Rambling Around Town

A CERTAIN SPRINGFIELD YOUNG man who attended a dance in a Newark hotel not so long ago suffered this misfortune of having his pockets picked to the tune of $25. . . . It's news to us that some of the local young bloods frequenting any kind of dance even had that much money on their person in these days. . . . "No Fire, a Real Sale" posted on the hardware store window next to the Post Office last week attracted considerable attention for its originality. . . . speaking of sights this is what greets would-be trespassers at the Donovan property in Shunpike road. . . . "Anyone caught in or near coups, barns or on this place, better start praying" . . . evidently those chicken thieves who ransacked the chicken coops there in the past year were not of the praying kind. . . . we hear the Chateau Baltusrol is to be rebuilt from its present bed of ashes. . . . the titan-haired miss promenading in the Center Monday afternoon attired in man's trousers a la Marlene Dietrich is setting the pace in the latest of tailored frock for the girls in town. . . . the Rambling Reporter spreads the word around that the library is in need of donations of books. . . . in cleaning up for the Spring, it would be of invaluable assistance to co-operate by turning in books not in use at the homes of our readers. . . . a little birdie, politically wise (darn clever, those cuckoos) tells us not to miss the Republican Club meeting tonight in the Legion rooms. . . . some fireworks is expected to develop, according to my little birdie friend. . . . so interested are the boys around the leading diner at the Center in the local political election that, instead of talking on this man for that office and that fellow for the other position, the gab seems to stress more on the Newark City Commission. . . . as far as we are concerned in Springfield, it would be far more economical to cancel that part of the local election ballot which refers to local offices since there's not a bit of opposition to note of any importance.

Announce Opening of Whelan Agency

Announcement has been made of the opening today, Friday, of the new Whelan Sales Agency in town, the Springfield Pharmacy at 238 Morris avenue, opposite the Bank Building. Morris Lichtenstein, Ph.G., proprietor of the store, has been in Springfield starting his fifteenth year. A practicing pharmacist over twenty-six years, Mr. Lichtenstein was formerly affiliated for four years with two of the largest hospitals in New York. When he first came to Springfield following the War, his establishment was the only drug store in the vicinity and Union residents, not possessing the convenience of a drug store in those days came to Springfield for their needs. The size of the adjoining community was such that not even a doctor's office was maintained in Union and local physicians were called upon to care for the sick.

Mr. Lichtenstein is a director of the First National Bank of Springfield and of the Battle Hill Building and Loan Association, a charter member of both institutions. He was one of the organizers of the Lions Club, now serving as treasurer and has been responsible for much of the charitable work performed by that civic organization, having been chairman of the Charity Committee of the club since its inception.

Announcement of the Whelan opening will be found elsewhere in this issue.

Walter White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter White of 126 Tooker avenue, a student at Syracuse University, visited his parents over the week-end.

A rally will be held the night of May 16 in the lecture room of the Methodist Episcopal Church under the auspices of the Epworth League.

this helping that has to be done, the first thing that we should ask ourselves is this, "Am I doing all that I possibly can to help myself up instead of lying where I fell, hoping that somebody will come along and pick me up."

Individual initiative means having the gumption to carry out your own ideas. To work out anything, whether it is salvation, or prosperity, we get nowhere if our efforts are limited to weeping on the shoulder of everyone who will listen to our alibis. Governor Moore spoke truly when he said this week, in Kearny, that we should have compassion with the distressed. Comparison must be felt for those who have not the faith in themselves to strike out in a new or different way. Never was there a time when there was less prospect of getting prosperity back by wishing. We shall never be waited by the government "on flowery beds of ease" to a heaven of happiness and prosperity. Inflation and deflation are merely terms. Individual courage and initiative and work and still more work—these are the necessary qualities.

