BETTIQUETTE SAYS

So many girls are marrying the boys before they leave for the Army. They are worried about not doing things properly. We feel that it is very foolish in War times. Very few things are done formally or with too much elegance these days; people are just not in the mood. Do what you can, and how you can in the limited-time-you-have.—The people that love you and understand your problem certainly will not criticize you, and as for the rest of the world, if they don't realize your difficulties, it doesn't matter anyway.

Remember, it isn't the fuss and glitter that counts, but the man you are marrying is the important person to be considered. If you are the kind of person who enjoys accumulating possessions for the future, that is well and good, but do not buy "fadily" things that will not hold up or will not be stylish a few years hence. Good dishes, glassware, silverware, linens, that's the type of thing one should buy, rather than pictures, lamps, etc.

We would suggest that you keep your head, and do things normally as you are able in.

Here's another bit of sage counsel. Don't have a party that will take you 5 years to pay off the bills. People have short memories, and although your affair may be the talk of the town for 1 month, another function will be the gossip topic the next month, but your bills will still have to be met. Rather have a smaller group, do it up as elegantly as possible, and avoid the mob scene with the curiosity seekers who will mean nothing in your future happiness with your husband.

So many girls have asked about the serving of liquor at a wedding. That's a subject which this columnist will not discuss. Merely this generalization we can offer. If you have the type of family that disapproves, do not serve liquor. If it doesn't matter to them, use your own discretion.

A WEEK OF THE WAR

A summary of information on the important developments of the week made available by official sources through the Defense Advisory Committee of the National Editorial Association.

President Roosevelt ordered the Lend-Lease Administration to make available as soon as possible food, clothing and weapons of war to the armed forces and the citizens of the areas in North Africa occupied by U. S. troops.

By late November 13 Allied forces had extended the Algerian zone of occupation as far east as Bone, just 50 miles from Tunis. When French destroyers at Casablanca put up strong resistance against American naval units protecting U. S. troop landings there, the U. S. surface forces and dive bombers destroyed an entire flotilla of French destroyers and light craft and left the 35,000-ton French battleship Jean Bart a burning hulk.

The President described the African campaign as a smaller second front launched in lieu of a big-scale offensive against the Axis forces across the English Channel. He said that during Prime Minister Churchill's visit to Washington in June it was decided a major offensive across the Channel could not have been started until next year at the earliest.

War Secretary Stimson said that despite the fact that the Germans must have been aware some sort of large operation was in immediate prospect in North Africa, Axis efforts to intercept it with numerous submarines were futile. All U. S. forces moved to their points of attack, only one transport was torpedoed, and troops from this ship proceeded in their landing craft more than 100 miles to their destination.

Other War Fronts

In a 10-hour offensive on Jap shore positions on Guadalcanal November 12, air and surface forces of the Navy destroyed at least 30 and probably more out of 75 landing boats found at Tassafaronga, shot down 50 out of 31 Jap planes attempting to attack U. S. ships, silenced shore batteries and started large fires. The U. S. heavy cruiser San Francisco was damaged slightly and 30 members of the crew were killed when a disabled Jap plane crashed into it.

The U. S. submarine force in the Pacific has destroyed a Japanese transport and five of her crew killed by a 5-inch shell from an onmy shore battery. A Navy communique in the afternoon of September 14 said the naval engagements in the Solomons area were still in progress.

Selective Service

The President signed legislation lowering the draft age to 18 years. At the same time, he announced a committee of educators, working with the War and Navy Departments, would make a study of steps "to enable the young men whose education has been interrupted to resume their schooling and afford equal opportunity for the training and education of other young men of ability who are unable to attend because of the war."

Navy

Admiral William D. Leahy, Chief of Staff to President Roosevelt, said aircraft carriers, large and small, escort vessels, landing boats and other kinds of naval units are about to be built "with a timing almost equal to the pre-war mass production of motor cars." He said the U. S. is building submarines in a little more than one year, twice as fast as before the war; aircraft carriers are being built in 17 months; battleships, that used to require five years, now take three; destroyers require six months, one-third of the former time.

