

Further support in the campaign of the SUN that bagatelle or pin ball machines in Springfield be actively controlled by the Township Committee instead of the present "hands off" policy adopted by the local townfathers, was contained in developments of the last few days.

The Essex County Grand Jury on Wednesday urged drastic regulation of the machines and further investigation to determine whether they are "commonly used for gambling." As a result, Public Safety Director Keenan of Newark, whose actions against bagatelle were mentioned in a SUN editorial of several weeks ago, has again insisted on an opinion from Corporation Counsel Schroeder of Newark on whether he can ban bagatelle machines in Newark.

The Grand Jury also requested a "thorough investigation" of Local 1113, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (A. F. of L.) "as to its legal scope, composition, and police or criminal records, if any, of its staff, officials or otherwise." The union claims jurisdiction over workers who install the electrically-operated machines.

Readers will recall that several months ago, the Township Committee, after one of its infrequent tirades against bagatelle, temporarily halted proposed steps to curb pin ball machines in town, after protests were received from Stewart A. Stone, the business agent of the local.

This week's Grand Jury presentation indicted Mr. Stone on a charge of agreeing to accept $150 from an operator in return for help in getting back a bagatelle location lost to a competitor.

In summarizing its recommendations, the Essex Grand Jury proposed that:

Municipal police rigidly enforce gambling statutes and prosecute persons using bagatelle machines for gambling purposes.

Bar the devices from neighborhoods of public and private schools and municipal playgrounds.

Eliminate penny machines.

Prohibit persons under 21 from using the machines.

It should be clear to the Township Committee, in whose sole power such control and responsibility for action rests, that all this expression against what the majority of our citizens terms illegitimate business, merits consideration at this time.

Without any regulations, Springfield police cannot prosecute persons using bagatelle for gambling. It cannot bar machines from certain places near schools and playgrounds, it cannot eliminate penny machines although we don't have any at present in the township and lastly, any school boy or youth under 21 is within his legal rights to play in Springfield, in the absence of local restrictions.

Mrs. A. Townley Stoneman

Funeral services were held Tuesday evening at Young's Funeral Home, 149 Main street, Millburn for Mrs. Anna Townley Stoneman of Murray Hill.

Mrs. Stoneman was born in Millburn 70 years ago, the daughter of the late David and Mary B. Townley. She is survived by two sons, a daughter and a brother, Charles E. Townley of Elizabeth who formerly lived in town. She is also survived by a niece, Mrs. Eugene J. McDonough of Springfield. Burial was in Restland Memorial Park, Hanover.

IN NORTH CAROLINA

FORT DIX—Lawrence G. Smith of Springfield who was recently inducted into the Army, left Fort Dix last Thursday by special train for Camp Davis, North Carolina, where he will be assigned to the newly formed Barrage Balloon Squadron for training.

15th Anniversary Marked By Union

Mrs. Edwin D. Pannell of 318 Main street was re-elected president of the local W. C. T. U. on Tuesday afternoon at her home, which marked the final meeting of the season. Other officers elected were: Vice-president, Mrs. Raymond Gogel; secretary, Mrs. Mark M. Brady, and treasurer, Mrs. Fred Brown. Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Brown. A beautifully decorated cake in yellow and white tinged with 15 candles was presented to the group by Mrs. Charles Huff in celebration of the organization's fifteenth year.

Mrs. Pannell reported on her recent visit to the Fort Dix Recreational Center in Pointville Community House, describing the home like furnishing with its easy chairs, settees, desks, writing material, piano, radio, victrola, games of many kind and a quantity of books and magazines. She told how coffee, cookies and fruit juices are served to those who attend this center.

During May 7,000 soldiers and 375 civilians visited the recreation center. During the first week of July, the county will send cookies and money and Mrs. J. A. Knowles of Cranford, the key woman, will take them to the fort.

The Five State W. C. T. U. Conference will be held at Ocean Grove on July 15, 16, 17. The next meeting of the local will be held during the fourth week in September.

Mrs. Julia McDevitt

A Solemn High Mass was held for Mrs. Julia McDevitt, 53 years old, of 700 Morris avenue, on Monday morning at St. James' Church where the Very Reverend Monsignor Daniel Coyle officiated. Mrs. McDevitt died Friday at Overlook Hospital, Summit, where she had been a patient for three weeks. Interment was at St. Rose of Lima's Cemetery, Short Hills.

Born in Orange, Mrs. McDevitt was a resident of the township for fifteen years and a communicant of St. James' Church. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Edward Conley of Springfield; two sons, Arthur J. McDevitt of Union and William E. McDevitt of Springfield, and a brother, Michael Clark of Tom's River.

Teacher Engaged to Borough Mayor

MOUNTAINSIDE—Mrs. Mammie Baschore of Gettysburg, Pa., has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Freda Baschore to Mayor Alan Thompson, son of Judge and Mrs. Lloyd Thompson of Springfield road.

Miss Baschore, who is a member of the faculty of Lincoln School, Westfield, is a graduate of Pennsylvania Teachers' College, and studied at Duke University and the University of Pennsylvania. Mayor Thompson was graduated from Westfield High School, New York University, and New Jersey Law School. He is an attorney in Westfield.

The engagement was announced at a tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Oliphant Haynes of New Providence road. Those who assisted the hostess were Mrs. Willard Peck, Mrs. John T. McCoy, Mrs. Edward Whalley, Mrs. Ralph T. Salt, Miss Florence Horn, Miss Margaret Weber and Miss Elizabeth Swan.

Francis Petersen Is Given Farewell Party

MOUNTAINSIDE—Francis Petersen, Scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 70, was given by members of the Fire Department and Rescue Squad on Monday evening at Mountaintide Inn. Petersen, a member of both groups, was inducted into the Army on Wednesday.

The party which was attended by about 30 members, was arranged by William Van Ness, who is a member of the Fire Department and Fred Onskin and Fabian Vincent of the Rescue Squad.

A native of the borough, Petersen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Petersen of Locust avenue. He was one of the founders of the Rescue Squad and has been affiliated with the Fire Department four years. The two groups presented him with a farewell gift. He is also relinquishing the post of Scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 70.

Hershey Elected Lions' President

Engle E. Hershey was elected president of the Springfield Lions Club on Friday. He succeeds William J. Biehl. Others elected officers were: First vice-president, Henry C. McMullen; second vice-president, Herbert A. Kuyin; secretary, re-elected, Arthur H. Lennox; treasurer, re-elected, Morris Lichtenstein; Honorary, re-elected, Richard T. Funnell; tall twister, Dr. Dorwin Parella, and directors for two years, William J. Biehl and Carl Z. Alexander. The new officers will take their posts tonight at the final meeting of the season.

The organization is making plans for a fishing trip which will be held some time in August. Additional information will be announced at a later date.

Ban Placed On Sunday Parking

The Township Committee Wednesday night passed an ordinance which banned parking on Morris avenue between Flermer and Miesel avenues on Sundays and holidays between 2 and 9 P. M. There was no opposition to the ordinance which was recommended by Police Chief M. Chase Runyon to relieve congestion in the business section.

The State Motor Vehicle Department, to which a copy of the ordinance had been sent for approval, advised that the penalty for violation of the ordinance be reduced from $100 to $50, and the court sentence changed from 10 days to 15 days.

After Township Attorney Weeks reported that the Milltown Construction Company defaulted on its agreement to improve Country Club lane, the clerk was ordered to notify the bonding company of the default.

The Police and Firemen's Pension Commission requested an opportunity to purchase $7,500 of the township's bonds to provide for the purchase of fire equipment. The matter was referred to the township attorney for consideration.

The board renewed all penalty distribution, consumption and club licenses totaling fourteen, with the exception of Clarence Buckalew, Jr., of 247 Morris avenue, who has decided to close his liquor department when the present license expires June 30.

A resolution was adopted thanking the Volunteer Fire Department for its gift of a $400 rescuicator which was turned over to the township on Wednesday of last week.

POSTAL EMPLOYEES SEEKING INCREASE

Springfield Post Office employees are taking an active part in seeking passage of the Promotion of Postal Pay Bill H.R. 1057 R in Congress which is designed to increase the pay of postal employees at the rate of $50 every five years.

Waldon Sheets of East Orange, chairman of the North Jersey group promoting the bill, stated at a meeting last Thursday at Cranford of the Union County Joint Committee for the bill that it was "now or never" for the measure and said if it were not pushed through at this time the postal workers would never have a like opportunity.

