Republican Candidates For Township Committee
Announce They'll Run Together In Primary

CHARLES PHILLIPS

Township Committeeman Charles Phillips and candidate Harry Nulph have announced that they will bracket as candidates for the Republican nomination in the forthcoming primary election.

The following statement was issued by their campaign committee:

"Both Phillips and Nulph strongly advocate a sound Town Planning Program. They have devoted a considerable amount of time and work on this subject as it affects anticipated future expansion of our local school system. Their only interest in seeking election is for the improvement and advancement of Springfield as a progressive community of home owners.

"They present themselves as candidates willing to serve without fear or favor and without obligation to any individual or self-serving group. When elected they propose, however, to consider impartially any and all constructive criticism

HARRY NULPH

In the interest of better government. Since his election to the Township Committee, Mr. Phillips has proven his sincerity of these principles and has sponsored the creation of a Planning Committee now being organized. Its continuance in office is necessary to the most successful completion of the Planning Program.

"Phillips and Nulph have both devoted years to public service, neither asking nor receiving financial compensation.

"Mr. Phillips is an experienced business man holding an executive financial position which ably fits him to guide the finances of the town, as he did for many years as chairman of the finance committee of the Springfield Board of Education.

"Phillips and Nulph offer to appear before any group of voters to answer questions and discuss problems incident to the issues of the campaign."

Articles Sought By Rummage Committee

The Rummage Shop Committee is in need of additional used clothing and other articles, such as curtains, spreads, drapes, books, magazines, comic books, small lamps and the like. If readers wish to donate the articles, the proceeds will be used for charitable purposes. However, if they have anything in exceptionally good condition that they wish to sell they are asked to bring it in and the committee will sell it and refund approximately two-thirds of the selling price to the owner after the article has been sold.

Any articles on which refunds are requested, must be clearly marked with the name and address of the owner, and a notation to the effect that a refund is desired.

For further information phone members of the committee, as follows: Mrs. Clifford Walker, Millburn 6-1875-R; Mrs. Edward McCarthy, Sr., Millburn 6-6812-J; Mrs. Alex Ferguson, Millburn 6-0940; or Mrs. Roland W. Nye, Millburn 6-1681-W.

Playground Activities

During the past week the children have been very active during the morning handcraft sessions in making serving trays and other household articles. The painting of the trays was under the direction of Miss Genevieve Butler, assistant playground director.

Last Wednesday Mrs. Ruleson, Union County nature supervisor, came to the playground and brought a varied collection of live snakes, turtles and frogs. She told the children how to distinguish between poisonous and non-poisonous snakes, how to handle various types of land and water turtles, and how to identify species of toads and frogs.

In the bicycle races, Herbert Penoyer and Richard Sherry were winners. Billy Broadhead and Jack Ambrose took second place, and Richard Schroeder came in third. Anna Catherine won first place among the girls.

Boy winners in the tie-tac-toe contest were Harold Scaries, first; Richard Schroeder, second; and Richard Sherry, third. Winners among the girls were Marilyn Rein and Jean Fierhorn, respectively.

In the Joseph Lee flag recognition contest, the flags of the United Nations were displayed, and the children were asked to identify each flag. Paper and pencils were distributed and the children went "back to school" for a half hour.

The winners were Richard Schroeder, Herbert Penoyer and Florie Butler, in that order.

A quote contest was held, and gifts which placed were: Anna Catherine, first; Josephine Hansen, second; Anita Weiss, third. Boy winners included Clifford Ferguson, Richard Sherry and Richard Nelson.

Richard Sherry, Herbert Penoyer and Frank Scarlino each have 150 or more points towards the medal which is given at the end of the playground season to any boy or girl, earning 200 or more contest points.

9 Residents Fined Loss Of A Coupons For July 4 Driving

Of the thirty Springfield residents brought up before the Newark District OPA Friday night for driving to the July 4 celebration here, only nine were deprived of their "A" ration books. The other twenty-one cases were released by Arthur R. Lewis, special OPA hearing officer.

A patriotic celebration in itself does not excuse driving, Lewis said, but civilian defense, normal scout and police activities in conjunction with such an affair do justify motoring in the absence of another means of transportation.

