BADGE OF PATRIOTISM

Because of greatly increased responsibilities in the national defense program the Red Cross has-appealed to the nation for a 1941 membership comparable to that of the first World War when more than 18,000,000 adult-Americans gave their support. Membership in the Red Cross is more than a sentimental indorsement of good will. The entire machinery of Red Cross peacetime operations has been geared into a vital part of our military and civilian defenses. Red Cross membership dollars thus are transformed into a tangible means of protecting the American way of life.

The Red Cross is on the job with the Army and Navy here and abroad, providing an important link of communication between the service man and his family back home. With -2,000,000 men under arms this task has grown almost tenfold. The corps of Red Cross field directors is assisting with experienced counsel and with financial aid to solve the problems of our service men and their families back home.

Red Cross volunteers are giving their blood for emergency transfusions in the Army and Navy. In the coming year some 10,000 Red Cross nurses will have been inducted for military and naval-service. Uniformed volunteers are nearing completion of 40,000,000 surgical dressings requested by the Surgeons General of the Army and Navy.

For its part in the civilian defense program, the Red Cross has undertaken the training of 100,000 Nurse's Aides, an -auxiliary corps of volunteers to help relieve the current shortage of registered nurses. During the coming year 1,000,000 men and women will be taught Red Cross first aid as a civilian preparedness-measure. Disaster relief preparedness is being widened to meet the challenge of sabotage, fire, explosions and to stand as a backleg of readiness in the event of sporadic bombing or armed invasion. Nutrition and Home Nursing vade America. Their debate, which courses will-be-extended to additional thousands as protective is the second event in the Town

These are the reasons why the Red Cross asks your support this year. Your membership button is a badge of patriotism, a way you can express your belief in America.

Credited Rating Given To School

Warren W. Halsey, principal of -letter-from-Dr. E. D. Grizzell, chairman of the Commission on Secondary Schools of the Middle school has been approved for memership on the list of accredited secondary schools for three years.

The_Commission on Secondary Schools of the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools was established in November 1920 to promote the improvement of secondary education and to secure better coordination and understading between the secondary schools and higher institutions. The Commission_functions as a factfinding and rating agency in the preparation and maintenance of a list of accredited secondary schools, as a clearing house of information of professional character concerning the secondary schools, and as an agent for the better articulation of econdary and higher education.

Application for having the Regional High School evaluated was made in May 1939, and the school was evaluated in October 1940 by a visiting committee consisting of the ollowing:

Chairman-George F. Freifeld, principal, Abraham Clark High School, Roselle; Kenneth Eells, field epresentative. Commission on Sec ondary Schools of the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools; Miss Helen B. Decker, assistant principal, Battin High School, Elizabeth; Miss Grace M. # Billion Dollars in U. S. War Supplies Is Pledged for Assistance to Russia As Stalin Asks 'New Front' in Nazi War: U. S. Warns Finland to Cease Fighting

(EDITOR'S NOTE-When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

U.S.-Pledge-Same day the state department announced that a billion dollars worth of war supplies had been pledged to Russia, Josef Stalin in speech deplored the lack of a second front, in the battle against

Speaking on the eve of the twentyfourth anniversary of the Bolshevil revolution, the Soviet leader claimed that the Nazi blitzkrieg was a failure but-added-that his-Russian forces were not doing as well as they could be expected to do because Germany had thrown her entire force on Russia believing there was no fear of a western front opening up.

He asserted that Russia was still strong and that the losses inflicted on Germany far outnumbered damage to U.S.S.R. troops.

About this time Moscow sources were announcing that the Nazis had been fought to a standstill around Moscow and Leningrad. Berlin claimed to have gained in both areas and reports from the South indicated a Nazi break through into the Crimen, more or less a gateway to the Caucasus.

Yet it had become apparent that Russian defense ideas were not basically founded on a defense of the Crimea, but that the Reds considered Rostov as the entrance to the Caucasus, and would hold as hard there as possible, perhaps as successfully as at Moscow and Leningrad.

