Funds Provided On Home Defense

Town Fathers Approropriate Sum of $800

Appropriation of $800 for use by the local home defense committee was authorized by the Township Committee Wednesday night, in line with Governor Moore's request for co-ordinated preparation among municipalities.

An additional $1,200 appropriation was also approved for expanding services of the Police department, including an extra burden of traffic and additional protection at school crossings.

Mayor Selander explained that the present budget made no provision for unexpected items of expense and pointed out that there was no urgent need to spend the money at this time, although it will be available in time of need.

Springfield has pledged itself to send five police officers, an ambulance and part of the apparatus of the Fire department to assist other municipalities, if an emergency arises, the Mayor explained.

Heads of the Mayor's Defense Committee include Alex E. Ferguson, Henry C. McMillen and Harry J. Doyle. Committeeman Trundle said there are about 20 members of the American Legion who would be willing to serve as volunteers, if called upon to act as police reserves.

An ordinance was adopted to provide macadam pavement on Linden avenue from Morris avenue to Wabeno to Meisel avenues. The total cost was estimated at $11,000, and the township's share of the WPA project will be assessed against abutting property owners.

Regional Opens At Bound Brook

As the final week of training for the season opener against Bound Brook drew to a close, Coach Bill Brown's Regional High School eleven faced the loss of two mainstays for the contest tomorrow against a formidable Central Jersey rival.

The Orange and Blue, facing Bound Brook on the gridiron for the first time, finds itself against an experienced rival. Coach Dick Martin's Somerset County team last year only once, to Cranford by 7-6 in a big upset, and defeated South River, conquerors of Union's powerful eleven. Regional fans recall how Union rolled up a 25-0 score against the Brownmen.

With Art DeBaltista, varsity end, and Stan Callahan, 210-pound guard, on the injured list as a result of scrimmages recently with Orange, their spots are being taken by Les Neville at end and Bill Van Nest. The latter a Springfield boy, saw much action in varsity play last year.

Tony Bubenias is slated for quarter and Babe Pushman, and Tom Street will be fixtures as halfbacks, with 160-pound Bobby Price as fullback. Co-captains Adams and Pushman share kicking duties and the latter, as well as Price, will probably be assigned for passing.

Alex Naggy, letterman last year as guard, who has been ill and away from practice, returned this week, and may get into the game, as will Wads Baldwin, tackle; Ralph Glenwearing, center; Johnny Sireak and Bob Snowden, Springfield colored boys, a freshman. Both are backs, and Coach Brown predicts that Snowden's speed may be used to advantage tomorrow.

Recreation Inquiries Are Sought

Desires of Residents to Determine Schedules for Activities

All residents of Springfield, regardless of age, will be asked to signify their preferences of recreational activities proposed in local schools for the Fall and Winter, members of the newly-formed Springfield Recreational Commission decided last night.

Meeting for the first time in the Town Hall to map out a comprehensive program of social and recreational events, the Commission proceeded to elect officers and discuss details with two representatives of the WPA Recreational Division, who will serve as supervisors and instructors.

Herbert E. Day was named chairman, with Mrs. William F. Bausmith as secretary. Other members include Committeeman Alfred G. Trundle, School Trustee Waldo M. Brown, Engel E. Hershey and Edward Ruby.

A tentative schedule was adopted as follows: James Caldwell School auditorium—Monday evenings. Female adults and younger groups; Tuesday, Girl Scouts; Wednesday, basketball; Thursday, Male Adult and younger groups; Friday, Boy Scouts and Chisholm School auditorium and gym—the proposed schedule follows: Monday, basketball; Tuesday, basketball; Wednesday, open; Thursday, basketball and mixed activities; Friday, Boy Scouts, and Saturday—open.

Questionnaires are being mimeographed to be distributed in all local homes and to expedite their return, may be forwarded to either grammar schools or to Mrs. Bausmith, who resides at 65 Henshaw Avenue. Readers who wish to avail themselves of the opportunity, may fill in the coupon to the left, which basically represents the same inquiry and answers, and may return to the committee to the town hall.

It is felt that the interest shown by the answers will be the principal factor in giving members of the Commission an insight into the planned activities for the season. The group will hold its next meeting October 10 in the Town Hall.

Report Given By Summit Hospital

Overlook Hospital's quarter of a century of service as a voluntary hospital for Summit and neighboring communities is commemorated in an anniversary report which is being sent by the trustees to every person who contributed to its support during 1939 and 1940. The report records a 350 per cent increase in number of patients cared for since its first year as well as expansion of many departments and introduction of new features, indicating Overlook's increasing service to the community.

The report states that the Hospital, originally established in 1908 as a private institution by Dr. William H. Lawrence, Jr., was purchased by the Overlook Hospital Association eight years later in 1914 for approximately $25,000. This sum was subscribed voluntarily by the community of Summit and neighboring towns. In 1925, a campaign for $350,000, made possible the addition of the Maternity Wing and Nurses' Home. Overlook now has a capacity of 148 beds and the land, equipment and buildings are valued at $601,092, according to the report.

Overlook Hospital holds Class A rating from the College of Physicians and Surgeons. It maintains a Training School for Nurses which received recognition and commendation by the State Supervisors last year. Management is by a staff of 171 trained workers under the direction of the Board of Trustees who are elected by members of the Overlook Hospital Association to which everyone who contributes $5.00 or more is a member.

Last year the hospital gave 41,683 days of hospital care to 3,477 patients. The ambulance responded to 380 calls; 488 babies were born, an increase of 19.6 per cent over the previous year; there were 31,162 laboratory examinations; 4,012 X-ray films were used; 2,261 new patients were treated in the clinic. Started Dental Clinic. New departments include the (Continued on Page Four)

Willkie's War Stand Jeopardizes Election Chances in Middle West

Political Observers Believe a Strong Non-Intervention Stand Would Have Been Popular; Politicians Grumble About Hatch Act.

By CARTER FIELD (Released by Western Newspaper Union.) WASHINGTON.—There is a very strong feeling, among newspaper men and other political observers here in the Middle West, that Wendell L. Willkie may have thrown away the certainty of being elected President of the United States by his stubborn refusal to take issue with President Roosevelt on the war issue.

