Morris Ave. Beer Garden Application is Rejected

Board Refuses License After Church Groups Complain of "Evil Influence"

MEET $60,000 BONDS BY PART-CASH PLAN

The Township Committee Monday night rejected an application for a license to operate a beer garden in the Quinzel Building, 230 Morris avenue, after a delegation of representatives from the Methodist Episcopal and Presbyterian Churches protested. The applicant was Albert Bischoff of Newark. The request was under consideration, having been received several weeks ago. The delegation was headed by Frank Bohl and Rev. Dr. Harry Y. Murkland. Both claimed a beer garden so near the center of town would have a bad influence on Sunday School and school children, who would have to pass it. A letter was received from the Springfield W. C. T. U., asking the permit be refused because of the "evil influence on children."

OFFER PLAN TO PAY SEWER BONDS

Committeeman Alfred G. Trundle, chairman of the law and finance committee, introduced a resolution setting forth a plan to meet $60,000 in sewer bonds due June 1. Collections fell short of the required amount to pay bondholders. The holders will be asked to accept 50 per cent in cash now and the balance within two years with interest. Recent State legislation enables the township to extend the time of its bonds, Mr. Trundle added, but bondholders must be in accord before the extension is permitted. Most of them agree with the terms, he said.

Mr. Trundle reported that all the departments are well within their budget appropriations. The board granted a permit to Barnett Bros. to hold a circus

Highlights at Town Committee Meeting

1. Rejected beer garden permit in Quinzel Building, Morris avenue, after church delegations protested.
2. Passed resolution to negotiate with bondholders to pay part of $60,000 sewer bonds due June 1 in cash, balance within two years.
3. Committeeman Trundle, finance chairman, reported all departments well within budget appropriations.
4. Granted permit to Barnett Bros. to hold circus in Mountain avenue June 23.
5. Sent thanks to Lions Club for $101.50 contribution to Block-Aid; also to other organizations for their assistance.
6. Received permission from Millburn Township to make Short Hills avenue throughout light-traffic street.

June 23 in Mountain avenue, on grounds adjoining the Rahway Valley freight station.

Committeeman Wilbur M. Selander, deputy relief director, reported the Lions Club turned over $101.50, proceeds from a benefit, to the Block-Aid Relief Committee. The clerk was ordered to send a letter to Dr. Stewart O. Burns, special projects chairman of the Block-Aid drive, thanking the Lions Club, of which he is a member, and other township organizations who worked under him, in appreciation of their efforts. The Rev. William I. Reed, former pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, was president of the committee.

A letter was received from the Millburn Township Committee, approving the action to designate Short Hills avenue in their township, a light-traffic street, continuing that portion of the thoroughfare which runs in Springfield. An ordinance designating light-traffic streets will be introduced here in the near future.

Permission was given by the Union County Park Commission to allow the use of park property at the old Chemical Works as a dumping-ground for ashes and other refuse collected by the municipal scavenger department.

Extortion Plot Fails; Man Taken

Steve Rodoquino Former Fish Dealer Here, Threatened Mother and Daughter

Charged with extortion after threatening the wife and 13-year old daughter of Frank Gerardi, tailor, of 301 Morris avenue, by letters signed with a sketch of a dagger, Steve Rodoquino, 44, of 47 Church street, Millburn, was arrested early Friday morning by Chief Runyon and his men and committed later to the county jail without bail, where he is awaiting action of the Grand Jury. Police report $60 in marked bills were found on Rodoquino, paid by Gerardi.

Gerardi received five "dagger" letters from May 5 until the day before the arrest, which in the course of dickering, raised the "ante" for protection from $1,000 to $1,275. Rodoquino, who formerly conducted a fish market in the Sickley Building, Morris avenue, opposite Mountain avenue, posed as his friend, Gerardi told police, and offered his services for consideration of $50 as go-between.

Gerardi met Rodoquino at 7 o'clock Friday morning after giving him $60 in marked bills the night before, on instructions received from Chief Runyon. The two were to go to Flushing, L. I., where Gerardi had a relative, who, he told Rodoquino, would lend him the remainder of the cash necessary for "protection." As the latter went into Gerardi's car, he was arrested by Chief Runyon, Sergeant William J. Thompson and Patrolman Nelson Stiles. Chief Runyon said Rodoquino confessed to writing the threatening letters.

