Sermon: Passages from the King James version of the Bible include:
"And my soul shall be joyful in the Lord: it shall rejoice in his salvation." (Psalms 35:9) Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include:
"We cannot deny that life is self-sustained, and we should never deny the everlasting harmony of soul, simply because, to the mortal senses, there is seeming discord. It is our ignorance of God, the divine Principle, which produces apparent discord, and the right understanding of Him restores harmony. Truth will at length compel us all to exchange the pleasures and pains of sense for the joys of soul." (page 360)

Simple entertaining and the reassuring hospitality of a home in which friends of the family are always welcome are even more important these war days than they are in normal times. And February offers many possibilities for making informal get-togethers particularly attractive and interesting. Anything elaborate is entirely out of the picture these war days, but many households are learning that a great deal of fun and satisfaction can be derived from a bowl of fruit stirred with fresh oranges, tangerines and corn eaten piping hot, just as it comes from the popper. On Lincoln's Birthday, or Washington's, Mother and Dad may wish to invite a few of their friends in to share a buffet supper, or perhaps fresh oranges, tangerines and grapes makes excellent eating of a winter's night, and a molded ice box dessert and a beverage will be all that is called for if the invitation has been for dessert and bridge or just pleasant and good conversation. This form of entertaining, which begins anywhere from 7:30 to 8 o'clock, is becoming increasingly popular—and with good reason. The dessert takes the place of what would usually be served at home to top off the meal and it is eaten at a time when everyone enjoys food, instead of late at night when it's likely to give some folks a nightmare or two! In addition it brings the dessert party to an end fairly early in the evening and makes possible that much-needed rest so essential for everyone these strenuous days.

The small fry of the household will doubtless choose Valentine's Day for any entertaining they may do this month. Let the youngsters plan the games and fun themselves. A box of lace paper doilies, some odds and ends of ribbon, paste, paper and scissors are all they'll need for the homemade valentines that are always the most fun. Mother will probably want to lend a hand with the preparation of the refreshments, and it goes without saying that they will be in strict accord with the rationing program.

Heart-shaped cookie cutters may be used for cutting the bread for sandwiches filled with a mixture of strawberry or raspberry jam and cottage cheese. Tomato juice and milk—both ice cold and beated together with a rotary egg beater, or electric mixer will be thoroughly enjoyed by the hungry young valentine-makers late in the afternoon. Molded strawberry or cherry gelatin with cut fruit added, makes another simple and nutritious dish particularly appropriate for Valentine's Day.

A series of "evenings at home" might well be planned for older children in various neighborhoods and communities in the county. The week-end is the time for such affairs, of course, and if several mothers get together and plan a schedule for opening their homes to these young folks it will mean a great deal of wholesome enjoyment with very little work on the part of any one person.

Top "Doodler"

Ollie Terpiwec is pretty proud of her 232, the highest score made by any girl in RCA's Girls' Bowling League. Ollie bowls every Monday at the local recreation center with the team from her department at RCA, the "Metal Tube Doodlers." Inter-department competitions are sponsored by the RCA-Victor Athletic Association. "I can hardly wait for Monday to roll around," says Ollie, "because we have such a good time together. The competition is really keen, too, for we joke about our games all week long." More women and girls are needed (full or part-time) at the RCA Harrison plant to make vital radio tubes. You can apply at the RCA employment office, Sussex and Fifth Streets, Harrison, weekdays between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

HOW TO GROW A GOURMET

Eating is one of the major joys of life, a love of food among life's greatest blessings. This boon is undischarged each of us at birth. We start life with a perfect palate, a palate as delicately attuned to taste and texture as the most subtle epicures.

Time and vicissitudes of the table may have dulled somewhat the sensitivity of your taste buds. Preferences and prejudice stilled your early rapture towards good food. But in your baby is reborn this opportunity for pleasure. You should see that his chance for lifelong satisfaction is fulfilled.

Best way to grow a gourmet is to serve your baby fine foods from the start. Introduce to him early the subtleties of taste and texture. Teach him to distinguish the true color, flavor, and aroma of choice food.

SLACKER BOTTLES

A new nation-wide campaign to get empty milk, carbonated beverage and beer bottles into circulation is now under way.