School Addition Approved

Voters in the Regional School District overwhelmingly approved by special vote last night proposals to erect a shop and laboratory building for agricultural students on the grounds of the High School. On the first issue, to erect the building at a total cost of $7,500, the proposal carried, 489 to 97. On the second question, of acquiring a site by even exchange of land with the Union County Park Commission, it was passed, 475 to 86.

Here is a summary of how the various communities voted: the figures being given first for the building and secondly for the site: Springfield, yes 175, no 14; yes 175, no 12; Mountaintide, yes 79, no 3; yes 77, no 3; Clark Township, yes 54, no 24; yes 52, no 22; Kenilworth, yes 21, no 8; yes 18, no 8; New Providence, yes 92, no 1; yes 87, no 1; Garwood—Districts 1 and 2, yes 54, no 41; yes 53, no 36; districts 3 and 4, yes 13, no 6; yes 13, no 4.

Selander, Others Indorse Pascoe

The Mayors' Committee, which consists of mayors from Springfield, Summit, New Providence Borough and New Providence Township, have pledged their support for the State Senatorial nomination of Assemblyman Herbert J. Pascoe of Elizabethton. This decision was reached upon by the Republican group June 20 aboard the "S. S. Americana," which carried a throng of Republican officials, party leaders and workers on the county committee's annual excursion up the North River.

Mayor Selander of Springfield, Mayor Guido Forster of Summit, Mayor John W. Oakwood of New Providence Borough and Mayor Anton C. Swenson of New Providence Township, invited Assemblyman Pascoe to be their guest on the steamer. The Mayors' Committee took this occasion to announce their support to the assemblyman. A pledge vote was taken in the presence of County Chairman George D. Rankin of Cranford, and was acknowledged briefly by Pascoe.

Mayor Swenson, speaker for the group, declared that Assemblyman Pascoe proved his fitness for the nomination by his service to the State during the past two decades.

"Assemblyman Pascoe has been tireless in his efforts both for party and public welfare. He has earned the confidence of municipal officials, party officers and the general public. By all the rules of the game he deserves united support for his nomination and election."

"Our group is proud to announce our whole-hearted approval of his candidacy at this time and we pledge that come what may in the form of other candidates, we will work unflinchingly for Pascoe."

CHANGES MADE IN RED CROSS HEADS

Mrs. Herman Morrison, chairman of production of the local Red Cross, announced this week that Mrs. Henry Kees has been placed in charge of the men's sweaters department. Mrs. Charles Phillip who was formerly head of this department, will take charge of children sweaters; and she will be assisted by Mrs. Donelle Van Dyke.

The Red Cross will complete plans within a short time for a sewing project which will be held during the Summer in the James Caldwell School.

Legion Building To Be Dedicated On Monday Night

COL. FRANKLIN D'OLIER

Will Register Draftees Tuesday

The American Legion Building will be the local headquarters on Tuesday for the registration of men who have turned 21 since last October 16 as required by the Selective Service Act. The registration, to be conducted between 8 A. M. and 10 P. M., will contain approximately the same questions asked of the men who signed in October. It has been estimated that there will be about 75 young men from Springfield who will fall under this registration.

At the Legion Building will be several assistants who will expedite any difficulties which may arise. The fact of the registration card calls for the following information: 1. Name (first, middle and last); 2. place of residence (number and street; town, village or city; county and State); 3. mailing address (if other than that indicated in No. 2, if same insert the word same); 4. telephone (exchange and number); 5. age in years and date of birth (month, day and year); 6. place of birth, town or county, State or country; 7. occupation; 8. name and address of person who will always know your address; 9. employer's name and address; 10. place of employment or business (number and street or R. F. D. number, town, county and State).

At the bottom of the card, the registrant signs his name affirming "that I have verified the above answers and that they are true."

The back of the card provides space for recording height, weight, color of eyes and hair, race, complexion and obvious identification features.

Princeton Degree For Jack Mohler

Jack Mohler, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Mohler, of 27 Molter avenue, received his B. A. degree, with cum laude honors, at commencement exercises Tuesday of last week from Princeton University. He was also given a certificate of completion from the School of International Affairs.

His Senior thesis, on the subject, "Uncle Sam—Radio Propagandist" earned his honorable mention. Throughout his college period, Mohler has been on the Dean's List for high academic performance.

During his undergraduate days, he was business manager of the "Nassau Lit," second oldest college publication in the United States, serving in his 1940-41 year, and was also a member of the Dial Lodge Eating Club.

The Springfield youth graduated from Roselle Park High School and also the James Caldwell School. He is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. McMullen of the Molter avenue.

IT'S A BOY

A son, Eric Peter, was born last Thursday to Mr. and Mrs. Eric Sorbja of 212 Short Hills avenue at Overlook Hospital. Mrs. Sorbja is the former Lorraine Smith. She is expected to be home the early part of next week.

Formal Dedication of the New American Legion Building

Formal dedication of the new American Legion Building, erected through the volunteer efforts of its members, will be held by Continental Post No. 223, of Springfield, on Monday evening at 8:30 o'clock.

Colonel Franklin D'Olier, first National Commander of the American Legion and president of the Prudential Insurance Company, heads the list of distinguished guests. John A. Wonsley of Riverside, New Jersey Department Commander, will also speak.

A flag pole and flag will be presented by the Springfield Lions Club and Mayor Wilbur M. Selander will formally present the deed of the property to Henry C. McMullen, chairman of the building committee, after which acceptance will be made by Commander William J. White.

Col. D'Olier was recently appointed civilian defense chief of the Second Corps Area by Mayor LaGuardia of New York, national director of civilian defense. D'Olier was a member of the American Legion's special commission sent to England to study civilian defense methods, which returned March 6. He organized the A. E. F. Salvage Service in France after serving in the World War.

The area covered by the Colonel includes New York, New Jersey and Delaware. Digging on the grounds of the Legion Building started October 31, a day after the Township Committee approved the sale of a township lot 100 by 150 feet at North Trivett avenue and Center street for $1.

Plans had been furnished by Committeeman Arnold Wright, who is a registered architect, and volunteers of the Legion Post also offered their services in any manner toward completion of the project.

Working only on week-ends and holidays, weather permitting, the volunteers made progress during the first two months as weather did not interfere. A total of 64 working days resulted in its completion.

The structure is a one-story building 50 feet wide by 75 feet long, of cement block covered by white cement, with the front of white shingles. It is of the colonial type, with green shutters, conforming to the appearance of Springfield's early colonial history, the scene of the famous Revolutionary Battle of Springfield.

Directly across from the building is the municipal plaza, containing the Town Hall in which is situated the municipal offices, and police and fire departments. Within proximity and across adjoining Flermer avenue is the $600,000 Regional High School, tending to create a distinct unit of municipal and civic assembly halls.

The Legion Building is valued at $12,000 although by means of volunteer labor and little expended on skilled labor, its cost has been kept below $4,000. It houses a hall capable of seating 250 persons, a modern well-equipped kitchen, storage room on the second floor and a small meeting room.

Ever since the inception of Continental Post in 1933, its members have planned their own building and it was not until early last year that the Building Committee was chosen, consisting of Henry C. McMullen, chairman; Ralph H. Tildey, Herbert A. Kuyin, Richard C. Horner, Gregg L. Frost, Richard T. Bunnell and Herbert E. Quinton.

BROTHERHOOD HELD PICNIC SATURDAY

About 50 persons enjoyed themselves at an outing sponsored by the Methodist Brotherhood on Saturday at "The Doll" in Echo Lake Park.

The entertainment program started with a baseball game between the men and the ladies played quills, followed by a basket lunch. Later in the day the group assembled for community singing. Howard Day, president of the organization, was in charge with Roy Gelb in charge of arrangements.

SENT TO VIRGINIA
FORT DIX—Robert W. Marshall of Springfield who was recently inducted into the Army, left Fort Dix on Wednesday for Camp Lee, Va., where he will be assigned to the Quartermaster Replacement Center for training.

AROUND THE HOUSE

Glass stoppers from bottles may be removed by taking a piece of twine, doubling and putting it around neck of bottle twice. Have someone hold bottle, then take ends of twine, one in each hand, and work back and forth until the neck of bottle becomes warm. Stopper can then be removed.