Farm Production and Prices

Economic Stabilization Director Byrnes said the ceiling on farm wages has been lifted until Agriculture Secretary Wickard can determine: (1) the effect of farm wages on farm production in the more critical farm labor shortage areas, and (2) where increases in farm wages may threaten to cause an increase in the price ceilings on farm products.

Rationing

The Office of Defense Transportation postponed its mileage rationing program for commercial vehicles from November 15 to December 7, after the Office of Price Administration postponed its nationwide gasoline rationing program for passenger cars from November 22 to December 1. The OPA also postponed its fuel oil rationing starting date from November 1 to 23.

Production and Labor Supply

OES Director Byrnes asked War Production Chairman Nelson to undertake a "vigorous program" to standardize goods produced for civilian consumption and to eliminate all frills and wasteful practices. Mr. Byrnes also asked the Office of Civilian Supply to determine the minimum civilian needs, and said it will be the OES policy to guarantee the American people at least their essential needs.

Labor Secretary Perkins, at the request of the War and Navy Departments and Maritime Commission, lowered the minimum age for women employed in war industries from 18 years to 16 years. The war agencies stated the continued inclusion in war contracts of the 18-year provision would "impair seriously the conduct of Government business by retarding essential production."

Consumer News

Homemaking is still the biggest industry in America. It is up to the homemaker to put the family on a "WEE" basis. So many women feel that staying home rearing children, getting meals and just keeping house today is not worthwhile.

1. Spend less and save more. Spend less for living this year than last. Make a family spending plan; hit-or-miss spending wastes time. There will be more taxes to pay. Lay aside money each month to pay for them. Liquidate your debts; do not make any new ones whatsoever. Buy more war bonds and stamps than last year.

2. Make things and have more. Some things we can make for ourselves. Use the talents you and your family have for cooking, preserving foods, making clothes, toys, and things to brighten your home. Learn how to use left-over materials. Do your own repairing and mending. Learn new skills. The family that knows how to use its hands can live better for the same money.

3. Cut waste and make things last. Everything we now have must last for the duration. Check your stove and furnace to see that no power or fuel is wasted. Conserve on lights. Use your sewing machine, washing machine and other equipment carefully. Keep them clean and oiled. Make repairs as soon as needed. Mend and make over clothes. Organize a neighborhood automobile-sharing plan to save tires and gasoline. Share other things, too.

4. Buy carefully. It's patriotic to be thrifty. Make every penny count. Before you purchase a thing make sure it is needed. Don't buy compare prices and values. Buy by grade, if possible. Find out ways to be thrifty.

ACTIVITIES OF MOUNTAINSIDE

'Fathers' Night' Held By Mountainside PTA

MOUNTAINSIDE—The Mountainside Parent-Teacher Association observed "Fathers' Night" with its second meeting held at the school last Thursday evening. Mrs. Theo. V. Mundy, president, presided.

The lunch room project, which has been thoroughly investigated by a committee headed by Mrs. H. J. Kazmar, was voted approved. The association will sponsor it, using funds obtained from a $50 check, which was a gift to the library last year and has now been conveyed by the Library Board. The executive board was empowered to select the annual treat for the children, to be paid for by the interest from a bond presented to the school in 1922 by Dr. J. V. Cates, of Scotch Plains.

The association voted to purchase a group membership for children 12 years and over to the Metropolitan Opera Guild. Mrs. Malcolm C. Cady, treasurer, announced the association will hold a "Neighborhood Food Sale" on December 3rd.

The second part of the program was in charge of the firemen, under Fire Chief Herman Honecker. Fire Prevention prize essays were read and winners were awarded prizes by Fire Chief Linden of Westfield. "Before the Alarm," a film on fire prevention, was shown. Firemen demonstrated the proper way to report a fire.