It is estimated there are 500,000,000 of these "slack" bottles. They are needed to assure an adequate supply of beverages the coming months.

Endorsed by the War Production Board, the campaign is necessary for these reasons:

1. Increasing millions of bottles are being shipped to the fighting forces overseas. These bottles do not come back.

2. There is a limitation of the manufacture of bottles for domestic use.

Glass is an important war material. It is needed for electronics, X-ray tubes, insulating materials and other products for the army and navy. In addition to containers for beverages, millions of bottles for insect repellents and water purifying tablets are being exported.

Every deposit bottle which is kept in action on the home front, making quick trips to the store and back again, releases another bottle for action with American fighters overseas.

ODD FACTS ON STATIONERY
This notice was placed in a Sydney, Australia paper by a local stationer, whose store had twice been ransacked by burglars: "Anyone found near my stationery shop after hours will be found there the next morning."

The late King George of England was said to have owned one of the world's largest and most elaborate fountain pen collections. One was of solid platinum, studded with diamonds.

Hollywood stationers often rent out filing cabinets, desks, etc., to movie studios for office atmosphere scenes.

The fashionable lady of Abyssinia hooks up her dress with paper clips, purchased from travelers and missionaries. One clip there is equivalent to day's pay. "They're almost that scarce in America now."

HELPING SOLDIERS

Women on the homefront in America, who are being careful not to waste any of the soap they buy, are helping with this overseas service. Here is another instance of the way American women are helping to hasten the day of victory. By using soap carefully and making every bubble do a job, they are sending messages of hope and courage to women in distant lands to whom even the smallest cake of soap is a priceless gift.

YOUR RED CROSS

It was a satisfaction to all concerned that the Chapter's annual meeting on Monday evening at Legion Hall drew a capacity audience. Every part of the program was well received, and the general feeling that our talk, putting over a splendid Red Cross war-time service was evident everywhere. There were several points made by the speaker, James Roy McLennan, field director, recently returned from England, where he was in charge of Red Cross activities at an air base built by American Engineers, which deserve mention in this column. He spiced two rumors which crop up periodically and go the rounds to the detriment of the American Red Cross.

It has frequently been stated that cigarettes given by the Red Cross, and not to be sold, have been bought by our boys, who have been "compelled" to pay for them. In explanation, the speaker pointed out that supplies of these Red Cross cigarettes are rationed at the Army post, and are kept there with the regular Army supplies sold by the Army post. It is possible that in times of hurry, cartons of these Red Cross cigarettes may be hastily opened and sold when it does occur it is done in error. Mr. McLennan also had an explanation for the story that Red Cross sweaters are sold. He said that boys involved in dice games and wishing to raise money will offer a sweater for sale, saying: "I've got a dandy Red Cross sweater I'll sell for $2. Any takers?" The purchaser of the sweater may write home that he has bought a wonderful Red Cross sweater for $2, but the real story behind the purchase is not disclosed in his letter.

Aside from a certain amount of friction caused by the larger pay enjoyed by the men in the American Armed Forces, accent was put upon the friendly relations between the English and the American service men. He said he never saw a fight between these men in those two forces, but intimidated friction occurred occasionally between the English and Canadian men, and especially between the Australians and the Canadians. While our customs differ from those of the British there is mutual respect, Mr. McLennan said. The air base was expected by the English to be completed in two years; it was finished in ten months. The typical question asked by them was: "But will it last fifty years?" Great interest was shown in the way American linemen climb telegraph poles—with spikes in their shoes; the English method is to use a ladder.

The program of the Juniors under the direction of Mrs. Frank Jakobsen was much enjoyed by the audience, who appreciated to the full the poise of the children when things went slightly awry, under such stresses as forgotten lines, etc. Mr. McLennan seemed very much to enjoy the program of his own and evidently understands children. He asked that they be brought into the hall to listen to his talk, saying that was only fair because "we had to sit through their performance."

Those who have worked on the gift bags sent to our men in the Army and Navy will appreciate Mr. McLennan's tribute to the joy these bags bring to service men. It is something from home—maybe from their home town or a town they know, so the Chapter label means a lot to them.