There had been no indication that the Nazis' early prediction of collapse of Russian resistance could be-looked-for, and observers felt that if that eventuality was likely, then Moscow and Leningrad would hardly have been defended so vigorously and successfully.

The developments pointed, on the other hand, to a real and serious fall-down of the Nazi blitz, perhaps

JAPAN:

Lays Down Law

A list of "must" terms for the United States to abide by or get into trouble with Japan had been laid down, chief among which was the immediate stoppage of economic and military aid to China.

The list: "Stop all military and economi aid to Chungking and cease all prop aganda or military missions to keep Chungking at war with Japan America could advise Chungking to make peace. "Stop encirclement of Japan b military, naval and air bases and by economic barriers. Proceed no further with military and naval movements in the western Pacific -"Acknowledge Japan's coprosper pan's assets in the U. S. "Restore the trade treaties, abolish all restrictions on shipping and commerce.'

The program, published by the Japan Times and Advertiser, organ of the foreign office, declared that the Pacific was "on the brink of DRUG:

It was considered significant in Washington that there was no men tion of the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo Axis in the statement. It stated that "there could be no retreat" from these principles, poles away from anything the American state depart ment was prepared to concede. Japan felt that America's aid to China program was simply an evidence that this country was afraid to fight Japan directly.

Luck Smiles

When the torpedoed U. S. tanker Salinas limped into port under its own power; one of the luckiest fellows aboard was Phillip McBride (above) of Chicago. It was the third time he had missed death by inches. He was transferred from the S. S. Greer to the S. S. Kearny shortly before the Greer was attacked and then was transferred to the Salinas just before the Kearny was torpedoed. So far he is still one jump ahead of a torpedo.

'NEST':

Near Iceland Somewhere south and west of Iceland it had become evident that Germany had established a big "nest" of submarines preying upon con voys, and apparently giving especial_interest_to_American_warships. What inroads this country's navy had been making on it was not revealed, the published "score" being totally in favor of Hitler, though the. navy department had early announced that no successes against U-boats would be reported. The loss of the Reuben James the navy said, entailed 95 casualtles, all of the officers being missing as well as half of the enlisted men. Only two known dead, one survivor dying of his injuries and the other-a body picked from the water, were reported.

Reports of the torpedoing of the destroyer were that the vessel was struck in the center and broke in two, the forward half sinking at once, and the afterpart going to the bottom a few minutes later. Evidently most of those saved were aft, and succeeded in picking up a few of those hurled into the ocean from the other part of the ship. The navy said:

"It is probable that the attack RUSSIAN REQUEST-A-DRIBLET took place during darkness. From the terrific force of the explosion it report on Russian requests for aid is a possibility that the magazine exploded. It is a probability that quests after Dunkirk. In comparithe majority of the casualties oc- son with the British, the Russian curred in the forward section, al. orders seemed a mere driblet. though two of the survivors were After the Lowlands debacle, from that part of the ship.

Latest incident was the torpedoing of the Salinas, navy tanker, in armored equipment and most of the same district where the others had accurred. The Salinas made port. The navy would not give details of her damage, but published no casualty list among the crew.

THREAT TO THE PRESS

The greatest threat to our vaunted freedom of the press is not the possibility of censorship. Rather it is the imposition of unnecessary economic controls masquerading as steps in the national defense interest.

So far the threat has been directed at the advertising department. The Attorney General sent a questionnaire to many advertisers to find out how much and in what ways they spend -money, and for what purpose. It has been proposed in Wash<sup>3</sup> ington that brand names be eliminated, and that articles be sold as soap, candy, or what have you. This, of course, would virtually kill advertising. And without advertising support, the cost of a newspaper would be out of reach to most buyers.

There is a very general impression that advertising adds considerably to the retail price of goods. The fact is that when it has been intelligently used to increase the sale of articles in common use, it has resulted in improving the quality and lowering the price. Some interesting testimony on that phase of advertising was given before the House Judiciary Committee by W.-S.-Farish, president of Standard Oil Company (N. J.), which spends millions each year in advertising. Ho told the Committee:

"Although the sums expended for advertising by some companies are large, it is easy to exaggerate the part of the customer's gasoline dollar which is spent for advertising. Ifall the advertising expenditures of the industry were charged to gasoline alone, it is probable that they would represent less than a quarter of a cent per gallon."

