomach juices have no effect on starchy foods. If the food is not well mixed in the mouth, it passes into the stomach and out without any process of digestion, leaving the whole work to fall on the intestines.

The one-two sauce is the same proportion of liquid, whether it is milk, fruit juice, broth or water, with two tablespoonfuls each of butter and thickening. Flour is always measured after sifting. Baking powder should be stirred in the can before measuring, thus will be more than is needed. This is true of all dry mixtures.

The manner of cooking spinach can make it simply a rouage dish with all its mineral content wasted. Spinach should be cooked in as little water as possible, cooked quickly, removed at once when tender and served bright in color, hot and tasty. Usually the amount of water that clings to the leaves after the washing will be sufficient to cook it.

Candy given at the right time and in proper amounts is one of the best of energy producing foods. Candy should never be given before a meal, but preferably as a bit of dessert after it. A small amount may be taken between meals. If enough fresh fruit and green vegetables are used in the child's diet, there will be no need to worry about his teeth. It is the unusual child who does not like candy and often the craving he has for sweets is an indication of some lack in the diet.

DESIGNERS DECLARE SHEER VELVET A FABRIC IDEAL FOR PAJAMA MODES

AND again sheer, soft, colorful velvet lends its glamorous beauty to the mode. This time the scene of the triumph is staged in the realm of luxurious pajama fashions.

After designers have exhausted all the adjectives at command in lauding the beauty, the colorfulness, the exquisite sheerness and the softness of velvet, they climax the argument by telling you that the thing to remember especially is, that above all else, velvet is as practical for pajama costumes, as it is lovely.

To prove the practicality of velvet as a medium for pajama suits, designers who specialize in this field say that being so exceedingly sheer as modern weaves are and so supple, velvet is delightfully "cooily" to lounge about in, and for the same reasons it yields gracefully to simple treatments.

For hostess pajama costumes, which, by the way, is a theme of outstanding importance in the smart world, there is no doubt about the prestige of lovely velvet as a fabric-ideal. Often the trousers are made of black velvet and they are so wide and flaring at times, they seem more like divided skirts. The accompanying jacket or coat is frequently of velvet in a pastel shade, or the blouse is apt to be of dainty chiffon or perhaps of handsome metal weave.

In the picture two very conservative pajama types are illustrated. A pajama costume simply tailored of thin, black velvet is shown to the left. A Roman-striped cash, the stripes repeated in sleeve decoration and neck piping gives a brilliant dash of color which is altogether fascinating. The handsome suit to the right combines translucent velvet in colors which while they contrast at the same time, they are in that artistic harmony which appeals to discriminating taste. The satin blouse has a soft Vionnet neckline which is flattering.

Give me not arsenic more charming: give me eyes. To see the beauty that around me lies: To read the trail of souls, see angels shy Among the faces of the passers-by. —Dr. Frank Crane.

VARIOUS GOOD THINGS

THERE are so many delightful dishes to be made with apples, from soup to desserts and confections.

Apple Pancakes With Maple Sugar. Take two cups of flour, four teaspoons of baking powder, one teaspoon of salt, two eggs, one tablespoon of melted butter, two tablespoons of sugar, one cup of grated tart apple, one and one-fourth cups of milk. Mix all together and cook as usual. Stack the cakes buttered and sprinkled with maple sugar. Serve hot, cut like layer cake.

Ham and Noodle Scallop. Boil noodles in beef stock, place in three layers with ham between. Cover with one cup of milk, add bits of butter and bake 20 minutes.

Hamburg Sandwiches. Take one pound of hamburger, two tablespoons of butter, one tablespoon of parsley (minced). Cook until smooth and hot and serve on fresh buttered toast.

Spanish Beans. Soak overnight one pint of navy beans and cook in the same water until tender and the skins slip off. Turn into a bean pot or casserole with one cup of tomato, one chopped onion, one small green pepper and one pimento, all chopped; add three tablespoons of molasses and one tablespoonful of mustard with two-thirds of a cupful of dried salt pork. Bake for three hours.

Corn and Rice Biscuit. Take one cupful of boiled rice, one cupful of corn meal, one teaspoonful of baking powder, one cupful of milk, one teaspoonful of salt, one table-spoonful of butter, two eggs. Mix and bake in muffin tins.