A young girl came to our door this week. She opened her bag and displayed her wares, the every day notions and needs that every housewife can afford to buy, black and white sewing cotton, elastic, needles, pins and buttons. These articles are usually sold from door to door by the old and deceitful. This young woman had

Writer Defends Singers' Grove

To the Editor of the SUN:
Now Springfield has a sensation and that's about the harmless Singers' Grove! It is always well to know both sides of a question and I am giving my explanation. Against the protesting petition signed by eleven residents, there was a petition with fifty-three signers, which speaks for itself, but this has never been mentioned, showing how the park has been rated. I never had my doubts that the permit to sell beer at the grove would be granted since Springfield, like every town and every one, needs the almighty dollar badly. The protesting petition complains about (1) dust, (2) drunkenness and (3) noise. On the first, had the township officials fulfilled their promise to put the road in the excellent condition it was before the sewer was built, there would be no dust now. I and the United Singers' Society spent hundreds of dollars improving the road.

On the second objection, a man used the street for a bed but the Singers' officials removed the man. A bottle in his hip pocket was to blame for his unfit condition and not the Singers or the Park.

For noise, if people gather to an outing in the open, God's Nature, there will be no quietness. I live alongside the park and hear no more noise than is to be expected. Anyone who does hear such noise could go to his rooms after darkness and everything would sound quiet and peaceful. Of course, unless the Singers have a picnic and this happens only four or five times a year and the affairs close at 12 o'clock midnight, which is true of other parks. If those who lived here before the Park was in existence, those who rent their property and those buying property near the park, should consider the circumstances, they will also feel, like myself, that the park is one of the best managed in this section, brings an income to many residents and the community has profits, which are not to be underestimated.

Furthermore, I would like to call your attention to the fact that the name of the street in which I live is correctly written "Immergreun" in honor of the late, life-long resident, Paul Julius Immergreun, writer and poet, under which name he published his literature.

MRS. HENRIETTA MEYER.

common sense. She was not trying to sell luxuries. And her bag was not heavy, she could cover a lot of territory in a day.

If a man can honestly tell himself that he is his best, and is not cheating when he says it, even adversity will not make him bitter. Success can never be measured in terms of money. We have in mind a man who had hard sledding for some years, but it did not stop him from being helpful to others. When things were darkest, and he was unable to see how the total loss of all he owned could be averted, a way opened. Through a series of unforeseen developments, he received an offer which gave him opportunity for gainful employment of his splendid qualifications. He was the right man in the right place, to fill the opening, and his contacts and activities had all contributed to make him ready.

Many guns are being trained on the utility companies. Agitation for the reduction of electric and gas rates is becoming greater every day. The poor and unemployed can no longer afford these services, and as relief directors cannot find the money to pay for them, many are going back to the use of oil lamps for lighting, and wood stoves for cooking. When rates are lowered, more revenues will probably flow into the coffers of the utility companies than is the case under the unwarranted charges now prevailing.

MATTER of OPINION

After reading in last week's SUN, the figures reported by the federal revenue department showing the decline during the past four years in income tax receipts, one must wonder where the money is to come from to finance all the projects and various forms of relief for which everyone is looking to the government. In this connection, it is well to listen to the views of men who can remember the conditions following the Civil War. It is necessary to go back to those days to find a parallel. Dr. Edward James Cattell, of Philadelphia, writing in the Public Ledger, "out of the fullness of my years and the ripeness of my experience" says that "to lift us from our present depression to new heights of national well-being, the answer is by putting a premium again on individual initiative. Our country was not made great, was not lifted from the sloughs of earlier depressions, by centralized bureaus at Washington or by legislative soddling. It was developed by permitting wide range to individual enterprise. The test of whether a nation conceived and dedicated as ours was "can long endure" must depend in 1933, as it did in 1864, on the individual courage, initiative and loyalty of the citizens themselves."

