BETTIQUETTE SAYS

Americans are proud of the workers who have made possible the recent production planes, and ships and tank and guns and munitions and all the other necessary equipment and materials. More than sixteen million of them are now working for total victory in the American labor forces. The full employment of our human resources lies just ahead. That prospect means a fundamental shift in the management of our war production effort. Not for long can we continue to recruit new workers, soon our greatest man power reserve will be found among workers already on the job. Increasingly management, labor and Government must concentrate on making the most efficient use of the working force we already have, on making the conditions of work conducive to efficient sustained output...

Some of the boys who come back to see us, tell about the exorbitant prices they are forced to pay for articles near where they are stationed. We have heard this from boys all over the country. We agree with this article by Jay Shelton, and it seemed to express our feelings most adequately. "Some of the kin of the men in our armed forces who are still stationed here in Army or Navy training camps, are justly disturbed with reports that our soldiers and sailors are being gouged by local profiteering handouts, retail establishments and transportation...

Success in Sicily got a start in a Freight Yard!

BEFORE the Yanks swarmed ashore that dark morning on the beaches of Sicily, an important part of the operation took place over here in a Railroad freight yard four thousand miles away. In today's mechanized warfare, men and material are equally important. When you attack, you must have everything you need, where you want it, and at the time you want it! On this side of the Atlantic, a large part of the job is up to the American Railroads. Thousands of men have to be moved on a careful schedule. Tanks, guns, scout cars, supply trucks—all the paraphernalia of battle have to be at dockside on a rigid timetable for loading aboard ship. Despite traffic that is double and treble what it was some years ago, the American Railroads have kept step with the increasing demands of the war effort. Preparation for the attack on Sicily was but one of many operations of the Railroads to speed Victory. There have been others since. There will be more. The American Railroads will play a vital part in every attack.

Because of this your Government has launched a Nation wide program to enlist the voluntary cooperation of everyone in the conservation of electricity and other utility services. J. A. Krug, Director of the Office of War Utilities, of the War Production Board, states: 'In the electric utility industry, the installed generating capacity, together with capacity now under construction, is ample to meet all foreseeable electric needs. But, it is essential to save the use of electricity wherever possible so as to reduce directly or indirectly the demands for materials, fuel, transportation and manpower.' The Jersey Central Power and Light Co is glad to cooperate in this program by urging its customers to make the most efficient use of lights, appliances and other equipment. Remember that it takes fuel, manhours and materials to bring the convenience of electric service to your home. Use what you actually need, but don't waste it!"

School Notes

An Armistice Day program was held in the school auditorium on Wednesday at 2 p. m. Two motion picture films were shown, "Democracy in Action" and "History of the American Soldier."

The Thanksgiving issues of the school papers will be given out next week to all pupils of the borough school and the Children's Country Home.

The hot lunch program will begin the first day in December, and will cost five cents per dish.

During the month of October, $745 worth of war stamps were purchased by the pupils.

School was in session Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and closed yesterday in observance of Armistice Day, and today, due to the Teachers' Convention in New York City. The principal and all teachers in the Mountain Side School are attending this convention. The local Teachers Association met this week at their regular meeting and have planned to cover various meetings at the convention. The high points of these meetings will be discussed sometime next week at their next regular meeting. Mrs. Margaret Gold is president.

Dental inspection of the pupils has not been made yet due to the fact that it has been impossible to get a dentist from Westfield to do the work. Charles Wades, principal, is now inquiring outside of Westfield and hopes that the work may be completed by the end of this month. Dr. Lee H. Herrington has completed the health examination of all children and reports have been sent to parents telling of corrections that must be made.

RED CROSS

"There is a solution for every problem," says Ralph Waldo Emerson, "and the sun's highest duty is to be of good cheer." Having equaled this bit of philosophy, the column proceeds to broadcast several appeals, in the hope that some problems afflicting our surgical dressings program may be solved. There is a real need for help in cleaning up the workroom and other adjacent service rooms, after the day's work is finished. To the weary women who have been in charge of the folding, inspecting, packaging, etc., the chore of "reading up" the rooms in the church annex becomes a hard burden. We feel there are women in this community who would love to do this work at their contribution to the war effort.

Other women volunteers are working in hospital kitchens, scrubbing, cleaning utensils in addition to preparing food. We feel strongly that this work of keeping the workroom clean is just as noble and just as important as folding dressings. Are there any women in this township who are willing to volunteer for this work? If so, will they please call Mrs. Lewis F. Macartney, department chairman, Milburn 6-1973; or the Red Cross office, Milburn 6-2093.

Also being sought are a number of men volunteers whose business or employment keeps them in town during the day, who can and will offer a few hours of service periodically, on Tuesday or Thursday in packing and shipping the boxes of surgical dressings. If these boxes could be taken to the freight office at night, there would be no problem, for there are without doubt many men who would be available in the evening hours. Since freight depots are closed at night, this problem has become very acute. For women workers are physically unable to handle these cases. If a sufficient number of local men will make up a list of volunteers who may be called upon occasionally, they will be called infrequently, and only as they can be spared or are free from their other duties.