Half and Half. For a morning drink try this: One-fourth of a cupful of orange juice, one-eighth of a cupful of lemon juice, pinch of salt, a little sugar and three-fourths of a cupful of cold water. Ice may be used if desired.

KNOWING The TREES

SILVER MAPLE

(Acer dasycarpum.)

THE silver maple, often called soft or white maple, is a rather large rapidly growing and usually somewhat brittle tree with soft white wood. The leaves are large and five-pointed, light green on the surface and silvery white beneath.

The silver maple is not as rugged in appearance as the rock maple nor is it as well shaped as the Norway maple.

One of the most common diseases of the silver maple is the tar leaf-spot. This disease is so called because the leaves of the tree when attacked look as though tar had been sprinkled liberally over the surface of the leaves.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"HIP! HIP! HURRAH"

IF THERE is any expression that one would bet almost anything was characteristic or typical college American, it is "Hip! Hip! Hurrah!" Yet if we did stake anything we had on this origin for this exclamation of joy or satisfaction we would surely lose. For, astonishing as it may seem, "Hip! Hip! Hurrah," comes to us from the Latin and was first used centuries ago.

Delving into the archives of history for our story we find that the word "Hip" is composed of the three initial letters of a Latin phrase meaning "Jerusalem is lost!" The word "Hurrah" is of Slavonic origin, meaning "Paradise."

The entire expression "Hip! Hip! Hurrah!" was commonly used during the so-called "Dark Ages" at which time there were periodic incursions and raids against the Jews. The initials of these words was "Hip! Hip! Hurrah!" indicating "Jerusalem is lost to the Infidel and we are on the road to Paradise!" Quite a far cry from its present sense and usage; but that is how it started.

Every Monday little glooms,
Used to park in all our rooms,
Mother used to snarl and fret,
Washing day was just "all wet."

Monday now our washer's busy,
Whirling undies till they're dizzy,
Linen sturdy, blouses fragile,
On the job—serene and agile.

Easter in the Nation's Capital

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

ALTHOUGH Easter is celebrated in various forms all over the United States, there is no other city which has a more interesting variety of observances than the nation's capital, Washington, D. C. As in other places, there are special church services on Easter morning. Its broad streets and avenues witness the annual "Easter parade" when everybody dons his or her new attire, and the familiar Easter symbols of lilies, eggs and rabbits are much in evidence everywhere.

Washington is a city strong in tradition. One of the most interesting of these and one which makes the observance of Easter there unique, is the annual Easter egg rolling on the spiral steps of the White House. On Easter Monday thousands of children gather at No. 1000 Pennsylvania avenue. That is the White House given "number" and sweep over the grounds seeking the egg which has "Kissed the grass" and kindred admonitions are still not void for that day.

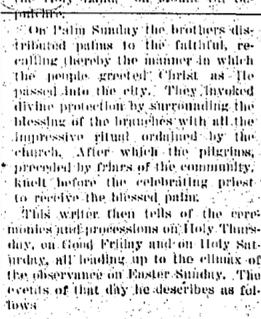

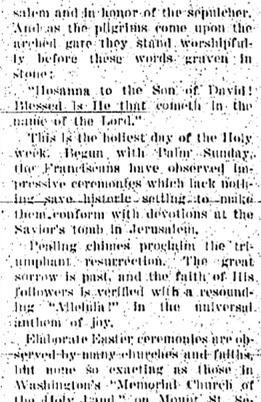

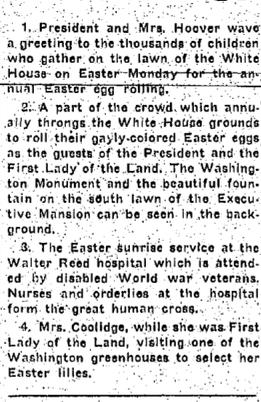

Dressed in their best clothes and carrying with them their cherished bundles of United States eggs, the youngsters are the welcome guests of the President and the First Lady of the land who give as much thought and energy to arranging for this event as they do for any great state dinner held in the stately rooms of the White House. There the children enjoy some happy hours rolling their Easter eggs, while their elders look on enviously. For this is strictly a children's party and no adults are allowed on the grounds unless they are accompanying a child. But it is a familiar sight to see some grownup asking a youngster "to take me in" and for once the young may say to the old, "yes, you may go," or "no, you can't go," instead of the old saying that to the young.