Here and there we find individuals who are not wasting time waiting for the "results" of all the plans the national administration is making to pull agriculture, industry, real estate, home owners, to say nothing of states and municipalities, out of the hole. We are forgetting that the government is composed of you and I and all the other fellows, big and little! In all

Birds Like Small Boys

It appears that the bath-hating complex of small boys extends to birds. That conclusion could easily be drawn after observing a robin who, after several unsuccessful attempts to entice two youngsters under a lawn spray, forced them to take a bath by nudging them along with her beak until they were under the water.

Depends on Right Man

CONSOLIDATION of the scavenger and road departments as undertaken by the Township Committee will prove effective only if the right man is chosen to handle both divisions. Public opinion, at first might reveal opposition to the project to purchase a truck at this time but the plan seems to be a most practical one.

The Governing Body can effect a saving by using local unemployed as labor. More men are on the list of unemployed receiving dependency relief than there are jobs so that the question of labor expense is at least simply a matter of transferring the men from one job to another.

It is most fortunate that the present scavenger, Frank Miele of Caldwell, is willing to continue to cart local ashes and garbage an additional month past his contract which ended May 1. We may expect to see the new township truck in use by June 1 operating at a new maximum expense, to the comfort of local taxpayers.

The filthy condition of gutters along Morris avenue at present could stand a more occasional cleaning. Instead of resorting on the routine of State highway officials to come along when their schedule sees fit, to clean the gutters, it would be wise to have local unemployed brush the refuse at least twice a week. Although the proposed township garbage and road department will have to wait until June 1 before swinging into action, at least an effort to clean the gutters at once would prove beneficial.

SPRINGFIELD

Population—1933 4,000 (est.) 1929. 1715. Assessed valuations—1933, $5,458,310. Tax rate, 1933—Township, $9.23; state and county, $2.06. Incorporated 1837; settled early in 1700's. Springfield is essentially a township of homes. It is 55 minutes from New York City on the electrified D. L. & W. Railroad and has excellent bus connections to Newark, Elizabeth, Summit and Plainfield. The railroad stations at Millburn and Short Hills are less than a mile from Springfield Center. The Rahway Valley Railroad has a freight station in Springfield, giving service for factories, commercial and industrial purposes. State Highway Route 39 makes it convenient to reach New York in thirty minutes by car when completed. Numerous state and county highways pass through the township. It has good streets; water; gas; electricity and a newly opened sanitary sewer system. Of interest in Revolutionary history is its historic Presbyterian Church where Rev. James Caldwell cried, "Give 'em watta, boys," in the midst of the Battle of Springfield fought on June 23, 1780. Several colonial landmarks are to be found in Springfield; one of the oldest communities in Union County.

What the SUN Advocates

MILLBURN

The Royal Family of the screen and stage, Ethel, John and Lionel Barrymore, appear together for their first screen production, "Rasputin and the Empress" to be filmed at the Millburn Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

The most imposing list of supporting players ever gathered are seen in the cast with a result the cast reads like the Hollywood "Blue Book." Two of the Barrymores enact the royal personages in the dramatic spectacle of the last days of the Romanoffs, John playing the role of Prince Chogodief and Ethel enacting the ill-fated Empress. The role of the Mad Monk, whose plotting is a forerunner to the fall of the Russian empire, is played by Lionel Barrymore.

Other principals in the cast are Diana Wynyard, the London stage star, who plays the romantic lead opposite John Barrymore; Ralph Morgan, last seen in "Strange Interlude;" Tad Alexander as the little Czarevitch; C. Henry Gordon, the secret service agent of "Mata Hari" as Grand Duke Igor; Edward Arnold and Gustav von Seyffertitz.

LOWDEN DENIES WITHDRAWAL RUMOR

Frank V. Lowden, of Roselle, in a statement issued today, emphatically denied that he would withdraw from the race for the Chairmanship of the Union-County Republican Committee. He said in part:

"There has evidently been a whispering campaign under way for several weeks, which has given rise to the story that I had intended to withdraw from the fight for the Chairmanship of the Union County Republican Committee. I am in the fight to stay and I am in it to win. I have no intention of withdrawing from the field and have never uttered a single word which might have indicated that I had planned to do so."

