"As You See It"?

QUESTION: Do you think the | men are as good today as they were

PLACE OF INTERVIEW: Corner Morris and Mountain avenues.

EDWARD BRISEDOU, 75 Tooker avenue, retired diamond setter: "I think a-young man's opportunities are even better now than they were. It used to be that when a young man wanted to enter a trade, he'd be glad to get $5 a week, just to learn it as an apprentice: You can't even get a young man to do that now. The trouble is that they all want their jobs handed to them on a platter, without having to go through the training period. There's more money to be had today, wages are high compared

"It seems to me the chances are better now than they were 20 years ago. Certainly people are better educated today thun they used to be. They don't leave school so early and they get more out of their education because they enjoy it more. Then too, there are many new industries and businesses developing.

W. F. DOCKUM, 22 Center street

"I'd say the opportunities are greater now than they were. The education a young man gets is better than it was and there are more varieties of employment and work. There are lots of ways of making a living, if one has the ingenuity-to-go out and find them. We've had a bad depression, of course, but we're coming out of it. It's a matter of readjustment and time. We all have to adapt ourselves to new methods.

"If young men would cultivate the friendship of older people they will find that these older people will take an interest in them, help them develop, and even help them get jobs. They have to make themselves known however, and be active in the

CHARLES ANTHONY, 623 Mor ris avenue, construction machine operator:

"I don't think he's got as good a chance as he did 20 years ago. Machinery has knocked out a lot of different kinds of labor for a man. Business men expect one man to do three men's work. You can't really blame them for this. They can't get the business any other way. Then too, high taxes have and some more out of business altogether.'

MISS MARY SIMMINGTON, 23 Marcy avenue, teacher, South Orange Junior High School:

"Opportunities ought to be greater with all the new industries, plastics, air-conditioning, aeronautics, and all the rest. Competition is keener, true, due to higher education, and more is demanded of a man. There are more college graduates, but if a young man has been fortunate enough to specialize, his opportunities are far greater than they ever have been. For us women, of course, the opportunities are much better than they used to be. But then, maybe we take work away from the men."

COURTS: Sherman Vengeance At Washington last year an A. F. of L. teamsters' union allegedly "conspired" to make concrete mixing companies hire union teamsters to drive mixer trucks. About this time the anti-trust division of the department of justice began casting a suspicious eye at the sorry plight of America's building construction field. Taking a long shot, slapped a charge of Sherman act violation against Washington's teamsters. The allegation: That this squabble interrupted building operations, therefore the union had restrained trade.

Protesting loudly that unions do not fall under the Sherman act, A. F. of L. cooked up a demurrer and a motion to dismiss the indictment. In late March Federal District Judge Peyton Gordon surprised everybody by upholding the indictment, maintaining the Sherman act applies to unions where "legititheir objectives are not

PLANES FOR THE ALLIES

HE policy of the President to permit the allies to buy our most advanced type of military and naval planes is 100 per cent correct. A principal problem in our preparation for defense is productive capacity. Time is "of the essence in war. Napoleon used to say: "I may lose a battle but I will-never lose a minute and hence few We have the best industrial plant in the world. But in our modern system of manufacture, the best plant in the world_can't get into production without first going through a slow and complicated effort called "tooling-up."

This means the arrangement of buildings and machine tools to provide a continuous flow-from-one operation to another without backtracking or lost motion. It means the making of the working points tools to insure al assembly of any such complex and

Everybody who is old enough will remember that preparation to build the old Model T tin Lizzie, paralyzed the production of even the great Ford plants for the better part of two years. It is believed in the industry that a single last minute change in arrangement and design cost the Ford company millions of dollars and months of time. When this great preparation work is done, increase in speed and reduction in cost are very great.

To put the American airplane tion basis would give us something that hasn't existed and, under conservative plans for our own equipment, might never have been completely attained. But a billion dollars worth of allies business coupled with our own requirements on basic designs identical with our own, will do exactly that. This result of give. ing the allies our most advanced designs is the most fortunate thing that could happen to us from the angle of our own defense.