The penalties were imposed despite a plea by Henry C. McMullen, vice chairman of the celebration committee, that he and Mayor Sclander would prefer to take full responsibility for any committee members who drove to the affair. Mr. McMullen, local attorney, acted as volunteer counsel for all the defendants, committee and non-committee members alike. The prosecuting attorneys were William S. Greene, Jr., and Kenneth V. Fisher. Although McMullen and Sclander walked to the celebration themselves, they were both at the hearing.

Those penalized included James H. Duguid, of 20 Moller avenue, who explained that his wife, a member of the committee, had used his car to drive a Wac, and Wave, a soldier and a sailor, members of the Camp Kilmer delegation, to the celebration and Thomas C. Davidson, of 53 Mountain avenue, who portrayed George Washington in the parade and had used his car to transport a 60-pound target for an archery exhibition. Both had their "A" ration books taken away for two weeks.

Another suspension was given to Edward Beck of 230 Morris avenue who had driven to the affair in his official capacity as special CDVO policeman to see if he could be of any assistance. Beck was first given a duration suspension when he failed to appear Friday night, but upon receipt of his explanation the following day, the suspension was reduced to two weeks. Lewis said that Beck could have walked from his home which was, according to the defendant, one-half to three-quarters of a mile from the grounds.

Louis M. Stiles of Mountain avenue drew a month's suspension because he drove a sailor nephew to the grounds in search of the latter's sister. A two-week penalty was assessed against Albert W. Booth of 162 Bryant avenue for a slight deviation in stopping at the celebration on his way home from an essential shopping trip. Albert R. Perrot, 431 Robins street, 2576, got a month's suspension for driving his wife who was to ill to walk.

A three-week suspension was handed William Seal of 64 Warner avenue who used his car to attend the celebration, and take orders for ice cream and soda for his store if the supply ran out. Seal said that he left early without taking any orders when he heard that the OPA investigators were taking license numbers.

Robert E. Kaplan of 328 Morris avenue took a two-month suspension for driving his sick wife to the grounds. Mrs. Matilda R. Schroter of 24 Warner avenue received a three-month suspension for driving an ailing child to see the parade.

RAKOSKIE BROTHERS REUNITED
First Time They Were Together in Six Years At Home; Birthday and Engagement Also Marked

CPL. JOSEPH RAKOSKIE

CPL. ALPHONSE RAKOSKIE

It was a happy reunion on Wednesday evening of last week for Corporal Alphonse M. Rakoskie and Corporal Joseph J. Rakoskie, sons of Mrs. Theresa Kwapiak of 79 Tooker avenue. This meeting was the first time the brothers had been together in six years and it was also a joint birthday party for them. The third event of the evening was the announcing of the engagement of Miss Sophie Fisher of Jersey City to the younger brother, Corporal Joseph.

Alphonse is at an Army hospital in Staten Island recovering from wounds received in North Africa. He has been in the service for over five years. His wife, the former Evelyn Bate of Irvington, resides with his mother. Joseph is with the Gilder Infantry, stationed at Camp Mackall, Hoffman, N. C., and has been in the armed forces fourteen months.

Thirty guests were present on Wednesday evening at the party in honor of the two boys.

ISSUES REPORT ON OPA HEARING
Henry McMullen, Counsel For Defendants, Outlines Background Of Case Arising From July 4 Event

To the Editor of the SUN:

Through the columns of your paper, I wish to present to the people of Springfield a full report of the controversy with the O.P.A. resulting from alleged violation of the regulations restricting operation of automobiles. As the final determination was not made until Friday evening, July 30th, I have hesitated to publish the facts for fear of possible prejudice to the interests of our accused citizens.

There were thirty alleged violations charged against cars parked at the rear of the Regional High School on July 4th. Twenty-three of these alleged violators were identified as members of the Mayor's July 4th Committee and, at the hearing, the charges against all but two were completely dismissed. It was admitted by the hearing committee that these two people were actively engaged in the patriotic program but, as their services could not be considered as "an occupational use," they had to be adjudged as technically violating the regulations. The penalty in each case was a two-week suspension of "A" book. Neither the Commissioner nor the Prosecutor for the government disputed the fact that the Mayor's July 4th Committee was a legitimate patriotic organization. They contended that the Governor's call for services did not permit the use of automobiles even though necessary to the program. This contention is obviously ridiculous.