If cream has been overwhipped pour a little cold sweet milk into it and stir slightly. The cream will then be of the right consistency.

A coat of clear varnish applied to the oilcloth in your kitchen will make it last longer and you will find it will clean more easily.

Corkscrew Substitute—If you mislay the corkscrew, hunt up a fairly large screw. Screw it into the cork, tie a piece of string under the screw head, and pull on this until the cork comes out.

Colored gum drops—either round or flat—may be cut into petal shapes and used as cake and dessert trimmings. They are especially effective on birthday cakes.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS By Edward C. Wayne

Nazi and Italian Activities in U. S. Are Curtailed by Government Action; 'War of Nerves' Continues as Fighting Centers in Near East and North Africa

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

What is said to be the most modern short distance reconnaissance plane in the world is this double-fuselage ship of the Nazi Luftwaffe. It is superior in maneuverability to a pursuit plane and has strong offensive as well as defensive weapons. Cannons and machine guns of the latest construction are carried in the ship which is powered by two powerful motors. Its crew of three has unobstructed views on all sides through the glass-enclosed cockpit.

NETS:

A Tightening

Following up the sinking of the Robin Moor, the government tightened still further its nets about fifth columnists. First by freezing all Axis assets in this country, and, second, by ordering all German consulates closed down, also news agencies and travel-bureaus.

Another order, that barring the leaving of the United States of any German nationals until further notice, plus the word that was sent out that there would be a tightening of immigration permits, was held to be contingent on Germany's attitude to the American protest on the Robin Moor.

The fact that the remaining 35 Americans aboard the ship were eventually saved, the state department said, did not change the diplomatic situation regarding the vessel.

America, President Roosevelt indicated, was going to be firm from now on with regard to fifth column activities and sabotage, and was going to see to it that it was known who was coming into the country under the guise of "refugee."

WAR:

Of Nerves

In spite of considerable activity in the Near East and the North African fronts, the war settled down to a "war of nerves" again, with the nervous tension reaching far and wide as Germany massed men and machines on the Russian border.

The troops were not placed geographically close to the border, but were so disposed that they were within an exceedingly short distance in time from what many believed was a "blitz" objective.

The announcement that a Turkish-Russian pact had been drawn up did little to relieve the nervous tension, as it was not immediately confirmed, nor was it clear whether this would solve the situation.

For few thought that any such agreement, made under the threat of an army force variously estimated at from a million and a half to two million men, would be long adhered to if the men were withdrawn.

Senator George, head of the foreign affairs committee, frankly expressed the belief that Germany, by the move against Russia and the concentration in the upper-and-lower Balkans, was "trying to make sure of her eastern front" before attempting the long-expected invasion of Great Britain herself.

However, even Senator George saw in the move the conviction by the Germans that it would be a long war, and an effort to obtain satisfactory supplies of wheat and oil.

Still others believed that a Russian-Turkish pact, implemented by troops of sufficient numbers to continue to enforce respect and strict adherence, might permit Germany to move southward through Russia and Turkey into the Near-East and the Middle East, and thus to close the pincers on the entire Eastern Mediterranean country.

This was the stage setting that caused the spread of the war of nerves into Britain itself, for day after day went by with only the most desultory German bombing efforts against England.

Honors for Both

Robert Jackson, newly selected as associate justice of the United States Supreme court, shows his fatherly pride as he poses with son, William E. Jackson, upon the latter's graduation from Yale.

KNOX:

And Stimson

Secretaries Knox and Stimson, also Canada's prime minister, Mackenzie King all made important statements carrying big insights on the war and America's national defense.

Knox, speaking in Canada, said that the United States is "practically" deciding that her course will thoroughly parallel that of Canada in the present struggle.

He thanked the Canadians for remaining aloof from America's own decision-making, and reminded Canada that at the time when she was making up her mind, America did not meddle.

Secretary Stimson, in Washington, arguing that the $285,000,000 St. Lawrence river seaway ought to be constructed as soon as possible in order to provide a safe journey much of the way from American factories to Britain, foresaw a long war.

One senator asked Stimson if it was not true that the project would take four years to construct, and if so, wouldn't the war be over long before it was finished.

Mr. Stimson said, in the first place, that he thought it was going to be a long war, and in the second place, we ought not to go on a basis of thinking it would be a short one.

Premier King, in the United States for a visit, made Canada's answer to American isolationists and enemies of the lease-lend bill who had accused Canada of demanding "cash on the barrel-head" for Canadian production while Britain asked the U. S. for leased or lent goods.

Mr. King said that Americans who made these statements failed to take into account the fact that Canada was giving the United Kingdom enormous quantities of men and munitions which were neither leased nor lent but were an outright gift toward the winning of the war.

He said that Canada was not forced to fight on behalf of Britain, that the decision was fully and freely made by Canadians themselves on a basis of complete autonomy.

He added that he believed the United States, in much the same way, had arrived at the same decision—to give all-out aid to Britain.

CHUTE:

British Style

A dramatic story of how the British were using parachutists in occupied France was told.

The little party of chutists landed near the German-held airport, made contact with British agents on the ground, also with French people sympathetic to Britain, gathered together and made a surprise night-time assault on the airport.

They seized the control room, also the field itself, and a barracks room in which were German pilots awaiting the command to take to the air.

Other squads went out to the landing field and destroyed 30 planes on the ground, also the buildings were set afire and burned.

The chutists then sped for the coast, where motor torpedo boats were waiting for a prearranged signal to take them back to England.

The maneuver was said to have been carried out so swiftly that the German headquarters did not know anything had happened until it was all over the chutists were safely on their way back across the channel.

The move was predicated by the sympathy of the French people, and this was borne out in reported dispatches and stories by returned refugees, one of which told of British skywriters almost daily writing "Courage" (spelled the same in French and English) in the air over French territory.

AFRICA:

A full-scale attempt by the British to break over the Egyptian border back into Cyrenaica again, resulting in the capture of Fort Capuzzo, brought into the attack, according to Italian sources, large numbers of the newest American tanks.

This did not check, however, with American production figures, which showed that the only tanks sent in the lease-lend program had been those we could spare from the army, all of them of old design and manufacture.

Self-Defense Program

In these days when the doctrine that "might is right" seems to be enjoying a boom, individuals as well as nations seem to need a self-defense program. The ideal technique of defense for the average man or woman is jiu-jitsu. In this series of photos, made at the Bothner Gymnasium in New York, Lou Leonard, physical director, and Miss Swann Marlow enact the two attack and defense sequences.

1. As a first step in her self-defense program, Miss Marlow blocks the blow of Lou's cudgel with her forearm. 2. She presses the arm back, grips his biceps with her right hand and shifts her right foot behind his right foot.

3. Then it is just a matter of applying pressure quickly. One smart jerk and Lou is thrown off his feet. 4. And down he goes, flat on his back. An opponent thrown with such force usually has the fight knocked out of him.

Above: Lou grabs Miss Marlow. She gets her arm inside his and then—(upper right) snaps her hands to his biceps, throws her weight backwards and brings her right foot to his midriff.

Continuing the backward motion, Miss Marlow's body rolls to the ground from a sitting position to a reclining one. Simultaneously the right leg stiffens and the 'attacker' takes a beautiful nose-dive.

The Washington MERRY GO ROUND

Washington, D. C.

GOOD NEIGHBOR CO-OPERATION

The United States is getting much better co-operation from some of our South American neighbors than has leaked out to the public.

When Portugal protested to the United States against Roosevelt's fiasco chat hinting the seizure of the Azores, the Brazilian government immediately got in touch with the U. S. state department. The Portuguese had sent the Brazilians a copy of their protest, and Brazil asked us what reply we were going to give.

This message was sent, which means that Brazil will co-operate with the United States if and when the time comes to occupy the Azores.

Argentina also has been more co-operative than ever despite the diatribe efforts of our Rocky Mountain congressmen to prevent the importation of Argentine beef. Argentine sentiment is overwhelmingly anti-Filer and pro-Roosevelt. The Argentines are much stronger for Roosevelt than for the United States, and have their fingers crossed as to what may happen after Roosevelt leaves office.

Dakar and Robin Moor.

For approximately one month, however, all White House advisers have agreed that the Azores were far less important than Dakar and the coast of West Africa. That is what makes the sinking of the Robin Moor by a Nazi submarine so doubly significant.