This is not an attempt to estimate the accuracy of this belief. It is merely the recording of the obvious so far as this section of the country is concerned. Illinois is one of the great German states of the country. Its German population is huge in proportion. The same is true in an even greater extent of the neighboring state of Wisconsin, while Minnesota has more Germans than either Sweden or Norway, though not as many as all the Scandinavians put together.

It is also true that this whole neck of the woods has been undergoing newspaper bombardment for the last 21 years against the League of Nations, the World Court, and any sort of European entanglement. In Chicago the Tribune and the Herald Examiners have been particularly vicious in their propaganda along this line.

Willkie Advised To Stress 'Peace'

While "vacationing" at Colorado Springs, after the Republican convention and before his acceptance speech, Willkie was approached by any number of men and women who appreciated this racial group situation keenly. They were sure that Willkie could carry every state in the Central West by merely keeping quiet on every question which seemed to lead toward war. They wanted him to refuse to say anything more than that he wanted to keep this country out of war. They were shocked at the "aid to Britain" portions of his acceptance speech. They were horrified when he sanctioned the exchange of the destroyers.

Now they are asking: "What is the difference between Roosevelt and Willkie?" Curiously enough, the administration seems to have joined these unsuccessful advisers of Willkie in trying to drive him into the other camp. When Henry A. Wallace toured Illinois, the main theme of all his talks was thumping his nose at Adolf Hitler.

That was NOT good medicine, politically, for a state with such a heavy German population. But, apparently, the New Dealers are counting on Willkie's utterances on conscription, on the destroyers, and on aid to Britain to offset anything Wallace said, and to permit them to do a little proselyting on the other side of the street.

It is certainly not a happy thought, but there is no blinking the fact that Adolf Hitler has a lot of admirers in our Central West.

German Votes Important In Middle West States

The tremendous importance of the German and pacifist votes in this Middle-West country is not understood in the slightest degree by Wendell L. Willkie. He chose his course—to support aid to Britain, to support the exchange of the destroyers, and to support conscription—in full knowledge of the political possibilities.

The fact is that he remarked to friends BEFORE his acceptance speech that he believed he could be elected easily if he were willing to sacrifice his convictions on the international issue.

WILKIE'S WAR STAND Carter Field believes that Willkie's stand on the European war has seriously jeopardized his chances of carrying the middle-western states. He points to the large German populations there which oppose aid to Britain. Politicians of both parties are grumbling about the Hatch act, but the law hits the Republicans hardest. This raises the question whether large campaign expenditures are really necessary for victory.

As he put it, he did not HAVE to be President, but he did have to live with himself for the rest of his life.

It is argued by some that Willkie was wrong even in his estimate that to take the isolationist side would help him. Those holding this view say that he would have lost more votes in the East than he would have gained in the Central West by a pacifist stand, had he been willing to go isolationist in order to win the election.

This may be true, but the evidence seems to be against it. It is more probable that Willkie was right—that he could have been elected easily if he had taken the isolationist side.

This estimate of the situation is not pleasing to the writer, for with a good many others he shares the view that to aid Britain is postponing the day of our own trouble—that every day Britain is able to fight is one more day before we are in trouble—that if Britain is able to survive, our danger for the present will have passed.

Four Central States Necessary for Victory

The real point is that, if it is conceded as a basis for argument that this is a fairly close election—and otherwise no political NOTHING would make any difference—then there are certain states which are utterly vital to Willkie. First and foremost among these is New York. But right in second place is Illinois, with its huge German vote and close behind are Wisconsin and Minnesota, with even larger German votes.

Willkie MUST carry every one of these four states to have a CHANCE to be elected.

Roosevelt could lose any three of them, assuming the election is fairly close, and be safe.

Sentiment is these three states, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota, is very heavily AGAINST aid to Britain, if normally reliable observers are accurate this time.

This is not to say that Willkie has lost them. He may carry them all. But what appears is that he threw away, for reasons that one cannot help admire, the certainty of carrying them.

Hatch Act Hampers Politicians of Both Parties

Politicians in both parties are grumbling no end about the operations of the Hatch act in limiting campaign expenditures. The Republicans, naturally, are doing the more grumbling, because, while the Democratic workers who want to get their hands on some money are just as greedy, the big shots in the party organization know that they have a tremendous advantage. Their workers are paid out of the federal treasury and are even more zealous than workers just earning a temporary wage, since the success of the campaign will determine whether the Democrats stay on the federal pay roll or not.

One of the restrictions against which the Republicans are most bitter is that every cent spent since January 1 counts against the $3,000,000 limitation. It so happens that in the first few months of this year the Republicans paid off something like $350,000 of debt. Now obviously there was no intention on the part of congress to count anything of the sort, but when the law is perfectly clear in its wording it makes no difference who suggests it.

There are lots of Supreme court decisions showing that, including particularly the Mann white slave act, which did NOT do what congress intended, but which for various reasons has never been amended.

This is really academic, however, in view of Willkie's own decision that the campaign should not cost more than $2,500,000.

All of which brings up the question it is worth while for a political party to spend as much as has been spent in the last half dozen presidential battles. The difficulty is that it is hard for persons of college educations and cultured associations, for instance, to appreciate some of the things that politicians generally regard as absolutely essential.

But Willkie, like most intelligent observers, believes that a big fraction of the money spent for campaigns is wasted. Whether some of the cuts will actually be harmful to one may never know.

Do button change votes? That is a question which would take a lot of skillful investigation to determine. Beyond doubt there are lots of people who like to be on the winning side. Certainly there is little appeal to one's intelligence in a button, or an automobile placard, but how the county chairmen seem to love them!

The average man will not read a campaign pamphlet. That seems to go without saying. But most politicians are not willing to take a chance on eliminating them, despite the terrific printing and postage expense involved.

Star Dust

STAGE SCREEN RADIO

By VIRGINIA VALLI (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

ROSALIND RUSSELL, who considers Columbia her lucky lot, has been signed to play the feminine starring role in that studio's new comedy, "This Thing Called Love," a tale of a six months' trial marriage which goes on the rocks before it is well launched. Miss Russell will be seen as a brisk and competent insurance executive (and let's hope she won't over-act, as she sometimes does) and Melvyn Douglas, playing opposite her, will be a mining engineer.

