

OUR GUEST CORNER

From time to time the SUN invites its readers to contribute to "Our Guest Corner." This week's article is written by MRS. DONALD R. WOLF, 53 Severna Ave., Springfield.

Whether a parent, teacher, community leader, or just an interested citizen, we all acknowledge one common interest, the child.

The Parent-Teacher Association offers us in the home, the school, the church, and the community, the opportunity of standing four-square in helping the child to become the best there is in him to be, in the most wholesome environment which we can secure for him. Because we desire for our child an abundant, happy life, and seek for him the highest advantages in mental, social, physical, and spiritual education, it is our privilege, as well as responsibility, to associate ourselves with, and become an active member in the organization of parents and teachers, whose creed embodies our belief, our ideals.

"We believe in the home as the most significant institution developed by mankind for the maintenance and development of social welfare.

"We believe in the school as the best agency ever erected to serve the home, supplementing it and cooperating with it in the noblest work of the world, the building of human character.

"We believe in the parent whose unselfish love for and interest in the child makes possible the fulfillment of an ideal.

"We believe in the teacher whose faith in the future never dies; who places service to youth above all things material; whose love of the child transcends all save that of his mother.

"We believe in the child, the inspiration of today, the hope of tomorrow; the binding tie of parents; the soul of teaching.

"And so we believe in the parent-teacher-association, not as an organization of parents created to supplement the school in a task, beyond it; not as an organization of teachers created to lessen their loads; but as an organization of parents and teachers created in the interests of their most priceless possession, the child."

The Parent-Teacher Association is the one purely democratic, non-sectarian, non-political and non-commercial organization, to which anyone interested in its objects may belong. It offers participation to all adults, irrespective of economic, social, political, educational and religious differences. It is a public movement providing an organized channel to influence public opinion for betterment of parenthood, home, school and community, and for securing adequate laws for the care and protection of children. It aims to bring into closer relation the home and school, that parents and teachers may meet together as friends and co-workers, and may cooperate intelligently in the training of the child.

The National Congress of Parents and Teachers was organized in 1897 and functions in 48 states, Alaska and Hawaii. Its work is carried on through its 28,000 local parent-teacher associations, in which there is a total membership of 2,350,000 men and women. We automatically become a part of the National and State Congress of Parents and Teachers upon payment of annual dues in our local unit. Each local association is a self-governing unit, planning its programs to meet the particular needs of children and youth in the community which it serves. Each local association functions within the structure of the National Congress and its State branches, as outlined by the National and State laws, and is represented at the State Convention by accredited delegates.

The New Jersey Congress of Parents and Teachers was founded in 1900. It is one of the oldest and most thoroughly organized branches of the Congress and ranks seventh in the nation, having 116,807 members in 990 local associations. This is an increase of 6,000 members over last year.

Parent-Teacher Associations in New Jersey, including our own local one, have many accomplishments to their credit, a few of which are: 1. The Summer round-up which is the major health project, whose purpose is to interest parents in improving the health of children entering school for the first time; and to bring about continuous medical and dental supervision of children of all ages; 2. the Parent-Education Movement, in which they have sponsored study groups for parental and adult education through extension divisions of colleges, such as Rutgers University and state departments of education cooperating. There are local study groups, sponsored by local parent-teacher associations, providing the opportunity for the exchange of experiences and ideas, and assisting members to work out solutions to their own problems; 3. they have worked for laws and enforcement of laws for the protection of children, and promoted the interest in a demand to the State Legislature for providing for the children of New Jersey equal educational opportunity for every section of the state.

Our own local parent-teacher association of the James Caldwell-Raymond Clifton Schools was organized in 1930, with an initial membership of 85 parents and teachers. In these past twelve years that membership has steadily increased, and today there are 211 who belong. As members of this association, it is our privilege to make helpful suggestions, to offer constructive criticism, and by attendance at its meetings to show that we are interested in the welfare of the children in our schools and community.

"Coming together is Beginning. Keeping together is Progress. Thinking together is Unity. Working together is Success."

