BETTIQUETTE SAYS

We are very enthusiastic about a little experiment we tried with an old recipe. We used to prepare it with brown sugar, but instead, we substituted honey, which we discovered, in addition to being a patriotic conservation, seemed to add flavor to the dish.

With Spring on its way in full glory, this is an excellent time to get the closets in shape. A good suggestion is to line the closet with ray or cedar paper.

They say a woman's closet is an indication of her character. We don't know how true that is, but an attractive closet is always a pleasing sight.

For a new Spring touch in the bathroom, paint the walls a light color. Then cut out black scenery silhouettes and paste them around the wall as a center division between floor and ceiling.

LOOKING BACKWARD

10 Years Ago March 27, 1932

Serious damage to the residence of former Mayor Gabriel Larsen of 47 Keeler street was averted when firemen put out a blaze in the basement caused when the oil burner caught fire.

Plans were completed for a community Easter Sunrise Service which was to be conducted Easter morning at Springfield Rock, off Shinnelike road above the Chateau Balmoral.

One of the largest audiences of the year was present at the meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association in the James Caldwell School to hear Mrs. Sidonie Gruenberg of New York, author and prominent child study authority.

The Springfield Baseball Club, which was to represent the township in the Union County Baseball League, was itching to get out on the field for its first practice session.

Despite an increase in the budget of the Township Committee, Springfield's reduced tax rate for the year was $1.03, plus an approximate tax of 25 points.

March 27, 1937 The long awaited decision of the Regional Board of Education on the selection of a principal for the new high school was announced.

Every afternoon, 2:30 to 5, and Monday and Friday evenings, 7:30 to 9.

Books are still being received at the Library for the Army camps. Springfield has been complimented on the condition as well as the quality of the books recently sent, many having been purchased especially for the soldiers. Give the boys the best you have, not discarded. It's the best you can do.

New Library Books:

THE MOON IS DOWN by John Steinbeck, is a beautiful little story, simple and realistic. A small village is occupied by the enemy who find they are among people who never give up their friends no matter what is done or said to them.

BRIDE OF GLORY by Bradla Field is the best history yet written of the amazing career of Lady Hamilton, friend and companion of the great Admiral, Lord Nelson. The beauty of this daughter of a blacksmith captured the "beaux of London" (Tommy painted seventeen portraits of her.) After many affairs with distinguished persons, at the age of twenty-one she went to Naples. There began the undying romance of her alliance with the hero of the battle of the Nile.

THE JAPANESE ENEMY by Hugh Byas. A veteran correspondent tells why the Japanese went to war, and sees a long road ahead. This book tells us a great deal we should know, particularly about the Japanese mind.

Mr. Byas is a Britisher who went to Japan in 1914 to become managing editor of "The Japanese Advertiser." Later he became corres-

"ICELAND" DESCRIBED TO PARENTS

Complete Picture of Northern Island Told By Mrs. Norma Bingham In Chisholm School

Combined orchestras of the Raymond Chisholm and James Caldwell School, under the direction of Miss Ruth Corcoran, opened the meeting Monday night at the Raymond Chisholm School of the Springfield Parent-Teacher Association, at which Mrs. Norma Bingham was the principal speaker. Mrs. Bingham, who is on the Educational Staff of the Newark Evening News spoke on "Iceland."

The program of the orchestras included a march, "Plinkie the Sailor"; a waltz, "Two Guitars"; and a closing march, "Opening Game." Doris Bennett gave a vocal solo entitled "Steinbock," and Wilbur Thomas gave a trumpet solo, "Prismatic Polka."

Clayton Spahr, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Bingham, who appeared in the formal Iceland garb, fashioned after the Viking women's dress. Mrs. Bingham's talk was a complete picture of Iceland, "a land of light and sun." In addition to describing the geography of the island, she touched upon the language, the peace-loving nature of the inhabitants, the government, medical aspects, and the educational system. She concluded with a brief resume of the folklore of the island.

Attendance awards for the month were announced as won by the classes of Miss Henrietta Park-pendent of both "The London Times" and the "New York Times" until last May, when he was compelled to leave and go to the British West Indies. Mr. Byas begins his book by advancing a guess as to why the Japanese attacked this country in the first place; next, he explains the little understood Japanese phenomenon of group dictatorship; and finally, he goes into a discussion of how we can defeat Japan.

hurst of the James Caldwell School, and a tie between the classes of Mrs. Isabelle Nelson and Miss Theoline Lake in the Raymond Chisholm School.