Things You Should Know
Through the courtesy of Fidler's, the store at 243 Morris ave-ment, has been obtained by Mrs. Robert D. Treat of the campaign committee, who will start it with volunteers to give out general information about the drive. Egle E. Hershey announces that his committee is formed and organized with reference to outside benefits. Mr. Hershey reports that already five organizations have agreed to run a benefit for the Red Cross and that it is his hope to reach a total of 12 organizations throughout the town who will hold Red Cross benefits. Ebert E. Johnson reports his committee is now well organized; that he has a list of some 75 names which his committee will contact for special large gifts, and feels confident that his $1,500 goal will be realized.

Special Gifts Are Being Sought By Red Cross Earlier

Ebert E. Johnson, chairman of the Springfield Red Cross special gifts committee, announced this week that his committee is now well organized and will be in the field soliciting special gifts on Monday.

In planning the campaign the chairman has set up from two to three captains in the eight districts as provided in the general campaign plan for this year and under these captains will be numerous workers who will contact a special list of prospective subscribers to the Red Cross.

Johnson said, "The $9,500 quota as placed upon Springfield is a challenge to our patriotism. This quota is not an original idea of the Red Cross. It is a request from the War Department. Men at the head of our armed forces at the moment know what we can expect in the months to come and they have requested that Red Cross raise $200,000,000 for the purpose of taking care of our boys as only the Red Cross can do. Never before has Springfield been called upon to give as we are being called upon to give today."

The quota of $1,500 which Johnson has accepted for the special gifts committee must be met if Springfield is going to meet its challenge. Johnson has sent a list to each house-to-house district leader indicating the prospects his committee will call upon so that there shall be no overlapping or unnecessary work.

There will be a special meeting of the special gifts committee at Mr. Johnson's home Sunday afternoon at 2 P. M. Final instructions will be given to the committee so that they can start work immediately.

Any municipality, county, or other local subdivision of government suffering from an acute shortage of physicians or dentists may now apply to the Surgeon General or the district office of the U. S. Public Health Service or through the state health officer requesting the relocation of a physician or dentist. The Public Health Service agrees to pay moving costs and to pay the relocated doctor $250 a month for the first three months. The doctor agrees to practice in the community for not less than one year, and the community agrees to contribute one-fourth of the Government's cost to the Public Health Service, wanted.

PLANNING SPRINGFIELD

Editor's Note—This is one of a series of articles prepared by the Springfield Planning Board to acquaint readers with its purpose, functions and goals.

A comprehensive plan, The Master Plan, is the foundation of every good community planning program. The Master Plan is neither a map nor a set of rules. It is an entire program, a plan of campaign. The plan must include study and analysis of past and present conditions. It must anticipate future requirements of the community well in advance of need. Preparation of the plan involves study of the trend of growth in the uses of land and the most desirable directions for such growth. The plan should include regulations to minimize conflicting and mutually injurious uses of land. It is concerned vitally with transportation and therefore deals with major and minor thoroughfares and public conveniences. Public utilities and public improvements of all types must be considered. Recreational facilities, particularly parks, playgrounds and gymnasiums, occupy a prominent place in all comprehensive master plans. The plan also deals with the most economical and the most advantageous location and type of public buildings, including municipal buildings, schools and fire and police stations.

The main features of a master plan will ordinarily be stable, but it can and should be amended and developed as changing conditions demand. Planning must be regarded as a continuous process, and plans must be kept elastic for ready adjustment to new and unforeseen conditions and requirements.

Springfield, like a good many communities, has grown and will continue to grow through the years to come. Springfield should not be allowed to just grow, but the growth of Springfield should be carefully studied and planned in advance.

The growth of Springfield will be accompanied by a corresponding increase in the wealth of the community. Farms and estates will be broken up into building lots, miles of new streets will be laid out and equipped with public utilities, new schools will be built, new parks and playgrounds will be necessary, all the general public improvements of the modern community will be required. Without a master plan there would be no guide to the following out of these developments. Each improvement, whether public or private, would be carried out as an isolated project without reference to other improvements. Only by means of a well conceived comprehensive plan can Springfield develop into an efficient and attractive community, uniformly and economically developed in all respects. That is why Springfield needs a master plan. That is what a master plan will do for Springfield.