Mountaineer Would Prohibit Hunting Within Boro Limits

MOUNTAINSIDE—Hunting after December 8 will be taboo in the borough if an ordinance of the Borough Council is adopted by that time. It was introduced Tuesday night, and in addition to prohibiting hunting, regulates the sale and discharge of firearms and shooting with bow and arrow. Provision for establishment of private ranges may be made with permission of the Chief of Police.

Another ordinance, confining sale and serving of liquors from 8 A. M. to 3 A. M., on week days and beginning at 12 o'clock noon Sundays, was also introduced. In places where a bona fide restaurant is operated, in conjunction with a tavern, food may be served Sunday mornings, a condition corrected by the new legislation. A third ordinance brought up, vacated a portion of Summit road, cut away toward the roadway, and a portion of the land has been acquired by the Girl Scouts. All ordinances will be given hearings December 8.

Upon recommendation of Councilman Lester A. Cramer, action was voted to clean up 75 pieces of unimproved property, on which tax liens are owned, totalling $20,712 plus interest. The major portion of this comprises 51 pieces of the Helmscholtz-Lafayette Development Co. for unpaid taxes of $11,912 and interest. The attorney will proceed to offer owners $50 for a title on each tract, except the Helmscholtz land, rather than go through expensive foreclosure proceedings.

Mayor Moxon pointed out that by removing these properties from the taxables, the borough would save in the payment of State and county taxes levied, despite the delinquency of local taxes.

Police Chairman Francis Tencan offered a resolution that since Patrolman Christian Fritz had served five years December 1, that his salary, as of that date, be advanced to $2,500, conforming to the police pay ordinance.

Council members were asked by Mayor Moxon to submit tentative 1943 budget estimates at the December 8 meeting.

Did you write this week to someone in the service? It builds up morale—especially if the news is good news.

Town War Employees Salary Plan Adopted

The Township Committee adopted a policy Wednesday night to pay municipal employees a month's salary when entering the Armed Services, and to make their pension fund payments. To be eligible, the employee must have worked for the township at least a year.

The committee voted to join municipalities advocating repeal of the law granting tax exemptions to fraternal and social organizations, and State Senator Pascoe was notified of the board's action.

Building Inspector Marsh reported $1,700 in October permits, making the year's total to date of $23,305.

TO COLLECT SCRAP HERE SUNDAY

By POSTMASTER OTTO F. HEINZ, Salvage Chairman

A town-wide collection of scrap will be made in Springfield on Sunday morning beginning at 9 o'clock and ending at 1 p. m. It is hoped that an extra effort will be made to search every nook and cranny of your cellars, attics and garages so that the efforts of the volunteer committee will be made successful. Since our fighting forces have now begun to battle in North Africa it is very essential that we at home will provide the ammunition to "Keep Them Firing."

The cans are of the utmost importance at this time. The committee implores you to prepare them in the manner set forth in the many circulars and booklets that have been handed to you. This is of vital importance and if prepared as directed, the processing becomes an easy matter. Place the cans in cartons and put them on the curb to make collection easy. It is hoped a bicycle squad will act as scouts to aid you in getting out your scrap materials. May we ask you to act as a committee of one to interest your neighbor in this drive. We must have your scrap or our "Scrap" with the Axis will bog down and you surely know what that means. All of us should be heartened by the events of the past week and if we have been inclined to act in manner that showed indifference, let us now, all of us, get going all-out in this War against the Axis countries. Please remember that Springfield has furnished over two hundred of its young men to the services of our country and we cannot and must not let them down. The school children have done a mighty fine job of gathering scrap materials but there is still a lot of material that has not been uncovered. Nearly four hundred dollars has been paid to the children for their part in gathering scrap.

Donations Sought By Blood Bank Chairman

"What finer Christmas gift could be made to the boys at the front than a donation of blood to the Red Cross blood bank?" Mrs. Charles Phillips, blood bank chairman of Springfield Chapter, answered her own question in an interview yesterday regarding the return visit of the mobile blood bank unit to this community on Saturday afternoon, December 12.