But the grounds are not entirely shut out of the White House Easter festivities. For on one day of Easter week, the executive offices of the White House are thrown open to Easter week visitors in Washington, and the President shakes hands with the long line of people, usually numbering from two to three thousand, which pass through his office to greet the Chief Executive of the nation.

Easter sunrise services have become a familiar custom in many parts of the country and some of them, staged on mountain tops, are entirely reminiscent to ancient ceremonies of communing with nature in recognition of the rebirth of all life in the springtime. One of the most interesting of these services is one held in Washington on the morning of Easter Sunday, a ceremony in which there is a touch of pathos and the spirit of rejoicing in the promise of rebirth which such a service symbolizes. This is the service held at the Walter Reed hospital, the home of hundreds of men whose bodies and minds were broken in the World War. A feature of this service is the laying of a great human cross on the lawn by the cadets and nurses in their white uniforms.

Another Easter sunrise service in Washington which is unique is conducted by Joyce MacArthur in the Washington Star as follows:

"This Easter Sunday good pilgrims are ascending the slopes of Mount St. Sepulchre, in Brookland, to join the Franciscan Fathers in annual ceremonies commemorating the last triumphant entry of Jesus into Jeru-

And now Easter Sunday morning! The holy crusaders predict that this morning the roads to Mount St. Sepulchre will be thronged by the faithful hosts, come to the monastery for the great paschal day. And today his children will be mindful of the words of the mass of this festival, "I am risen and am yet with thee, Alleluia!"

This morning the first holy mass will be chanted in the apse and the holy communion distributed to the pilgrims who come to the mount for Easter tide.

And in the music of holy friars the celebrant of this mass will extend Easter greetings to all present, as well as to their friends; to all, near and far, wherever it is unable to attend the auspicious ceremonies.

All day the pilgrims will toil up the slopes of the mount. And the stream will not cease until the hour appointed for the complete service. Every place will be filled. And the celebrant will say, "From distant places and neighboring towns our guests have come like the holy women of Scripture, to see the place where the Lord was laid."

When eventide veils the surrounding low-hung hills, blessed calm will descend upon the clustered grounds. And from the stillness in these walls the faithful, divine truth will reach every pilgrim's ear. "We know Christ to have truly risen. We know, victorious King, have mercy on us all, Alleluia!"

And thus the friars attending him at the sanctuary on Mount St. Sepulchre, in Washington, bring the spirit of Easter tide to pilgrims worshipping at the services and other people in the city who are unable to come. One must go to the Holy Land or home to see a ceremony conducted in this elaborate and deeply devout fashion.

But observing Easter in some unique fashion is not the only reason why the connection of our national capital with this annual event is of special interest to the rest of the country. There is another reason and that is because one of the federal departments located there is doing a work which concerns Easter observances throughout the nation.

This was when we had to depend upon Bermuda for our supply of Easter lilies. Then the Bermuda stock became diseased and the United States had to turn to Japan for its supply of lily bulbs from which grow the glorious white blossoms which are the true symbol of Easter that we have. In recent years, however, the United States Department of Agriculture has taken steps toward the building up of an Easter lily industry in this country and considerable progress is reported from Washington.

It is true that many of our lilies are now being grown from bulbs imported from both Bermuda and Japan, but experts in the Department of Agriculture believe that the time may come when we will be entirely independent of those sources of supply. Some of the most important work in regard to developing American-grown Easter lilies has been carried on by Dr. David Griffiths, horticulturist in the Department of Agriculture.

For a long time American florists believed that lily bulbs could not be produced here. For one thing, they feared that the long period required in their production would cause them to be overpriced with respect to market heavy financial losses. Also, florists were skeptical of the desirability of using bulbs year after year due to their unhappy experience with disease in imported stock.

It was Doctor Griffiths' belief that the bulbs could be made to flower more than once and he collected some discarded ones from the dump pile of a Washington florist. These he planted in beds at the Arlington (Va.) experimental farm and eventually demonstrated that by the use of careful cultural methods the bulbs not only could be made to flower again but that the lilies could be grown outdoors in climates hitherto believed entirely too cold and harsh for their survival.