A few years ago the beautiful Rosalind was borrowed by Columbia for the title role in "Craig's Wife," an unsympathetic part, as you'll probably recall, but in it she proved so conclusively that she could act that the picture gave her a place at the top. She scored another Columbia triumph as "Hildy Johnson" in "His Girl Friday."

Two daughters of famous football coaches are up for roles in "Little the Teller"; they are Marcia Shaugnessy and Annie Lee Stage, and were suggested by no less a personage than Maude Adams, the famous actress, who coached them at Stevens college.

The 52.6 second kiss record set by Ann Sheridan and George Brent in "Honeymoon for Three" brought reactions of all kinds from here, there and elsewhere.

A Los Angeles laundry asked for the handkerchief used by Brent to wipe off Miss Sheridan's lipstick, offering to launder it for nothing. An inventor in Indianapolis asked Brent to be the first to try his new lipstick remover. A clock manufacturer inquired what kind of watch was used to time the kiss. A New York promoter telegraphed a $500 offer to the pair if they would officially open a "kissathon" by repeating the performance.

And then a woman's club in Topeka, Kan., passed a resolution recommending that endurance kissing be banned on the ground that it is unhygienic. And countless males between the ages of 17 and 30 wrote in, volunteering to take over Brent's next assignment of that kind for nothing.

When young Betty Brewer was working with him in "Rangers of Fortune" Fred MacMurray taught her to crouch. Since then she has been rehearsing her sister and brother and a little neighbor girl in a quartet which she calls "Betty Brewer and Her Playmates," and it's no guess that an advertising agency may put them on the air this fall.

As old as radio is the annoying production problem of performers kicking the microphone stand or striking it with their hands if they make gestures while on the air. If a grating sound comes from your receiving set, that's probably the reason.

Cecil B. DeMille thought he'd solved the problem for his radio theater last year, by using a hanging microphone—but without a base stand to guide them, actors bumped their heads into the mike. (Clutons for punishment, those actors!)

Undaunted, C. B. went to work again. And this year when the cast assembled for the theater's first production, "Manhattan Melodrama," with Myrna Loy, William Powell, and, of course, Don Ameche, they found that a circular guard rail had been built under the mike. That suited them perfectly—they could rest their scripts on it.

ODDS AND ENDS "Most Inspirational Extra of the Year" is the title bestowed on Doris Davenport by the Hollywood Studio Club, because she rose from the extra ranks to the feminine lead in "The Westerner." Douglas Fairbanks Jr. is vacationing at his farm in Virginia. Susanna Foster, starlet of Paramount's "There's Magic in Music," is all ready to leave for a vacation in Key West, when her dog, Rex, was struck by an automobile. She swapped her trunk and abandoned her plans, to stay at home until Rex recovered.

Listening Posts Set Up by U. S.

To Watch French Holdings In Atlantic for Moves By Germany.

WASHINGTON.—Diplomatic lookouts for the United States government will be established at Dakar, French West-Africa, a "jumping-off place" for planes flying from Europe to South America, and at St. Pierre-Miquelon, a French possession off the coast of Canada.

This was disclosed in a state department announcement recently. The announcement said that the consulate at Dakar, which was closed in 1931 as part of an economy drive, would be reopened as soon as Thomas C. Wasson of Newark could arrive from Vigo, Spain, to take charge.

Likewise, it was said, the consulate at St. Pierre-Miquelon, which was closed only last January for lack of business, would be reopened as quickly as Maurice Pasquet of New York reached there from Darren, Manchuria, where he has been vice consul.

Link to Hemisphere Defense. Dakar is the nearest point on the African coast to South America. Planes of the French transatlantic air service, now inoperative, normally hop off there.

St. Pierre-Miquelon is a possible subject for action by the American republics under the agreements reached recently at Havana. These provided for establishment of provisional administrations in any foreign possessions in this hemisphere which were threatened with a change of sovereignty.

Summer Welles, undersecretary of state, has said that if France became a Fascist dependency of Germany in any foreign possessions which were in this hemisphere, it would create an emergency in this hemisphere requiring action under the Havana agreements.

Effects of German Conquest. The reopening of consulates at St. Pierre-Miquelon and Dakar fits into a pattern which has been developing ever since the Germans invaded Denmark.

Late in April, this government established a consulate in Iceland.

Fort Douglas, Historic

SALT LAKE CITY.—When the Thirty-ninth Infantry leaves Salt Lake City's historic Fort Douglas for a new assignment in the South, a military occupation begun in bitterness and bloodshed will have ended.

Although the fort is to be utilized as an air base, with an expected 1,500 men to be quartered there, no more infantry troops will be quartered there.

The fort was founded in the early days of Salt Lake City, and against the wishes of the Mormon pioneers. Troops on the then state of Deseret was interpreted as an act of virtual warfare.

For several years the city existed in what amounted to a state of siege, and it was not until the end of the Civil war that the pioneer colony—acting on the orders of President Brigham Young—made its peace with the soldiery.

Duke of Windsor Becomes Governor of Bahamas

"We deeply appreciate the honor and distinction which his majesty, the king, has conferred upon the Bahamas in appointing your royal highness to be governor of this ancient and loyal colony," says W. K. Moore, president of the Bahaman legislative council, as he welcomes the duke of Windsor on behalf of the islanders. The scene is the Bahaman legislative chamber in Nassau, Bahamas. The duchess of Windsor is on the duke's left.

ARMY 105,000 SHORT OF MAXIMUM ENLISTMENTS FIXED

WASHINGTON.—The army must recruit about 105,000 men in order to attain its authorized maximum actual strength of 375,000 men, the actual total as of today being about 270,000. An increase of about 85,000 is reported since June 30, 1939, when the total was 175,000 men, or about 45,000 under the then authorized strength of 210,000.

Roosevelt on September 1 issued a limited emergency proclamation authorizing an increase of the regular army's enlisted strength to 237,000 men, a goal that was attained in a comparatively short period. When the army appropriation bill for the fiscal year 1941 was passed, it carried a provision increasing the enlisted strength to 280,000 men. In the first supplementary appropriation act congress again increased the au-

Blitzkrieg Makes Way for Cow

A very effective tank-stopper is "Carrie," the cow. She calmly moseys across the road in front of a tank, halting the metal juggernaut dead in its tracks. But this is only practice; if it were a real "blitz," bossy would now be a hamburger. The incident occurred at Pine Plains in upper New York state, where guardsmen and regular army troops held maneuvers.