TAX ON MACHINES

Senator-O'Mahonoy's proposal to tax machines has had a panning from every editorial that I read and I have to read a good-many One recurring note is that Joe hails from the great open spaces of other selected passages they at-to- Wyoming, which hints that he can't know anything about machinery. I happen to hall from the great open spaces of Oklahoma, but that isn't going to prevent me from-horningin on this argument.

I can't recommend the senator's bill. In the first place, although I have studied it. I don't understand It. I have a dim idea that it taxes the producer who makes more than average use-of machines and from dizes the producer who uses less than the average machine power and hence employs more man power._

ing for revenue. It is using the power to tax as a power to punish one group and reward another in proportion to their degree of deparernment rule as to how they should run their business. It is both "nunitive" and "incentive" taxation and both are dangerous ground.

Furthermore, it would be utterly impossible to apply. The labor wage-element, in the cost of various roducts varies from 10 per cent to 90 per cent and is largely caused by forces entirely beyond the pr ducer's power to control, Nevertheless, there is something very valuable in part of what the senator has at the back of his thought. We ought to re-examine. this idea of financing all social legislation by taxes on payrolls or give more thought to taxes on machines or machine hours.

The rush toward machine produ tion and away from employment isn't altogether caused by advances n science and invention. Ever time a munufacturer installs a new machine operation displacing labor; he makes a certain logical calcuUncle Sam Guards Canal Zone Against Sabotage by Enemy

The conviction had grown gradually upon Bruce that Autumn was er. leading this free-life of hers with some ulterior purpose. He could not think of her running wild from hoice. Nor had he ever been able understand her violent change by something he had told her, by him. some peremptory ban he had placed upon their relationship. Even then he could not credit the change. Autumn was too willful, too independent,_to_permit-even-her=father-tomake up her mind for her. Something else, something of which he was in total ignorance, was behind self, Belfort sprang up and lifted it all. But whatever it was, there the chair. Before he could swing it, was no other course for him except Bruce's hand had shot out and the a harsh discipline in forgetting. An utter loneliness enveloped him now as he ascended the scantily timbered, wild mountain reaches. Over only a short distance toward the north, in the completely still, mysterious folds of the hills, lay the Dean summer range, skirting-his own. Across a deep valley, spread, over the palely green mountain-side opposite, one of the units of the Laird's flock was dimly-discernible. Trained though his eyes were to the ambiguity of vast distances, it was all Bruce could do to distinguish the flock in that brilliant, thin atmosphere. But across the vacancy there came to him, piercingly sweet the-sound-of-a-bell.--He-knew-thatcell—there was only one like it anywhere in the Upper Country. I was Autumn Dean's Basque bell. The sound of it had drawn him across the valley on-his last trip. nearly a month ago now, and he had spent an hour of the afternoon with the young Irish lad who was one of the Laird's herders. He would never forget the wistful blue eyes ct the boy and the eagerness with which he strove to prolong the visit. As the sound of the bell struck across his senses now, Bruce strove grimly to repudiate the significance. to himself, of that sound. It was sheer sentimentality on his own part that the bell seemed to chime Autumn's name. He resolved that on his next trip into the hills he would leave home early enough to turn aside and spend an hour with the young herder. He would do so today but that he had to get back in time for an appointment he had

It was late that evening whe Bruce drew up-to-the-curb and got from his car before a gray, weathered building that had served as a trading post in the old days. The structure housed a billiard parlor now and was known locally as "Sandy's Place." It had become a rendezvous men, ranch hands seeking employment: and nondescript transients But despite the determination of the years to mold it to a less romantic form, there clung about it still some of the pungent, zestful air of times gone by when sourdoughs and chechances drifted in for a night's lodging and a game of poker. Bruce lighted a cigarette and watched the progress of the play. He was not sure just what had drawn his attention to a conversation at the table behind him, but presently the mention of Jarvis Dean's name caused him to glance around. Curly Belfort, a rancher from the Ashcroft district, was doing the talking while the others lisened. Belfort had evidently been drinking. Bruce gave his attention to the game at Myers' table. The click of the chips and the nonotonous sound of voices lay drowsily upon his senses after a day in the mountains.

Belfort's voice thrust itself boisterously upon his consciousness. Bruce could not help hearing the words.