As a matter of fact, a large proportion of the advertising money has been applied to other products and services. Even if it were all covered in the price of gasoline, it would not mean much to a motorist who learned that on a purchase of ten gallons he had contributed 21/2c for advertising and 60c for state and Federal sales taxes.

REVITALIZING THE ARMY

The Army is gradually weeding out incompetents among its officers. The way the wind blows was shown when a highranking general was summarily retired after the army he commanded did badly in_war_games.

Between World War I and two, the Army was given little attention, little money, little equipment. Officers advanced when and only when their superiors died or reached retirement age. This made for a bureaucratic sort of officer who simply bided his-time, played internal politics, and learned nothing.

The American Army now seems to be taking a page out of the book of the German Army. Nazi commanders are mainly young. Promotion is made on merit, not seniority. Daring and resourcefulness are rewarded. In our Army, men with the right stuff on the ball are today being jumped in rank over the heads of their elders.

General Marshall, the Chief of Staff, has little use for sterile traditions. Under him is a group of Lieutenant Generals who field Sunshine Society, meeting, home of Mrs. R. C. Bartron, 30 demand results. So many an officer is going involuntarily into retirement or to an unimportant post because he doesn't have the capacities which modern war demands.

THE WRITING ON THE WALL

The San Francisco News, a newspaper which has always been a strong supporter of organized labor, recently said this: We wish to see organized labor endure and continue to grow. tending the State-Teachers' Con-But we know that organized labor cannot endure if the things from which it derives its prosperity and security do not endure. If organized labor is to endure, the system of free enuterprisemust endure. Organized labor cannot flourish if business sick- at the meeting of the Mountainens and dies. Economic peace and economic security cannot be obtained by use of force which makes their existence innov-

Organized labor has never had such power as it possesses at Mulon, Pa., where they spent a today. But by that same token, organized labor never has had such responsibility as it is charged with today. . . . What happens to the labor movement, what happens to business and industry, what happens to the thousands and thousands of small wage carners who have no interest in the politics of the labor movement, will depend on whether labor leadership becomes statesmanlike, whether it recognizes and assumes its proper responsibilities, whether it wields its power with wisdom, or with recklessness and stupidity.'

Organized labor should be solidly at the forefront of those who are today fighting the trend toward socialism-a trend, which if it continues, will mean the end of free enterprise, and the end-of social and economic freedom for capital and labor alike. And organized labor for its own selfish reasons alone, should take the lead in preventing strikes in this time of emergency and danger, and should, like industry, submit its grievances to arbitration.

The racketeers in the labor movement will destroy all gains made by labor. And the working man, not the fat-salaried labor leaders, will do the paying. Cannot labor see the writing

A STUDY of RECORDS By NORMAN W. MARKS

"From the Golden Pages of Melody," a new and interesting collection of light music, presented by Victor, under the direction of Ray mond Palge and his Young Americans. This new four-record album contains that type of music that fills the void between the popular and heavy. Well recorded and ideal for the "in between listening time." Many favorites are included -- "Star Dust." "Donkey Serenade," "Let-Me Call You Sweetheart," and a -new twist on "Andalusia," (The Breeze and I), plus "My Moonlight Madonna," four twelve-inch records eight sides, $3.67. # Kathleen Norris Says:

Old Men and Women Eat Too Much

To hear mamma's martyred description of having had a "bad night" and of suffering "those spots poor grandpa always had before his eyes" infuriates loving children even if they don't show it.

TO LIVE - DON'T EAT!

Of course, no one expects you to starve. But Kathleen Norris believes that many of the common ailments of older people are the result of over-indulgence. They could get along very nicely, she maintains, on about what our Victorian forebears consumed at five o'clock tea. You may feel that her plan is too drastic,

but Kathleen Norris suggests that you try to eat as little,

rather than as much, as you can. Don't stop at merely

"cutting down" on desserts, gravy, hot breads and second helpings. Work out a systematic diet-and stick to it.