It is my opinion that the hearing, held in Newark, at the insistence of Enforcement Attorney William Sherman Greene constituted an unnecessary exercise of apparent authority. Mr. Greene, in the presence of other attorneys of the Newark District O. P. A. and Mr. Titley, Chairman of Springfield Defense Council, was presented with the facts adduced at the hearing, two weeks ago. Nevertheless, he refused to permit the alleged violators to submit affidavits, a privilege commonly accorded, and he refused holding the hearing in Springfield or at the office of the Summit Local Board. The only justification he submitted for his action was that he had received a letter, from an undisclosed person of Springfield, in which it was charged that "these people are represented by an attorney and it is understood that the fix is in." Greene was convinced that, in the face of such a charge, justice could only be meted out by a hearing which, for good reason, had to be held in Newark. He refused to consider the inconvenience of travel and loss of time to the citizens, almost all of whom have been proven completely innocent. I believe that this arbitrary stand of a servant of the Government concerning a matter of

Letter to President, Congress Criticizes Plan As Unfair; Argues Single Men Go First

In an unprecedented action, criticizing the move of War Manpower Commissioner McNutt to draft fathers beginning October 1, Local Selective Service Board No. 2 of Springfield and Union announced yesterday that its protests against the plan had been sent to President Roosevelt, members of Congress, Selective Service officials and to the 48 State Governors.

Ration Board Gives Oil To School, Coal Action Is Delayed

The Springfield Board of Education was notified Tuesday night that the district Ration Board in Summit allotted 7,700 gallons of fuel oil to heat the Raymond Chisholm School for the 1943-44 term, as the school board was prepared to act upon converting the school to coal.

At a recent election, voters approved the conversion plan at a cost of about $3,000, after the Ration Board declared it could not issue any additional fuel oil next year, but resumption of the OPA showed that the cost of conversion was in excess of 7 cents per gallon. This was declared as providing an exception to the ruling, thus leading to the decision of OPA to grant the oil.

The building and grounds committee reported that the amount was inadequate for its needs, even with every economy and was authorized to use its best efforts to obtain additional fuel.

Action on awarding contract for the new coal burning equipment was postponed since no bids were received for 75 tons of bituminous coal.

Faced with no coal and not enough oil, the school board voted to delay any action pending further consultation, with its next meeting scheduled for August 17.

CLOSED WEDNESDAYS

The holiday atmosphere along Morris avenue Wednesday was due to the policy of all local food stores, hatter shops and many retail stores to remain closed that day until further notice. A committee comprised of James Fanchon and Les Schuman approached the storekeepers last week and most of them agreed, due to the shortage of materials and food stuffs, plus the need of an extra day's rest due to the manpower situation, to go along with the closing plan. It was indicated that after Labor Day, the stores would resume opening on Wednesdays.

Missing Youth Found

Robert Ansley, 15 year old school boy of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ansley of 69 Hillside avenue, Chatham, was found Tuesday night at 11:25 in Morris avenue, after having been reported by anxious parents as missing. The boy was picked up by Officers Kallens and Smith.

Board Is Shocked

This Board is shocked beyond measure at such a pronouncement. Wife and mother can hold only War Manpower Commissioner McNutt responsible for H. Throat, unbusiness and PEAR are wounding their way to the American home. It becomes your duty to dispel these harbingers of ill-will by immediately advising your constituents that you will do all within your power to upset Commissioner McNutt's plans until the System operates fairly. This Board is ready to classify ALL fathers in 3-D so long as it has ONE single man deferred.

Recently, Local Board No. 2 for Union County, N. J., of which the undersigned is Chairman, posted a "DISPENSED AND WAIVED" list. This made public the names and addresses of all men, single when they registered under the Selective Service Act, deferred because some of them actually possessed the necessary qualifications to retrieve a screwdriver dropped by some defense plant boss.

Such information, we believe, belonged to a public which daily sees Selective Service Boards break up established homes of married couples to induct the husbands while a lad of 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, etc., single and with no dependency worries, stands fifty by with a broad smile induced by a Board of Appeals, vested-defendant classification demanded by an industrial personnel director.

This sham is brought about through abuse of the now famed request to employers. It gives companies the right to recommend non-induction those who refuse to be company "YES" men. It gives them the right to recommend for deferment the pet or stool pigeon who is no more essential to his job than a halo to my head or yours.

You need but consult any Local Board member in your own area to be convinced that some industrialists are taking advantage of the replacement schedule. They repeatedly ignore the rules concerning its operation and with the approbation, not of Local Boards, but of Boards of Appeal and State directors who have no alternative.

