Davis, Wagner Finish In Tie For Position On Boro School Board

MOUNTAINSIDE—Only once before in recent history has there been a tie vote for Board of Education posts in Union County and it occurred in MountainSide.

Under the State law, Dr. Arthur L. Johnson, county school superintendent, will have the authority to select either Mr. Davis or Mr. Wagner for the vacant board position.

At Dr. Johnson's office in the Courthouse, Elizabethtown, the SUN was informed yesterday the superintendent was out of town, and would not be able to make an appointment until next week.

The last time the borough had a tie vote took place when Mrs. William Von Borstel and William Wickler were deadlocked, and Dr. Johnson named Mrs. Von Borstel.

It was learned that Tuesday's election had two votes thrown out by board officials and voided.

Current expenses of $22,569, were carried by 109 to 8. The repairs and replacements appropriation of $1,000 won, 110 to 16, and manual training and domestic arts, of $600, won by 108 to 12.

Charles Herrick was clerk of elections, with Mrs. Henry C. Weber as clerk, and Mrs. Gilbert Pittenger and Charles W. Mundy as tellers.

Whether they will be the basis of Dr. Johnson's appointment or reason for a recount of votes is a question left unanswered.

Standing committee heads are: Mrs. Tiley, librarian service and house; Anderson, finance; Mrs. Ruppel, books; and Mrs. Smith, public relations.

As a result of the resignation of Henry C. McMullen, Ralph H. Tiley of 29 Bryant avenue was named chairman of the Springfield Defense Council Tuesday night by Mayor Chairman Wilbur Selander.

Mr. Merrill also stated that the Board is seeking the cooperation of the citizens, rather than imposing sentences, and for that reason was writing to supposed violators who have been reported instead of summoning them to appear before the Board for a public hearing.

Office Corcoran reported the case to the local board, stating that he took the number of the car and recognized Sommo; also that he spoke to him and the latter responded. Sommo's ally was that afternoon behind Edison School.

A fractured right leg and numerous other injuries sustained at 6:35 A. M. Saturday in an accident on Route 29 between Hillside avenue and the Railway River bridge injured Joseph C. German, 58, of Valley street, New Market, in Overlook Hospital.

A WEEK OF THE WAR

A summary of information on the important developments of the week made available by official sources through the Defense Advisory Committee of the National Editorial Association.

Monsieur, the point at which Allied forces in central Tunisia are driving has a strategic importance to both the Allies and the Axis. If the Allies take Maknassy and press on 31 miles to Ghaba, they will have driven a wedge between Marshal Rommel's Afrika Korps and the Axis forces of General von Arnim in the northern sector of Tunisia, and the Afrika Korps will be trapped between the British Eighth Army and the central Allied wedge.

Ghaba dominates the coastal road that runs up the eastern side of Tunisia and its capture would also separate the two vital Axis supply routes from the northwest and the southwest, showed considerable gains. The northern column, striking from the area of Sidi Bou Zid, 29 miles from Maknassy, progressed without "exceptionally heavy" opposition. The second column, striking eastward and north from Gafsa, met heavy air and artillery resistance at Smed, 22 miles southwest of Maknassy, but captured that station and dug into positions about a mile east. Allied infantry have attacked enemy positions at Faid, and important mountain passes in central Tunisia where the Germans control a high ridge running north and south and extending almost to Maknassy.

Continuing this drive on the Tunisian east coast, Allied bombers on February 3 (Wednesday) attacked an Axis airdrome at Gabes and enemy forces near the coast, destroying six enemy planes but losing eight. Secretary of War Stimson on Thursday, February 4, told reporters that British and American planes are already using Axis-made airfields at Tripoli to carry on round-the-clock raids against Rommel's retreating columns and on Axis shipping in the Mediterranean. The land fighting in Tunisia has not appeared to be growing in scope, but had not yet reached anything like the proportions of a major battle.

In attacking the Japanese effort to regain control of the entire Solomon area, the Navy said air and surface engagements between U. S. and enemy forces were continuing. Both U. S. and Japanese forces had suffered losses, the announcement said, but the military situation did not permit publication of more details at that time. Secretary of the Navy-Knox described those engagements as a process of "feeding out" by both sides—preliminary actions involving "reconnaissance in force." Navy Communiqué No. 271, issued Thursday, February 4, shed no new light on the action, stating only that details concerning recurrent contacts between U. S. and Japanese air and surface forces will not be announced as long as such information might jeopardize the safety of our forces in the area of operations. Japanese planes bombed U. S. positions on Guadalcanal, but U. S. planes continued their attacks on Aboula and General MacArthur's air force kept up its almost daily attacks on Rabaul and on enemy shipping in the vicinity.