The remainder of the program was in the interest of Boy and Girl Scouts. Speakers for the Watchman Council were C. R. Hartman, for the Girl Scouts, and Robert Boyer for the Boy Scouts.

Treatments were served by fifth and sixth grade mothers under the direction of Mrs. Charles Wadwa and Mrs. Russell Knapp, hospitality chairman.

DEFENSE NEWS

As Furnished From State Defense Council

A MAN OR WOMAN ENTERING the military service must turn in his war ration book to his local War Price and Rationing board, the Office of Price Administration emphasized today.

Failure to observe this requirement may cause improper distribution of rationed commodities.

Regulations require that the ration books be returned to the boards not only in the case of persons entering the armed services, but also by civilians, such as Red Cross workers, or representatives of government agencies, or others, who leave the United States for more than 30 days. The ration books of persons who have died also must be returned to local boards.

These provisions in the rationing regulations must be observed, it was pointed out by OPA. Reports of return of the books both in areas where large numbers of men the books.

Today's reminder is issued in the belief that many have neglected their duty through ignorance of the regulation.
Use of these war ration books by others is a violation of the regulations it was stated.

Urges Holiday Gifts Be Mailed By Dec. 1

The bulk of Christmas mail must be in the post offices by December 1 this year if deliveries on time are to be assured, according to Smith W. Starnes, Special Assistant Postmaster General. Mr. Starnes is responsible to Postmaster General Frank C. Walker for smooth and efficient air and railway mail service.

Unprecedented wartime demands on the postal and transportation systems plus a prospective record volume of Christmas mailings, were cited by Mr. Starnes as necessitating earlier mailings than ever before. "It is physically impossible for the railroads and air lines, burdened with vitally important war materials, to handle Christmas mailings as rapidly as in normal times," Mr. Starnes said. "If the bulk of parcels and greeting cards are held back until the usual time—the period of about December 15 to 23—they simply cannot be distributed in time, and thousands of gifts will reach their destinations after Christmas."

In 1941, about 21,550 mail cars were required between December 12 and 21 to deliver Christmas mail. Enough cars to make a train 270 miles long. This year, the extra cars needed to move holiday mail are largely being used by the armed services, and a severe shortage is in prospect.

The postal service usually borrows about 2,500 trucks from the Army and other Government agencies, and needs about 1,000 from private owners, to handle the Christmas mail. This year it will be extremely difficult to obtain enough of these vehicles to meet even a substantial part of the need. The Army needs its own trucks and private owners are reluctant to let someone else use their tires.

Railroads are cooperating by converting some hundreds of steel box cars and similar equipment for mail transportation, and Joseph B. Eastman, Director of Defense Transportation, has ordered that unnecessary travel be curtailed to the limit during the holiday season. But these measures cannot assure deliveries of gifts on time unless the public cooperates by mailing early and thus spreading the transportation load over a longer period than usual.

Mr. Starnes called attention to the task of the Post Office Department in moving millions of pieces of mail every day to and from soldiers, sailors and marines throughout the world. This extraordinary job must be kept current, even while the holiday rush of mailings is handled. Also, he pointed out, the postal establishment is operat-

LOOKING BACKWARD

Ten Years Ago

Protest against flood conditions in the vicinity of the East Branch of the Halloway River was voiced by about thirty-five residents of Washington, Abigail, Battle Hill, Marion and Saint-Marys avenues and Idvorsky drive before the Township Committee. Heavy rains resulted in an overflow of the river which prevented residents in some cases from leaving their homes for several days. Mrs. Elwood Carmichael of Battle Hill avenue spoke for the group and asked for relief.

Continental Post 228, American Legion of Springfield was formally instituted at ceremonies in the Lichfield-Building, 240 Morris avenue. An automobile parade, with members of neighboring posts and local service men taking part, was held before the exercises.