Golden Eggs Were His Reward

By DOROTHY DOUGLAS

THE little row of cottages that lay out Mount Vernon way might have been picked up from some old English lane and transplanted to American soil, so closely did they resemble those artistic bits one gets from overseas by way of post cards.

Jack Danvers and Ted Everly were living in one for the summer because Jack had had an accident to his foot and needed country air by way of speeding his recuperation. Ted was ministering to his chum during the hours before dashing for his train to business and following his return in the evening. Through the day Jack was a fairly lonely invalid, relying on his own limited resources for amusement.

In the next garden, separated by a glorious hedge, lived Irma Westlake with other members of the Westlake family, intent on enjoying their summer holiday.

And last, but not least, there dwelt the hens that laid the golden eggs, not in their own coop, where any well-trained hen should deposit her eggs, but anywhere they happened to be lured. The hens belonged to Danvers and Everly, having come with the cottage they had rented.

The first intimation that Irma had that there were hens in the neighborhood was when she caught sight of one busily engaged in procuring a fresh salad for her breakfast in Irma's lettuce bed.

An irate Irma flew down the garden path and a disturbed hen squeezed swiftly through the hedge into her own domain. Irma repaired the bed and would have tracked that hedge well along with brambles to prevent further pilgrimages of hens had she not seen Jack Danvers, good looking, but a bit fragile, recovering in the sun.

It was not long before she found two fine big eggs in a nesty part of the hedge—her own side of it. Irma had not hoped for such luck.

"I can hardly keep my neighbor's eggs," she told herself. "It would not be honest and, besides, he looks as if he needed all the fresh eggs he could eat."

And because they were two, bachelors trying to keep house for each other, Irma decided it would be better to cook the eggs before returning them. She had a wonderful way of heating them up with milk and butter and putting them in the nicely heated oven to bake.

A half hour later, just at lunch time, and before Jack had pulled himself out of the hammock swing to go in and rummage for food, a small girl entered his garden carrying a dainty tray.

Jack was so astonished at the wee fairy godmother, who deposited her tray swiftly and ran more swiftly out of his sight, that he was long-tongued. He could only watch her go as quick movement was impossible with his lame leg.

However, Jack snuffed the delicious eggs. There were bits of crisp buttered toast accompanying, and Jack had not enjoyed a repast so much for many a day.

"He told Tom about it in the evening and Tom only grinned."

"Some of these mothers of the world are looking out for you, old man—take care that she doesn't catch you—by way of your interior."

Two days later at high noon the gate opened enthusiastically and Jack sat up eagerly in his hammock. The little girl again stood before him, and would have put down her tray and escaped except that Jack with a swift movement put an arm about her and held her squirming but firmly.

On the tray was fresh salad made from hard-boiled eggs mixed with lettuce and old-fashioned dressing such as his mother used to make. Also a large delicious slice of homemade layer cake.

"Now, little miss," admonished Jack, "you are to stay here until you tell me who is being so very kind to me. I know where there is a little blue Persian kitten, who would just love to be long to a wee girlie like you."

Bonnie snuggled against Jack's arm, confidentially. "I just love kittens," she said softly against his coat. "But Irma told me not to tell. She is my big sister, and we live next door, and your hens come into Irma's garden and layed their eggs."

"You won't tell Irma, will you? She promised me a little black puppy—if I didn't tell."

"No, honey, I won't tell, and you shall have the kitten just as soon as I can get it."

Bonnie deposited a butterfly kiss on his chin and slipped away.

Jack called up Tom in the city. "Secure the town for a blue Persian kitten and bring it home tonight," was his order.

On the train that night, returning from town, a blue-eyed girl sat down with a black Persian and a young man with a blue Persian kitten sat down beside her. They got to talking about the animals. Tom told her all about his pet, Jack, and Irma had the grace to blush.

"He is one of the finest," said Tom. "I wish you could pop in and see him—he finds it a bit dull."

"No, while the girls were not really sold," they proved to be worth far more than gold—to two people.

WHITE SATIN UNITES WITH BLACK FOR FORMAL GOWNS

PERHAPS the most significant gesture of the mode at the present moment is that which has to do with contrasting colors. No matter from what angle the theme is approached, whether it be from a color standpoint, or a matter of combining different weaves, the style program whether for day or evening places the accent on contrast.