"-and, by God, if there wasn't old Dean's daughter standin' up out o' the haystack, an' stretchin' herself at seven o'clock in the mornin'. This happens to be the "next year" mentioned by Mr. Rickey. If he is as sound a prophet in 1940 as he was in 1939, the Cardinals are already in.

Sound Pitching Staff

They have that year's experience stuck under their belts and they have the same speed and the same spirit. More than that, in addition as she spoke and seated herself in to such veterans as Curt Davis, Lon one of the Queen Anne chairs, her Warneke and Big Bob Weiland, they also carry along the younger pitchbow resting on the arm of the chair, Ing arms of Cooper, McGcc, Lanier, soundest all-around pitching-staff-in best in baseball.

I can't agree with him. The race should be between the Cardinals and Reds, with the Dodgers and Cubs making the main challenge.

Frank Frisch will need at least a year to get the Pirates untangled I can't figure Giants. Braves or Phillies with anything but a miracle

Only a-few years ago at Bruden ton there were the two Deans, Jimmy Wilson, Rip Collins, Leo Durocher, Bill Hallahan and several others. Now Pepper Martin and Joe Medwick are about the only ones left.

Baseball has seen better teams, but none with so much color. There was the time when Jimmy Wilson, the crack Cardinal catcher, began missing his silk shirts from the locker. Dizzy began wearing them. 'Sauce for the Goose'

The function of a sauce may be either to accent or to soften a flavor; it may be used to enrich a food, or to moisten it; the sauce may be sweet or savory; it may be hot or cold.....Whatever its purpose-or-classification, the sauce must be smooth In flavor as well as smooth in consistency. It should, in addition, offer contrast in color, flavor, in texture, or in temperature. Sauces are "sweet" or to whom sauces are sacred, use two basic recipes or "mother sauces" from which all their savory sauces are developed; no simple white sauce ör sauce merely thickened with browned flour, for them!

To serve its purpose, a sauce must complement the food—rather than disguising it. That means subtle seasoning, and just the right consistency. Plain white sauce—the standby of so many cooks-should seldom be served "as is." It's a foundation, really, which is quite likely to be flat in flavor, and very much too thick! Judiciously seasoned, it can be used in dozens of different ways. Flavor it with sharp, grated cheese, or add condensed tomate soup to it for character; use a drop or two of Worcestershire or a half teaspoor of prepared mustard; or-and this is a secret we might well borrow soup stock for part of the milk, in making the sauce.

Pretty Frocks for Your Lamp Shades

CHANGE of lamp shades gives any room a lift, and here is a smart, new transformation trick. You start with a plain parchment paper or bristol board shade, preferably white; then you make a full skirt of some exciting fabric to cover it. By sewing anaps inside and also to the top of the shade, it is easy to remove these for laundering or cleaning. Taffeta, lawn, net, organdy, wiss, gingham—all are used and the imagination runs riot in trimmings. Frills or double ruchings at_the_top_and_bottom-are-favorites. Edges are pinked or machine_stitched-in-heavy_contrasting thread. - Contrasting shirring holds the fullness at the top; and color is added by means of fancy braids, ribbons or bias tape, according to type. Sewing Book 1 and 4, contain directions for making_a_foundation-frame, or you may use a shade that you have.

NOTE: Each of the four booklets Mrs. Spears has prepared for our readers contains an assortment of 32 pages of curtains; slip covers; rag rugs; toys; gifts and novelties for bazaars. Kathleen Norris Says:

There Are Ways of Holding Your Husband

Don't be a nervous, suspicious, sensitive, injured shadow of Ted. Be a person yourself. That's the way you won him and that's the way you'll win him back.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

HEN a woman of 31, mar-ried eight years and mother of a small 3 of a small daughter, begins to be afraid she is losing her husband's love, what can she do? "Perhaps I'm not very well," writes Elinor Baker from a-big-Illinois_city,_"but_lately_I_scem to be afraid all the time that Ted will get tired of me and turn somewhere else. Our life and home and relationship seem suddenly to have lost luster, to have gone dull. I had a long bout with flu in November; I don't seem to have gotten back strength or spirits.