It is first necessary to devise a plan, and it is then necessary to carry it out. The whole-hearted assistance and cooperation of everyone interested in the future of Springfield is absolutely necessary if success is to be achieved. Everyone must strive for universal accomplishment. In the words of the late Senator Dwight W. Morrow—"The real cost in building up a community is the cost of non-planning."

OPA will permit some ration-free sales of rubber footwear by retailers and jobbers who have excess and slow-moving stocks that otherwise might be wasted through deterioration. Retailers and jobbers desiring permission for such sales must apply in writing to OPA district offices. A minimum of 15 days will be required between filing of application and granting of "non-rationed" stickers, which identify the released footwear.

Despite School Increases, Tax Rate Down Point

MOUNTAINSIDE—The Borough Council introduced its 1944 municipal budget Tuesday night, which provides for an estimated $3.88 tax rate or a point below the previous figure.

Mayor John Moxon pointed out that although district school taxes increased by $6,400 to $34,594 and Regional school taxes likewise jumped, the local municipal budget was able to offset these rises by a reduction in debt service. Payment of bonds last year of $5,500 were not required in the 1944 budget, taking up part of the slack caused by higher school taxes.

The complete budget will be found elsewhere on this page. Public hearing was set for February 20.

THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS, that the following statements of revenues and appropriations shall constitute the local budget for the year 1944:

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that said budget be published in Springfield Sun in the issue of 11th day of February, 1944.

Notice is hereby given that the budget and tax resolution was approved by the Board of Directors of the Borough of Mountainside, County of Union, on February 8th, 1944.

A hearing on the budget and tax resolution will be held at Borough Hall, Mountainside, N. J., on 23rd of February, 1944, at 8 P. M. o'clock, at which time and place objections to said budget and tax resolution of the Borough of Mountainside for the year 1944 may be presented by taxpayers or other interested persons.

Exploratory Statement

The assessed valuation of the Borough has decreased from the previous year by reason of (1) the Borough's acquisition of substantial parcels of tax delinquent properties and (2) the restriction of new construction and development by the war effort. The 1944 budget provides funds for further acquisition of tax delinquent property.

The budget provides funds for a substantial increase in the total of appropriations for local school tax, county tax, Regional School tax and State tax.

Funds for a "cost of living bonus" are provided.

The budget further provides funds for the negotiation of road maintenance contracts with the county, for capital improvement items and in cooperation with the Borough Fire Company, for the acquisition of an additional fire truck.

The amount appropriated from SURPLUS RESERVE CASH is less than the increase in this item for the past year.

The retirement of Borough debt during 1943 makes it practical to maintain approximately the same tax rate as last year.

DESERVING OF PRAISE

That Springfield Fourth War Loan drive has reached a total of $107,000 in bonds sale is a tribute to the painstaking efforts of its chairman, James Price.
He has spent considerable time in organizing the campaign and coordinating the elements of solicitation, mailing pledge cards to Springfield service men and women everywhere and the numerous other details involved.
The job was aided measurably by the air raid wardens, under Malcolm Leonard, who have likewise done a real job for a cause needing little sales talk.

GET THE FLAGS UP

Lincoln's Birthday tomorrow and Washington's Birthday ten days off, brings up the subject of appropriate flag displays which some many residents are apt to neglect in the war time rush.
Old Glory unfurled from our stores on the main thoroughfare and from homes everywhere will give evidence that historical Springfield doesn't forget.

Let's All BACK THE ATTACK!

BLOOD DONATIONS by the hundreds have been made by Breeze workers during the past year to the Red Cross Blood Bank.

WAR BONDS with a value of $111,000 bought by Breeze workers during the 3rd War Loan Drive over and above regular 10% payroll deduction plan.

SALVAGE CAMPAIGNS both at home and at their work are aided by the efforts of Breeze men and women.

