

Brothers Held Reunion Again On Foreign Soil

ELVIN ROGERS GEORGE ROGERS

For the second time since entering the service the two Rogers brothers, Elvin and George, received the same news from George's home in the amount to be raised by taxation, but no citizen appeared to raise any objections. It was approved by the board and will be submitted to the voters at the next district election, Tuesday, February 1.

The increase is attributed to a $5,840 jump in salaries, that item totaling $28,555 and a $4,000 increase in repairs and replacements, with that appropriate, totaling $4,075. Incidental repairs and painting are responsible for the increase in that figure.

Four of the communities in the Regional School District, Springfield, Mountaineer, Clark Township and Carwood, have negligible changes in the amount they will be called upon to raise by taxation despite the $10,000 jump in the sum to be raised by taxation.

Private First Class Henry Beckman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beckman of 95 Battle Hill Avenue, is home on a ten-day furlough from Camp Breckenridge, Ky. Pvt. Beckman will be honored by his parents with a party tomorrow night celebrating his 21st birthday.

Sergeant Leonard Mayer, stationed at Camp Myers Standish, Mass., is home on a ten-day furlough. Sgt. Mayer is visiting his wife, Margaret, at her home, Phillips of Morrisstown and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Mayer of 63 Morris Avenue.

When your serviceman or woman has been home on furlough, has been promoted, graduated or transferred, why not mail it in to us, or phone it in to the office. Many of the servicemen and women so many miles away from home, like to hear of the whereabouts of their friends, former schoolmates and relatives, and can learn this if we run service stories on our local and former town boys and girls. We will be glad to accept a picture of your soldier, sailor or marine, if we do not have one of him in uniform. If we do have a uniform picture, we will return this picture with a story at your request.

First Field of Soybeans Grown In This Country Came From N. J.

Home Demonstration Agent

The first field of soybeans to be grown commercially in the United States over 60 years ago was located right here in New Jersey. In 1943, farmers of the Garden State matched that first and comparatively small commercial planting with 76,000 acres of soybeans, the largest planting of the crop in the State's history and one that will be repeated a gain in this year as part of New Jersey's contribution to the nation's wartime food program.

A large portion of this crop went either directly or indirectly into food. Some of it was processed for oil, and a lot of the meal that remained was used as high protein feed for livestock, and in flour, grits, and soy sauce. Much of the oil was used for salad oils and butter substitutes.

The protein in soybeans is similar in quality to that found in milk, cheese, fish, eggs, and other meat products. Soybeans also contain considerably more fat, more of the B vitamins, and of the minerals, calcium, phosphorus and iron than other beans.

Although only a few of the soybeans grown in New Jersey are edible before they are processed, thousands of acres of the edible varieties are grown in other parts of the country. These beans are dried, prepared, and cooked just as any other type of dry bean would be. They will swell from 2 1/2 to 3 times their original size, but they retain their shape and they do not cook to pieces so quickly as some other types of beans. Because of their high fat content they have a degree of smoothness, not characteristic of most other beans, and they need less fat for seasoning.

The whole beans seem to have become most popular in baked dishes such as chili con carne and casseroles. Bean pulp, made by

Health Food Store Opened In Summit

Mrs. and Mrs. Carlisle F. Green have opened a health food store at 366 Springfield Ave., Summit. Both received their basic training at the New England Sanitarium and Hospital in Massachusetts where Mrs. Green graduated as a nurse. This institution is run by people trained in the Battle Creek way of living. Mrs. Green, after a few years of surgical nursing in Chicago, spent two years in college work studying chemistry and experimenting with foods. For the past three years she has visited the various food factories all over the country studying different methods of preparing foods. He is especially interested in soy beans and its use as a food. Many visits have been made with Dr. Harry Miller of Mt. Vernon, Ohio, who is one of the foremost experimenters with soy bean milk and other products in this field. Dr. Miller spent many years in China, the home of the soy bean, and has developed a scientific and palatable soy milk powder, meat substitutes and soy cheese.

Although Mrs. Green has studied with her husband, she has been actively nursing for the past 15 years, during which she has been engaged in both private duty and hospital work throughout this part of New Jersey. Mrs. Green has devoted much time in giving dinners and lecturing on foods before private gatherings and clubs. She also hopes to continue this service in conjunction with the store.

Both have taken recent dietetic courses under Battle Creek Sanitarium, and have a thorough cooking knowledge of health foods and their practical application to human nutrition.