The superbly styled satin evening gown in the picture interprets the trend to striking contrast at its best. Katya Sorina, the young Russian dancer who has been signed up to appear in radio pictures, wears this dress to perfection. The haute couture of Paris continues to do wonderful things with satin in the evening mode, the latest movement being to contrast black and white as instanced in the handsome gown portrayed.

The dress with a light top, whether it be formal or informal, offers infinite opportunity for putting the law of contrast into practice. The afternoon black or navy frock with an almost waist-length deep yoke is the darling of present-day fashion. The finer and more exquisite the lace, the better, elegance being the favorite. For evening lace in two colors gives a new and enchanting aspect to the contrast theme. A ruby-colored lace frock, for example, has a pale pink yoke, or a frock of black lace is topped with flesh-colored lace.

Another channel of expression for contrast effects is the jacket costume, which may be as formal or informal as occasion demands. For evening it is ultra smart to wear a little jacket which contrasts the dress. The bolero or hip-length jacket of velvet, either in black or a delectable bright hue, is especially highlighted in the mode. Very new and very lovely is the little one jacket which contrasts its color in the frock over which it is posed.

In the sports realm this contrasting or jacket and skirt or jacket and one-piece dress, is done to a finish of subtle and stripes with plain compete with bi-color and tri-color combinations.

New Spring Coats.

From the standpoint of artful self-expression, this season's coats are perfectly thrilling. You may not have felt the need of a new coat consequence, the coat models which are really new abound in styling details of the cleverest sort. Interest centers especially about unusual necklines which are fur collar and part scarf, being a two-in-one proposition, so to speak. It adds zest to the mode that these arrangements are adjustable—supposed to be worn most anyway that is becoming.

One of the smart coats shown for spring wear is this jaunty model in the picture. It is of checked material in varying shades of brown. It is distinguished by a very new and unusual self-fabric scarf neckline. It is belted smartly; flutted a novel cut of the sleeve, boasts a single large square revers, and is in fact an exponent of ultra-modern fashioning.

The Boyhood of Famous Americans

J. V. Fitzgerald

Walter Chrysler
The boy spent his time watching the old wood-burning engines of the Erie Railroad.

for and cling into the shops for repairs and overhauling. He chatted with the mechanics, sometimes being gruffly ordered to get out of the way, and earned for them when they were good natured, and learned, as he watched, that skilled hands can do wondrous things with the proper tools.

Thus Walter Chrysler, early in life developed the liking for mechanics that has aided him so much in gaining such a signal success later on in life.

He was born in western Kansas in 1870, Wamego, a typical prairie hamlet, was his birthplace. His father, an engineer for the Union Pacific Railroad, moved to Ellis, a nearby town, when Walter was a little fellow.

The lad grew up there in the atmosphere of engines and the din of repair work, for the shops of the Union Pacific were located at Ellis. He would watch his father start his run in the primitive locomotives of half a century ago. He would be waiting for him on his return from across the prairie.

The youngster aspired to follow in the footsteps of his father and become a first class mechanic. He inherited a liking for machinery from his parent. The contacts and associations of the railroad center served to strengthen his inclinations. He never thought seriously of following any career other than a mechanical one.

The elder Chrysler piloted the first coal burning locomotive owned by the Union Pacific, which is indication enough that he was regarded as the pick of the engineers on the road. His son came naturally enough to his mechanical bent. It would seem.

The Ellis farmhouse and shops saw much of young Chrysler in the time he could spare from school.

During the summers he didn't have so much time to loiter around the railroad shops. He worked for a grocer as an errand boy and clerk in the vacation periods. His earnings helped the family. Times were none too good in Kansas in those days.

When he was seventeen and had received the best common school education he could obtain in Ellis, he decided that it was high time for him to begin to earn his own living and to acquire a trade.

He tried and passed an examination to become a machinist's apprentice in the Ellis shops. He had to make his own tools as he went along. His kit, consisting of assorted cutters, dividers, finished hammers, test indicator and combination square, was all made with his own hands, before he was eighteen.

After a year in the shops he was skilled enough to build a miniature steam locomotive. It was complete in every detail, including air-brakes. He built a truck in his back yard and gave demonstrations of how the contrivance would run.

Tired as he was from a hard day's work in the shops, the youngster read magazines and books on engineering subjects to round out the practical knowledge he was gaining as a machinist's helper. At the end of four years of strict application to his job he was earning 22½ cents an hour as a first class journeyman mechanic.