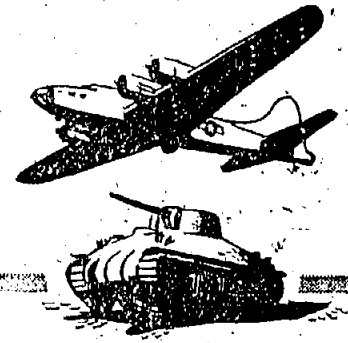

RED CROSS ambulance, station wagon and special car donated by Breeze management to Motor Corps.

Our Third Front

VICTORY DEPENDS ON WHAT WE DO AT HOME AS WELL

THERE is a Third Front, here at home, on which men and women of Breeze are fighting. Putting 10% and more of their pay in War Bonds, giving blood regularly to the Red Cross Blood Bank, cooperating to the fullest extent in civilian defense activities and government war campaigns, Breeze workers are a part of the great team that is backing up the boys at the front. Without this teamwork, the efforts of our fighting men might well be wasted. And in addition to their outside work, the men and women of Breeze are on the job day and night, turning out in tremendous quantities the well-known Breeze products which are serving America today on fighting fronts the world over.

Excerpt from a letter received from one of the Breeze boys at the fighting front by J. T. Masuch, President of Breeze Corps, Inc.

"I know of our products and of their very great importance to all on the war front, and I, like all, am mighty proud of the fine job the Breeze employees and management are doing not only in the production line but also in the buying of War Bonds and Stamps, and of their fine effort in their contribution to the Red Cross. It is grand to hear what all are doing at home for all of us fellows. I'll say a salute and a prayer of thanks to you all for your fine effort at such a crucial part of all our lives. How can we help but surely win—and the Peace everlasting."

WAR FOOD CLINIC

Miss Helen Reilly of the Public Service Corporation is shown here during the demonstration period of the War Food Clinic which is being sponsored by the Red Cross and the Defense Council.

Vegetables Will Be War Food Clinic Topic Next Week

Miss Helen Reilly, Union County demonstrator for the Public Service Corp., conducted an afternoon demonstration on Tuesday at the Public Service office, Summit. These War Food Clinics will meet every Tuesday for the next four weeks and will take up the problems of meals with high vitamin content and low ration point value. The subject for next week will be vegetable cookery and will deal with the use of home-canned vegetables in casseroles, salads, patties and other recipes. Those having problems are invited to bring them to the clinic. Materials are available there for demonstration purposes and individual problems will be given special attention. At the close of the meeting the food prepared is given as prizes in casseroles provided by the Defense Council. Those winning prizes at this week's lecture were Mrs. Gordon Bostley, Mrs. J. Burns, Mrs. E. W. Kowan, Mrs. J. B. Quarles, Mrs. Arthur Murray, and Mrs. John C. Conant.

YOUR GARDEN THIS WEEK

By FRED D. OSMAN
 Union County Agricultural Agent

This is the time of year when a great many gardeners start plans for coldframes and hotbeds. Although hotbeds are a time-honored institution and one that has made it possible to start plants early for many long years, there is no getting away from the fact that they necessitate a lot of work. Work involves time, and time is something everyone is particularly anxious to conserve on these busy war days. Moreover, it is almost impossible to obtain heating material for hotbeds now. Heating them electrically is an expensive proposition and the frames must be well insulated. Coldframes are a different matter. They are much more practical, even though their use necessitates starting seed later in the season.

A coldframe is nothing more or less than a box covered with glass, and your county agricultural agent will be glad to give you directions for making one as well as information on how to operate it. It is a comparatively easy matter to build a frame, and with its assistance you can raise practically all the plants you will need this spring.

A four-foot sash is now available on the market, and it is much easier to handle than the regular six-foot sash. It may be mounted by one person with little or no danger of breakage. The average home gardener will find a frame made of a three or four-foot sash adequate for his needs if it is used wisely, and it will probably not only furnish all the plants he will need but a few extras to give away, too.

Hardy annuals including such vegetables as cabbage, kohlrabi, lettuce, etc., can be sown in coldframes the latter part of February provided the glass is covered at night to retain the heat that has accumulated during the day. Glass absorbs heat in the daytime and radiates it just as fast, if not faster, at night, so in order to conserve this valuable heat, the coldframe must have its glass covered every night. If this precaution is taken, it is usually possible to protect the frame from any danger of frost from March right on into spring. A sheet of waterproof wall board, a mat of straw, or one of the coverings available through seedsmen will do the trick. Old carpets, quilts or blankets make satisfactory covers, too. Many commercial growers use salt hay, but it must be forked on and off each night and morning—a task that requires more time than the home gardener may have available.