It is my sincere belief that a sufficient number of single men now deferred can be mustered into service to meet the Army's needs. In the event the number is short, then would be the time to induct childless husbands but NOT fathers.

Define Father

Which brings us to the subject of who is a father?

A man should be recognized as a father regardless of the birth date of his child. We know of instances where husband and wife worked 12 or more years. Both enjoyed good salaries. Both enjoyed good lives. Neither was held down by secret debts of parenthood. Not until Selective Service came into existence did they learn how to become par-

FROM GARDEN TO SHELF Lining Up the Limas

By MARY W. ARMSTRONG County Home Demonstration Agent

Shelled snap beans, lima beans, and soy beans harvested during summer months are easily canned, frozen, dried, or brined.

Although the shelling is tedious and time-consuming, the best plan is to aim to preserve the beans on the same day they are picked.

If your bushes or vines are so prolific that you can pick a bushel of beans at a time, you will be able to can or freeze 16 to 20 pints. You can estimate the yield, too, by figuring that each pound of shelled beans will fill one pint. It is recommended that all shelled beans be canned in pint jars in order to be certain that the cooking during processing will be thorough.

Soy beans shell more readily when the pods have been boiled from two to five minutes.

Hot-Packed Beans

Wash the shelled beans and grade them for size, canning only the youngest and most tender ones. Cover the beans with boiling water and boil them for five minutes. Add hot pint jars up to within one inch of the top, with beans and the liquid in which they were cooked. Add half teaspoon of cooking salt to each pint. Carefully remove any air bubbles remaining in the jar. Completely seal self-sealing jars or partially seal all other types before processing.

Processing in the pressure cooker is by far the safest method of effecting thorough sterilization. Lima beans are processed at 10 pounds pressure for 60 minutes, but soy and shelled snap beans are processed for 80 minutes.

Rather than allow a surplus to go to waste for lack of a pressure cooker, plan to can and process all types of beans in a boiling hot water bath for 180 minutes. Be sure the boiling water covers the jar tops by one inch. Begin counting the time when the water boils again after adding the jars. All jars of beans—preceded by this method must be boiled for 10 minutes before they are tasted or served.

Frozen Limas

The several varieties of lima beans suitable for freezing are Yorkfield, New Improved Bush, Challenger, and King of the Garden. Freshness is as important a factor in assuring a high quality frozen product as it is in canning. Plan to freeze only tender, green beans.

As usual, the beans must be blanched either in steam or in a large quantity of boiling water to inactivate the enzymes present and kill some of the micro-organisms adhering to the food. They are blanched for one minute, medium ones for 1 1/2 minutes, and the larger ones for two minutes. Blanching in steam requires covered and half as long as blanching in boiling water. Begin counting the time when the water boils again after adding the vegetables, which have been placed in a large square cheesecloth or a fine-meshed wire rack.

After boiling them, plunge the beans quickly into ice-cold water. Temperature reaches 60 to 70 degrees Fahrenheit.

Put moisture-vapor-proof containers with the beans, seal, and freeze immediately—at minus 10 degrees Fahrenheit either in your home freezing unit or at a locker plant.

Dried and Brined Limas

Both immature and fully mature beans may be dried. The dried mature beans may be left on the plant until they are thoroughly dry, but directions for drying the young green ones should be obtained from the circular "Food Preservation by Drying," which is available at your County Extension Service office.

Additional tender lima beans left in the pods may be preserved in a strong brine solution. Full directions are given in "Salting and Brining," another circular available at the Extension Service office.

NEXT WEEK: Preserving Foods in Brine.

Editor's Mail

To the Editor of the SUN:

I read with special interest Aviation Cadet John R. Elsworth's account of the Army Air Corps training program, given in a recent issue of the SUN. He gave an informative and comprehensive picture of the program and it's evident that he feels proud to be associated with the Army Air Corps.

I'm not acquainted with Mr. Elsworth but from my own experience as an instructor in a preflight school, I've never worked with a finer group of men. From day-break till they get their bed covers, aviation cadets work hard, whether at calligraphies, drill, flying, or classes. Yet their disposition is surprisingly free of irritability and complaint. You see them marching to class, the rhythmic cadence of their steps keeping time with their singing—they make a fine chorus, too. Among them you find recent high school graduates, students who have temporarily left college, married men with children, servicemen who have felt the contours of a foxhole—but all of them men now, serious, determined, yet with a sense of humor.