GRANNY DISCOVERS OLD MAN COYOTE'S SECRET

GRANNY FOX listened to the great voice of Bowser the Hound as it rolled across the Green Meadows and through the Green Forest and she scowled. "What has that careless scamp of a Reddy been doing now?" she grumbled. "I've warned him and warned him to keep away from Farmer Brown's ducks and chickens while it is easy to get enough to eat down on the Green Meadows and here in the Green Forest. I thought he had learned his lesson, but it seems that he hasn't, for as surely as I am sitting here this blessed minute that good for nothing dog is chasing him now. It isn't the hunting season yet and we ought to be left in peace while the weather is warm. It must be that Reddy has been after these chickens in spite of all I have said."

"What have you been doing now?" she demanded sharply.

Meanwhile poor Reddy was puffing and blowing as he tried to fool Bowser the Hound and get him so mixed up that he couldn't follow Reddy's track any further. At last he succeeded and then, so winded and tired that he could hardly walk, he joined old Granny Fox. He panted for breath as he dropped on the ground at her feet. You see, he was so fat and had done so little running that he was in no condition to make such a long, hard run as he had had to. Sparks of anger flashed from Granny's eyes as she looked at him. "What have you been doing now?" she demanded sharply.

"Nothing," panted Reddy. "I haven't done a thing."

"Don't tell me that!" snapped Granny. "Farmer Brown's Boy doesn't get his gun out for nothing at this time of year, and I saw him with it hiding behind the old stone wall where he thought you would cross. It is a lucky thing for you, Reddy Fox, that you didn't try to cross there. Now what have you been doing? Haven't I warned you to leave those ducks and chickens alone? I wonder if you ever will get any Fox sense into that silly head of yours!"

Poor Reddy! It was bad enough to have to run until he was out of breath and tired enough to drop, and then to be blamed for something he hadn't done! It was too much.

"I haven't been near those chickens and ducks!" he snapped. "It's long since I've tasted one that I've almost forgotten what they taste like. I haven't been doing anything. That pesky dog found me asleep on my sunning bank and I waked up just in time. That's all I know about it."

Granny asked a few questions and Reddy told her about his dream and how it had turned from a beautiful one into a bad one, and then he had waked up just in time to run for his life. Reddy was so much in earnest that Granny just had to believe him.

"That's different," said she. "It is very clear to me that Bowser the Hound was led to your sunning bank by somebody who knew that you were there. You stay right here until I come back."

With this old Granny Fox slipped away through the Green Forest. Straight through the Green Forest and down across the Green Meadows she trotted. As she drew near

Bedbug Found Cause Of Sleeping Sickness

WASHINGTON.—Discovery of a "bedbug" which insures sound sleep—but the wrong kind—was reported by the public health service.

The bug, which is the "grandfather" of all bedbugs because it is several times larger than the ordinary insects, carries the germ of sleeping sickness from man to man and from animals to men, said Dr. Arzroony Packchianian, of the National Institute of Health.

the far corner of the Green Meadows where Old Man Coyote's home is his crawled on her stomach so as not to be seen, and she took the greatest care not to make the least bit of noise. By and by she reached a place where she could see Old Man Coyote's home. There he lay stretched out taking a nap, and near him were two or three bones which Granny knew to be chicken bones.

"I thought as much!" said Granny to herself. "He's been stealing chickens and is making Farmer Brown's Boy believe that it is Reddy or me. We'll see about this. You may be smart, Mr. Coyote, but these are other's—Yes, sir, there are others!"

Gall Bladder Often Cause Of 'The Blues'

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

A MAN of thirty-five, after doing excellent work at one branch of his organization, was notified that he was being transferred to a larger branch with an increase of salary. To make sure that everything would be in the best of order for the man taking over his present situation, he worked day and night, regardless of any regularity of eating or sleeping.

As the day approached he found himself worrying about his fitness for the promotion. He became blue and discouraged and was about to turn down the promotion. Then he consulted his physician.

The physician found that there was nothing abnormal except a slight jaundice of the skin. He learned from the patient that he had been working hard to get things in order, had been irregular in his meals, eating much pastry at a neighboring restaurant as he hadn't time to go home for lunch or dinner. He was afraid the new position would be too much for him.

Tension a Prime Cause. The physician explained that keeping his mind tensed kept his body tensed and interfered with the proper working of stomach, liver, gall bladder and intestinal movement or action, and that bile, instead of flowing freely into the intestine, was backing up into the stomach and into the blood. Also, the gall bladder was not emptying its thick bile often enough. Accordingly, what is known as the dyspepsia was made and it was found that the liver was not filtering its poisons out promptly and that the gall bladder took about twice as long to empty (after a fat meal) as it should normally.

Some bending exercises, the use of bile, a course of Epsom salts, an enema every week, together with four small meals daily, restored the liver to normal, which, together with a more rapid emptying of the gall bladder, removed the patient's dread and fear. He entered into his new work with enthusiasm.

Do not blame your blues, your lack of courage, your fear of work, upon any mental overwork or disturbance. Very often if you get your liver and gall bladder working properly, these symptoms will disappear.

Infection Is Chief Cause of Arthritis

IF AN attack of rheumatism or arthritis follows exposure to cold or a fall or other injury, rest in bed is the usual treatment, with heat in various forms applied to the joint.

Now, the fact that there has been exposure to coldness and dampness or that there has been some injury does not mean that the coldness and dampness or the injury is the cause of the arthritis. What it usually does mean is that there is already trouble—infection—present in the system, and the cold or injury brings the infection to the one spot—muscles or joints. Thus the cold or injury locates or makes local the condition.

The tissues in these particular places that have been exposed to cold or injury—muscles and joints—appear to lose some of their power to resist infections, and so the pain, stiffness, swelling and other symptoms occur.