WARNED FAMILY WOULD BE DESTROYED

Gerardi was warned in the first letter, mailed from Millburn on May 4, that his family would be "destroyed" if he informed the police of the note. No amount of money to be received was specified and it stated "all want to live same as you live." The letter continued, "We know your business is good."

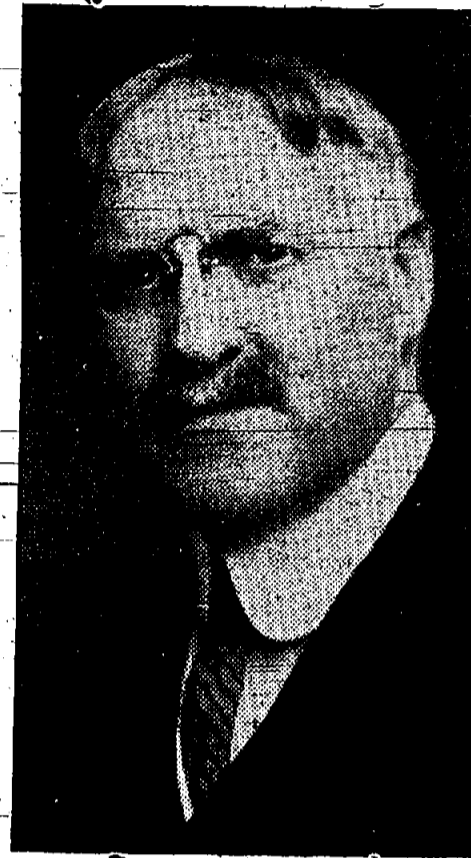

On the contrary, Gerardi told the authorities business has not been particularly good, but he managed to live comfortably. He was deeply concerned at the possibility of danger to his wife and child. Chief Runyon advised Gerardi to keep close watch on persons visiting his store who did not leave garments but called for friendly purposes.

For several days there were no clues of suspicious until Rodoquino paid a visit to the tailor shop and then made frequent calls. Chief Runyon was informed and he suggested to Gerardi that he confide in Rodoquino and ask his advice of the "dagger" letter. Rodoquino volunteered to get in touch with the "gang" who wrote the letter, since they were friends of his. Rodoquino said he would protect his friend.

He asked Gerardi for $20 for "expense money," but the tailor said he did not have the money. After a conference with Chief Runyon, Gerardi was instructed to haggle about the terms with Rodoquino until Chief Runyon could "plant" men in the vicinity of the shop, to actually see an exchange of money. The police were satisfied they were working on the right track after Rodoquino gave Gerardi sufficient proof that he could make the necessary contacts. At first the theory was felt that Rodoquino was not at all connected with the "gang" but merely saw an op-

Dr. Mudge to Speak at S. A. R. Service Sunday

REV. LEWIS SEYMOUR MUDGE

Stated Clerk of Presbytery of U. S. A. Will Give Talk at Annual Exercises

CHURCH SERVICES TO BE HELD IN MORNING

Rev. Lewis Seymour Mudge, D.D., L.L.D., stated clerk of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A., will preach Sunday morning in the historical First Presbyterian Church, to mark the 153rd anniversary celebration of the Battle of Springfield. Dr. Mudge is a direct descendant of Parson James Caldwell, who, at the Battle of Springfield, fought on June 23, 1780, tore up hymnals and passed them out for wadding for the Colonial soldiers' guns, crying: "Give 'em Watts, boys, give 'em Watts."

Parson Caldwell was the father of Dr. Mudge's great-great-grandmother, Hannah Caldwell Mudge. Parson Caldwell's wife was slain by British soldiers.

Dr. Mudge is chief permanent executive officer of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. Last year he was the retiring moderator of the General Assembly. A pioneer in methods of church finance and administration, he served as a pastor at Lancaster, Pa., and Harrisburg, Pa. At the latter city, he developed a church with a communicant membership of more than 2,000 persons, a Sunday School enrolment of 2,100, an executive staff of three ordained ministers, four lay workers on full time, and a number of others on part time.

AFTERNOON SERVICE AT 4 P. M.