Despite the menace of Dakar, presidential advisers have been worried as to what we should do about it. To take Dakar from the French and to hold it against all comers would require more men than the 50,000 in the U.-S. marine corps. It would require an expeditionary force from the regular army.

And while such troops are available, the bottoms to transport them are something else again. Once before, the British urged us not to get mixed up in the South Atlantic because it would divert our navy from the all-important North Atlantic.

The sinking of the Robin Moor, however, has played directly into the hands of those who have been urging the President to adopt the strongest policy in the South Atlantic and, if necessary, land troops on the bulge of Africa.

CATHEDRAL OF AGRICULTURE.

Paul H. Appleby, diminutive, didactic undersecretary of agriculture, made a flying trip to Nebraska the other day which had some interesting inside background.

Purpose of the trip was to get up what some agricultural hands call a "Cathedral of Agriculture" in Lincoln, Neb. What Appleby was working on was a plan to pool all of the different federal agricultural agencies under one roof and under one director at Lincoln.

These were to include the AAA, Rural Electrification administration, soil conservation, farm security, extension service, farm debt adjustment, and so on. The plan was to make the state of Nebraska a guinea pig to test the idea. All of these different farm representatives would then report to one director in Lincoln rather than to Washington.

However, the proposed Nebraska director was Cal Ward, regional supervisor of farm security. And although working for a Democratic administration, he is branded as a staunch Republican.

His selection therefore caused opposition from various federal farm representatives in Nebraska who didn't want to join any "Cathedral of Agriculture" under Cal Ward.

Chief operator was Fred Wallace, chairman of the Nebraska AAA, and it was to bring him into line that Appleby flew out to Nebraska.

Appleby had first ordered Wallace to Washington. But Wallace refused. Even after Appleby flew out to see him, he could not make Wallace budge. "I'm interested in an agricultural program, not a lot of bureaucracy," Wallace said.

Appleby stayed an extra day, finally flew back to Washington. His "Cathedral of Agriculture" for Nebraska definitely side-tracked.

Note—Secretary of Agriculture Wickard has been looking around to find a new berth for his undersecretary—outside of the agriculture department.

Army Movies.

Movies are the top amusement of the boys in camp and the army gives them all they want—at bargain prices.

For this purpose the war department has organized the Army Motion Picture service, which in a few months has become one of the largest theater chains in the country, with about 300 theaters in operation. There is at least one movie theater in every army camp, with shows seven nights a week, six Sat. and Sunday matinees.

Popular Shirtwaist Dress Is Becoming

THE popular shirtwaist style in a tried and true pattern, designed especially for the larger figure. The eight-piece skirt contributes a slimming, graceful line. The shirtwaist top has ample fullness, let in with darts at the shoulder yoke and waistline. The notched collar, cuffed sleeves and double pockets are the tailored details which give Pattern No. 1381-B the smartness typical of the favorite shirtwaist styling.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1381-B is in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 38 requires 4 1/2 yards 35-inch material. Detailed sew chart gives full directions for cutting and making. Send your order to—

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. Kidneys sometimes fail in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery. Symptoms may be swelling backache, painful, itching, at the back of the neck, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness, under the eyes—a feeling of nervous exaltation and loss of sleep. Other signs of kidney or bladder disease are: frequent urination, scanty or too frequent urination. There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is what this needs. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends and becoming one of the largest theater chains in the country. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Act now, get relief!

CHAPTER I

Slap, bang, bumpety-bump! Kathleen Maguire smothered an eloquent "Damn." A rear tire had gone flat and was smacking the pavement with loose rubber. It was no more than she expected. The family sedan was on its last legs. Nothing could do it any good except to jack it up and run a new one under it.

"Thanks," said Kathleen, and realized she had not after all succeeded in doing anything to his amiable assurance. "Being one of these southern damsels," he went on, scowling at the sedan, "I suppose you expect any male in sight to fix that tire."

Kathleen surveyed him through long curling black lashes. They were quite her best feature and she could do a number of interesting tricks with them. But the tall young man beside her did not notice.

She had been to the country for flowers. Because they were cheaper than household products. On the front seat, carefully balanced beside her to keep from damaging their tender tips, was a bucket full of purple frisks. She had thought it a brilliant idea at the time. Now the bucket proceeded to upset.

"I would," she muttered with a vindictive thought for the perversity of things in general. "Everything I touch had come unraveled at the least excuse. Due to the sedan's perilous slant, she was wadded down in the farthest corner under the steering wheel and drenched with the contents of the bucket. There were purple frisks in her hair and a spray of fern in her mouth. Even her white sports shoes gushed unpleasantly when she tried to wriggle out from under the deluge.

"You don't suppose you have any idea where I'd find a jack to remove that tire, have you?" Kathleen made a grimace. "The car's six years old. If there was anything on it where it ought to be, I'd drop dead."

"I was warned about small town Dixie flirts."

It was no time for the young man lying supine in the meadow beyond the ditch, to snigger. Kathleen glared at him, her red-brown eyes alight with furious sparks. She had never seen him before. She was sure he had no business to be where he was. Nevertheless he had the most maddening air of seeming perfectly at home. A limp leather volume lay near his hand. But she thought he had been asleep. His lazy gray eyes were both drowsy and disdainful in his sunburned face. And Kathleen had never seen a grin which she considered more exasperating.

He laughed, and sat up. He had startlingly broad shoulders. "You must admit it is rather extraordinary to have a maiden in distress here in one of a fellow's dezzams, literally cockeyed with water lilies, or whatever those things are you're wearing for a necklace," he drawled.

"I suppose you think it's funny," she said. He laughed, and sat up. He had startlingly broad shoulders. "You must admit it is rather extraordinary to have a maiden in distress here in one of a fellow's dezzams, literally cockeyed with water lilies, or whatever those things are you're wearing for a necklace," he drawled.

CHAPTER II
Laura Maguire carefully set the flaky timbales which she had just taken from the oven on the window ledge to cool. The kitchen was hot and it showed signs of a strenuous engagement. But everything was done except, of course, those things which had to be left to the law minute. Laura fervently hoped that Hulda would not put too much flour in the cream sauce for the asparagus.

Hulda did her best. As well as anyone could who came into someone else's kitchen at six to serve a four-course dinner at seven. Everybody in Covington who could not afford a daily maid had Hulda for special occasions.

CHAPTER I
"I'm touring, and thank the Lord, I've got wrenches and things in my old tin can."

He left her in search of these, but returned at once with a case of instruments. Whittling under his breath, he set about the delicate task of jacking up the sedan's rear wheel without precipitating it again into the ditch. Kathleen found a small spring of water down the road and refilled the bucket. There were loads of gorgeous purple blooms still intact. She produced her compact and endeavored to repair a little of the damage. But the powder was wet through.

"And I was trying to save a three-dollar florist's bill," she cried, throwing the vanity case as far as she could reach while she morosely surveyed a rent in one of her two best pairs of hose.

CHAPTER I
"All I asked was a hand," spluttered Kathleen.

"Don't worry," he said grimly and set her down on her feet in the steepest practicable space of time. "I've no urge to clasp you to my manly bosom. If you must know, you feel like a cross between a damp garter-snake and a very clammy frog."

Laura, who had urgent reasons to want this particular dinner party to go off beautifully, had been up since six. There had been literally a hundred things to do. She had gone to market herself to select the chicken and the strawberries. The house had been cleaned from front to back, silver polished, the best china and glass washed, the lace and linen tablecloth and napkins dug out and pressed.

CHAPTER I
"I suppose you think it's funny," she said.

"The aspic salad had to be made early to leave time for cooling. And Laura had set it in small individual molds which she decorated with tiny rings of red and green peppers. It had been tedious work although she admitted the results were gratifying when she peeped into the big old fox box on the back porch. The Maguires had no electric refrigerator. They hadn't a lot of things which Laura's women friends had."

"It looks K. O. to me," she said. "And then some. Only that old maid will find something to patronize. See if she doesn't."

CHAPTER I
"I suppose you think it's funny," she said.

"Poor folks have poor ways," Laura grinned to herself, quoting old Aunt Julia, the black mammy who had presided in the big kitchen on Laura's father's plantation.