Then you will have nothing to fear from the fifties, the sixties and the seventies. And.

best of all, you won't have to OST old persons eat too much. That is VI why they so often are unhappy, annoying, useless and ill.

This is an unpleasant truth, but it is one that makes a most important difference in one's life, when it is fully grasped. The difference between feeling young and cheerful and eager to serve, and feeling heavy and old and ill is often the difference only between a sensible dinner and a foolish

Two pork chops with gravy, mashed potato, hot biscuits, a stuffed tomato and a cup custard can do you no harm while they remain in the refrigerator. But once inside you they can cause an amount of sheer misery that may end in death. Thousands of elderly persons kill themselves with poison every year—only it doesn't seem like poison because it comes off the family supper table.

In one New England town I visited many years ago the old people spoke was something the postman infallibly delivered between the ages of 55 and 60. ...

"Her father got his shock last win ter. Poor Maria's had her shock. Why Lizzie got her shock when she wasn't but 32 beats me!'

In winter this particular family, which comprised several families, consumed meals that would have estiched lumbermen. They were all elderly, but they are just as they had in vigorous youth. Every meal was embellished with hot breads and variegated jams; we had pie for breakfast and strong tea, with thick Jersey cream late at night. Dumplings, turkey dressing, fresh lob ster right out of the bay and hot mutfins were daily fare.

One woman, complaining constantly of sick headache, vertigo, heartburn and a dozen other allments, called down to her daughter each evening for a sherry and egg filp as a night cap.

-Many Become Burdens. If all this resulted in a swift and clean exit from this mortal scene it wouldn't be so bad. But it doesn't The chronic dyspeptic, the patient sufferer from head colds and indigestion, headaches and chills, or from that perpetual languor and weariness that so many elderly women think is inevitable at their age-these people don't die. No they live on and on, a burden and expense to those who love them. And yet the fiftles and the six ties and the seventies can be beautiful years, filled with vigor and health and service and the joy of life. There is no key to that enviable state more valuable than a de termination to STOP STUFFING. Some years ago I asked Irvir Cobb, who had been seriously ill

"Honey," said this old friend

mournfully, "I'm tryin' to eat only twice too much from now on, instead of five times too much!"

Now, by these suggestions for ar old age that will seem like youth don't mean merely to cut down-s little-on starches, go easy on a sec and cut of roast beef, refuse the third piece of candy. I mean trying the little game of sceing how LIT TLE you can eat-that is, if you're getting up in the ronring forties. Happiness Ahead.

Looking Back

This seems to be the right mo ment to exonerate a bunch of Stanford stars and clear up part of an old mystery. A short while after the Stanford-Alabama Rose Bowl game in 1935, when Dixle Howell had completed numerous passes to Don Hutson, including two for touchdowns, I was talking to Keith Topping, one of Stanford's ends.

"I still can't understand what happened," Topping said—and this was several years ago. "We knew the about what our Victorian forebears Hutson. The main deficiency in our lack of national condition is largely a matter of eyes, teeth, ears, stomach and legs. Outside of these few details we are a hardy race.

No wonder Jack Kelly, the former champion carsman, now heading a national conditioning board, almost shudders at the magnitude of his job. Getting millions of people. especially younger and middle-aged people, to tackle problems of diet and exercise, is a tough job.

Without the slightest intention o minimizing the war effort, much-se-rious work is being done inside the administration, and in contact with manufacturers outside it, with re spect to the post-war problem.

It is rather startling to contem plate how many jobs will be needed vhen that time comes. In other words we are all looking forward eagerly to peace, but when it comes It will present the most builling problems the American people have ever faced:

For one thing, and there is no us kidding ourselves about this. There will be the returned soldiers. T'S difficult to write calmly and critically about Walt Disney's "Dumbo" - in-fact. it's practically impossible. This story of the baby elephant with the over-size ears, who's born into a circus and made miserable by the other animals_because_of those same ears, is completely enchanting. There's Timothy Mouse, successor to Jiminey Cricket; there's the band of black crows, there's the squealing circus engine -and there's the really lovely sequence in which pink elephants dance. Attic Ventilation A HOME owner has just written me of having had his old shingle roof covered with prepared shingles. He expected that the greater thickness of the roof would make his attic cooler, and he was much troubled to find that the attic was much hotter with the added roof thickness than it had been before. The reason was in the greater tightness of the new roof. The old wood shingle roof was probably none too tight, and air could circulate through it. This circulation carried off heated air in the attic, and air circulation in an hardship case than most of the attic is, of course, one of the best crumb hunters who are being re- methods for keeping an attic cool. cape. ### Beads Cat Finds Are Real Pearls

Mistress Gets $400 Reward For Their Return.