Because so many workers in Red Cross have assumed duties and responsibilities which tax their energy and strength, we are quoting the following verses:

"Dear Lord, my strength today is very small,
And now before I start I will call Upon the strength in Thee,
Two thy lovers surrendered to Thy hand
Became abundant bread;
And so my meager strength at Thy command
Shall be sufficient for my need, and even more."
"The loaf by which another may be fed"

Plan Reorganization Of Girl Scouts Here

A meeting of the Girl Scout Committee of Springfield was held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. William Casgrove, chairman, at which time plans were made for reorganizing the Girl Scout committees.

The first step of this reorganization will be the forming of "Troop Committees." Each troop will have its own mother's committee made up of about three mothers of girls in the troop, and these three mothers will be known as that particular troop's "committee." After the organization of these committees has been completed, the name of the executive committee of the Girl Scout Association of Springfield, "The Troop Committees will be invited to meetings of the association and will have a vote in the election of officers.

Plans are now being made for the first meeting of the mothers who will form the Troop Committees. This is to be in the near future, and will be in the form of a social gathering. After the social meeting of the mothers the organizing committee will present a new slate of officers to be elected at the next regular business meeting of the association.

Grade School Teacher And Class At Library

Miss Ethel Groh, a teacher of the grade in the Raymond-Gibbs School and her class of about thirty-five pupils visited the library on Tuesday afternoon. While at the library Mrs. Eugene Hutloff, mother of one of the pupils, read to the children, while Miss Groh explained the use of the library.

TOWN and FARM in WARTIME

Approximately 2,790,000 cases of canned peaches, peas, and tomato catsup were released to consumers recently by the War Food Administration. The canned goods probably will not reach retail shelves for several weeks. Those foods were a portion of the reserves owned and held by canners to meet possible emergency requirements of the government.

Premium gasoline used by civilians will be reduced from 75 and 80¢ a gallon to 75¢ a gallon, to conserve tetraethyl lead and volatile gasoline fractions, both of which are required in the manufacture of high-octane military gasoline. More than 50 million gallons of gasoline, fuel oils, lubricants and other petroleum products are going directly to the fighting forces every day. The Petroleum Administration for War disclosed that one-third of all gasoline produced in the U. S. is now required for military purposes.

The civilian turkey supply, just starting to come on the market, will be almost as large as last year, according to the Department of Agriculture. However, this year's demand will probably be much larger and shoppers will be wise to put in orders early. Men and women on duty in the American armed forces, at home and abroad, will be served a pound of turkey at dinner. Thanksgiving Day and will have all the traditional "fixings."

Relatives and friends still have time to send men and women overseas V-mail notices of war bond gifts for Christmas. The Army Postal Service has assured delivery by December 25 of all V-mail notices sent before December 1. War bonds as Christmas gifts will help.

Retired From Service

First Lieutenant A. L. Kahn of 206 Milburn avenue, Milburn, has been retired by the Army. Dental Staff and has returned to his home and active practice in Milburn. Dr. Kahn was in the service for sixteen months serving in Fort Dix and Fort Jay, N. Y. At the time of his retirement, a recommendation for promotion to the rank of Captain was pending.

AGRICULTURE PUPILS

(Continued from Page 1) The poultry is raised, killed and dressed by the students. The chickens are sold in the regular market and proceeds are used for an educational trip taken each year to some farming section.

Consumers and dealers have been urged to cooperate in an effort to alleviate suffering in homes and public institutions which may be without coal. Consumers who have any coal are urgently requested to refrain from ordering more while their neighbors may be without any. Harold L. Ickes, Solid Fuels Administrator for War, said recently. Retail coal dealers have been asked to check the fuel supply of their customers to discover where the need for coal is most acute.

Dealers in communities where coal has been short and where the weather has turned cold have been directed to get in touch with the area distribution manager of the Solid Fuels Administration so the limited amount of coal may be distributed where most needed.

Some relief from the shortage of youngsters' shoes will be provided about the first of the year by a new supply of children's non-leather shoes for general wear, to be sold ration-free, OPA has announced. In general, children up to about eight years of age will benefit. The shoes will have canvas uppers and soles made from remnants and heavy woven fabric, reinforced with vulcanized rubber. Shoes of this type larger than misses' and youths' size three will be rationed.

More than 30,000 postal employees throughout the United States have entered the armed services; one-seventh of the postal workers have thus been lost for the duration.

WAR BY WIRE...

EYES that spot enemy operations from an advance outpost—and WIRES that carry the "picture" back to the artillery—set the stage for successful surprise attacks. Here is an advance patrol telephoning the movements of a truck convoy which is to be attacked. WIRE is important in modern warfare. GAS is important in making telephone wire. The modern gas furnace pictured above is an annealing furnace which softens wire for flexibility. Telephone wire must have flexibility. The army must have telephone wire.

"If you could ONLY SEE THE BOYS IN CAMP"

If you could see them just once—lined up each night to telephone home—you wouldn't make another unnecessary call as long as this war lasts.

For your unnecessary call may be the one that ties up a line and keeps their calls from going through.

Remember—there are only so many Long Distance circuits and no way to build more.

So please try not to use Long Distance in the only hours most boys are off—between 7 and 10 o'clock at night.