To the People of this Community

THINK IT OVER
How about doing a little cold turkey thinking after you lay aside this newspaper tonight?

You've got a good job. The chances are there is someone else in your family, perhaps two or three, working.

Your son or your brother—may be away at war.

This war must end sometime. Your whole family, your neighbors, are praying it ends soon and those fighting boys of yours will come home safely.

But will you be ready for whatever happens when peace comes? Will you have something laid away? We're all hoping there'll be jobs plenty, jobs which mean making something for somebody's happiness and not for somebody's sorrow. That's where your War Bonds come into the picture. Sure, Americans own billions of dollars of War Bonds now, and before this 4th War Loan ends they will have put away billions more. But how about you? You're the one that counts. The bigger the pile of War Bonds you have when peace comes, the bigger chance you'll have to slip right into the post-war world you're dreaming about tonight.

So "Let's All Back the Attack."

SCHIZOPHRENIA

There is an ailment of the mind that makes people go for what scares them. Some shoot themselves rather than go to war, some jump from tall buildings because they're afraid they will fall. It is an unusual disease but I met a case of it recently by picking up a hitch-hiker. Sharing transportation has become patriotic duty. My passenger was talkative and in the conversation straight political economy. It seemed to be his favorite topic.

Within five miles we had reached a disagreement. "You are a capitalist," he said, "are you rich?" I admitted being in the low income brackets, and less for work than the average railroad brakeman. "Then you are a sucker," he said in a tone that indicated sympathy rather than contempt. "You have everything to lose and nothing to gain from capitalism."

The young man grew eloquent as he warmed up. His clear word-pictures revived impressions that have been made popular by repetition of office speakers on occasions for generations. Mainly I recalled cartoons of personified Mr. Capital, a fat figure sitting on a big pile of money. I remembered also the oratorical bombardments of Wall Street from the brush arbors at rustic barbecue attractions. My passenger's reasoning was a bit wobbly, but I learned something from him just the same. He convinced me that capitalism is not at all popular. In using the word he seemed to mean an about like a red flag in the hand of a torchbearer. He made it mean arrogance, extortion and oppression. By implication he made capitalism appear as a world order dominated by a few soulless corporations.

Seemed Sincere

He and I agreed on only one point: A few wealthy people are not the source from whom all blessings flow. He's right; they are not. America has a prosperity of a most unusual sort and wealth is only a factor in it. As for rich people, some of them are useful and some are merely hangers-on. Some as farmers and school teachers, some help and some don't.

Our unique prosperity depends on production. Our commercial progress depends on increasing production. "Capitalism," says Eric Johnston, "is the greatest force ever known for increasing production. That's what America must have to keep its leadership among nations and production requires concentration of capital as well as concentration of workers."

The man who rode with me desires financial improvement and has a right in it, but he is cooling himself and getting a lot of other people. He has a notion that there is just so much wealth in the world and that people who own more than other people have robbed somebody. It is not a new doctrine but it is completely wrong.

Here's Capitalism

If two thrifty workers save some money, form a partnership and start a fly-watter factory, they become capitalists immediately. If their business grows and they give employment to a third man, capitalism has borne fruit and benefited him, his grocer and his cobbler share in the benefits. Compared to its usefulness with a locomotive works, the difference is in size. The principle is the same.

My hitch-hiker wanted to destroy capitalism because of its tendency toward monopoly, a tendency that can be controlled. He had an idea that sovereign government should own everything and all citizens be fellow-workers. That would have no tendency toward monopoly, that would be monopoly - monopoly that never could be controlled. My summary is that the fellow had schizophrenia. He was running toward what he feared.

Preferred reading for this month: Seed Catalogs! Oh, beautiful, beautiful are the nurseries and the seedmen's and the bulbmen's printed showcases, where every dream comes true in four colors! This year, though, they're more guide books and manuals than dream books because every mother's daughter - with a dozen acres or a window box - will plant a Victory Garden! You'll plant the things your soil will grow, the foods you know how to handle (don't waste seeds!) but Uncle Sam won't mind if you try just one little newness.

Look! what we found in our catalogues!