Springfield schools, with a record of 100 took first place in punctuality in school districts of the county.

During the month of October, Dr. A. L. Johnson, county superintendent, reported...

The Springfield Football Club turned over its seventh straight win by defeating the Norwoods of Irvington at the Plover avenue Oval, by a score of 14-0.

Five Years Ago

NOVEMBER 20, 1937 The Board of Education decided that the corrective rearrangement of lighting on the local schools would be provided for in the 1938-39 school budget. Engineer Merrill Welch of the Jersey Central Power and Light Company, submitted numerous graphs and charts showing how the antiquated system of present lighting failed to furnish the full efficiency that could be derived from improved facilities.

Chief M. Chas. Tappan of the Springfield Police Department was one of the 27 graduates of the Rutgers University Traffic Officers' course at Trenton who received graduation certificates from Professor Maurice Chaffee of the University Extension staff at a dinner in the Woodrow Wilson Hotel, New Brunswick.

Randolph Frost, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gregg L. Frost of 315 Morris avenue, returned home from Overlook Hospital, where he was detained due to a broken shoulder suffered while playing football with schoolmates at the James Caldwell School.

One Year Ago

NOVEMBER 20, 1941 Four weddings took place this week of local residents. Miss Ruth M. Silence of Florham Park, former resident of Loven, was married to Spencer H. Gies, of East Orange. Mrs. Mary Jenkins of 265 Morris avenue and Raymond H. Bush of Newark were married in the rectory of the Sacred Heart Church.

Did you write this week to someone in the service? It builds up morale—especially if the news is good news.

November 28th Is Critical Day For Coffee Drinkers

"How many householders realize that there will be a penalty on coffee hoarding, whether the hoarding has been deliberate or careless, and November 28 is the day to know the supply on hand?" the local Consumer Interests Committee asks.

The new regulation, issued November 13 by the Office of Price Administration, says that any coffee in the cupboard in excess of one pound per person on November 28 will have to be consumed thereafter at the ration rate of one pound per person every five weeks, and no more can be purchased until the supply on hand is used.

The ruling will be enforced, we are told, through a registration to be conducted about the first of the year, when a new universal ration book is issued. For the start of coffee rationing, stamps 20 to 28 at the back of the sugar ration book will be used and no immediate registration will be entailed.

But when registration is held later for the new ration book, householders will be required to report the amount of coffee they had on hand November 28, and give up stamps from the sugar ration book to cover it. Thus hoarders will be prevented from using the sugar-ration stamps to buy coffee for use in excess of the ration rate.

So the smart hoarder looks to his cupboard for November 28, tries not to have more than a pound per person at the maximum and puts that number down where she can refer to it.

Vailsburgh, Miss Frances Garton of Kearney was the bride of Floyd Thurston of 106 Mountain avenue. And Miss Ruth J. Mettlich of Westfield became the bride of Lieut. Alton Lindberg of Mountbathide, who is with the U. S. Army Air Corps.

The engagement was announced of Miss Jean Baird of 49 Salter street to Harold Pound of Greenbrook.

Patrolman Nelson Stiles was the hero of the week, having participated in a 30-minute chase up Route 29 to assist in the apprehension of two Jersey City criminals, and having arrested another south on a charge of automobile theft.

Continental Chapter, Order of Eastern Stars, observed its twenty-first birthday at a chapter meeting in the lodge rooms, Millburn. Mrs. Anroy Brodhead of town was in charge.

Regional held Roselle High to a 6-6 first half deadlock, but failed to check the Roselle lead in the third quarter, which cost it a defeat in a final score of 25-12. Tommy Street, Regional's quarterback, ran 90 yards for a touchdown.

Get in the scrap to beat the Jap.