In the afternoon, at 4 o'clock, services will be held by Passaic Valley Chapter, Sons of the American Revolution and Dr. Mudge will also make an address at that time. The Rev. Dr. George A. Liggett, pastor of the church, will preside at both morning and afternoon services. Dr. Liggett is State chaplain of the S. A. R. and chaplain of Passaic Valley Chapter.

Arrangements for the celebration are being made by Dr. Liggett and Alfred Tompkins Kent of Summit, president of the Passaic Valley Chapter. Members of Boudinot Chapter of Elizabeth, Watch Tower Chapter of Maplewood and Beacon Light Chapter of Summit, all D. A. R. units, will attend the services.

On Saturday evening, Dr. Mudge will be the guest of William P. Stevenson and daughter, Miss Margaretta Stevenson of Roselle. They are relatives of Dr. Mudge.

Mrs. Liggett will entertain Dr. Mudge at dinner Sunday at the parsonage in Main street.

Local Driver's License Revoked

The driver's license of Joseph B. Bardy of Milltown road, whose car was alleged to have fatally struck a woman in Newark on June 3, was revoked without prejudice by Motor Vehicle Commissioner Harold G. Hoffman last week. Bardy is employed as a postal carrier in Union.

The woman is said to have walked into the side of Bardy's machine at Lyons avenue and Aldine street, Newark. She died without recovering consciousness. Bardy told police he did not strike the woman. He said he and a friend stopped to pick her from the ground.

Bandits Escape With $14 After Beating Victim

Attendant at Mayer's Garage Puts Up Fight as Armed Pair Rob Cash Drawer

Two armed bandits escaped with $14 in cash from the Morris Avenue Motor Car Company at Morris Avenue and Seven Bridge road early Monday at 4 A. M. after severely beating the attendant, Harry Huff, Negro, 24. The men, accompanied by two girls, drove up to the gas pumps in front of the garage and asked to have the tank filled. While Huff finished pumping the gas, one of the men thrust a gun against his ribs and told him to "Stick 'em up."

Huff put up a fight and succeeded in knocking the gun out of the man's hand. He was getting the best of the bandit when the other man, who was considerably larger than either of the combatants, walked from behind the garage and attacked Huff. The latter was knocked down but rose to reach the telephone.

The big assailant ripped the instrument from the wall as Huff tried to call for aid and again knocked him down. After taking the change from the cash drawer, the pair beat and kicked him and jumped into their car headed toward Summit.

Huff, with face and head bleeding considerably, jumped aboard a wrecking car and summoned Chief Runyon. Together with Patrolman Phillips, Chief Runyon combed the section for the bandits but could find no trace of either the machine or its occupants.

About seven years ago, Owen Morrison, an attendant at the garage, was shot by bandits who held up the place. Morrison, who now owns a gas station at Mountain avenue and Hannah street, also put up a fight and was taken to a hospital with a bullet lodged in his stomach. He was in a serious condition for some time but recovered. The bullet has never been removed.

Alexander E. Ferguson of 41 Severna avenue attended commencement exercises at Rutgers University in New Brunswick over the week-end.

THE ANNUAL S. A. R. SERVICE in the historic Presbyterian Church to mark the anniversary of the Battle of Springfield, is scheduled for Sunday afternoon with church services in the morning . . . with the exception of the Sesqui-Centennial celebration in 1930, which is still vivid in our minds, the most unusual distinction attached to the traditional S. A. R. exercises in recent years, is the coming of so high an official in the Presbyterian Church of the U. S. A. as Rev. Lewis Seymour Mudge, stated clerk of the General Assembly, to be the principal speaker at both services . . . only through his friendship with Dr. Mudge, has the pastor, Rev. Dr. George A. Liggett, been able to secure so prominent a speaker . . . in connection with the arrest of Steve Rodoquino last week for threatening the lives of a mother and daughter in an extortion plot in town, we recall a sidelight on the case about a month ago when the first of a series of letters de-

Kin Hits Charges Against Silence

To the Editor of the SUN:

I'd like something published in favor of my brother-in-law, Milton R. Silence, who died an innocent man and his death was an accident, not suicide as the Newark Evening News published. He was a very wonderful character, never did wrong to anyone, and most of all never took one penny from the Township of Millburn as his trial on Monday would have proven him innocent.