White tomatoes (Yes'm white) And a "China Long" cucumber which is two feet long (the catalog says it's a remarkable cucumber from the Orient, and we - he - he! Snake cucumbers, which look just like them, we will show you "grow your own dill" (oh, for a pickle pulled from the bottom of the big old barrel) appears to us as a very fine idea. "Dashbeet" sounds like something with which to astonish the neighbors (you cut the roots like potatoes, the stems like asparagus, and tops like spinach). "Kale" he it known, is also called "borecole" and we wish we had room and talent for a climbing watermelon which grows - so it says - "like box size."

COUPON COMPLEX

Will a coupon complex cross out company for dinner? Does point rationing mean that guests are out for the duration? The answer from the nation's women is "no man!" Points won't stretch like pennies but hospitality, more than ever, is here to stay! It's just different! Now's your chance to let down your hair with your friends and have simple old-fashioned get-togethers, but do get together!

MARCH PREDICTIONS

March, it becomes apparent as we will march into it, is quite a month! Whether the lion or lamb brought it in to you has little bearing on the fact that the third month of the year has quite a time for itself in its 31 days.

Your Garden This Week

By FRED D. OSMAN, Union County Agricultural Agent. Have you included the garden and its plantings in the inventories you have taken at the beginning of the new year? For an accurate appraisal of your trees, shrubs, and perennials is an invaluable asset in planning a garden you will be proud of this year. Every good gardener, and particularly gardeners working under space limitations, wants the most attractive, interesting plant material he can find when he's developing a home grounds planting. If there is anything which has proved an unhappy choice of material in the garden picture there is an better time to get rid of it than when the garden inventory is made. There has been a steady sale of plant material, true enough. Large-scale plantings and commercial landscape work are at a low ebb due to the shortage of labor and of time, however, and many nurseries are well stocked at present with some of the choicest of plant materials. This is the time, then, for home gardeners who need new material or replacements to visit their local nurseries. It may not be possible to obtain many of these rare plants again for several years after the duration. Gardeners should be linked ever carefully sometime in January to make certain that they are in good condition, and that those in which fine materials have been used are not packed too much. Mulches that have become too heavy can be removed or replaced over the winter, for when the leaves become well and lightly packed they deprive plants of the air they need. If a mulch is found to be tightly packed, the way to remedy the situation is to lift the mulch with a fork so that the material will dry out and air find its way to the crowns of the plants. Pruning of shrubs that will not winter-kill can be started late this month. Be sure, too, that evergreens are shaded with a covering of burlap, so that they are protected with a spray of wax emulsion. Most of the damage many evergreens suffer in February and March results from the warm sun pouring down on them when they are more or less frozen. There is greater loss of water from transpiration, too. It is a good idea to wrap the trunks of ornamental cherries or crabapples in burlap, for they are sometimes subject to scald on the south side when the late winter sun is intensely bright. Don't forget to send your seed and plant material orders in early. There will be a heavy demand for these things, as well as for tools and sprays, later in the season for home gardeners who are planting time.

Occupational deferments generally will be denied 18 to 22-year-old registrants, other than those in agriculture, fathers and fathers alike, unless they are engaged in activities in which deferment is specifically authorized, according to Selective Service. Furthermore, all registrants will be given pre-induction physical examinations at least 21 days before being inducted. Therefore, the period of three weeks in the enlisted reserve now granted by the Army and the one-week period granted by the Navy will be eliminated. These changes become effective February 1.

Social insurance for farm operators, farm workers, business and professional men, household workers, and employees of governmental and non-profit organizations was recommended by the Social Security Board in its eighth annual report. The board urged inclusion of these groups in an expanded social security program which would include insurance against costs of medical and hospital care without disturbing the present principle of free choice in selection of physicians or hospitals. The board recommended that a comprehensive social insurance system should be set up now while earnings are "at record levels" in order to have it in full operation for the post-war period.

Under the new ration token plan effective February 27, the housewife will be able to buy about the same amount of rationed processed food and meats-fats as she can now. Point values will be adjusted so the individual's allotment of 60 points for buying meats and fats will buy the same amount as the present allotment of approximately 64 point. Similarly, under the token plan the 50-point allotment for processed foods will buy an amount equal to the present 48-point allotment.

Pre-war model baby carriages, strollers, walkers, and pushchairs will re-appear on the market in about six weeks, according to W.P.B. Greater availability of steel makes possible the production of these pre-war models.

America's school children have been assured by the Office of Price Administration more generous amounts of food for lunchroom and cafeteria meals under a new plan for providing rationed food to schools. The new allotments were worked out by OPA in close cooperation with school lunch and nutrition experts of the Food Distribution Administration. The Government's school lunch program, which went into effect one year ago, is a wartime measure to make sure that school children will have a well-planned and nutritionally adequate noon meal.