Cases Usually of Long Standing

The first thing to remember is that the infection causing the arthritis has been in the system for a long time—likely for years—but the resistance to it has been strong enough to prevent symptoms until the cold or injury (or perhaps emotional disturbance) has lowered the resistance of these tissues and the infection gets the upper hand.

With this thought in mind a search should be first made for the infection and if found it should, whenever possible, be removed so that further damage to joint and surrounding tissues will be prevented. While the search has been exposed, infection is being made treatment in the form of rest, heat (and later massage) and reduction of starch foods should be given.

QUESTION BOX

Q.—Is Whitfield's ointment, used in severe cases of ringworm of the feet, a proprietary medicine?

A.—No. It is a prescription of a British skin specialist.

GIVING THANKS — FOR FREEDOM
The approaching Presidential election may well prove one of the most vital in the long history of this republic, and one thing, perhaps more than any other, stands out at this time. Within the memory of the present generation, the emphasis has always been on the rights of Americans under the Constitution and the opportunities enjoyed by free men under a democratic form of government. It was not the ideal relationship but in a fairly stable world it was, perhaps, adequate.

But to-day the world is far from stable, and the relationship between Americans and their country which was satisfactory before, will no longer serve under changing conditions. The mere fact that the government of this country has just adopted the first peacetime draft in the nation's history, should suggest the significance of the changing times. It also suggests that Americans will respond to the call when the occasion demands it, but unfortunately it requires a situation approaching a national emergency to bring them out of their lethargy.

In connection with the draft, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt last week proposed that service to the nation be not confined to military training, but that some effort should be demanded of every person who enjoys the benefits of this form of government. In other words, the time has really come when the privileges received under this form of government must be balanced by a realization of the duties and responsibilities that go with them. The day for taking our precious freedom for granted is past, and if we want it bad enough to keep it, all of us will have to start doing something about it, and not leave the doing to the other fellow.

Therefore, on the eve of this important Presidential election, the right and privilege, as well as the duty and responsibility of voting should take the form of a spiritual service of thanksgiving. Every able-bodied citizen on November 5 next should march to the polls as an expression of his devout thanks that in one spot in an ailing world, the free institutions of men still thrive with vigor.

It is not doing anyone a favor to vote. It is being a patriotic American citizen, alive to the threat to this form of government. ARE YOU REGISTERED?

Hospital Report

Dental Clinic, started in 1938. Its work is limited to extractions and dental surgery. There is a change in the method of keeping patients' records. Since January 1, 1939, 29,980 charts have been filed. Charts of previous years are stored in the basement. From this time on, all charts will be kept in individual folders for greater accessibility, according to the report.

Many improvements and addition have been made to equipment and apparatus. Telephone service has been improved with the addition of a sixth trunk line. Expensive and more effective serums and vaccines are constantly replacing the old, inexpensive remedies, and instruments and equipment are becoming more elaborate. Increase is shown in the use of oxygen, blood transfusions and glucose solutions. While the increase in patients shows progress of the Hospital, the reports by Walter O. Heath, president, and Charles S. Yawger, chairman of the Management Committee, stress the fact that this does not spell greater profit to the Hospital as might be supposed. If the facts were not understood. In 1939, $50,000 in free service had to be given to those unable to pay the full cost of their care. When the number of patients using the Hospital numbered about one half of the present number, the amount of money received by the Hospital from public subscriptions was about twice what it is now.

In 1939, 24 per cent of the costs of operation had to be made up by public subscriptions, from County and Municipal funds, from investments and other sources. Only 7 per cent of this was received in direct subscriptions from the public which is not sufficient. Furthermore the hospital is approaching a point where it will be obliged to refuse patients because of no room for them, so the problem of enlargement is imminent.

the Hercules Poirot, a celebrated detective, faces one of the most difficult tasks of his brilliant career. A young woman has been murdered by poison and when the case came to trial the defense prepared a fight. What upset the case and led to a last minute climax was one little lie which made Poirot think. From this thought came action and the unravelling of a well concealed plot.

30,000 ON THE HOOF by Zane Grey. Another tale of adventure and romance by this author of stories of the old West. Here is the story of a courageous man and his wife who build a cabin in Arizona and try to make a living from the land. Germany Continues Pounding Britain As Autumn Stormy Season Arrives; Italy Reports Deep Drives Into Egypt; Oct. 16 Set as Draft Registration Day

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

THE WAR:

Britain Waits

While self-propelled barges were poised at French channel ports, waiting to carry German soldiers on an invasion of England, Prime Minister Churchill called a secret session of parliament.

Tides were favorable for the attempt by sea. London was being bombed day and night.

Big guns were shelling the British capital from the French coast.

Buckingham palace, home of the king, was bombed three times in LONDON, ENGLAND—That classic crack by former Premier Chamberlain that the Nazis had "missed the bus" (meaning they had failed in their conquest attempts) is recalled to mind by this one in London street, unscathed by a German bomb in one of the raids on the British capital. No one was hurt says the censor, as the driver, conductor and passengers had taken shelter in a nearby refuge.

Five days. Craters appeared along the Strand, in Fleet and Bond streets, in Leicester and Berkeley Squares, houses in fashionable Piccadilly and the slums of Cheapside were demolished, the bank of England was hit by airplanes, the houses of parliament did not go untouched, subways and railroad yards were damaged. In 10 days, 2,000 were killed and 8,000 injured in London alone.

Berlin radios warned that London could choose between the fate of pulverized Warsaw or surrendered Paris. The British replied that the Germans' hope was to force king and government to leave the city; thus gaining a moral victory. They said there would be no evacuation of the capital. They warned citizens, however, that Hitler's attempt at invasion might come "within a few hours" and that only Hitler knew when the signal would be given.

In Nazi Territory

The Germans faced handicaps, however. While their flying was not stopped by heavy fogs, gales in the channel made shipping perilous. And British fliers were not forced out of the air. They plowed the fields of Nazi armies at Schiphol and Ypenburg in The Netherlands, around Calais, Dunkerque, Abbeville and Antwerp. They dropped calling cards in congested Berlin, weeded out gun emplacements along the channel near Boulogne, sunk barges on the coast, wrecked oil tanks and rail sidings through German areas, hit the Bosch spark-plug factory at Stuttgart, docks at Hamburg and ammunition dumps in the Black Forest.