"Ted has formed the habit of going out a good deal without me. It's all pleasant and affectionate enough, but the result is that I-feel left_out._My_mother_lives with us, and Ted is really fond of her, I know. She is a wonderful mother: the only one, he says, that he has ever known. The care of Ann and the housework are not too much for the two of us. whereas I really could not handle it all alone. And for several years Ted seemed to be one of us, puttering about, planning things, doing his share. "But for the past few months i is different.—I-can't deceive myself any longer. His interests and amusements are elsewhere. He enjoys his late breakfast Sunday morning, his paper and his romp with Ann in A word spoken in season is like the old way. But at about noon he must 'see a man,' or take someon somewhere. He and the car disappear, and the next thing I hear is from the telephone. Ted and 'some of the others' are out at Billy Car ey's. They want him to stay for dinner. What do I think? Do As You Like.

"Of course I can only think one thing. But what I say is not what I think. I say 'do as you like, dear,' Then he begins to explain. Well, you see, if he comes home now, then there's nobody to bring the Browns home. He'll be early; it isn't a par ty. And he comes in at about mid-"This Billy Carey_is a woman 40 ars old at least; she isn't a flirt. It isn't that. She has a nice husband and two grown boys, and a sort of farm, where everyone cooks and loafs about, playing dominoes or listening to the radio. It's all safe enough, so far. But I hate Ted to find so much pleasure away from home. I hate it to disturb Mother, as it does, and we all miss him. Yet I couldn't very well take Ann to these Saturday and Sunday affairs. mother all alone.

"It gives me a hopeless sort of feeling, for Ted is a very attractive man, and even if some other woman doesn't get him now, there are all the years ahead, when I simply don't feel equal to holding him, or rather winning him over and over again If I try to give an informal buffet supper here, somewhat on the order of the Billy Carey plan, it goes flat. If I go along with Ted I have : horrible feeling that they don't want me. I'm always thinking that Moth er and Ann are at home, missing me, and that I'm not making any hit with Ted by going along with him. Worrying about it is making me lose sleep, and look 10 years old er than I am, so if you have any sug gestion do please send it to me and I'll be forever grateful." Be Yourself. My suggestion, Elinor, would be that you stop trying to lead two lives. One is your own happy home life with a mother and daughter, which you are doing your best to ruin with fretted thoughts that Ted is having a better time than you are, and that you are losing Ted, and that you have to make yourself. different if you hope to hold Ted. The other life is the life you try

Hold That Man!

It really isn't the task it might seem, this "holding" your hus band, according to Kathleen Nor

1 The main reason that mer seck-"the other woman" is that wives become so tied up with home and household duties that they forget friend husband. And if they do remember him they take time to live only "half a life" with him.

A But if the wife finds herself really neglected because some "charmer" has led her husband astray, she has two avenues of escape.

d First, she can ignore and forget-all-about-this phase of her usband's 'life, that is, let' him go his way and wake up for himself some day, or she can go with him on his pleasure trips and throw herself into the spiri of things. This usually shows the erring husband that "the little wife'' can be just as charming as anyone else,

You go out to-Billy Carey's in body, but not in spirit. You watch Ted, rather than watching yourself. You secretly wish that you were back at home, where everything is comfortable, and you and Mother and Ang have so harmonious a time. Now, you'll have to make up your mind_to_do_one_thing_or_another. One way would be to abandon all thought of-Ted and his friends, as far as you are personally concerned. Rejoice that he has good times with them, and devote yourself completely to Ann and your mother-and. above all, to vourself. Get some simple, becoming frocks, do your hair-a-now-way,-read-along some directed line of study or take up a language; develop your own person ality so that everyone; and Ted-included, will notice a change in you. A brightening and quickening; a new interest in life and a new content. In other words, don't be nerve ous, suspicious, sensitive, injured shadow of Ted. Be a person yourself. That's the way you won him, and that's the way you'll win him back.

The second course, and to me the wiser_one, would be to suggest to Ted some day that you go with him when he leaves on Saturday or Sun-day. Go to Billy's," or wherever else he goes, and instead of sitting mute and unhappy-and ignored in a corner, pick out some one person in the group to whom to pay special co-operation beand it I did it would leave my attention. Be sure it is a neglected person. Find a game you two like and Theodore G. to play. Or, if it is Billy's mother, (The Man) Bilbo, who is getting-lunch ready-for-thecrowd, just make yourself quietly hatchets between useful, draw her into talk with you: forget yourself, and especially forget Ted, as much as you can.