When writing to soldiers overseas, particularly those in the tropics, home folks may help contribute to their health by the War Department, by reminding these overseas men of the necessity of following the advice of their medical officers.

Production of wheeled tractors in December was the largest for any month in two years—in excess of 20,000 as compared with 4,200 in December, 1942. However, according to the W.P.B., the current rate of production is maintained in order to meet the tractor quota of 200,000 for the 12 months that will end June 30. This will not be easy because many of the parts needed for tractor production are also used in handing craft, now in urgent demand by the armed services.

The War Department and the Office of Civilian Defense have eliminated practice air raid alerts and blackouts involving public participation, except in coastal areas including Vermont, Pennsylvania, and the District of Columbia. Along the Atlantic and Pacific coasts such alerts and blackouts will be authorized once every three months on Sundays only. The measure was taken to decrease interference with production of war material.

The Sophomore class at Regional High School will hold a Leap Year Dance on Friday evening, January 28. Music will be furnished by Don Gibson's Orchestra.

From the Dayton News, Regional's newspaper, comes the following advice to the girls: "No longer do our 'lovelies' have to use that powder puff, thin eyebrows, wear sheer stockings, or cute little skirts to get that certain 'him'. Oh, no, it's Leap Year, so they just come out and advance—some boldly, some shyly, but most all, to get the same result—a man."

Advice to the boys, from the Dayton News is: "You know you want her to catch you, and you'd be bothered frightfully if she caught your best friend; so don't run too fast, boys, or this might happen."

So all you graduates, present students and friends come out on Friday evening and support the Sophomores with their Leap Year Dance.

Many Springfield SUN readers are prospects for what you have to sell. Why not sell them? An ad in the SUN's classified section is inexpensive and productive.

"I'M IN, how about you?"

Japs are ahead of me. But who is behind me? Are you? And are you sticking on your war-job as I fight my way through my war-job? I've still 2,000 miles more of this, or worse!

So, War-Workers of North Jersey, stay on your job. So, Women of North Jersey, take a war-job. Casualty lists don't wait... so neither must you! Ask War-Job Headquarters or nearest U.S.E.S. Office.

OVERLOOK HOSPITAL

SUMMIT, NEW JERSEY

January 20, 1944

Dear Friends and Neighbors:

How anxiously our doctors, our nurses, our entire staff await the moment when work can begin on our new blood bank, our new physio-therapy department, our new-enlarged laboratory.

Not in 17 years has Overlook Hospital asked the public - YOU - for funds. But now the need is immediate. New techniques in medicine and surgery dictate changes, adjustments in equipment. To take care of our sick and wounded returning broken from heroic exploits. To take care of our new babies. Our mothers who bear them. Our old. Our unfortunate victims of accidents. Ready - in night emergencies! And in day emergencies!

Every mail builds our fond hopes. We believe you are going to contribute the full $152,000 we need. If you have not already done so, send in your contributions now. Large or small. Everything help. And not one cent will go for maintenance ... nor for the cost of this drive. Your gift means an IMPROVEMENT, something new and better added to OVERLOOK!

Sincerely yours,

Walter C. Heath

Welcome these Soldiers of Victory!

THE "shock troops" of your Government's 4th War Loan Drive—a drive that must raise $14 billion to put the punch behind the punch that may make 1944 the date of doom for the Nazis—will soon call on you to buy your personal quota of Bonds. For, of the $14 billion that must be raised in this Drive, $5.5 billion worth must come from individuals.

Welcome these American men and women—5 million of them—who are not only buying their share of Bonds but are giving their time to call on you, personally.

Every office, every plant, every home, every individual in America has a quota to meet. Your personal quota is at least one extra $100 Bond. That's above your regular Bond buying.

If possible, buy your extra Bonds during this drive at the plant or office where you work. A volunteer Bond worker will sell you there. Otherwise, welcome him to your home when he calls. Or find one in the thousands of retail stores all over the United States. They want to find you—you must help see that they do.

If you are unable to make your purchases from a soldier of victory be sure to go to one of these other special War Bond stations to buy your extra Bonds:

Remember your job in this Drive is to buy more than your share of Bonds. That's the only way you can be certain you are still backing the attack. So be ready to meet your War Bond representative with an open check book.