Then he got the itching foot and decided to see something of the country. He worked for a time in western shops, finally settling in Salt Lake City where his pay was 27½ cents an hour. There he repaired a locomotive's blown off cylinder head in two hours so that it could pull out the fast mail on schedule time.

This feat brought him the job as foreman of the Colorado Southern shops in Trinidad, Colo. Next he became superintendent of motive power for the Chicago & Great Western. Still thirsting for knowledge and a chance to broaden himself, he accepted the place as manager of the American Locomotive company in Pittsburgh.

He got his first chance in the automobile business with the Buick company, again accepting a big salary cut for the opportunity. With him the prospects for the future have always outweighed immediate rewards. What he did with Buick, General Motors, Willys-Overland, Maxwell-Chattanooga and his own product constitutes one of the most outstanding achievements in the automobile industry.

Today his headquarters are in New York, where his ancestor, Thomas Nelson, was the first male child born in the days when the city was New Amsterdam. It is a far cry from the sun-baked prairies of Kansas to a position in a leading industry and to offices atop the highest building in the metropolis, a structure that bears his name.

But that is the place to which the box of tools made by Walter Chrysler, on his first job, helped carry him. It still has the implements that started him on the path to fame and fortune. Nor has he forgotten how to use them.

Firemen Continue Winning Streak in Municipal Bowling League

Springfield Team Out of Union County League

LEAD IN CIRCUIT BY ONE GAME WITH JR. ORDER SECOND

Improved Scoring Marks Second Week in Eight-Team Competition

Health bowling in the Springfield Municipal League Wednesday night resulted in better scores as an average for all teams entered, and when the smoke had cleared up, it was found that the Fire Department had continued their winning ways by taking three games from Severna Park, making a percentage of six victories and no defeats thus far, keeping to the front of the Jr. O. U. A. M. team, whose record of five wins and one reverse placed them in second place.

The Fire Aces, in third place, provided one of the features of the evening but they scored a total of 967 in their first game against the Board of Education. Each member contributed a good mark and Dave Thornton, anchor man, helped the cause with a flashy 296.

The results for the night were three games for the Fire Department from Severna Park; three for the Jr. O. U. A. M. from the Royal Blues, who have failed to win one game thus far; the odd game for the Lions Club over the Union County Coal and Lumber team; and also two games for the Fire Aces over the Board of Education.

Art Koenig of the Juniors, who chalked up 216 last week on Alleys one and two, showed that numbers three and four didn't make much difference. His score of 219 in the first game Wednesday night, is high for the league to date.

Reuben H. Marsh of the Union County team, conspicuous by his cap, couldn't seem to get going, although his scores of 174 and 185 are not to be ashamed of. Perhaps next week he'll get rid of the head apparel.

The Royal Blues turned to "black and blue" in their last game, going from 818 in the second to 678. Even Otto Heinz, anchor man, who rolled 230 in the first game, showed a reversal of form in proportion, getting 170 and 127 to end the night's activities.

Charley Huff on the Lions team gave a neat exhibition of strikes and spares in his first two games, 236 and 224, and the last score, 192, also proved handy for his team.

Last week we discussed brother combinations. There are to be added the Bunnell Brothers, Bob and Dick, on the Lions team; Charley and Don Cooper, on the Fire Aces and Royal Blues; Walter and Harold Baker, on the Juniors; Henry and Charles Beck on the Union County team; and a brother-in-law pair, Bob Bunnell and Hutch Cain, who rolls with the Fire Aces.

Nicholas C. Schmidt, manager of the Union County Coal and Lumber Company, was a spectator and judging by some of the scores turned in, a few employees are due for a scolding, or favorable comment, as the case may be.

TWO TEAMS HERE CANNOT PAY, SAY CIRCUIT MOGULS

Leaves Lackawanna League Nine Only Local Squad to Play This Year

Springfield will not be represented this year in the Union County Baseball League, the board of governors ruled Monday night when organization plans were completed.

After serious consideration, it was deemed best that inasmuch as Springfield is entered this year in the Lackawanna League after several years absence, the township would be unable to support two Class A organizations. Also, it had been decided to reduce the entries in the county circuit this year from ten to eight, and the local squad blocked the move. By the vote, it was possible to remove the Springfield team.