The average college student carrying a schedule of 4 to 6 hours of classwork daily might consider his load a heavy one. But the aviation cadet carries almost twice that daily. He has no time to sneak away to a quiet place and put in a couple of hours of hard study for the next day's assignment. He's got to make every minute in the class count.

Regardless of the season of the year, there's no let-up in the schedule. Here in Arizona right now with the temperature well above the century point you find cadets working as hard as had previous cadets during the cooler months. It's pretty hard to concentrate in the heat of the day and it's easy to fall asleep, but these men have disciplined themselves. It's no place for sitters.

It is said that the aviation cadet is noted for good looks, mental alertness, and neural and muscular coordination. Having taught hundreds of them, I'm inclined to agree with this observation. The fact that they possess above-average coordination, mentally and physically, is evident in their singing and marching. They seem to derive pleasure in marching, perhaps because marching makes demands on muscular coordination. Singing also demands coordination and every flight appears to have a beat for vocal harmony. Dancing is popular among them as is listening to music. Naturally, these appeal to persons with an appreciation for rhythm and coordination.

It's rather uncommon, in fact rare, to find among cadets individuals who for some reason fall to fall into step as well as they should. I think the Army Air Corps is doing a thorough job in selecting the right men for this type of service and this training is more permanent than most people realize. It will endure because it is not simply training in skills and well.

Frank Bond, Arizona State Teachers College, Tempe, Arizona, July 28, 1943.

Editor's Note: Mr. Bond taught general and senior science at Regional High School from September, 1942, to January, 1943, previous to assuming his present position with the Army Air Corps. He had taught in Pennsylvania prior to coming to Regional.

EMBLEMS GIVEN TO OPERATORS

Rose Rodgers of Toolek Avenue and Mrs. Elizabeth Szman, operators at the Millburn exchange, are shown receiving from Mrs. Ethel Maloy, chief operator, the new Bell System emblem which identifies them as workers in essential wartime telephone service. Due to the need to keep the switchboard fully manned to carry a steadily mounting load of wartime telephone traffic, which has increased from an average of 15,500 calls daily in 1940 to 48,000 a day now in Millburn, the emblems are being presented individually rather than in a general ceremony.

The emblem shows a telephone superimposed on a tri-color red, white and blue background. The presentation note, which accompanies it, carries the following quotation from a recent statement to the telephone women of the nation by Major General Dawson Obmstead:

"Whether you work at a commercial counter, a switchboard, a desk or a typewriter, you are an essential part of America's communication system—and are rendering a vital service to your country in wartime. The jobs you do are all vital—so—the telephone system—like the Army—needs many different skills to keep its complex organization running smoothly and efficiently. . . . The responsibility of keeping open the lines of communication rests with each of you. . . . We count on you to meet it."

OPA Lifts Ban On Auto Trips To Bonnie Burn

NEW PROVIDENCE TOWNSHIP

A persistent fight by Freeholder J. H. M. Dudley to obtain auto travel permits for relatives of patients at Bonnie Burn Sanatorium in New Providence Township resulted Tuesday in capitulation by the Office of Price Administration, which had banned such trips as non-essential.

Beginning yesterday, Dudley was authorized to issue letters to patients' relatives, permitting visits by auto to the institution on specific dates. Use of cars for this purpose on the date designated will be allowed by the OPA without prescription, Dudley was promised.

Trips to State institutions, excepting those in Trenton and Vineland which have adequate public transit facilities, also are authorized if approved by Dudley.

This arrangement followed a conference among the freeholders, Jerome A. Collins, acting OPA director for Northern New Jersey, and Arthur R. Lewis, chief enforcement officer.

Dudley, chairman of the freeholders' welfare committee, last spring had been issuing such letters, after physicians at Bonnie Burn had assured him visits by relatives had definite therapeutic value to the patients. The OPA stopped it, however, coincident with the prohibition of pleasure driving, and Dudley began a campaign to lift the ban. He took his plea to Washington but met little success. He next wrote a long and detailed report which, ultimately, led to the conference with Collins and Lewis.

There's little, if anything, to compare with the delicious taste of really fresh vegetables—cooked shortly after they've been taken from the garden.

Why not induct ALL single men under a specified age unless they are, and for two years have been, enrolled in medical, dental, divinity, engineering, etc., students.

Why not immediately remove the barrier which prevents a man from enlisting or volunteering for induction because his company refuses to issue a release? This procedure would definitely leave the patriotic buster: "I'd be in there fighting if it wasn't for my boss. Too many hide behind that claim."