On his return from a three weeks trip to the South Pacific, Secretary Knox said that substantially all organized resistance by Japanese ground forces on Guadalcanal had been cleaned up and that American forces now completely dominate the Guadalcanal area. On Monday and Tuesday, February 1 and 2, U. S. ground forces on the island continued their advance to the west, crossed the longest River (one-half mile east of Tasafironga and about 10 miles west of Henderson Field), occupied elevated positions west of the river, captured considerable enemy equipment and killed about 100 Japanese.

Know Your Red Cross

Provided by the Springfield Red Cross for the 1943 War Fund Drive in Conjunction with National Red Cross Headquarters.

Don't forget the Red Cross War Fund Drive opens March 1. By that time we plan to have everyone in Springfield completely informed about the National and local Red Cross organization, and we hope to have at least one question a week in which everyone will be interested. Should you find some of the questions uninteresting or should you already know the answers, don't stop reading this information. We probably shall answer your questions in one of the installments.

This week we have decided to go into more detail with several inquiries. These are the questions and answers chosen:

Q. Is the Red Cross a department of our Federal Government?

A. No, but it is a quasi-governmental agency. By authority of its congressional charter, it is the official agency for disaster relief and the official "medium of communication between the people of the United States, America and their Army and Navy."

Q. What is the relationship between the Red Cross and Medical Departments of the Army and Navy?

A. The Red Cross functions as a part of the Medical Departments of the Army and Navy under regulations issued by each, prescribing Red Cross duties and responsibilities. Its duties are not limited to the Medical Departments since it serves able-bodied men as well as the sick and wounded.

Q. Who are the officers of the American National Red Cross and how are they elected?

A. The President of the United States is by virtue of his office and upon acceptance, ex officio President of the American National Red Cross. Its Vice-Presidents are Chief Justice Stone, former Chief Justice Hughes, and former President Hoover; its Treasurer is Daniel W. Bell, Attorney General of the U. S. and its Secretary, Miss Mabel T. Boardman. Except for the President, the officers are elected by the Central Committee.

Q. Who are the incorporators of the Red Cross and why do they elect one-third of the Central Committee?

A. They are a group of organizers and their successors as provided in the congressional charter.

Waste Not, Want Not

Tonight we had a braised stuffed heart for dinner. There was something special about the meal. We all had the grandest feeling. Something you couldn't quite touch. But we think we know what it was. Our family was being well fed. We were keeping healthy. We were eating a new kind of meat and learning to like it. Our steak was on its way to Africa to feed someone more important than we—and we were helping to win the war.

We can no longer play ostrich. The good cuts of meat are going to our soldiers and they deserve them. Let's face facts instead of covering our heads. The rib roasts and steaks are no longer with us. Let's use what we have and let's even farm it into something special. Let's be happy and healthy with the meat cuts that are available and—let's help win the war!

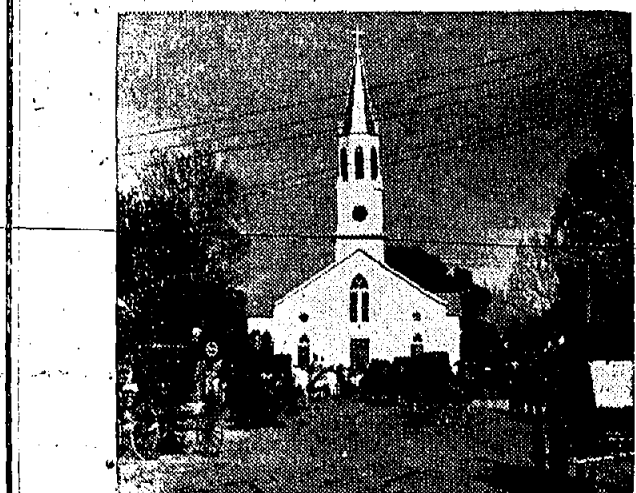

Here is our recipe for Braised Stuffed Heart taken from the Farmers' Bulletin No. 1908, U. S. Department of Agriculture, page 41:

BRAISED STUFFED HEART

Select one beef heart or two or three calf hearts. Wash and slit the heart, remove gristle and blood vessels. For the stuffing, chop an onion and a stalk of celery and cook in two tablespoons of fat; add two or three cups of soft bread crumbs and season to taste with salt and pepper. "Fryme" goes well with heart; add a pinch to the stuffing. Fill the heart with stuffing and sew up slit. Brown the heart on all sides in fat; place it in a baking dish or casserole; add ½ cup of water; cover closely and cook until tender in a very moderate oven (about 300 degrees F.). A beef heart will require about 4 hours, a calf heart will cook tender in a much shorter time, about 1½ hours. Make gravy of the drippings.

Listen to your black leader.

She has a story worth hearing about the variety cuts of meat.