But throughout the British were fighting against superior odds.

Egypt In the Near East the British were pressed by Italian armies which invaded Egypt and pushed on to vital oases. There was no declaration of war, Egypt, which had threatened to join the British if the Italians crossed the border, showed no inclination to resist at once.

The Italians captured Sidi Barrani, 80 miles from the Lybian border on the fourth day. Sidi Barrani is only 180 miles from Alexandria, one of the main British strongholds, and 350 miles from the Suez canal.

By that time, the British had revealed the strategy of their campaign. With only 230,000 troops, 500 planes and 1,000 armored cars they were hopelessly outnumbered. Plan was to retreat to a shorter line, thus extending the Italian forces before engaging in a major battle.

REGISTRATION:

Oct. 16 the Day

October 16 will see 16,500,000 young Americans between the ages of 21 and 38 march to polling places and register for the first peacetime draft in the nation's history. The date was set by President Roosevelt when he signed the measure over which congress debated more than three months.

Registration local boards—it is intended to have about 6,500—will shuffle the cards and give each man a number. Then a series of numbers will be drawn in Washington by lot. When the numbers are drawn each man with a corresponding number in a local board's file will be put down for service in that sequence.

Questionnaires will be sent to each man in the order in which their numbers were drawn, asking about dependents, physical disabilities, etc. On the basis of this information each man will be classified as follows: Class 1, available for immediate services; class 2, service deferred because due to employment in necessary defense industry; class 3, service deferred because of dependents; class 4, service deferred by law—judges, legislators, etc.

Meanwhile, Washington will decide on a quota for each district, based on population and the number of men from the area already in Hundreds of young National Guardsmen in 26 states who are meeting are busy engaged in getting their first taste of duty in federal service. Here are some of the boys learning the ins and outs of machine guns at the 1st Regiment armory in New York.

When draftees arrive in camp, they will be given another examination, physical and mental. Those not measuring up to top notch will be placed in separate sections for physical care.

Base pay will be $21 a month for the first four months and $30 a month after that. Service will be for one year, but may be extended by the President in case of emergency.

First Call Nov. 15 The first cadre of 75,000 will be called to camps about November 15. Successive calls for about 100,000 men each will bring about 400,000 into training by January 1. On that date the army expects to have 1,000,000 men under arms, including regular troops and National Guardsmen.

On the same day that the draft measure was signed, 60,000 National Guardsmen in 26 states reported to their armories for active service which will extend for a year, and the President gave orders to call out an additional 35,700 on October 15.

Swinging full tilt into the defense program, Washington also: Heard President Roosevelt ask congress for an appropriation of $1,000,000,000 to defray expenses of the first year of training of draftees. Saw President Roosevelt sign a $5,350,000,000 supplementary defense appropriation. Awarded 21 aviation manufacturers orders to prepare for construction of 14,000 planes, at the rate of 900 a month. This production rate will be doubled within a year.

In the Headlines

Bankrupt—Perry county, in eastern Kentucky, filed a petition in bankruptcy in the federal court. It is believed the first county in the nation to take such action.

Steel—Ingot production in August amounted to 6,033,677 tons. It was the third largest in industrial history.

Wheat—Grain experts in Chicago predicted the Canadian spring wheat surplus at 598,000,000 bushels, second largest on record.

Education—Fear that defense jobs and conscription would cut into college enrollments was dispelled when fall enrollments showed a normal figure. University of California was one of the few below last year, the drop being 700.

Living Costs—Government survey, aided by private commodity experts, indicates cost of food is not likely to rise much for the balance of this year. In communities swamped with defense contracts, rents will rise. Over-all costs may go up 2 to 5 per cent by spring.

POLITICS:

Democratic

President Roosevelt made the first official speech of the campaign when he appeared before the Teamsters' union convention in the D. A. R.'s Constitution hall in Washington. He told them the gains of collective bargaining, maximum hours and minimum wages, and social security must be maintained. He said his "one supreme determination" was to keep war away from these shores.

Republican

Wendell Willkie grew hoarse in a single day of receptions in Chicago, reported unquailed since Lindbergh rode through the Loop. The official opening of his 15-day tour designed for the winning of the West was in Coffeyville, Kan., where he once taught school. From there he went on to Oklahoma, Texas, and a four-day campaign in California, the greatest attention any Republican presidential candidate ever has given that state.

Willkie's speeches raised the issue of the dictatorship of a third term. He said Roosevelt was the godfather of the unhappy Munich conference, and declared if President Roosevelt should be re-elected "you will be serving under an American totalitarian government before the third term is over."

DEATH:

The Speaker

William B. Bankhead, third speaker of the house under the new constitution, died in office, the victim of overwork. The speaker exerted himself in active days and tedious nights in the extended congressional session.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT is pictured here leaving the church in Jasper, Alabama, after attending the funeral services for Speaker William B. Bankhead. An army aide attached to the White House is pictured with him.

When he agreed to speak at a Baltimore political rally his physician protested. "But before he could speak a blood vessel ruptured in his abdomen. He died four days later. Mr. Bankhead, father of actress Tallulah Bankhead, was buried in his home town of Jasper, Ala. President Roosevelt attended the ceremonies.

Sam Rayburn, who entered congress in 1913 after being speaker of the Texas house of representatives at the age of 31, was named fourth speaker under President Roosevelt.

MISCELLANY:

Hundreds of families whose wago earners have been imported to Philadelphia for employment in the navy yard are living in automobile trailers just outside the gates. Conditions brought a protest from nearby housewives who told the city council that lack of proper sanitation was a health menace. Similar conditions are reported in other defense industry towns, including Bremerton, Wash., Newport, R. I., and Mare Island, Calif.

One of the first acts of the new postmaster general, Frank C. Walker, was to authorize three new stamp issues, carrying out a national defense motif. First day sale in Washington October 12. A one-cent stamp will depict the farmer and laborer, the two-cent the army and navy, and the three-cent security, education and conservation. A campaign to turn over some of the army's "flying fortresses" planes to England is expected in Washington. Reason given will be to test out the super-American air fighter under combat conditions.

Who's a Copycat? Everybody!