At first he was not going to hire a lawyer and his family had a time with him to get a lawyer because he said he didn't need one. The checks mentioned in the case were traced from their origination to their destination, but as to the books being changed, he couldn't explain. No, because someone who had access to his office (and about four or five men were at those books one day I was there in Milton's absence) changed those figures. It was a political frame-up and Milton Silence's death is on a certain party's manding money was received by Frank Gerardi, the father and husband. Police had been notified and interpreters were asked to read the text since it was written in Italian. . . conflicting versions failed to halt the investigation, but Chief Runyon and his men worked zealously in rounding up their man. . . the robbery at the Morris Avenue Motor Car Company early Monday morning, in which the attendant fought the hold-up men and suffered minor injuries, is strangely comparable to a similar incident which happened at the same place some years back when Owen Morrison, who now owns a gasoline station at Mountain avenue and Hannah street, worked at the establishment. . . he also fought his assailants and luckily escaped death when a bullet fired by the bandits lodged in his stomach. . . he hovered between death and life but recovered. . .

Defends Silence

shoulders. Saturday, Milton's lawyer told him everything was in his favor. Three of the four indictments were thrown out and Milton would have been proven innocent had he lived.

But he was very sensitive and when the majority of his old friends (men whom he placed, where they are, in high positions) went back on him, he cried all the time, knowing the disgrace being published was untrue. Milton's death is killing his poor, old mother, eighty-nine years old. He was her best boy, wonderful to her and his family, always looking out for someone else. Milton was so honest about everything he did. He would not get my husband, his brother, a job, because he didn't live in Essex County and he could have given him a life-time job had he lived in Millburn, or Essex County.

And his death was not a suicide. If he intended to commit suicide, why would he change to his working clothes and leave the light on in the garage so that the family could see he was in the garage?

Something was wrong with the car and he was to be in Newark early Monday morning for the trial and of course, since this investigation started, he couldn't sleep at night so he was fixing the car to be in Newark early. He left no suicide letters or notes of any kind. Sunday night he felt encouraged and was in good spirits.

Suit yourself about publishing this, but you could just say Milton Silance was not a suicide. Losing all his friends, in whom his life was wrapped, just killed him.

Proceedings End on Sewer Appeals

Proceedings in the sewer case in Elizabeth before Judge Frank L. Cleary, in which property owners appealed sanitary sewer assessments levied, ended Tuesday. The defense, made by the township, wound up by placing on the stand Thomas F. Bowe, consulting engineer. The case had been postponed several weeks ago due to the heavy court calendar but resumed Monday morning.

Other witnesses called by Charles W. Weeks, township counsel, were Robert S. Bunnell and Hubert Doll, real estate experts, and Arthur H. Lennox, township engineer. Frank E. Meisel, member of the Board of Sewer Assessors, also testified. The counsel for the property owners was Jacob R. Mantel of Summit.

The property owners claimed the assessments were unfair. Several, owning property, insisted on lower assessments. The township upheld the assessment as being just. The decision of the court is not expected until several months. It is expected that there will be several major changes in the assessments and a few minor adjustments.

portunity to get money from Gerardi.

PLAN ALMOST FAILS

In the meantime, Rodoquino was painting vivid word pictures of the atrocities of "the gang," with whose actions he told Gerardi he was familiar. The descriptions of the tortures and indignities to which his wife and child would be subjected in the event that the money would not be paid soon almost made Gerardi weaken in his plan. Chief Runyon set up a special guard to watch Gerardi's 13-year-old child as she went back and forth to school.

He is endeavoring to determine whether or not Rodoquino did have a "gang" or was engineering the scheme by himself.

Police say Rodoquino has a criminal record.

Graduation to Be Held Wednesday

Commencement exercises of the Junior High School will be held in the James Caldwell School Wednesday evening at 8:15 o'clock. For the first time, graduation exercises will feature a play to be presented by the class instead of an outside speaker.

An address of welcome will be given by Madelyn Martyn. Jack Mohler, honor student, will deliver an essay, "Progress of the Nation." August H. Schmidt, member of the Board of Education, will present the scholarship award, a $10 goldpiece, to Jack Mohler.

President G. Arnold Wright will award the diplomas and John Potts, vice-president, will present two American Legion medals to a boy and girl in the class, contributed by Continental Post 228, of Springfield.