Hostesses for the meeting were teachers and class mothers of the first, second and third grade; with Mrs. William Wagner as chairman. They included Miss May Hunt, Miss Virginia Kane, Miss Ethel Groh, Mrs. J. E. Worthington Jr., Mrs. Karl Ostberg, and Mrs. Robert Smith.

Defense Rally Plan Being Formulated

The Springfield Defense Council has been granted permission by the Regional Board of Education for the use of the High School auditorium for the evening of April 24, when the council plans to stage a grand defense rally. All residents and citizens of the township will be invited to attend the rally, the first of its kind to be held in Springfield.

Although a definite program for the event has not been planned as yet, it is hoped that a prominent speaker, active in State defense work, will appear. In addition, there will be a first aid program, and motion pictures emphasizing defense work.

Plans for the rally were discussed last evening when the council held its regular semi-monthly meeting. They will be announced in detail at a future date.

1941 "Tops" In Overlook History

"1941 was the most active year in its history," President Walter C. Heath of the Board of Trustees reported last Thursday night at the 28th annual meeting of Overlook Hospital Association.

Superintendent L. H. Putnam showed in his annual report a small decline of private patients in 1941 and a gain in semi-private patients, number of patient days, average bed occupancy, hospital service cases and number of beds and bassinets, increase in the semi-private cases, he attributed to the Hospital Service Plan.

Treasurer Ernest P. Patten's annual report showed last year's receipts were $79,871.64 ahead of 1940. They totaled $357,742.12. Receipts from patients were $243,935.56; contributions from members, $21,057.05; appropriations from county and municipalities, $29,320.40; interest on endowment investments, $8,129.60 and legacies and special contributions, $51,649.51. The largest legacy was $36,003.26 from the estate of Mary Beck of Chatham Township, Loans Redner.

In addition to purchase of new equipment, the hospital reduced its indebtedness last year, $38,100. Increase of receipts over expenses was $74,353.39. Endowment funds were reported to total $210,226.02. Total charges to patients were $305,644.74. Of this, $58,538.97 of the charges were for indigents and unpaid.

Your Garden This Week

BY FRED D. OSMAN
County Agricultural Agent

If your garden soil is dry enough to work, start perennial planting operations now. The sooner you can get herbaceous perennials divided and planted, the better. Early planting is always preferable. The plants are easier to handle, there is less loss, and that job is out of the way.

If you are buying new perennials, order them for delivery as soon as you can get them and set them out immediately. This rule also applies to shrubs and particularly to rose bushes. In setting out shrubs and rose bushes, be sure to cut them back sufficiently. Try to reduce the top growth as much as in digging. The root system of most shrubs is reduced about 75 per cent when dug, and the tops should be reduced accordingly. Don't be afraid to cut them back hard, for this treatment will make a better bush than by leaving all the branches intact. When the root system becomes established, a new top will develop rapidly, but if the roots are slow in becoming established, the top will grow very slowly if at all.

It pays to divide herbaceous perennials every two or three years. Then they won't get too thick. This applies to such flowers as phlox and not to aquilegias, delphiniums, and platycodons. In fact, most plants of the Ranunculid or Buttercup Family do not require frequent division. It is generally best if they are left alone for several years. For most others, it pays to divide them every two or three years. Chrysanthemums should be divided every year for best results. Spring is the ideal time to do this.

In dividing clumps of perennials, simply cut them apart so there are three to five good eyes or young shoots on each division. Very often those on the outside of the clump make the best divisions. Plant what you need and discard the rest. Replant them at about the same depth they were originally. The late-season kinds will bloom satisfactorily the same season.

Early spring blooming perennials are better divided in late summer or early fall. This applies to anything flowering before the bearded iris season. The ideal time to move and divide such material is August and September.

As soon as the ground is dry enough, start sowing seeds of hardy perennials in the open ground. Better germination and a better stand of seedlings results if perennials are sown early in the spring. A good many seeds of perennials take considerable time to germinate and growing conditions are much better in the early spring than later.

MOUNTAINSIDE—The care and cultivation of perennials was the subject of Mrs. Roderick Vandervert at her talk before the meeting of the Mountaintop Garden Club at the home of Mrs. R. E. Powell, Lenox avenue, Westfield, on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Robert W. Davidson, president of the club, reported that it had taken an honorable mention at the International Flower Show in New York last week, and that Mrs. Elliott Ranney had won second place for her individual exhibit. Mrs. Adelaide Sawyer placed first in the forced material exhibits by club members, with Mrs. Harold Bronks second, and Mrs. M. A. Payton third. Judging was done by Mrs. Ray Harcombe. Mrs. Harold Parsons of Evergreen court was accepted into membership. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Harcombe and Mrs. Wynant Cole.