REOPEN EX-KAISER'S FAMOUS OLD CHAPEL

Last Divine Service Was Marriage of Princess.

Berlin. — The ex-kaiser's former chapel atop the imperial castle in Berlin, after being closed for almost 20 years, has been opened to the public. The last divine service held in the chapel was in May, 1913, on the occasion of the marriage of Princess Victoria Luise, the kaiser's only daughter, to the duke of Brunswick, descendant of the dukes of Cumberland, archenemies of the Hohenzollern dynasty.

The chapel is located beneath the fine cupola crowning the imperial castle on Unter den Linden, a familiar sight to every American tourist who visited the German capital. The chapel and cupola rest on the giant portal on the west side of the castle modeled after the famous Constantine arch in Rome. To give the massive portal the necessary foundation 3,000 bulky wooden piles were rammed into the swampy earth. The castle as well as the greater part of the German capital is built on marshy land formed by the rivers Spree and Havel.

Sixty-Five Feet in Diameter.

The octagonal chapel measures 65 feet in diameter, soaring 160 feet from the floor to the inner top of the cupola. The altar, a present of the Egyptian viceroy, Mehemet Ali, is made of a brownish yellow alabaster. The massive altar roof, resting on six pillars, is carved out of one piece. The altar crucifix is inlaid with numerous semi-precious stones. Ten costly candelabras are supported by antique Roman pillars excavated in Pompeii. More than a hundred pictures, representing Biblical scenes and Prussian rulers, decorate the walls.

The history of the chapel is comparatively new. While the oldest parts of the castle go back to the days of the renaissance, the chapel and cupola were added in the years 1845-1853 according to the designs of the Prussian King Frederick William IV and the famous German architect Schinkel.

Within its walls many a church service was held in the presence of the royal family, surrounded by a glittering entourage. Whenever a new Prussian diet or reichstag was elected the new members assembled in the chapel in the presence of the kaiser to attend divine service.

All the kaiser's children were confirmed in the chapel. The confirmation of Prince Joachim of Prussia cost the job of Julius Pruewer, one of Germany's leading orchestra conductors. At that time he was organ player in the cathedral and in this capacity he conducted the choir singing at the ceremony. After the prince had been confirmed the emperor and his family wanted to remain alone in the chapel to partake of the holy communion. The onlookers in the gallery did not budge, keeping their opera glasses glued on the imperial family. The emperor ordered Pruewer to have the choir sing a choral till the last onlookers had left the chapel. The choral was sung three times in succession; the audience did not stir. The conductor, instead of blindly obeying the orders of his imperial master, gave up the fight with his majesty's subjects because of the sore throats of his singers. The onlookers were finally pushed out of the chapel by a host of imperial funkies. Pruewer was summarily dismissed.

Last Event a Wedding.

The last time the chapel showed unwonted splendor was for the wedding of the kaiser's only daughter, Princess Victoria Luise, to the duke of Brunswick. The wedding put an end to a feud of long standing between the houses of Hohenzollern and Cumberland.

Yearning

Every yearning proves the existence of an object meant to satisfy it; the same law creates both the giver and the receiver, the longing and its home. —Charles Kingsley.

REGISTER

THE delicate clang of the cash register keys, accompanied by an insistent obligato of cash drawers opening and closing is music to the merchant's ears. What annoys most merchants today is the extremely slow tempo in which this commercial music is played on their cash registers. Today, as yesterday, accelerating the pace of your cash register is accomplished by tuning up on your advertising. The SUN reaches the Home, those purchasing markets that still make purchases, that still builds for merchants, that still read the local paper for news of bargains, seasonal merchandise, innovations, and competitive prices—markets that will keep your cash registers busy.

troubles, she had to walk home.—ELEANOR AKERLEY, Grade 6A.