The play, in the form of an operetta, is entitled "The Windmills of Holland." The plot concerns Mynheer Hertogenbosch, played by Joseph Giacoma, a rich Holland farmer, with his family and neighbors, living in contentment beneath the whirling wheels, until Bob Yankee, an American salesman, played by Arthur Kasperen, endeavors to introduce modern machinery, to displace the picturesque windmill. But the Hollander's love for the mills prevails and Bob is outdone.

The remainder of the cast follows: Frau Hertogenbosch, the farmer's wife, June Mayer; her daughters, Wilhemina and Hilda, Marjorie Hartwell and Alberta Andrews; Hans, German music student in love with Wilhemina, James Shew; Franz, rich farmer's son in love with Hilda, Harry Anderson; Katrina, rich farmer's daughter, Lucille Welter. The chorus consists of ninth grade girls. Art work for the play was handled by Kenneth Shew.

Benjamin F. Neswanger, a member of the faculty, will award fifteen sweaters to pupils in the Junior High School for general excellence. Raymond Schmidt, who has already received two sweaters, will be given a graduating ring. Others who will receive sweaters are Clarice Shack, Jack Mohler, Helen Freeman, Madelyn Martyn, Elizabeth Hinze, Marie Curcio, Marjorie Hartwell, Anna Martyn, Edgar Buell, Phillip Bardy, Ruby Selander, Evelyn Gray, Dorothy Mayer and Emma Smith.

Members of the graduating class will be announced this afternoon at the school.

THOUGHTS and THINGS

THE BUSINESS OF LIVING, when-boiled down and all the froth skimmed off, is just a matter of thinking. Each of us is continually thinking ideas of our own and swapping them for the ideas of others. If there is a famine of outside ideas we shrivel up ourselves. Children with "nobody to play with" are unhappy and unmanageable.

From thinking with our heads to doing with our hands is but a little step and then our thoughts become things.

It is because men of America are so unfettered in their thinking and doing that this country is such a fine place to live in. It is also because these thoughts are freely radiated and spread broadcast, in the distribution of manufactured things and in the distribution of the facts about them (advertising), that this country is such a fine place to live in.

The originator of an idea is not much better off than before he originated it till he gets some one else to absorb it and enjoy it and benefit by it.

The man or woman surrounded by better thoughts and things but who pays not the slightest attention to them is not much better off than the one with "nobody to play with".

The advertisements in the papers are thoughts—telling you about the things that other men and women have created for your happiness. Read the ads. They are the voices from hundreds of thousands of looms, shops, foundries, studios, laboratories, where millions of minds are turning pleasant thoughts into worthwhile things for your comfort.

Sewer Assessments

ALTHOUGH sewer assessments fell far short of the required amount needed, through excellent work of Committeeman Alfred G. Trundle, finance chairman of the Governing Body, Springfield has been able to maintain its credit by meeting its obligation of $60,000 in bonds maturing June 1. Not all, however, is paid at this time. It is proposed that 50 per cent be paid in cash and the balance within two years, at six per cent interest. Bondholders must be in accord with the plan to make it effective and it is reported they are satisfied with the terms.

The seriousness of the plight the township might have faced had it defaulted, leads us to dwell in more detail on the subject. Many citizens do not meet their instalments. Several large tract-owners are delinquent in paying their obligations. Others are involved in legal controversy but through all this difficulty, the township must retire bonds each year until 1939.

We are sorry to learn that many residents able to pay are holding up the collections by awaiting the decision of the higher courts in testing assessments. It may be months before the court renders a verdict but it is safe to believe that the greater number of assessments will be upheld.

Not only do citizens forsake their civic responsibility in paying for the use of the sanitary sewer which they now enjoy but also add to the future tax rate of the community which must be raised if interest charges pile up in the township budget. The township must finance the interest costs which are some day repaid by individual home and property owners but this is

SPRINGFIELD

Population—1933 4,000 (est.) 1920, 1715. Assessed valuations—1933, $5,488,319. Tax rate, 1932—Township, $3.22; state and county, $1.06. Incorporated 1857; settled early in 1700's. Springfield is essentially a township of homes. It is 55 minutes from New York City on the electrified D. L. & W. Railroad and has excellent bus connections to Newark, Elizabeth, Summit and Plainfield. The railroad stations at Millburn and Short Hills are less than a mile from Springfield Center. The Rahway Valley Railroad has a freight station in Springfield, giving service for factories, commercial and industrial purposes. State Highway Route 20 makes it convenient to reach New York in thirty minutes by car when completed. Numerous state and county highways pass through the township. It has good streets; water; gas; electricity and a newly opened sanitary sewer system. Of interest in Revolutionary history with its historic Presbyterian Church where Rev. James Caldwell cried, "Give 'em wats, boys," in the midst of the Battle of Springfield fought on June 28, 1780. Several colonial landmarks are to be found in Springfield—one of the oldest communities in Union County.