Mrs. Ranney Points To Rhythm, Form, Beauty In Flowers

Resident of Mountaintop Has Devoted Her Life's Interest Toward Arrangement; Outstanding in New Jersey As Judge At Many Shows

MOUNTAINSIDE—Once upon a time, a little twelve-year-old girl who was fond of wildflowers and who lived in Kansas, where the land is flat and there isn't much rain and there really is much more wheat than wildflowers, went to her weekly music lesson. Instead of learning about music that day, however, she became inspired with something else, something that was associated with wildflowers but had many of the qualities of music—rhythm and color and form and beauty.

For on that day the little girl's music teacher was reading a book on flower arrangement, and good teacher that she was, she explained very interested how flower arrangement was a unique art, one that expressed many of the most beautiful things in life. Naturally, the little girl, being so fond of wildflowers, was enchanted with the idea, and flower arrangement became her hobby after that, a hobby which she has practiced with great success for many years.

White-haired, blue-eyed, Mrs. Elliott Ranney, one of the organizers of the Mountaintop Garden Club, and chairman of lighting for the New Jersey Garden Club, has through these many years, evolved definite ideas on her hobby. By her exhibits, which have always been accorded high praise, and by her sensitive feeling for the art, for which she is ever in demand as a judge of flower shows, she has become one of the outstanding women in the State on flower arrangement, and she tells of the things she has learned about her hobby with a charming, modest conviction.

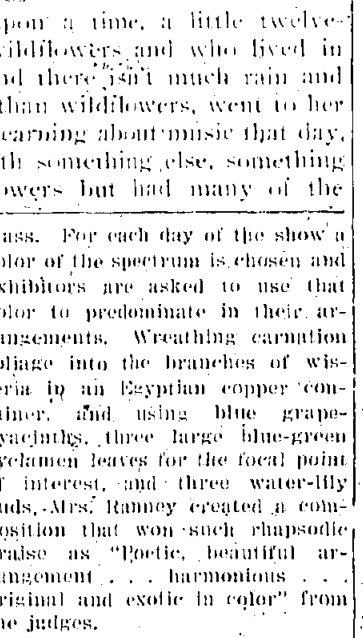

"Flower arrangements," she says, "should express one's own personality. They should be natural. My way, the way I especially enjoy, is naturalistic beauty of line and color, as well as form. That is most satisfactory." Another essential, and one which she particularly stresses, is rhythm. "Every good arrangement must have rhythm," she declares. "The flowers must be placed as they grow, with their lines sweeping gracefully as they are in nature, balanced yet rhythmic. Without rhythm and line, an arrangement is superficial."

Mrs. Ranney's most successful arrangement, one which was exhibited in Gardens on Parade at the New York World's Fair and which was used in the catalogue of the exhibit, illustrates what she means. It is entitled, "An Arrangement Suggesting the Motion of the Wind," and in the slanting position of a few irregularly formed twigs and the swirling contours of the sand in which they are set, Mrs. Ranney has achieved a startling symbol of wind, strength and rhythm.

Symbolism, too, is one of the fascinating aspects of flower arrangement. In her exhibit at the International Flower Show for this year, which was held in New York last week, Mrs. Ranney did an exhibit for the Federated Garden Clubs of New York State, which was admirably symbolic. The theme of the show being "Our Land and Its People," the invitation exhibits were supposed to be compositions suggested by mountains, the sea-coast, desert land, and productive land. Mr. Ranney's subject was productive land, and the material she used was extraordinarily representative of products grown in our country.

In explaining her arrangement, Mrs. Ranney tells exactly what the materials she used symbolize. "First I used scrub pine. That was to give height, and it was symbolic of the use of pine to give pulp for paper. The arrangement was built up from soil, constructed in such a fashion as to give the effect of a cornucopia. Spilling out of the cornucopia were various fruits and vegetables that are grown in this productive land of ours. To hold the design in place, I used an old piece of driftwood and a stone. The driftwood... really a piece of an old ship... symbolized strength and water, the stone symbolized stability and minerals. Among the fruits and vegetables I used were corn, pineapple, pomegranate, carrots, squash, pears, nectarines, and egg plant. The whole cornucopia was arranged so as to end into a fertile valley, and in the valley I placed wheat heads, symbolical of the wheat that is grown in our valleys. The whole theme," she concluded, "was to stress how much our productive land gives to us."

CALLING ALL WOMEN

Do your part on the home front. You can help right in your own kitchen. Gas must be conserved, because saving gas means saving oil and oil is of paramount importance to our war effort. Turn down the gas when a dish begins to boil. Use the right sized cooking vessel for the burner. When you use the oven, try to cook several dishes in it at the same time.