"Here is an opportunity," she continued, "to make a gift of great value, without the cost of one penny to the giver. It requires only a little time and effort to donate a pint of blood which might very well mean the saving of life to one of our boys."

Mrs. Phillips reported that a number of donors have already registered, and that the registration forms have been placed at the Public Library and at the Springfield Pharmacy, of Morris Lightenstein.

Procedure For Tire Registration Of Passenger Cars

The War Price and Rationing Board has issued the following instructions to every owner of a passenger car who expects to operate it after December 12, 1942. First: If he owns more than five tires for each car, he must turn in the excess to the Government. Second: He must find out the serial number of each of the five tires he retains on his car. Third: He must go to the nearest grade school on Thursday, Friday or Saturday of this week, November 12, 13 or 14, and secure a certification record of his tires.

To get the certified record it will be necessary for him to bring his car registration, his gas rationing books and the serial numbers of his tires. He cannot secure future gasoline or operate his car if he does not have the certification record and have his tires examined periodically during the year.

To turn in his excess tires, all he has to do is call up the Railway Express Agency and they will call for the tires and send them to the Government depository. The Government will then send him a check for a fair value of the tires. If he has more than one tire to turn in, he must do so all firmly together with the tires, if he has them, inside the casing. The Railway Express Agency will give him a receipt for his tires. If he is unable to read the serial numbers on his tires, his service station will help him. He must make sure that he has the serial number of each of his five tires.

The schools will be open for his registration on Thursday and Friday from 4 to 9 p. m., and on Saturday from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. It is essential that the car owner carry out all of these steps. Turn in to the Government all the tires over five, secure the serial numbers of his five tires, and call at the school with his registration card and his gasoline ration book. If he desires to obtain gasoline ration after December 12, he must have his car after December 12.

Passenger Car Tire Inspection Dates, December 1-31

To conserve rubber and keep the wheels turning on as many cars as possible, the Government has called in all tires in excess of five for each passenger car in use.

It is also demanded that all tires be examined periodically by authorized inspectors who record on the owner's certificate the condition of each tire at the time of inspection, and its need for repair, recapping, etc. To obtain gasoline ration in the future, it will be necessary to show this record to the War Price and Rationing Board. The first inspection is to be made between December 1 and December 31.

The following have been named inspectors for the War Price and Rationing Board No. 7: Leonetto Moto, 216 Broad street; White Auto Supply, 84 Summit avenue; Summit Buick Co., 63 Franklin place; Goddard-Friendly Service, 302 Springfield avenue; Truesdell Esso Station, Summit Avenue and Walnut street; Summit Esso Service, Springfield and Morris avenues; R. YOUR RED CROSS

Under the caption "Since Pearl Harbor" the American Red Cross reports the following highlights of the organization's activities:

By midyear, 76 hospital recreation buildings were erected by the Army and staffed and operated by the Red Cross. Here, well-rounded recreation programs are conducted for convalescent patients.

Twenty-eight recreation centers were established in a dozen locations where American troops were based abroad. These centers, called service clubs, have lounges supplied with newspapers and magazines from home; dancing and other recreational facilities are provided, along with American food and comfortable beds. Additional clubs will be opened wherever needed.

The Red Cross Blood Donor Service, operating eighteen collection centers, delivered 461,493 pints of blood given by volunteer donors to the Army and Navy by June 30 of this year.

More than 8,000 Red Cross nurses had been inducted by the Army and Navy by midyear, and the Red Cross First Reserve of nurses stood at 33,705.

Natural disasters during the fiscal year brought death to 714 persons and injury to 3,329 in 42 states. The Red Cross aided 72,434 persons through its emergency rehabilitation work at a cost of $1,233,295.

Coastal Red Cross chapters provided 2,500 survivors of torpedoed ships with first aid, food, clothing, shelter, transportation, and temporary maintenance allowances. At the request of the Navy, patrol boats and convoy vessels were equipped by the Red Cross with emergency clothing kits for rescued seamen.