What the SUN Advocates

Believing that the following improvements are vital necessities to nourish Springfield's betterment and substantial progress, the SUN advocates:

1. A high school.
2. Removal of delapidated buildings which are "sorespots."
3. Sidewalks wherever needed.
4. Encouraging clean factories, to increase the ratables.
5. An active Board of Trade to stimulate "Buying in Springfield."
6. Postal-carrier delivery.
7. Reduced bus fare within town limits and to Millburn R. R. station.
8. Full time position for the township clerk's office.
9. Set of Building Zones, before township is developed.
10. A county park.

a most inopportune time in which to saddle upon the tax rate encumbrances which could be avoided.

Residents owe it to themselves and their community to help relieve the tremendous burden of the cost of the sanitary sewer which Springfield is bearing. Your co-operation is needed. Next June 1 may not find such a smooth plan in operation as was performed this year by Mr. Trundle. We hope it will not be necessary.

Thomas F. Bowe, consulting engineer on the Springfield sanitary sewer, reminded the Governing Body Monday night of the National Recovery Act whereby municipalities could be aided in construction of extra sewers. Maybe the C. E. could get the government to take over some of the sewer in town and move it elsewhere, instead, after having seen the townfathers pass a resolution earlier that night "finegeling" some of the bonds to pay for present sewer, let alone for any more.

The police department is to be praised for the manner in which it succeeded in apprehending the would-be kidnapper who had threatened members of a family in the township. The charge of attempted kidnapping is a most serious offense and to secure a conviction, sufficient evidence must be presented to satisfy the court of the true motive. Under Chief Runyon, the department worked diligently. An example should be made of the lowest type of culprit who would resort to extortion and attempted kidnapping.

MATTER of OPINION

The testimony in the suit of appeal by property owners in the south neighborhood of Springfield is now completed, and the decision of the court is being awaited. The testimony of some of the witnesses was of such a nature as to tax the credulity of every one who knows that the building of the sewer was the topic of general conversation throughout the township for months before the granting of the contracts. Whatever the motives of the appealing taxpayers for refraining from protest against the sewer, when it was proposed, their plea of lack of any knowledge that it was to be contracted for, is amazing, to say the least. The right of appeal is not to be gainsaid, but the belated effort to evade obligation for this improvement is already having far-reaching and extremely unfortunate effects. Difficult as the times are, the township would have had a good chance to meet its debt service payments, but with so large a proportion of assessed property owners holding out on sewer installments, it was foredoomed to default sooner or later. Whatever the court's decision may be, this litigation has been most costly to everybody who pays taxes in Springfield.

According to newspaper reports, there is definite hope that the courts will order a reduction in utility rates, and that this order will issue promptly, in recognition of the fact that an emergency exists, and that the usual process of law by which reduction of utility rates is sought, is too long drawn out to afford the immediate relief which is imperative. Too long have these companies been able, by reason of the monopolies they enjoy, to collect high rates, while all competitive industries have been forced to make cuts running as high as fifty per cent.

Clinton W. Gilbert, whose pithy comments on Washington events and the politicians in the public eye, have been a liberal education to the public and doubtless an irritation to those about whom he was writing, has passed on. He was the "Gentlemen at the Keyhole" in Collier's magazine. In his last article in that publication, headed "Swan Song," he writes especially on the decline in power of the United States Senate, which has voted away its control of the public purse, by giving it to the President. He says—"One wonders whether the legislative racket will ever to be wished for, and if it really is accomplished, we may yet get to the point where the public will admit that the depression was a blessing-in-disguise.