Private Papers Of a Club Reporter

Like all Negroes, Aunt Julia had loathed "poor white trash." Laura thought probably the old colored woman turned over in her grave every time "Miss Lolly" patched a three-year-old dress or dyed a season-before-last slip to wear with a $7.95 model from Blumer's basement.

Private Papers Of a Club Reporter
Dorothy Thompson, the columnist, refused to sit at a dinner table the other night where the guests were lauding the achievements of Hitler. She said she couldn't sit with her enemies. "Enemies?" asked one of them, "but you are a pure Aryan journalist!" "Perhaps," was her volley, "but I'm also an American, and you people are un-American—so you are my enemies!"

Laura had been a beauty as a girl. She was still at forty-three almost as pretty as either of her daughters. Although she would have strenuously denied the fact. There were a few silver threads in the smooth black hair above her temples, and laughing wrinkles under her clear topaz eyes. Nevertheless she had on several occasions been mistaken for her older son's sister.

The following amazing story about Hitler is credited to one of his former intimates now in the U. S. It is passed on to exercise your eyebrows. . . . The one-time intimate of Hitler says it came from Hitler's personal pilot. . . . The legend: That Hitler maintains a secret hide-away in Bogota, Colombia. . . . It is said to be a 50-acre estate, and the front gate is two miles from the main house, which, above the ground, is a plain flat building. The building underground is five stories deep—and there is enough food stored there for two years. A Hitler aide inspects the place every two months, etc.

"You do look a little bedraggled. Better run right up and change."

Sportswriter Chas. Scully and some of the boys were reminiscing. . . . When Heywood Brown was covering big league ball games before he took up copywriting, he usually announced the one of his reports, that a large and intelligent crowd witnessed the contest. . . . What, his sports editor wanted to know, was the idea of writing that a large and intelligent crowd had attended the game when the Associated Press coverage of the same tussle mentioned that the attendance was slightly less than scanty.

"Don't bother with those things, darling. Let them alone. I'll be all washed up in a jiffy."

The Damon Runyons were doing the town the other night with Hazel Forbes, the ex-Ziegfeld girl, who married Harry Richman. . . . It was the night of the silver slippers, and the spliff of the Richmans; and Hazel's plan to go to Reno. . . . "Tell me a love story," Hazel said, "anything to show me that romance can bloom on this darn old street—or that marriage can survive."

"I expect," said Laura with a grin, "if he had had his rathers, he would have chosen differently. But unfortunately, mothers are sort of forced on you, aren't they? And there's not a lot you can do about it."

Patrice Runyon, who rarely gabs, then revealed how she met Damon—and how she almost didn't. . . . It was at the Silver Slipper many years ago, and Patrice was in the new show as featured dancer. . . . Kathleen came in late at the premiere, and the manager asked him if he'd like to meet Patrice. "She's a nice girl," he said. . . . Then he went backstage and asked her if she'd like to meet a nice Broadway guy. . . . "If there is such an animal," she said, "lead me to it. I never met one before!" . . . In the meantime, the star of the show sat with Runyon. . . . "I'm going to meet the dancer," Damon remarked. . . . Oh, you won't see her at the premiere, Kathleen said. "You know very well that Patrice's other will find something to be canty about no matter how Shirley looks. Honestly, that woman's poison ivy to me. How did as nice a boy as Jairo ever draw such a wash-out for a mother?"

"You can't." "I did Saturday." "You won't tomorrow." "We'll see."

Notes of an Innocent Bystander
The Big Parade: F.P.A. and John Kloran of "The Pleasure" getting more laughs playing tennis at Forest Hills than they'll ever get with their typewriters. . . . Just a duffily witty—Lecce Pons gingerly blotting Andre Kostelanetz's damp brow on E. 57th, with her little silken hanky. . . . Gloria Swanson looking more glamorous eating cheesecake in Reuben's than most Hollywood hopefuls look in a bathing suit.

"You don't take life very seriously, do you?" He eyed her with sardonic gray eyes. "I've been fired off three newspapers in the past six months for thinking a lot of things are jokes, myself included."

Sallies in Our Alley: One of the local ham actors was complaining about the way the New York press refused to admit he existed. "Amazing," he intoned. "The way they ignore me!" "The way they do is one of the guys who made a similar squawk to Oscar Wilde. "It is a complete conspiracy of silence against me," he said, "what ought I do about their silence?" "To which Oscar counseled: "Join it!"

"You don't sound as if you thought much of me and my kind."

The Ho-hum Dept: Cudahy says he submitted his interview to Hitler, and Adolf didn't change a word. . . . Which is the worst criticism that interview has rec'd? . . . Maxie Rosenbloom is now taking dancing lessons. . . . Meaning that he's returning to the ring? . . . The League of American Writers, mostly Leftists, met a while back and agreed that they didn't care for last year. . . . If they didn't get better surprise twists in their yarns than they get in their politics they'd starve.

"So you know something about newspaper men," he observed. "My father's one," she flung at him with bitterness. "He owns the Covington Clarion. A daily in a town of eighteen thousand people. He's owned it fifteen years. And he's never made more than just a living. Recently he and it have been one jump ahead of the bloodhounds. You know there's been a depression. Or do you? Probably you think that's funny too. Dad does. Is he downhearted because collections have dropped fifty per cent? Is he? I ask you."

"You don't!" You couldn't!" Laura dropped a sly pun. She hadn't heard Kathleen come in. "Darling, you startled me."

NEW IDEAS for Home-makers

boards are 1 by 12-inch boards. These rest on the lower cupboards and are placed for enough apart to accommodate the glass doors. The 1 by 12-inch board across the room makes the top of the glass cupboards and the bottom of the upper cupboards. The ruffle trimmed shelf between the glass cupboards is 6 inches wide and the plate rail below it is made of two moulding strips.

SOLID doors for the cupboards at the sides of this sink would have placed the accent on vertical lines and made the room seem narrower. But most important of all, this combination of glass doors and plywood doors gives an opportunity to display dishes and other things that lend color, and at the same time makes a place to hide away less decorative utensils.

Served in War
 Dr. Mellberg served in the Regular Army as a private during the last World War. He advanced as a sergeant while stationed at Camp Grant, Ill. He joined the Reserve Officers' Corps as chaplain on June 9, 1933, and has served as regimental chaplain of the 311th Infantry Reserve Corps, Elizabeth, since that time.

Dr. Mellberg has been active during the summer months in the various encampments in Fort Dix and Camp Plattsburg.
 The local Methodist minister attended the University of Iowa before the war and returned after the Armistice to continue his college education. He received his B. A. degree at Upsala College, East Orange, and studied for the ministry at Drew Seminary. In 1936 he received his Ph.D. degree from Webster University in Atlanta where his main work consisted of religious dramas and pageantry under the Department of English.

Dr. Mellberg's father served the church for 37 years and helped build 18 churches in various sections of Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa. As a result he carried on in the ministry and his first pastorage was in the Hasking Ridge Church, in 1924. Six years later he was transferred to Travis, Staten Island, where he remained for three years. After a short stay in Woodbridge, he was sent to High Bridge from which point he moved to Springfield in April 1940, succeeding the late Rev. James K. Easley.

During Dr. Mellberg's first year in Springfield the membership of the Methodist Church increased steadily and through his efforts several outstanding improvements were realized, notably the installation of a new organ and Chancel.
 Dr. Mellberg's wife and two daughters, Dolores, a student at Montclair State Teachers' College, and Betty, a Regional High School pupil, will continue to occupy the local parsonage.

Dr. Mellberg is a member of Continental Post, American Legion, of Springfield.

YOUNGSTER FOUND BOTTLE IN OCEAN

Last Summer, while vacationing in Newington, Maine, 13-year-old Theodore Johnson, of 20 Warner Avenue, cast adrift an empty bottle containing identification of its owner and sealed the cork securely in wax. With the expectation that somewhere along the Atlantic Coast, someone would discover it and exchange notes on the finding.
 As time elapsed, Ted guessed the bottle floated clear across the ocean 3,000 miles away to Europe, "for he never heard more of it until several weeks ago. A 12-year-old youth, Bob Wilkinson of Riverside, Conn., who was also in and around Maine for vacation, discovered the bottle at Penikese Point, Me., but failed to notify the Springfield boy about the incident until the recent date.
 The finder wrote Ted of the discovery and revealed that he had once lived in Connecticut, although now residing in Connecticut. Thus, it appears that Ted will have to try again in the attempt to have the bottle reach an even more distant point.