Why not recommend that certain disqualified registrants now carrying I-P cards be returned for re-examination and possible induction? It might be well to suggest that psychiatrists be appointed to examine some registrants whose new induction status pronouncement might be "psychoneurosis."

Why not compel industrialists to give up to the replacement schedule with a view of taking the administration of Selective Service from industrial personnel directors, who now control it, and return it to General Hershby and Local Boards, with no strings attached, where the Selective Service Act intends it to be? Commissioner McNutt was the midwife at the schedule's birth.

Why not speed up the processing of conscientious objector camp prospects so assignment may be made immediately rather than from 5 to 17 months from the time processing starts.

Why not forbid defense plant employers to engage a conscientious objector whose affidavit shows he will take part in NO program connected with the war effort?

Why not grant Local Boards the right to take some action when it believes a registrant appears merely for the sake of stalling for time?

Why not recommend a special classification for those disqualified from serving their country because of a criminal record or because of a discharge other than honorable for previous military service? It is most unfair to men disqualified for physical or mental reasons to have them cast in the same category as I-P's.

It is our honest opinion that you owe a duty and a responsibility to those whom you represent in public office—Your Local Boards will welcome your legislation. They will applaud your acts.

Ours is but one board in the System. Though disorganized and discouraged at an apparent unfairness in the operation of the System, this Board WILL NOT QUIT. It will have to be DISMISSED. And to obtain that, a State Director must have cause. Who knows but perhaps this letter will give birth to that cause? Unless some changes are brought about, we feel this Board has outlived its usefulness. Its further continuance would be to open

That's only one of the rewards of a successful Victory Garden—Others are:

• Plenty of fresh, wholesome vegetables for your family during the summer and fall—and enough to store for winter.

• You will be somewhat independent of food rationing.

• You will release more food for our fighting men.

There's nothing to compare with pure, fresh water. There's no substitute for it. For your health's sake, drink plenty of it and take a daily bath.

Draft Board Raps Calling Fathers

ents. Ours is not to question how, when or why they learned the recipe. The fact is they now are parents of a child or children. That husband is a father. He is the head of the foundation stone of this nation—the HOME. Keep him there to offer guidance and support to a child who some day will play a role in the destiny of our glorious nation.

Is it possible to enlist your support to bring about a change in existing Selective Service regulations? Or, at least, have you consent to make inquiry to learn how Selective Service operates today?

Why not STOP induction of childless husbands until all available single men are inducted? This could be done by issuing no further quotas

The headlight of No. 1644 beams through the night as the "Big Fellow" pulls out with a record string of cars loaded with war supplies. Your car catches the crash of the shunting operations, heard against the ringing bell of an incoming train. There's a sudden hiss of steam as the giant engine waits for the "high ball" signal to haul a half-mile of refrigerator cars containing enough food to feed a community.

The men and women of the American Railroads are doing a job that is astonishing the rest of the world. They don't expect medals nor citations. To them it's all in the day's work.

They are the men of sure eye and steady nerve in the cabs of the engines, the men atop the cars and in the cabooses, the shopmen who keep the rolling stock in perfect running order, the dispatchers who work on minute-timing, the trackmen who keep a sharp eye on the roadbed, supplemented by the men who operate the passenger trains and by many others who play their parts in the Railroad Army Without Guns.

They are winning the Battle of Transportation for America while winning the thanks of the Nation.

GOING UP!

Yes, our circulation among Mountain Side readers is going up, higher and higher.

IT'S 200 PER CENT OVER THE FIGURES LAST YEAR

There's a reason why the SUN has the largest gain in the number of readers in Mountain Side, far in excess of any other weekly or daily newspaper in the borough.

More and more, Mountain Side readers know they can rely upon the SUN each week for A.I.I. their local news and pictures aplenty of people they know.

If you are not getting the SUN regularly, you're missing what so many others have already learned is the best value for Mountain Side readers.

We'll Soon Be On the Shelf

We've headed that way now. We were raised and tended for that purpose. It takes food as well as men and ammunition to win a war. The government has asked us to grow our own vegetables and to do home canning. Our Home Economics Department has compiled a booklet on canning. It's complete and up-to-date. If canning has seemed too complicated a task to undertake, you may change your mind when you read our step-by-step directions. Be sure to ask for a copy of 'Can It.' It is given away free at our Nutrition and Conservation centers.