Thus, Springfield will be represented this season by only one team, the Lackawanna Cubs, which is being sponsored by the Lions Club.

Contributions and donations to aid the club are being sought now by the following solicitors: Edward Jacekel and August Schmidt; William A. Smith and T. C. Davidson; Dr. William G. Huff and Dr. Stewart O. Burns, and Richard T. Bunnell and Charles H. Huff, the latter chairman of the Lions Club Baseball Committee. The treasurer is Nicholas C. Schmidt.

No one but the above-named persons are permitted to receive donations for the Springfield Lackawanna team.

The Cubs will open their season April 25 at Taylor Park, Millburn, against the Millburn Blues. As early as this, one month previous to the opening date, several hundred fans are preparing to attend, and if the enthusiasm reaches a higher stage before the opening, it is possible that a parade may be organized to march to the Millburn grounds.

NO SCHOOL NOTES
Due to the large amount of advertisements and news items in this issue, the School Notes section of the SUN has not been inserted. However, this week's material, together with that of next week's contributions, will be published in our next issue.

How Is Your Car Working?

The proper performance of your motor—its power, its speed—the pleasure you get out of driving—depends upon the condition of your motor valves more than any other one thing.

When the valves are true, properly seated and working good—fine! But when they are warped, lose compression and leak—all the joy of driving is gone.

Faulty valves need correction and we specialize in that work. We use the KWIK-WAY System of scientific valve correction—the best system known to the automotive industry. The use of this system improves your motor's performance—puts new life, new pep and power into it. Come in—let us show you what this system means to you.

ROBBERS GET MONEY AT GROCERY STORE

Strike Manager on Head With Butt of Revolver

Two young men Saturday night entered an Eagle Grocery Company store at 1175 Maple avenue, Union, forced the manager and his clerk into the back room and after striking the over the head with the butt of revolver, took $95.84.

The pair entered the store about 7:15 o'clock. O'Leary said that at first he thought they were fooling and asked, "What's the matter?" He was ordered to the back room.

O'Leary walked into the back room where the clerk, John Langstaf, was working. Both were ordered to face the wall with their hands raised. O'Leary heard the register opened and a second later was struck on the head. Only one of the pair spoke, and O'Leary said both men's hands were shaking. He said they were about twenty years of age and poorly dressed.

Patrolman William Whitaker took O'Leary to Dr. J. E. L. Imbeau of Morris avenue, where he was treated for a cut on his head. A description of the pair was broadcast over the police teletype system.

Stone in Cubic Yard
A cubic yard of solid stone when broken into pieces will occupy about 1.60 cubic yards when it is perfectly loose, or about 1.75 cubic yards when it is piled.

Discoverer Rewarded

Madame Curie, upon the twenty-fifth anniversary of the discovery of radium, was honored by the French government with a pension of 40,000 francs a year.

SPRINGFIELD BEARS IN ACTION APRIL 12

The Springfield Bears, managed by Dick Polidore, will open their season Sunday, April 12, at Fleder Oval against a strong semi-pro team which is being sought now.

The Bears will play on Sundays and are not seeking any donations from local residents. Manager Polidore points out. He intends gathering as strong a semi-pro club as is seen in this vicinity and is attempting to secure the services of Al Crawford, Chet Haslavane, Hubby Wade, Bill Burkhardt, Bill Buttons and other popular players in this section.

DANGER DANGEROUS CURVE HILL DIRECTLY AHEAD DON'T DEPEND ON BRAKES DRIVE CAR IN LOW GEAR

EAGLE ROCK HILL CONQUERED BY DALCO GASOLINE

Hupmobile Driven 44,180 Miles Proves Power of Low Priced Fuel.

Over the top in high gear without a knock, "ping" or splutter, a 1929 Hupmobile sedan, driven 44,180 miles, last week demonstrated the power and anti-knock qualities of straight Dalco gasoline by conquering Eagle Rock, New Jersey's heart-breaking, twisting, turning, famous mile-long pull!

Dalco gasoline again and again has proven its power and performance qualities in local tests...not in the tanks of brand new automobiles, but in cars that have been driven thousands of miles.

These tests dramatically illustrate that Dalco gasoline is equal or superior to those nationally advertised brands of gasoline that sell from one and a half to three cents more per gallon.