More than 2,250,000 American women were enrolled in one or more of the several branches of the Red Cross Volunteer Special Services. The Production Corps, with two million members, has turned out more than 71,000,000 surgical dressings and six and a half million garments since Pearl Harbor.

The Volunteer Nurses' Aide Corps grew from 364 nurses' aides in 19 chapters on December 7 to 30,000 nurses' aides enrolled in 650 chapters on July 1, 1942.

The 14,000,000 members of the Junior Red Cross produced 3,000,000 comfort and recreational articles for soldiers and sailors; 500,000 garments for war relief; and 150,000 other articles such as splints, stretchers, and first aid cabinets for civilian use.

An inspiring report of the work accomplished at the surgical dressings workshop during the month of October has been completed by Mrs. Herbert Day, department secretary. Without doubt, Mrs. Day's reports which have kept the workers informed of their progress, was an important factor in spurring production.

The grand total of dressings made in October is 20,821. The work was done by 207 volunteers who put in 2,850 hours of the work.

157 inch surgical splintage room. 437 inch surgical splintage room. 4,391; 252 inch surgical splintage room. The opening of the surgical dressings room on September 8, a total of 241 workers have been enrolled; the number of new workers for October being 35.

The total number of dressings made between September 8th, when the room was opened, to October 31, is 43,021.

A corps of eight staff assistants served at the registration desk, keeping the records of workers and hours served.

Mrs. Lewis P. Macartney, when asked to comment on the report, said "Our faith in the patriotism and spirit of service of Springfield women has once more been justified. I deeply appreciate the faithful and patient service which has been demonstrated day after day by these women working at surgical dressings. It has been an inspiration to me, one that leads me to hope that even the fine record thus far made will be surpassed. As our armed forces are now engaged in combat on many fronts around the earth, surgical dressings must be produced in ever increasing quantities. I know there will be no let-down in Springfield; on the contrary, I am confident that still more women will come to the workshop, as they realize the supreme importance of keeping not only the medical division of our own forces equipped for war casualties, but also the forces of others of the United Nations who must be supplied from the resources of the American Red Cross."

The Junior Red Cross membership drive in the Springfield schools and Regional High will close today. Mrs. Charles G. Nelson, Junior chairman, reported yesterday that a number of classes were enrolled 100%. "We expect," she said, "that all the classes will achieve the 100% enrollment of Junior membership."

A WEEK OF THE WAR

A summary of information on the important developments of the week made available by official sources through the Defense Advisory Committee of the National Editorial Association.

A powerful American force equipped with adequate weapons of modern warfare and under American command is today landing on the Mediterranean and Atlantic coasts of the French colonies in Africa, President Roosevelt said in a statement issued by the White House late November 7. This action "provides an effective second-front assistance to our heroic allies in Russia."

The U. S. forces split into three parts and struck at Algiers, near Oran on the Mediterranean coast of Algeria, and on the Atlantic coast north and south of Casablanca. The War Department stated late November 8 that the offensive was advancing rapidly everywhere along 1,600 miles of coast against light French resistance. Algiers fell within 24 hours. The Vichy government broke off diplomatic relations, but Secretary of State Hull said the main purpose of the Vichy policy of this Government during the past two years was simply to pave the way for the military drive into the western Mediterranean.

"The landing of this American Army is being assisted by the British navy and air forces and will, in the immediate future, be reinforced by a considerable number of divisions of the British army," the President stated. "This combined Allied force . . . in conjunction with the British campaign in Egypt is designed to prevent an occupation by the Axis armies of any part of northern or western Africa, and to deny the aggressor nations a starting point from which to launch an attack against the Atlantic Coast of the Americas."

The French Government and the French people have been informed of the purpose of this expedition, and have been assured that the Allies seek no territory and have no intention of interfering with the friendly French authorities in Africa," the President's statement said. "This expedition will develop into a major effort by the Allied Nations and there is every expectation that it will be successful in repelling the planned German and Italian invasion of Africa and prove the first historic step to the liberation and restoration of France."