LADIES AID HELD SHORE BUS RIDE

Forty members and friends of the Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist Church attended a bus ride on Wednesday to Asbury Park. Before descending on the boardwalk, the group had lunch at the Virginia Tea Room which is located on the outskirts of the city.
 A visit was made to Mrs. James K. Easley, wife of the late pastor of the local Methodist Church, who is now at Asbury Park. The group also visited the Methodist Home for the Aged at Ocean Grove.

Only 3.1 Per Cent Of Homes Are Unoccupied

According to the 1940 survey on population and housing units recently published by the Census Bureau in Washington, only 3.1 per cent of dwelling units in Springfield were unoccupied.
 It was reported that Springfield had a total of 1,152 dwellings. The local percentage was slightly below the 3.7 figure of vacancies for the entire county survey.
 In Mountaineer, with a total of 333 dwellings, the rate was even lower, at 2.4 per cent vacant. The average population per occupied dwelling unit in Union County was 3.7, which may be compared with an average population in 1930 of 4.1 per family. This decrease in the average size of family or household is consistent with the general trend throughout the country toward smaller families.

PINE CAMP HAS ACTIVE PROGRAM

PINE CAMP, N. Y.—Although the Fourth Armored Division is little more than two months old, and many of the 7,000 selectees in it arrived as recently as May 25, a full-fledged athletic and recreational program already is underway.
 Springfield members of this division include Donald A. Cain of 18 Bryant Avenue, Edward L. Brill of 184 Morris Avenue and George Conley of 38 Colonial Terrace.
 In one week recently, there were listed three track and field meets, four out-door theatrical shows by a star-studded traveling mobile unit of the Citizens' Committee of the Army and Navy, exhibition boxing, one dance, one band concert, two minstrel shows by Division units, a progressive game party sponsored by nearby Watertown's Y. M. C. A. and two picnics.
 That's just a small part of the Division's recreational program, however, as innumerable softball games are played in regular league competition, two War Department Theatres are in operation, ten recreational halls are available, a Service Club is to be opened soon, opportunities for fishing on the reservation are plentiful and surrounding towns continually are sponsoring entertainments in churches and clubs. Northern New York abounds in scenic attractions, including the Thousand Islands of the St. Lawrence, the Adirondack Mountains, hundreds of lakes and awe-inspiring Lake Ontario.

Hufeld-Pfeifer Wedding Is Held

MOUNTAINSIDE — Miss Pearl Marie Hufeld, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hufeld of East Broad Street, Westfield, and Henry C. Pfeifer, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Pfeifer of Cedar run, this borough, were married on Saturday afternoon at a ceremony performed on the lawn of the Pfeifer home. The Rev. John Wesley Lord, pastor of the First Methodist Church officiated and the bride was given in marriage by her father.

The bride wore a white gabardine suit with a white straw picture hat. She carried a bouquet of white roses and baby's breath with streamers. Miss Jeanette Pfeifer, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid and only attendant. She wore a blue garbaldine suit with a matching picture hat and her flowers were pink roses. The best man was John Kozak of Mountainside, and a reception followed in the Pfeifer home. The couple will live in the borough after a short wedding trip. Both are graduates of Westfield High School and Mr. Pfeifer is on the staff of the Westfield Leader. Mr. Pfeifer is in the plumbing business.

FINAL ASSEMBLY AWARDS PRESENTED

MOUNTAINSIDE — Awards for athletic and citizenship achievements were presented at the final Assembly Friday morning in the Mountainside School. Principal Charles Wadas and Miss Francis Featherstone presented medals to George Soltes and Ernestine Roeder for their accomplishments in athletics. Honorable mention was given to William Von Borstel, Charles Rodgers and Donna Payton.

Miss Elizabeth Johnson, assistant principal, awarded citizenship honors to Margaret Smith and William Von Borstel of the eighth grade. Others who received the same award were: Seventh grade, Charles Rodgers and Helen Duran; sixth grade, Rosemary Honecker and Shirley Danenhour; fifth grade, David Smith and Mary Major, and fourth grade, Randolph Major and Betty Danenhour.

Muriel Knapp, president of the graduating class presented plaques of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln to the student body, with acceptance by William Von Borstel, school president.

NAMED SCOUTMASTER

Country Home Marks 50th Anniversary

MOUNTAINSIDE — "Open House" was held Saturday from 3 to 5 P. M. to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the Children's Country Home. For half a century, the home has dedicated its services to handicapped children to convalesce after crippling diseases.

The home became affiliated with the New Jersey Hospital Association and the American Hospital Association. Dr. Robert E. Humphries, former surgeon-in-chief of the New Jersey Orthopedic Hospital in Orange, became surgeon-in-chief at the home in 1923. He resigned in 1939 to be succeeded by Dr. Harold W. Smith. Children are accepted to the home on the recommendation of hospitals, institutions, organizations and physicians. The ability to pay is not considered.

The Mountainside Board of Education, under Charles Wadas, principal of the Mountainside School, supervises all grades from kindergarten to the eighth. The children keep up to date with their studies through State regulation courses. To those who are unable to attend classes, bedside instruction is given. Individuals, State, Federal and county government, residents of the neighboring communities, lodges, clubs and churches support the convalescent center, with about $45,000 yearly operating expenses met by private contributions and benefits arranged by the active auxiliaries to the home.

The following excerpt appeared in the current report: "Perhaps the most outstanding development during the year was the approval of the Children's County Home by the American College of Surgeons, but there were also other important events. An intermediate auxiliary of younger women was formed to cooperate with the institution and a Negro Auxiliary also was organized. Colored uniforms were adopted by

Our Library Use Your Library

Every afternoon, 1:30 to 5. Mon. and Fri. Evenings from 7:30 to 9. The Library has recently purchased several new books. TADPOLE HALL by Helen Ashton, opens in August 1939 in the little English village of Lambcote where Colonel Heron, a retired widower, lives with his sister. Two Austrian refugees are servants at Tadpole Hall, the Hahns, people of the colonel's class. His two daughters arrive in haste from London. Frankie, the elder, with her new born child and Sarah, who has fallen in love with a doctor of different background. It's a typical English story and most interesting.

THE AFFAIR IN DEATH VALLEY by Clifford Knight. The scene is Death Valley in California where Hunter Rogers and four men found a body of a man. Nearly four cigarette butts show some one had stood by in cold blood and watched an old man die under the burning sun. The story is a masterpiece of cunning.

BENJAMIN BLAKE by Edson Marshall is a fine romance and historical novel filled with adventure. Godfrey Blake, squire of Bretholm Manor, ran off to India with a gunsmith's daughter leaving the estate in the hands of his brother, Arthur. Benjamin was the orphan of Godfrey's lllson and had been raised by his grandfather, the gunsmith. Ben is taken from the care of his grandfather and put to work by Squire Blake at Bretholm. The squire hated Ben because he was Godfrey's son and did the best to turn Ben into his slave. Ben escapes from England as a seaman on the ship "Western Star" and began a life of adventure across strange seas and in far lands. Marshall says his discovery that "so-called primitive people were exactly the same as civilized people, only nicer," provided the material for the best part of this book.

The young married people of the Presbyterian Church who formed a club several months ago and called themselves the "Young Couples Club," voted on Monday night to adopt an official name and selected "Watts Couples Club" as their future title.

The new name ties in with the historical spirit of the Presbyterian Church when on June 23, 1780, in the Battle of Springfield, the Rev. James Caldwell, pastor of the local Presbyterian Church, said to his men: "Give 'em Watts, boys." Watts was the writer of hymn books and the Springfield colonial soldiers tore pages from Watts' books and pushed them into their guns, thus resisting the Hessian soldiers.

The club will undergo reorganization and a committee of five was appointed to accomplish this task, including William Felmeth, assistant pastor; Frank Jakobsen, Alvin H. Dammig, Mattland Simons and Roy Waldeck. This committee will have the power to form whatever committees are necessary for the reorganization. The committee will also nominate qualified persons for officers and election will take place at the September 11 meeting.

The primary purpose of the Watts Couples Club is to create a close fellowship between young couples of Springfield and vicinity and to welcome new comers. Couples who are interested in the club may obtain information as to membership from members of the organization committee.

AND SO THEY ARE MARRIED
(See Recipes Below.)