RYE, N. Y .- Mrs. May Birdsell, blonde housewife, told friends how she "almost dropped dead" when she discovered that a string of beads she had lifted from the claws of her kitten and had worn carelessly for three days consisted of real pearls, valued at $7:500. She nearly went. she said, when she recalled that the kitten which had brought her the necklace had been an unwelcome guest at her home at first and that three months ago she tried to give it away.

The discovery that the beads were pearls came when Mrs. Birdsell read an advertisement by Mrs. Elgood M. Lufkin offering a $500 reward for the necklace, which she had lost. The advertisement said the necklace had a strand of 24 pearls and another strand of 107 and when Mrs. Birdsell, her fingers trembling, laid the beads on the kitchen table and counted 107 pearls, she knew they were the lost jewels. The strand of 24 was not found.

She saw the kitten playing with something on the sidewalk in front of her apartment. The cat apparently had dragged the beads from the street.

Because the necklace was not found intact-the other strand apparently having been lost when a car ran over it-Mrs. Birdsell did not receive the full reward, according to officials at the Albert R. Lee company, where the jewels were insured, but she received $400.

Play Will Open On November 21

"The Seventh Trumpet," a new play by Charles Rann Kennedy, will open November 21 at the Mansfield Theatre, 47th street, West of Broadway, New York City. Mr. Kennedy is probably best known for his "The Servant in the House," in which Walter Hampden and Edith Wynne Matthison played for many years:

An exciting, realistic drama about the present world situation, with special reference to "the miracle of Dunkirk,"—"The -Seventh—Trumpet" concerns men with the idealism of the ancient Knights of the Round Table who find a solution to the world problems of today. Included in the cast are Ian Maclaren, who has come on from Hollywood to play the leading role, Peter Cushing Alan Handley, Carmen Mathews Leslie Bingham, A. G. Andrews and Thaddeus Suski.

Mr. Kennedy, in addition to "The Servant in the House," has written some twenty plays, the best known of which are "The Terrible Meek' and "The Chastening." Trustee and former head of the Drama Department of the Bennett School at Millbrook. New York, he is a contemporary and friend of George Bernard Shaw, and was also closely associated with G. K. Chesterton and Hilaire Belloc.

Although the play will not open is Walter Hohn, until November 21, it has alread received high praise from member of the clergy who have read th script. Dr. Walter Howlett, of th Greater New York Federation o Churches wrote that it is "tremen dous . . . one of the most impres sive plays it has ever been my privilege to read." Dr. James L Hagerty, Dean of St. Mary's Col lege, California, which recently con ferred the degree of Doctor of Law upon Mr. Kennedy, thought "glorious . . . as real a plea fo (ultimate) peace as 'The Troja Women, . . . . for honor as 'The Cid,' . . . as divine a comedy as 'Cyrano'." Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of the Free Synagogue called it "a beautiful and noble utterance . . . a great achievement," and

One of the most eagerly anticipated screen events of this or any other year began yesterday as "Sergeant York" started an engagement at the Lyric Theatre. Gary Cooper is starred in the title role

For better health and personal charm

Budget your time to include daily Baths

Lasting popularity depends largely on personal charm. And beauty experts say personal charm begins with your daily bath.

Your both is a carefree break in the day's routine. It rouses sleepy circulation . . . refreshes mind and body. And the alternating hot and cold water helps condition you for winter.

But remember: Continued benefits from baths depend on daily repetition. Had yours yet today?

Daily baths make you feel better— and others notice it, admiringly!