FOR FAILURE-PROOF BANKING STRUCTURE

Speaker Outlines Threefold Cooperation Between Bankers, Government Officials and the Public to Maintain Bank Standards

TWO elements beside the bankers themselves are required in order to give the nation universally the type of banking it should have, Francis H. Sisson, president of the American Bankers Association, declared in a recent address. He said that the efficiency of government officials upon whom the people rely to supervise the banks properly, and the patronage of the people themselves are factors in the kind of banks a community shall have.

"There can be no question that the people of the United States should have banks immune from failure and wholly free from bad or questionable banking," Mr. Sisson said. "It is not enough, as President Roosevelt has said, that while some bankers had been incompetent or dishonest, this was not true in the vast majority of our banks. A situation should exist in which there is not even a small minority of bankers open to question. There should be no room for dishonesty or incompetency to exercise any influence in banking anywhere.

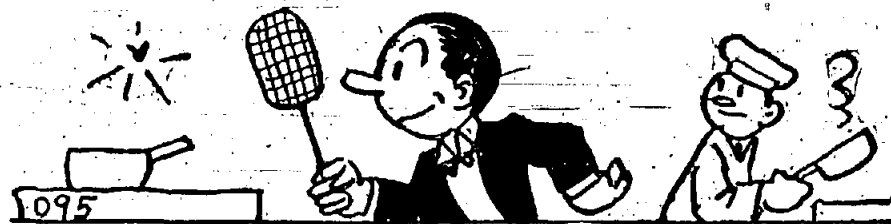

"While bad faith and bad management enter the human factor in all types of business, their effects in banking should be surrounded by such special safeguards as to render them no longer a factor in bank failures. The responsibility for bringing this about, however, cannot rest upon the bankers alone, for the means to accomplish it are not wholly in their hands. There are other essential elements.

"One is the efficiency of government supervision. Since we rely so greatly upon supervision, it may, unless it is of the highest order in safeguarding the public interest, create a sense of false security. Supervision should render bad banking impossible, but if has failed to do so. There was supervision by presumably the highest type of bank supervisors in every one of the instances of questionable banking that

But the Flies Might Object

By IRVIN S. COBB

NOBODY ever denied that the French, Mexican and Italian table d'hote restaurants of San Francisco in the old days served good food, but before screens for the kitchens and pantries and dining-room windows came into vogue there occasionally was complaint on a different score.

For instance, a rather particular gentleman was entertaining three of his friends at luncheon in one of the most popular of the ancient establishments. The entree came on. The host looked at it and hailed the attendant:

"See here, waiter," he said, "there are only three flies in this omelette. Now I must insist that the next time I order an omelette for four here, you have either four flies in it or no flies at all. It's a very hard matter to divide three flies equally among four people."

Bargain Hunting Is Profitless Unless Housewife Knows Quality

Price Does Not Tell the Whole Story, Says Secretary Duryee—Aids For Food Buyers Named

By WILLIAM B. DURYEE
Secretary, Department of Agriculture
Trenton, New Jersey

AUTHORITIES state that women spend about 85 per cent of the family income. Few men appreciate the great responsibility borne by the housewife, or realize how meagre are the sources of information to which the busy housewife can look for aid in making such important purchases as are involved in the buying of food and other family necessities.

Housewives can hardly be expected to buy expertly with so little specific information at hand. We all admire the mature judgment of the matron who seldom fails to recognize a bargain. She can nearly always pick out a good "buy" and she knows price scales are not always a true index of actual value. She has learned how to buy largely from experience and common sense standards.

However, learning how to buy may take years of such experience and is often costly. Many of the younger housewives have considered it inevitable that they, in turn, must pay the price until they, too, become equipped with a keener buying sense. The greater portion of the family income is spent for food. Consequently, it is very important that food buying be done intelligently, especially in families in the lower income groups, where the food items are the principal expenditures of the budget.

Standard Grades

It is of interest to note that steps are being taken to make available more concrete information on foods. For instance, efforts are being made to develop more uniform standards for the statements on the labels of canned and packaged goods. Many of the labels with which the housewife is now confronted are of little aid in the problem of buying.

In the case of fresh fruits and vegetables, the Bureau of Markets is working with both producers and consumers in order to aid in marketing New Jersey products.

This is a period of the year when housewives are using less canned fruits and vegetables. More and more of the fresh and nearby grown foods are now available. Choosing certain brands of canned goods is a safe practice but in buying fresh fruits and vegetables the housewife must be able to recognize values. She must be able to see behind the price ticket, in order to weigh actual cost with final yield in food value.