The President told the French people by radio and by leaflets that the American forces were going into their empire as friends, to "repulse the cruel invaders who would remove forever your rights of self-government, your rights to religious freedom and your rights to live your own lives in peace and security. . . . We assure you that once the menace of Germany and Italy is removed from you, we shall quit your territory at once. . . . Do not obstruct . . . this great purpose."

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander of the American forces in the European theater, is commander in chief of the Allied invasion force. Gen. Eisenhower, in a broadcast to "Frenchmen of North Africa," promised not to attack the French themselves, upon certain conditions. "These conditions were specified and he repeated them many times in his broadcast."

Major Gen. Lewis H. Brereton's headquarters in Cairo reported November 7 that American fliers shot down 45 enemy planes against a loss of 6 of their own in the Middle East from October 1 to November 5. In addition, the announcement said, the U. S. fliers have seriously damaged an uncalculated number of tons of enemy shipping and knocked out a number of tanks and other motor vehicles.

The Navy announced that at least 5,188 Japanese, by actual count, have been killed in three months of land fighting in the Solomon Islands. Navy Secretary Knox reported earlier that U. S. casualties were less than one-fifth of Japanese losses. The Navy said 369 Japanese aircraft were destroyed there in October alone. A Navy communiqué late November 8 reported the probable sinking of another Jap cruiser and destroyer in the Solomons and said the advance of American troops eastward on Guadalcanal was continuing.

Labor Supply

Labor Secretary Perkins reported that between now and December 1, 1942, industry will need 3,000,000 additional workers, and of this number, 2,000,000 will be women. The Office of Defense Transportation said 180,000 women will get jobs in the "traditionally male" transportation industry in the coming months. Agriculture Secretary Wickard said that success of the farm manpower program next year would depend to a considerable extent on the employment of more women and girls and older people on the country's farms.

War Manpower Chairman McNutt said that all major war production plants soon will be required to schedule their manpower requirements in the same manner they must now schedule needs for raw materials. Official instructions and forms for bringing about the orderly withdrawal of workers from war industries for the armed forces are now available to war contractors and operators of essential civilian activities, he said. Federal labor inspectors will be assigned to the plants to see that labor is being utilized properly, and those plants which fail to cooperate will be subject to "whatever sanctions there are available."

Controlled Materials Plan

The WPB established the Controlled Materials Plan to boost war production through elimination of all non-essential production. WPB Vice Chairman Eberhart will direct the plan which will adjust production schedules within material supply to meet production requirements. The plan will operate as follows: The WPB Requirements Committee will allot controlled materials (at first only carbon and alloy steel, copper and aluminum) to the "essential agencies"—Army, Navy, Maritime Commission, the Aircraft Scheduling Unit, Lend-Lease, Board of Economic Warfare and Office of Civilian Supply. The chairman agencies will then make allotments to prime contractors producing essential goods. The prime contractors will divide their allotments among sub-contractors and suppliers.

Stabilization of Wages

Chairman Davis of the War Labor Board said the WLB, in stabilizing incomes less than $5,000, "will act on the presumption that wage rates prevailing on September 15, 1942, are proper." The Board said "if a group of employees has received increases amounting to 15 per cent in their average straight-time rates over the level prevailing on January 1, 1941, the Board will not grant further increases as a correction for misadjustments. . . . The wage rate inequalities and the gross inequalities which may require adjustment under the stabilization program are those which represent manifest injustices that arise from unusual and unreasonable differences in wage rates."

Rationing

The Office of Price Administration announced all passenger cars will be eligible for recapping services or for replacement tires under the national mileage program effective November 22, but motorists will be limited by quotas to be assigned to rationing boards. The grade of the allowed in case recapping is impossible and will be determined by the amount of mileage allowed applicants in their gas ration books. Motorists asking more mileage than the basic ration must furnish specific, detailed information about their driving requirements on forms issued by OPA and available from November 12-15 at schoolhouses designated as registration sites. If the applicant's essential mileage is more than 150 miles a month, but less than 470, he will be issued a B book. Mileage of more than 470 miles will warrant a C book. Holders of C books must display stickers on their windshields indicating why they were granted extra gasoline.