AFTER THE 'DO'S'

Intermittent glances at the third finger of your left hand, as you leave the church and hurry homeward to greet guests, remind you that you're a "Mrs." now . . . and you've never been so happy!

You're too thrilled and excited to even think about food, but friends and relatives and your new husband, especially, are more than likely eager to partake of the very distinctive refreshments that "Mom" has spent weeks planning.

And later when you recall the wedding reception, if details have been worked out sanely and carefully beforehand, you'll know that yours was an extra special after-wedding party.

Daintily rolled asparagus sandwiches and a luscious peach shortcake, with an iced or hot beverage, are sure to satisfy gay young appetites, as well as appeal to the elders' taste for "something different."

Deck the table with fresh flowers. A fitting centerpiece is a replica of the bride's bouquet . . . one exactly like that which she carried to the altar. A sophisticated crepe paper bridal couple will complete the table decorations.

Asparagus Rolled Sandwiches.

Remove crusts from a loaf of sandwich bread and cut in one-fourth inch lengthwise slices. Butter slices and cut in half. In each slice place a stalk of asparagus. Roll bread carefully, pressing well along buttered edge to hold it securely. Sprinkle asparagus with a little salt and paprika before rolling bread, if desired.

The number of sandwich loaves and the amount of asparagus tips you will need will, of course, depend upon the length of your guest list.

Peach Shortcake.

3 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
3 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1/2 cup butter or other shortening
3/4 cup milk
1 1/2 quarts sliced peaches, sweetened

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Cut in shortening; add milk all at once and stir carefully until all flour is dampened. Then stir vigorously until mixture forms a soft dough and follows spoon around bowl. Turn out immediately on slightly floured board and knead 30 seconds. Roll one-fourth inch thick. Place half in ungreased round cake pan; brush with melted butter. Place remaining half on top and butter top well. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees-F.) 15-20 minutes. Separate, spread bottom half with soft butter and some of peaches. Place other half on top. Spread with butter and remaining peaches; garnish with whipped cream. Cut into individual servings. Serve 8. Other fresh fruits may be substituted for peaches.

There is an old tradition that the luckiest sort of bride's cake is one baked in a ring—symbolic, like the gold band—that is slipped on her

LYNN SAYS:

In regard to after-wedding parties, plan a menu that's simple and easy to serve, yet appetizing and delicious to eat. Since the proverbial color scheme for the bride's table is green and white, plan to use white flowers for the centerpiece; if candles are used, they may be white or green.

It is customary for the bride to throw her bouquet to her attendants—prior to her departure on the wedding trip. Since the excitement and emotional strain will undoubtedly upset the bride, she'll not be able to thoroughly enjoy her own reception. For that reason, a piece of the cake should be cut and wrapped for the couple to take with them on their honeymoon. The table decorations should be saved for her to have on her return.

NOW YOU'RE A WIFE

... And the business of cooking for two begins! Feeding your husband will be an important part of your new life—really essential to the smooth sailing of the ship of matrimony. So next week Lynn will devote her entire column to recipes that will help you "eat" your man. They'll be simple enough for the beginner, too.

The cake brings luck to the guests, for it contains a ring, a coin and a key—signifying marriage, wealth and happiness, to those who find them. If you haven't a ring-shaped pan, you can bake the cake in an angel-food cake pan or in an ordinary cake pan, with the ring outlined in contrasting frosting. The bride's and bridegroom's initials in contrasting frosting may be used for further decoration.

Bride's Cake.

1 cup sifted cake flour
3/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup (8 to 10) egg whites
1 teaspoon cream of tartar
1 1/4 cups sifted granulated sugar
3/4 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon almond extract
Sift flour once, measure and sift four more times.—Beat egg whites and salt with flat wire whisk. When foamy add cream of tartar and continue beating until eggs are stiff enough to hold in peaks, but not dry. Fold in sugar carefully, 2 tablespoons at a time, until all is used. Fold in flouring. Then sift small amount of flour over mixture and fold in carefully.—Continue until all is used. Pour batter into ungreased angel-food cake pan or ring-shaped pan and bake in a slow oven. Begin at 275 degrees F. After 30 minutes increase heat slightly (325 degrees); bake 90 minutes more. Remove from oven; invert pan 1 hour.

Marshmallow Frosting.

1/2 cup sweetened condensed milk
4 marshmallows
1 1/2 cups sifted confectioners' (4X) sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
Cook sweetened condensed milk and quartered marshmallows in top of double boiler until marshmallows are melted. Remove from fire; add confectioners' sugar gradually, beating until smooth and creamy. Add vanilla. May be spread on cakes while warm. This frosting covers tops of two 8-inch layers or top and sides of ring-shaped cake or about 18 cup cakes.

Butter Frosting.

3/4 cup sweetened condensed milk
4 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 3/4 cups sifted confectioners' (4x) sugar (about)
Cream sweetened condensed milk and butter together. Add vanilla, blending well. Add sifted confectioners' sugar gradually, beating 'til smooth and light in color. This frosting may be tinted any color by addition of a speck of food coloring. Pale—this is—most attractive. Spread on cold cake. Makes enough frosting to cover tops of two 8-inch layers or top and sides of ring-shaped cake, or about 24 cup cakes. Make the letters of corresponding or contrasting frosting by means of a pastry tube.

If you plan a wedding breakfast, instead of an afternoon or evening reception, include something hot and something cold for the main course, a beverage, ice and wedding cake, of course. Here's my menu suggestion:

- Turkey a la King in Timbale Cases
 - Potato Croquettes
 - Baking Powder Biscuits
 - Ripe and Stuffed Olives
 - Ice Cream
 - Petits Fours
 - Coffee

Kathleen Norris Says: When the Piper Comes for His Pay

(Bell Syndicate—WNU Service.)

When I was 18 I fell in love with a handsome boy whose character my mother even then analyzed as weak. We were lovers in last year's High.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

THERE is one sin for which women pay a doubly-treble, ten-times-multiplied price. Perhaps this isn't fair or reasonable, perhaps some day things will be more honestly adjusted, but the fact remains—that when a girl makes a misstep in a certain direction there are seventy ways in which she can be punished.

Very often this punishment is merely a secret thing in her own soul; a little stain of shame and regret, a constant, sharp sting of humiliation—the knowledge that there is a man somewhere alive in the world, a man other than her husband, who has an intimate knowledge of her weaknesses, her kisses, her warm young body, her first young passion. She writes at the thought that this man may be telling his wife of the early affair, may be hinting it to others. It shakes her pride in herself, her confidence in her own integrity or sense; it takes the bloom from her honeymoon and puts just a tinge of suspicion into any slight or fancied slight she ever makes from other women.

If she gets off with only this much discomfort, she is lucky. Other women have to pay higher. Naomi is one. This is part of Naomi's letter:

High School Lovers.

"When I was 18 I fell in love with a handsome boy whose character my mother even then analyzed as weak, but who seemed to me the sweetest, dearest fellow in the world. We were lovers in last year's High, Denny after graduation taking a two year course in business school and I going away to college in the West. At first I felt very uneasy as to the wisdom of assuming this relationship, but Denny was earnestly in love, as I was, and we talked continually of marriage.

"When I came home for my first Christmas holidays we were as passionately devoted as before, but before midsummer there was a change. My father went into bankruptcy and my mother got a job in the library, and Denny's mother, who disliked me, managed to send him away to college. From that moment I heard in his voice and read in his letters that he was trying to end the affair. He no longer spoke of marriage, and even showed some anxiety to get back one of the few letters in which he had first promised it. What I suffered, not only but a girl who has experienced this terrible time knows, I hate to think of it even now. Under the circumstances I could not hold him, and for three years we did not see each other.

Denny Reappears on Scene.

"That was eight years ago. Last year I became engaged to one of the finest men—in fact, the very finest man I ever have known. He has a great political future before him and a fine legal practice and we have already selected a home of our own. Our wedding day was set, when Denny turned up last month. Immediately he renewed his attentions to me, protesting that he has always loved me and always planned for our marriage. His mother is dead now and he has a small income—and a small salary, so that he really is in a position to marry. His attitude was very unromantic and Charlie wife so puzzled by it that I had finally to explain everything. Clark took it very nicely, said that of course it made no difference as far as he was concerned, but that I must be the one to choose between them, and make my own decision.