Send For Booklet

In a guide, "Healthful Foods—How To Buy Them," prepared for housewives, the Division of Consumer Information lists some of the specific points to be observed in buying. For example, these definite suggestions on the buying of green peas, now appearing on our markets, are quoted:

"Freshness is prime requisite, hence nearby peas preferred. Choose brittle pods which 'crackle' and are bright or deep green, fresh, and well-filled. Peas should be tender and taste sweet when raw. Old and over-mature peas have white-veined, tough pods. Large, sugar varieties are distinguished by green, large, oval pods, in over-size, rough, angular pods. Keep fresh and cool to avoid wilting. Three to four pounds in the pod will serve six persons."

Send for your free copy of this helpful booklet. Suggestions on buying other vegetables and fruits, as well as milk and eggs, are also included.

Next week Secretary Duryee will write about New Jersey strawberries.

Go to Church Sunday

Join the Happy Throngs

Have you ever noticed the faces of people as they emerge from church out into the sunlight? They are bright faces, faces with faith shining in them, their burdens are lightened, their joys are increased, because they have stopped for a moment in the House of God. Your church holds the same happiness for you, a happiness in being one with your Creator, a happiness derived from good fellowship and love of mankind, a happiness found in doing good—this is only a part of what your church will instill into your heart. If you want a balanced, happy life, join the happy throng on their way to church next Sunday.

SUMMARY

The summary of incidents of interest in the 8A class during the year follows: In the beginning of the year we were studying the telephone and Mr. Williams, the commercial teacher, took us to Millburn to watch the operators at work.

Following, 8A and 9A had a debate. The topic was, "Whether or not school should be held until 4 o'clock and eliminate homework"—8A won.

Soon after, 9A wanted a comeback and challenged us to a spelling bee. We accepted and again we won. To start the new year off right, we won the attendance banner three months. We had the greatest number of pupils present in the entire school for three months.

The Leaders Club presented an exhibit in tumbling. Each class was represented from the seventh to the ninth. 8A won second. George Arnold, a classmate, had the honor to witness the inauguration in Washington March 4 and he returned to tell us many interesting incidents.

Donald Flemer, another classmate, found a 1775 gold coin on his father's nursery. This started him on the hobby of collecting coins.

Some of the pupils in our class wrote letters to foreign countries and two were received. One of the letters was published in the SUN recently. Virginia Anderson, a classmate, has been in Long Beach, Cal. She told us of the earthquake there. We hope to hear more incidents before school closes. She returned early in June.—BERNARD SCHRAMM.

LEARN ABOUT CLOTH

We have been learning where cotton, linen, wool and silk come from and how they are made into cloth.—WILLIAM PETZ, Grade 2.

GRADE 3 NEWS

Wednesday we had a Flag Day program. Third grade had a part in it. We sang a group of songs about our flag and read stories about Flag Day.—THOMAS STREET.

7A-TO-HOLD PICNIC

7A is planning a picnic to High Point tomorrow. About thirty pupils will make the trip by bus. We play to eat, play games and swim in the High Point pool.—JEAN FLEMING.

FLAG DAY

June 14 is the birthday of our flag. We had the third and fourth grades in our room. We sang songs, recited poems and told a story about our flag.—Grades 1-2, Miss Charlton's class.

SPELLING MATCH

The sixth grade girls class held a spelling match Tuesday. Shifley Morris of 6B was runner-up. Jessie Marshall and Marie Volk of 6A, were the winners.—VIRGINIA DENSON.

9C PRESENTS PLAY

9C presented a comedy in one-act Tuesday in Assembly, called "The Flivver Family." The play ends when the auto of the jovial group is wrecked after escorting other students through a series of funny situations. Gordon Day plays the hen-pecked husband, Elizabeth Hinz the nagging Mrs. Flivver and the children by Marie Curcio and Jack James. A cornet solo was contributed by Kenneth Hoagland. Now that examinations are completed, our thoughts are turned to graduation.—MADELYN MARTYN.

GRADE 1 NOTES

Today is Flag Day. We are going to have a program in the afternoon. We are going to sing "The Star Spangled Banner" and two more songs about the flag on our orchestra.—Grade 1, R. C. School.