"A Week of the War" summarizes information on the important developments of the week made available by official sources through 10 A. M. EWT, Monday, November 9.

Use Your Library

Every afternoon, 2:30 to 5. Mon. and Fri. evenings, 7:30 to 9.

Latest reports from the Springfield Library shows over 1,100 borrowers and a circulation of 1,683 books for the month of October. Sixty books were loaned two classes in the James Caldwell School for the period of one month, when they will be exchanged for as many more.

Among the 78 new books recently purchased for the pay shelf will be found an exciting mystery by Helen Tipping Miller entitled SHERIDAN ROAD. Eden Faraday was about to step into a taxi when the body of a man fell out of the door. Eden was taken to the police station and after establishing her innocence finds herself involved in a plot to bring a group of Nazi agents to bay.

EARLY SUMMER by Elizabeth Corbett gives an authentic picture of post Civil War days in Illinois. Sheba Warner, with five stepchildren to manage has plenty of problems to solve.

LOOK TO THE MOUNTAINS written by Le Grand Cannon, Jr., is an historical novel of New Hampshire before the Revolution. If you want to know how pioneers lived you can't do better than to read about Melissa and Whit Livingston and their place near Cornway Mountain.

The Post Office Department is starting the most gigantic task in its history—the movement of a deluge of Christmas parcels, cards and letters while maintaining the regular flow of millions of pieces of mail daily to and from our armed forces all over the world.

Indications are that the volume of Christmas mail will be the largest on record. Already in September, latest month for which figures are available, retail sales had reached a level second only to the record month of December, 1941, according to the Department of Commerce. And sales are rising. Such heavy purchases always presage heavy mailings.

If thousands of our soldiers, sailors, marines and civilian friends are not to be disappointed at Christmas time, the public must cooperate by mailing earlier than ever before and by addressing letters and parcels properly. The best efforts of the Post Office Department alone cannot be enough. In view of wartime difficulties faced by the postal system, the public must assist.

About 25,000 experienced postal workers already have been taken by the war service. Arrangements are under way to add thousands of temporary personnel to postal staffs, but this man power is hard to find and is inexperienced. Facilities of railroads and air lines are heavily taxed by movements of huge quantities of war materials and personnel. Extra trucks are almost impossible to obtain. Winter weather, hampering transportation, is beginning. The free-mailing privilege granted to members of the armed forces has raised their mailings some 30 per cent, it is estimated. Expansion of those forces also is adding rapidly to the postal burden.

The deadline already is past for mailing gifts to Army and Navy personnel overseas with assurance that the parcels will arrive by Christmas. The New York post office reports that in last October, 350,000 such parcels were handled daily in that office alone.

The Post Office Department is making strenuous efforts to avoid such a terrific jam as it faced in 1918 under similar conditions, during the First World War. It can succeed in those efforts—and avoid many heartaches for its patrons—if the public will cooperate by mailing early.

At the regular Wednesday assembly of the James Caldwell School, the speaker this week was Mrs. Hilda Kerner, author of "Refugees," which deals with conditions in Germany and her escape from there.

Consumer News

The grocery manufacturers and the grocers are all-out in the nutrition program and it is up to you, the consumer, to ask for all products that give extra value. Make the words "enriched," "fortified," "irradiated," and "restored" a part of your shopping list.

"Enriched" is applied to wheat flours and to bread and other foods made from them. When wheat is converted into snowy white flour which 97 per cent of the American public demands, some of the vitamins are removed. So, the millers and bakers have "enriched" white flour by adding vitamin B1 (thiamin), niacin and iron according to the recommendations made by the Committee on Foods and Nutrition of the National Research Council.