"This has thrown me into such a state of agitation and despair that I have been close to an actual nervous breakdown. I am not a nervous woman and had thought for several years that while a good many men liked me, I was cured of liking them. But I am really in love now, and I lose Clark I feel that I will never again know happiness in life.

Chic Prints Feature Flowers In Colorful Wide-Spaced Motifs

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

THIS season the new look for prints is carried in big florals that dramatically splash and dash vivid color in wide-spaced motifs. Nor is the technique and the eye-dazzling color confined to evening prints. While it is true that gorgeous prints of the type described have gone "tops" for party and for other formal evening wear, it is also true that big flowers patterned in few and far-between motifs are the newest news of all in regard to materials for smart afternoon frocks.

What's more the craze for huge, wide-spaced flower prints is also reflected in sportswear fashions. Even if the material itself is not printed the latest gesture of fashion is to make pajama ensembles that have long semi-fitted jackets (some with a tunic flare) of quality-kind white crepe, splashing them here and there with applique of huge floral cut out of madly colorful silk print. As yet these flower-applique outfits are shown only in exclusive collections but the fashion is one that will gain momentum with a rush. You can get stunning prints with huge Hawaiian designs that yield cutout motifs for applique that are both beautiful and unique.

For the most part the new big flower prints run to hand-blocked types of exclusive and individual types. Flower-printed sharkskin is the "last word" in chic. It is especially good style in white with a background of enormous clumps of flowers spaced widely apart and fairly vibrating with hectic color. Lovely little afternoon dresses made of this new sharkskin print are being shown in the shops.

Necessarily these strikingly beflowered prints have to be made up very simple, whether for day or evening, but it is with a sophisticated simplicity that is purposefully planned in order to give accent to the beauty of the fabric. The dresses

Button-On Yoke

One of the most successful and flattering fashions of the present season is the basic dress made to look important and lovely with crisp snowy neckwear and other refreshing lingerie touches. There is no greater favorite on the list of neckwear types than the youthful-looking yoke collar. These yoke collars "do something" for you. They come in exquisite lace-trimmed and embroidered sheers, also, in pique if a tailored type is your choice. A wide lace-trimmed flounce edges the enchanting yoke-collar pictured. It is made of eyelot embroidered permanent finish organza with matching lace insertion following the squared line of the yoke. The fact that this dainty yoke buttons on adds practicality to chic and charm.

It's A GOOD AMERICAN CUSTOM

KISSING THE BRIDE!
Since Colonial days it has been a good American custom to kiss the blushing bride after the minister has said . . . "I now pronounce you man and wife". And it's an equally good and equally pleasant American custom to enjoy the fine full flavor and mild fragrance of King Edward, America's most popular cigar. Try King Edward today and be convinced.

Your Dreams May Tell Secrets About Yourself

"LUCKY that was just a dream," he thinks, "or I'd lose my job."

But he's wrong. No dream is "just a dream." Often it reveals something in yourself that you never knew—and perhaps should.

Instead of lightly dismissing these dreams, use them to help solve your problems. Our 32-page booklet gives the scientific explanations for several dream-symbols, falling off a cliff, running from wild animals and other typical dream situations.

Physical Check Urged Of Pupils

With the closing of the public schools in Springfield for the summer, Dr. Henry Dengler, school physician, urges all parents to have their children examined by the family physician. Necessary changes should be made in glasses, teeth cleaned, inspected and filled if necessary. Children who have not been vaccinated are requested to do so before the opening of schools in the fall.

During the school year, every precaution is taken to guard the health of the students and it is of interest to note that while this has been a "measle year" there has not been one case of diphtheria or small pox in the school system. The disappearance of the last two is the result of immunization which is generally practiced and which should never be neglected.

GRACE GEORGE AT PLAYHOUSE MONDAY

Grace George, one of the great ladies of the American theatre, will appear at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn, during the week of June 30th, in a revival of one of her greatest Broadway successes, Edward Chodorov's mystery-thriller, "Kind Lady." Miss George is one of the most versatile of all stage actresses. She not only holds one of the most envious roles as "First Lady of the Stage," but has long served the theatre in many ways, winning theatrical fame as manager, director, and as a brilliant adaptor of foreign plays. She has starred in some of the finest comedies by contemporary French, English, and American dramatists. Among the plays are: the notable revival of Sheridan's "School for Scandal" at the New Theatre, "Much Ado About Nothing," "A Woman's Way," James M. Barrie's "Half Hour," George Bernard Shaw's "Major Barbara," Shaw's "Captain Brassbound's Conversion," "Saucy for the Goose," "The First Mrs. Fraser," "The Circle," "Billy Draws a Horse," etc. It was her brilliant adaptation of "Almer" by Gerfald that won for Miss George the gold medal of the French Academy.

WON CONTEST FOR SELECTING SLOGAN

John Teuscher of Springfield and Waldemar Dopferola of Garwood were the winners in a contest conducted recently at Regional High School for a slogan telling why there should be an agriculture building. They will receive a $50 prize.

The slogan: "Let's not leave the agricultural boys out in the cold, one vote for 'Yes' is worth its weight in gold."

Other slogans were submitted by Gordon Mould, Eugene Perotta, Ted Robertson, Van Potts, Sherman Williams, John Kroehling and Lydia Kostufk.

Enrolment Rises In Church School

The first Vacation Church School of the Presbyterian Church opened on Monday with an enrollment of 47 pupils and 12 teachers. Two days later, the enrolment increased to 65 and the number of teachers to fourteen. There is every indication that there will be even a large increase.

The new members of the faculty include the Misses Margaret Sippell, Mary Ann Grinn, Marjan Larsen, Jane Lyons, Jessica Felmet and Albert Douglas.

The woodwork, drawing, sponge sculpturing and mat making projects have been started and will continue for the duration of the course which will end in three weeks.

In Bible study, the younger children are reading shepherd life in old Palestine and the shepherds in the Bible. The older group is studying the life of Jesus. All departments are doing some memory work in hymns and the Bible. There are periods for relaxation both in and out of doors.

Kenilworth Girl Wrote Words For School Song

Miss Angeline Esposito of Kenilworth, who was graduated from Regional High School last Thursday, was the author of the words to the High School's Commencement Song. The music is set to the tune of Schubert's "Finlandia."

Miss Esposito was well known as a writer of poetry during her four years at Regional and was requested by the faculty to write the words to Commencement Song, which follows:

COMMENCEMENT SONG
(Tune—Finlandia)

Oh land of ours, assuredly maternal,
We seek thee aid to face this mortal hour;
While struggling worlds need hope and faith eternal,
Thy native sons require thee ancient dove.

Enfold us all, strengthen anew our courage,
America, to thee we pledge our power.

Oh land of ours, grant us thy children wisdom,
We search for truth to rise above our fears;
While nations teem with hatred, wild, yet wilder,
Please God forgive our errors through the years;
We reaffirm the ancient honest "right"
To strive, to seek, to find and not to yield.

Oh land of ours, God's richest promise hold,
We fear not darkness, pain nor cold, nor dust;
We're not too late to seek a newer world;
We reaffirm the ancient honest "right"
To strive, to seek, to find and not to yield.

America, to thee we give our faith.

Bears Sign Ray Schmidt

RAYMOND E. SCHMIDT
Ray Schmidt, who graduated from Springfield College on June 15, was immediately signed up by the Newark Bears the next day and optioned to Norfolk of the Piedmont League for the balance of the season.

The former Roselle Park High all-around athlete, whose college career continued to shine in not only baseball, but basketball as well, was the outstanding New England collegiate pitcher this year. He won seven games and lost one, bowing to Army, in which he limited the Cadets to four hits, but three unearned runs on as many errors beat him, 4-1.

His batting ability also proved helpful, and he often played in the outfield, posting a batting average of .302. Schmidt had four red letter days in interscholastic games. He pitched no-hit, no-run games for Roselle Park against Roselle, St. Patrick's, and Highland Park, and in one game against Boonton, struck out 21 batters. Early this Spring, he pitched Springfield College to a no-hit, no-run contest against Trinity College in exhibition.

ENGAGED LAST WEEK

The engagement of Miss Audrey Anita Standt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Standt of 2396 Morris avenue, Union, to Robert W. Ruban, son of Mrs. Henry Ruban and the late Mr. Ruban, of South Springfield avenue, was announced this week. No date has been set for the wedding.