Gridders Lose, 25-0, To Roselle At Home

Regional failed to stem the tide and Roselle came to Springfield Saturday to outclass Gridders' eleven, 25-0. Frank Higgins, Roselle back, flared in every score, razing away two line backs for the first and second quarters, fumbling when crossing the goal in the third as a teammate recovered, and tossing a long pass for the final score in the closing period.

Wes Gill was Regional's only consistent ground gainer, while Callahan's good punting averted additional Roselle scoring.

The line-up: REGIONAL: L. E. McDaniel, T. G. Powers, L. G. Pines, W. E. Weaver, S. M. Schmitt, R. E. Jones, R. E. Walker, R. E. Miller, R. E. Toussaint, R. E. Jacobson, R. E. Loshner, R. E. Fanchowicz, R. E. Trench, R. E. Substitution: Regional: Irving, Altagier, Cull, Simms, Roselle: H. H. W. Weaver, R. E. Stiles, umpire: Croshaw, head linesman: Burdick.

Don't waste anything, for that means wasted money. Wasted money is wasted lives in wartime. Every dollar you can save should go toward War Bonds to help your state meet its quota.

splinter and blackout protection which takes care of the ventilation is good.

"Your messenger service is well trained, and we noted that you have two clocks which is good. Your building is good and your 'In-Message' form we believe to be good.

"We noticed that you had no warning lights on in the 'In-Message' room, and I think they should be installed.

"In the control room your warning lights are good and so is the auxiliary lighting. We would suggest that you have the pieces of the various services indicated at the Control Table. Your Available Service Chart is very good. We would suggest that your available services call in on incoming phones.

"The fact that you report your services as available again is very good. We believe that the original of the 'In-Message' form should be given to the controller. It should be checked in the morning and taken to the Logger.

"We came now to the field work. This was very good and it shows the result of a lot of patient and serious training. We wish to comment upon the first aid teams and casualty stations as you have them set up. The care and attention given this service by the doctors is evidenced by the smooth and efficient way in which this service operated. If it is not imposing upon you too much, we would like to send to your town some people from other towns who claim it can't be done, in order that you may show them how it can.

"The auxiliary police at the scene of the fourth incident, as far as the handling of traffic was concerned, did a fine job. The fire reserves were exceptionally well trained, and the air raid wardens seem to know their job.

"The only suggestion I would like to make regarding the medical service is that you do not use flat-top trucks. The fact that your services arrived at one incident within two minutes from the time it was called in was very good."

As vital to Victory as the fighters they serve...

This, more than any other war in history, is a war of movement... and America's railroads are the basic measure of our capacity for the swift, efficient movement of men and materials so necessary to win battles... and final victory.

We have well over twice as much track and twice as many freight cars as all the Axis powers combined. Our freight cars carry two to three times as much as theirs. Our locomotives, with far more power, pull longer trains at higher speeds.

Yes, we've got more and better equipment... thanks to over 11 billions spent by the railroads since 1920. And we're getting maximum service out of every piece of that equipment... thanks to twenty years of careful planning and organization plus all-out cooperation among railroads, government, shippers, receivers and the public.

That's why the railroads are meeting the tremendous demands of the nation's total war effort without confusion or delay. Every five seconds a freight train starts its run and a passenger train leaves its terminal. Every minute, a million and a quarter tons of freight are hauled one mile. On fighting front, production front, training front and home front, America's railroads are as vital to victory as the fighters they serve.

Every Lackawanna man is doing his full share, and then some, in this "Vital to Victory" effort. The load will get tougher... the way may be long... but these are railroad men doing the job and the job will be done.

GAS IS A WAR FUEL

Anything that helps to win this war is a contribution. Saving gas helps and that is one thing you can do. The army needs planes and tanks and bombs. Gas is needed to make them.

Think again when you let taps drip. That's wasting gas. When you keep hot water running while you wash the dishes, when you leave the gas refrigerator door open—when you use a small cooking vessel on a giant gas burner—you are wasting gas. Save gas and help to win the war.