Evaporated milk, when diluted with an equal amount of water, meets the standard of whole milk. More than half of the evaporated milk on the market is "irradiated." Ultra-violet rays shine for a few seconds on a rapidly moving film of concentrated milk and the protein vitamin B naturally present in the milk is converted into vitamin D. Since few foods contain vitamin D, and because most of us do not get enough vitamin D, or "sunshine" vitamin, look for these foods.

When purchasing cereals look for cereals that have been "restored." Some cereals are naturally whole grain, their natural proportion of bran germ and endosperm are still there. Select your packages—of cereal with care and look for the added thiamin, niacin and iron and other minerals.

Vegetable margarine has almost always had the same amount of fat as butter, but lacked vitamin A. The more popular brands of margarine are "fortified" with vitamin A, to equal food grade butter.

It is entirely up to you, the housewife to ask for all of these products. By doing this you will obtain your money's worth—plus, and more buoyant health for yourself and your family. Start today and get in the habit of looking for foods labeled "enriched," "irradiated," "restored" and "fortified."

Your Garden This Week

BY FRED D. OSMUN, County Farming Agent

This has been a long autumn throughout Central Jersey, and it is only recently that we have had a frost that killed dahlias tops. It is advisable to harvest dahlias as soon as possible, for when it does get cold the base of the stalk where all the buds are located may freeze. It does not pay to leave these old favorites in the ground too late in November unless time is taken to mound them up well or to cover them with trash to keep them from freezing. Of course, if the weather turns warm and the soil does not freeze, dahlias will generally ripen a little better in the ground than if dug. However, they ripen very satisfactorily when dug, dried partially, and then packed away in some dry material such as air-dried peat-moss, dried ashes, excelsior or one of the sugar-cane-chicken litter.

This last material has been found very satisfactory for keeping them. Simply line the storage baskets or boxes with newspaper, shake most of the dirt from the dahlias, and be careful not to dry the roots too much. If the stalks are very large in diameter, it is advisable to dry them out well, however. Often it is a good plan to divide the clump through the stalks to two or three parts. Trim off broken and damaged roots and coat all cut surfaces with a mixture of hydrated lime and sulfur. Put the roots in the box and surround them with the dry material—it seems to absorb moisture but does not dry the roots out too much. Peat-moss may dry the roots if it is not air-dried; ashes do not seem to absorb moisture, but they get rather untidly. Sugar cane refuse from the whole, is much more satisfactory.

You can generally buy sugar cane refuse from any dealer in farm supplies. It seems to make a good backing for such plants as dahlias and cannas. If the roots are waxed, you are sure of their keeping; but even then, they should be stored away in some material. When properly applied, these materials act as insulation.

All Gladiolus Corms should have been dug, and should be treated with naphthalene to kill what things may be on them.

Dramatic Pupils To Offer Comedy Farce

"Juph" Jupiter," a comedy farce by Kurtz Gordon, will be presented in assembly at Regional High School on November 13, 20 and 25 by Miss Betty McCarthy's Dramatic classes. The first performance will be free to the school, the second will require a dues card for admission. The plot of the play concerns a mix-up involving three Broadway-street girls and a kidnapped heiress.

Miss McCarthy is directing with Harold Brocas, of New Providence Township, as assistant director. Robert Walker, Springfield, and Jackie Morrison, Springfield, are in charge of properties. Paul Ferrer, Springfield, and George Guadalupe, Garwood, are attending to the stage scenery. The prompters are Anna Marshall, Garwood, and Alice Grosskurtz, Kenilworth.

The cast includes June Davis, Mountainside; Elaine Hunt, Springfield; Sholech Kelly, Clark Township; Martha Kelly, Clark Township; Janet Hotsen, New Providence Township; Dorothy Ley, Kenilworth; Albert Nelson, Clark Township; John Metz, Springfield; Jack Lanning, Mountainside; Carol

The War Price and Rationing Board advises that it has received coupon books for fuel oil and kerosene rationing. The board asks you not to call for these books, rather you will be notified by mail when you may call at the rationing board offices, 315 Springfield Avenue, Summit, or the Springfield Town Hall.