Man is, under the skin, and sometimes on top of it, remarkably akin to the lower animals. His sense of self-preservation is just as acute. So are his appetites and a great many of his emotions. The following series of photos is not intended to poke fun at anyone, but is designed merely to draw a few parallels. In some of the cases portrayed the subjects have deliberately copied denizens of the lower animal kingdom. In others the similarity is purely accidental. We could have drawn more deadly parallels, but our aim is a pleasing series and nothing would be gained by introducing unpleasantness. There is too much of that in the headlines.

VAMPIRE... In the upper picture we have a giant fruit bat, popularly called the vampire bat through a belief that it sucks human blood. It is not pretty. The maid in the lower picture suggests a bat in flight—making a pretty picture. Her cloak is designed to act as a sail on a ski run. Her name, Madeline O'Reilly, of New York. She was photographed at North Conway, New Hampshire.

NOSY... This monkey gets his name from his extraordinary proboscis. Nature gave it to him for a reason—and the reason was not to make people laugh. SCHNOZZOLA... Jimmy Durante, famed stage and screen comedian, found that his nose is his fortune. The garland is Hawaiian leis.

If we don't pay too much attention to the grizzly bear's terrible claws we manage to feel sorry for him; with his nose pressed pathetically against the bars pining for freedom. COUNTERPART... But we cannot pity this human counterpart of the bear, glaring through the bars of his cell, on charge of killing a four-year-old girl through criminal attack.

GRACE... Among the most graceful of living things is the swan... on the water. On land it is ungainly. Then, too, its soft and beautiful looks hide a fierce and fighting heart. And here is Sally Rand in her impersonation of a swan. Miss Rand has danced with fans, bubbles and just nothing, but her dance of the swan is a performance of beauty.

This baby lion is pleasant... but just wait! And so with the boy. Will that grand smile hold out through life, or become a snarl?

Patriotism Is Sweeping U. S.

Broad Upsurge of National Consciousness Spreads Over Nation.

WASHINGTON.—A great wave of patriotism is sweeping the United States. The popularity of "God Bless America" and patriotic jewelry, the outbursts of "anti-fifth column" activity and a thousand other scattered phenomena are part, a survey by the Associated Press indicated, of a general upsurge of national consciousness.

"The Star-Spangled Banner" and "God Bless America" are newly resounding at nearly every public assembly from coast to coast. Badges, window stickers and auto emblems everywhere are emblazoning mottoes like "I Love America," "Vote and Thank God That You Can," "We Are Glad We Are American," and "Our Flag Right or Wrong."

The patriotic wave is running in four conspicuous channels—simple expressions of national loyalty, widespread moves for national defense, newborn vigilance against foreign subversive activities, and a heightened consciousness of the institution of citizenship.

Capacity Demand. Flag makers in New Jersey, Philadelphia, Chicago, the Southwest and on the Pacific coast report almost unanimously unprecedented capacity demand. Homes, business buildings and institutions throughout the land which heretofore displayed the flag only on holidays now are flying it every day.

A Pottsville, Pa., coal miner has his workers salute the flag each day before they go down the shafts. A Pittsburgh judge wrote a special tribute to the flag and reads it before each court session.

In another Pittsburgh court room, "The Star-Spangled Banner" is played on a phonograph daily. At the Waynesburg, Pa., county fair the pledge to the flag was recited each day by every person on the grounds.

In Los Angeles courts, the salute to the flag has replaced the traditional legal prayer of "Oyez, oyez." Meaningful Incidents. The intensity of feeling is evidenced by meaningful incidents all over the country.

In Galveston, Texas, a man who yelled "Hurrah for Hitler!" was fined $200 for starting a disturbance. A Maryland prison guard was discharged for unpatriotic talk.

A Philadelphia laborer who hit a colleague with a shovel for criticizing the United States was upheld by the court. The new national sentiment appears to be basically a spontaneous, objective expression of "pro-Americanism" rather than inspired international partisanship or organized sentiment on foreign policy.

So far, beyond general tightening of alien regulations, there have been few indications of the "anti-hyphen" sentiment of World war days. New Jersey passed an anti-foreign uniform law aimed at the German-American band.

But groups of foreign extraction all over the country affirmed their loyalty to the United States as soon as any question arose. Some citizens of German inheritance in Annapolis, Md., put advertisements in the newspapers avowing their patriotism.

Local defense measures, although conspicuously unco-ordinated, have been enthusiastic and widespread.

Private Airline to Train

850 U. S. Cadets to Fly

WASHINGTON.—The war department announced an arrangement with Pan American Airways system whereby that company would train 850 cadets in long-range aerial navigation during the next 14 months.

The first class of about 50 cadets, began training today in Miami, Fla., and will be graduated November 2 after an intensive 12-week course. The department said that Pan American Airways, which maintains a vast network of foreign lines, will furnish the instructors and all training facilities on a non-profit contract basis.

Flag Sales Are Boosted

As Patriotism Increases

KANSAS CITY, MO.—Take it from J. A. Tabery, there has been a considerable increase in America's patriotic fervor. He has sold American flags for many years and always his supply from eastern manufacturers has been sufficient to meet the demand until recently. Now the demand has grown so that Tabery has started making his own flags.

Ring, Lost 32 Years, Plowed Up Farm

JOHNSTOWN, PA.—Thirty-two years ago, the late Mrs. Lucy Pearl Miller lost her wedding ring on a farm on Coon ridge, Upper Yoder township. The band has just been found in ground cultivated for the last three years by Mrs. Frank Mosholder, who plans to send it to Mrs. Miller's husband, Harry, a resident of Empire, Calif.

By BEATRICE WHITNEY STRAIGHT (Guest conductor for L. L. Stevenson.)

I love New York for its beauty. I hate it for its brutality. Unlike many New Yorkers, I don't think of it as a grand and exciting place to live. To me, it is a place to come to on a boat, through the dawn, when skyscrapers loom through the early mist. Then it is a city of promise. But it is not a place to linger long. It is a city to taste and be off to leave across a bridge, stopping to look back at the resplendent, magnificent skyline, listening to catch its rhythmic, subdued roar. New York at distance is wonderful—especially at dawn or dusk; the shadowy outlines of its buildings dotted by lights that blink off and on; its rivers, with their ferryboats, and pleasure ships, and wharfs, and sound, and smoke; its bridges, the most beautiful in the world, swinging so eagerly and so gracefully onto the island, approached by a lacework of parkways.