A New Course Some years ago a quiet little neglected wife on a noisy house party | the old hatred beentered into conversation with the 12-year-old son of the house, who was equally overlooked. He had been given a rather elaborate game that he didn't understand; she got him to bring it down, and studied the rules with him. Presently they began playing it, and a casual onlooker joined them. The onlooker was the Ted type, and presently the group was gathered about watching. It wasn't much, but it carried the mousey wife through one evening.

She and the boy had planned picnic for the next day. Lonely and shy, he was wild with excite ment over the idea of a beach lunch, a fire, chops to be brolled. One or two other guests asked if they might | Vardaman. Sen. Robert F. Wagner of New York is willing to combine this with the proposed $10,000,000 - hospital construction subsidy. This hospital item: incidentally, is the only exception the President seems willing to make in cutting off direct grants. He has been much interested in the problem of small communities which apparently cannot afford to finance their own hospitals.

The Derby WHETHER you're referring to a race run at Epsom Downs in England or at Churchill Downs in Kentucky and whether you pronounce it "derby" or "darby" it adds up to the same thing, viz., every time you use that word you're perpetuating the name of a sporting English nobleman, the twelfth earl of Derby.

Away back in 1780 the earl offered a prize of 50 gold sovereigns in a sweepstakes race for threeyear-old colts. This race was called the Epsom Derby race in honor of the donor of the prize and the place where it was run, Epsom in Surrey. The famous Di-

Earl of Derby Sir C. Bunbury, won the first Epsom Derby race and it wasn't until 1787 that one of the Earl's colts, Sir Peter Teazle, came in first. More than 130 years were to pass before another Derby family entry would win again. That was Sansovino in 1924.

In the meantime this race had become the most famous in English turf history. Gradually the British horsemen dropped two words from its name and it became THE Derby. Meanwhile, too, the ldea had crossed the Atlantic and the Kentucky Derby, run-annually near Louisville, Ky., and the American Derby at Washington park in Chicago were the result. Since then we've had a variety of

THE QUESTION THAT'S DRIVING US MAD

Problem Number One new facing all Americans is "How to Behave and What to Say" to the question, "Do you think Roosevelt wants : third term?"

The question is becoming irritat ing. It is driving many people mad to the point of violence. A survey by this department shows that more people go around asking "Do you think Roosevelt wants a third term?' than any other question, including "What time is it?" and "How is business?'

An Elmer Twitchell Poll shows the following interesting standing of Ginger Rogers, who has millions of fans now, had only one in 1929; he was John L. Cass, who recorded the sound of "Primrose Path," in which she co-stars with Joel McCrea. About 10 years ago RCA made a two-reeler called "Campus Sweethearts," in New York, to try out a new wide-film process. Two movie unknowns, Ginger Rogers and Rudy Vallee, were featured. The director-didn't care for the song that Ginger had been rehearsing, but Cass insisted on recording - 'She had everything, including a swell mike voice," he says. "I knew she was star_dust-and how!"

Want to see what happens to winners of beauty contests? Claire Jumes, who was runner-up in the Miss America contest last year, is playing a bit in Paramount's "The Ghost Breakers"; she appears in a restaurant scene, wearing a floorlength dinner dress.

Ben Bernle and his lads and lassics, including Dinah Shore and Lew Lehr, are moving, After 60 weeks of Sunday broadcasts they're setting up shop in a Wednesday evening half-hour, beginning April 10. Want to bet that for the first few weeks at least half of the troups will dash to the studio on Sundays?

Cecil B. DeMille is back in character again. Now that he is directing "The Northwest Mounted Police" and goes straight from the movie studio to the radio, one where he does his Radio Theater broadcasts, he shows up in his "shooting" outfit-high boots, riding breeches, and headgear ranging from sombrero to pith helmet.

If you have a harpsichord that you don't want, get in touch with Alec Templeton. Collecting unusual musical instruments is his hobby. and he has no harpsichord and he wants one. There are only 10 of these aucient instruments in "the United States, four of them owned by friends of Templeton's in Chicago. They urged him to try one not long ago, he played his invorte satire, "Bach Goes to Town"-and now his life won't be perfect until he is presented with a harpsichord