Fuel Merchants Told Demand For Coal Will Be Filled

"There will be enough coal for everyone this winter." This is the report brought to Springfield by James P. Kelly, of Gallop County Coal & Lumber Co., from the conference conducted by the Fuel Merchants Association of New Jersey at the Hotel Commodore last Thursday and Friday.

Leaders of the fuel industry who addressed the assembly said that due to government urging, orders for coal were very heavy this summer, and now the reserve stock is low. Home-makers are asked not to fill their bins for the present, but to content themselves with one load of coal at a time. In this way the mines will be enabled to catch up with the demand, and the condition will be alleviated.

BUY WAR BONDS

Please look in your Telephone Directory before you call "Information"

This is a Wartime Request

Telephone "Information" facilities in New Jersey are now being used close to capacity, and must serve "about as is" throughout the war emergency. More than half of all calls to "Information" today are for numbers that are in the telephone directories of the callers. In peace times this extra operator work is just added service. But in war time it's actually waste, for it takes hundreds of trained operators and a large amount of equipment away from the No. 1 task of speeding essential calls. Please make it a rule to look up telephone numbers in your directory before calling "Information". It will greatly strengthen the effort to keep vital war calls moving swiftly.

BENNINGER GIVEN COMMISSION

Former Mountainside Recorder, Expert in Home Pigeon Field, Named Lieutenant in U. S. Army Signal Corps

MOUNTAINSIDe—Albert J. Benninger of New Providence road, the long pigeon fancier and an outstanding expert in the homing pigeon field, has been commissioned a lieutenant in the U. S. Army Signal Corps and is on 48-hour call for active service.

His opinion on homing pigeons as messengers in the carrier service has been duly recognized in view of the fact that during the last 12 years he has been called in as civilian adviser in this phase of operations.

Recently elected for his third term as vice-president of the International Federation of American Homing Pigeon Fanciers, Lieutenant Benninger is a former secretary and president of the New Jersey Homing Pigeon Concurrence Association which boasts a membership of almost 1,000 members. The latter organization is said to be the largest of its kind in the United States.

Lieutenant Benninger, who was schooled in the art of mating and breeding pigeons when a boy by his father and elder brother, is also deputy liaison officer to the Chief Signal Officer representing the International Federation of American Homing Pigeon Fanciers in the procurement of old bird breeders. Thousands of pairs of these birds were given over to the U. S. Government for Signal Corps use by the pigeon fanciers of New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania area under his direction.

In January 1942, Col. R. B. Lawton and Maj. John K. Shawhan of the Army Signal Corps called Benninger to Washington and requested his help in obtaining old bird breeders from members of the New Jersey association with the idea of loaning them to the Army for breeding purposes.

Under his direction 600 pairs of birds were loaned to the signal corps, free of cost. He has been the motivating force behind the mass voluntary conscription of the birds in this part of the country.

Lieutenant Benninger flies his birds out of their Westfield home to the Signal Corps, which is affiliated with both state and national associations.

Lieutenant Benninger has stated that homing pigeons are one of the most important factors in signal corps operations. He said many of these birds were destroyed during the early days of the war in Belgium where the homing pigeon originated, and expert care will have to be taken of the American birds for rehabilitation purposes after the conflict ceases.

The new signal corps officer became interested in homing pigeons many years ago when his brother, Lieut. Charles Benninger, of the Westfield Police Department, became a homing pigeon fan. Later Albert became a partner with his brother until the latter's duties increased to such an extent that he induced another brother, August, to take his share of the pigeon breeding.

The three brothers have more than 520 diplomas won by their birds in racing meets all over the United States. They have scores of cases filled with trophies and medals brought home by their pedigree birds.

Lieutenant Benninger's real estate and insurance business in Route 29 will be carried on during his absence by office assistants. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Benninger.

Small lights in front of homes and in store windows will be permitted, provided they conform to district regulations.

Director Dreyfus said store lighting must conform to the Army's orders as to the wattage per square foot. Outside lighting, whether on store fronts or in front of homes,