Although born here, I do not, like most native New Yorkers, have a composite picture of the city that merges the impressions of various ages. I left here when I was 11 and I have a picture of the city in which my childhood was spent. Later, I came back for a year; and I have a picture of the city in which I was a busy and serious young student. Away again, and now back to live outside of the city; and I have pictures of a New York to which I dash on hurried visits and for rushed appointments. Usually, they are in connection with the Chekhov Theater studio at Ridgefield, Conn., where I live and work as assistant director, as a teacher of talented young drama students, as an actress; the most thrilling and, to me, the most important experience of my life.

This New York offers no leisure hours to wander as one pleases. New York can become, threatens to become, a horror—until one stumbles upon some wonderful person—some funny little shop-oh-a specialist in wigs, or costumes, or shoes; or some of the many things needed for stage productions—may be a secondhand shop full of marvelous things, hard to tear one's self away from; an auction sale; a quaint shop in Chinatown or on the Bowery.

Except on Sundays. Then it's a different New York. New York on a Sunday or a holiday is a city of great dignity, of peace, calm and beauty. One can walk instead of run. One can choose what one will do, and do it slowly. One can enjoy the moments instead of longing for the end.

In the winter, though New York is at its best. The lights are brilliant in the cold. The keen air is fresh and clean. Plays, music, movement—yes, the winter is its time.

And the early spring. In Central park, the tulip trees; the many nurses and the children; the dogs and their funny masters, so incongruous; foreign old men with their tiny toy boats on the round pond in the park, their pride in the beautifully fashioned little ships that collide or pass so gracefully in the light.

The drive along the Hudson river, on the edge of the island, looking over to the busy Jersey shore and the towering Palisades, is as fantastically lovely as the views from the bridges.

New York today differs from the picture that lingers from my childhood—a city that held the magic of flying spears and disappearing ladies at the opera; red and yellow whirligigs that whistled in the wind; the man who sold the colored balloons, the circus, roller-skating and fighting with my brother.

Nor is it the New York of my student days. I loved the evening stillness of the park. I loved the trolleys, their slow, steady, people's faces; the crooked little streets of Greenwich village; restaurants, a different country each night, sitting and talking and relaxing after meals; the elevated looking into people's homes, imagining the hundreds of lives being lived behind those walls.

New York's beauty makes me almost forget the brutality that tinges my love with hate. (Bell Syndicate—WNU Service.)

Patching Concrete.
QUESTION: What is the best method of reuniting and mending breakoffs and cracks in cement sidewalks and driveways?
ANSWER: A crack should be cut out with a cold chisel to make room for the patch. The cut should be made wider at the bottom than on the surface, so that in hardening the patch will lock itself in. The patching material should be one part portland cement and three parts sand, with only enough water to be workable. Before patching, the old concrete should be soaked with water. The patch should be kept wet for several days for thorough curing. Where appearance is not important, cracks can be filled with roofing cement, which is most easily applied by melting and pouring in.

Noisy Water Pipes

By ROGER B. WHITMAN

QUESTION: There is always air in our water pipes, which are under city pressure. It does no harm, but I wonder if it has something to do with the loud noise we always get when drawing water. The noise can be heard through the house and is annoying.

ANSWER: If the air is from high pressure or from pumping, your neighbors are having the same trouble, and the local plumbers are so familiar with it that any one of them could put in a reducing valve or an air separator that will stop the noise. If your neighbors are not having the trouble, the reason is in your own house, and is likely to be from loose and worn washers in the faucets. This should be looked into.

Rocking Chair

By ROGER B. WHITMAN

QUESTION: In removing rockers from a chair should they be knocked off or sawed off? Should the legs be all the same length from the bottom of the seat at the corners? Would the chair then be too low for a "slipper" chair?

ANSWER: Knocking the rockers off may damage the legs of the chair. Sawing them off is safer. After the rockers are off, further cutting may be necessary to get the legs of the chair to set squarely on the floor. Make your measurements carefully. The front legs of the average chair are a trifle longer than those in the back (one-quarter to one-half inch.) Whether or not the chair will be too low will depend on the present height.

Retaining Wall

By ROGER B. WHITMAN

QUESTION: How can I build a rock retaining wall through which soil will not wash away? Our ground is on two levels with about a two-foot drop. Is a dry wall practical?

ANSWER: A rock wall laid up dry is entirely practical, and has the advantage of allowing the seepage of water through it; without seepage dammed-up water will make trouble. The wall must go deep enough into the ground to be below the frost level and have sufficient strength to resist the pressure of the earth behind it. Do not skimp on dimensions.

Vacuum Cleaner on Wasps

By ROGER B. WHITMAN

A correspondent describes his method for disposing of his attic wasps with his vacuum cleaner. "On a day when they were out of their nests and congregated in the sunshine—a wide-mouthed tool—was applied, and the wasps were instantly drawn in. This was easy, and after they were all picked up, moth gas was drawn into the cleaner until the noise subsided. The dust chamber was then emptied into a bucket of boiling water."

Stained Shingles

By ROGER B. WHITMAN

QUESTION: Please advise the cause of dark spots like oil or grease on shingles. They were finished with a fine quality stain; the same quality as the original stain. The spots appear on the side walls subjected to the hot summer sun's rays.

ANSWER: It is possible the spots are caused by excess of oil in the wood being drawn to the surface. Try wiping the spots with turpentine. This may remove the grease or oil spots.

Round Table

By ROGER B. WHITMAN

QUESTION: Where can I get the dimensions for a portable round table, to seat 10 persons, the kind of table used in hotels?

ANSWER: A space of 2 feet is allowed per person, which would make the diameter of such a table about 64 feet. Height of the table top is 2 feet 6 inches, while the height of the knee space is 2 feet 1 inch.

Cleaning Furniture

By ROGER B. WHITMAN

QUESTION: How can spots and dirt be removed from overstuffed furniture?

ANSWER: If the color of the upholstery material is fast, you can do the job with an ammonia preparation to be had at a department store. Directions for use are on the label. If the material is not fast, dry cleaning will be needed.