Be sure to make some plan for fastening the glass down when you are constructing your coldframe. Some gardeners use the sash or use hook and eye. If this is not done a heavy wind may blow the sash off the frame and cause considerable damage. Heavy stakes or wire will also be needed to fasten down the covering you will put on the frame at night.

A coldframe constructed now and carefully covered at night will thaw the soil so that it will be ready for planting about the first week in March. Select a spot in the garden where there is water available, for frames covered with sash require more water than the open ground needs. The soil in which seeds are to be sown should not be too rich. If it is decidedly poor, a light coat of well-rotted manure dug into the soil or a small amount of fertilizer will enrich it sufficiently to make it adequate for most seedlings. It is a good idea to add a little sand to the soil. Sand is useful, too, as a light covering for the seeds after they are sown.

Hardy annuals sown in coldframes toward the last of February or the first of March should produce sturdy plants that can be set out in April. They can be followed by the hot weather material—dahlia, zinnia, and the like—and these will provide sturdy plants for setting out in May.

Do you know what General Arnold said?

The other day, Gen. Arnold lifted us right out of our seats cheering.

He said: "One day last month over 1600 planes were in the air going from the United States overseas to some war theater."

Of course, that was just one particular day, and a big one. But even so, that's good. In fact, that's swell!

Then Gen. Arnold went on:

He told how the Army Air Force and the RAF saved our men at Salerno. And how, in doing it, we had to scrape the bottom of the barrel. How we had to use every plane in North Africa—how we had to gather planes from every training center, depot and modification center to do the trick.

He said the Italian invasion "would have been easier with more planes—and could not have been done with less."

He talked about the American raids on Germany. On one, 24 big Fortresses didn't come home. On another, 35. On another, 27. On another, 21. And since he talked, 60 bombers—and their gallant crews—went down in a single raid. No one can attempt to evaluate their loss in dollars or the loss to the enemy in destruction of war materials needed by him to carry on the war. But planes cost dollars to produce—millions of dollars.

Then he pointed again to the obvious fact that the Italian fight "is a small engagement compared to the gigantic expedition which one day, and we hope not too many months hence, will be set against continental Europe."

In short, if a fact was ever made crystal-clear, Gen. Arnold made this one: What we're doing now is good—BUT STILL NOT NEARLY ENOUGH!

And that goes for our building, for our fighting—and for the War Bond buying that makes the building and fighting possible.

Coming soon is a day when, with one mighty effort, we're going to smash into Hitler's Europe and bury Germany under an overwhelming mass of men, equipment—and all the materials that money can buy. And to do it we've got to boost our War Bond buying. We've got to buy more Bonds and more Bonds and more Bonds right up to the final minute when the Nazi and Jap flags go down into the dust—for good!

Three out of every four eggs to be produced in 1944 have been allocated to civilians. The War Food Administration has announced an anticipated supply of eggs this year, possibly exceeding 61 billion, is based on the potential production of the greatest number of laying hens on record in the United States.

February quota of new passenger automobiles is 10,000, two-thirds of the January quota, and of new bicycles is 7,500, one-half the January quota. The Office of Price Administration has announced that except for a decrease of approximately one-fourth in the number of used and reclaimed (Grade III) passenger tires, February quotas for tires and tubes are about the same as for January. Essential truck operations in areas where tire recycling facilities are inadequate or unavailable may obtain a ration certificate permitting them to exchange with dealers a tire which needs recapping for a use tire of a new "type" tire. Automobile drivers hereafter will find that the purpose for which they drive, rather than the distance they drive, will determine their eligibility for tires. Motorists may now use indelible markers as well as ink to write their license numbers and state of registration on each gasoline coupon. Motorists must now present their tire inspection records when applying for special gasoline rations.

An additional 44 million pounds of raisins from the 1943 pack is being released for U. S. civilian use by WFA. This action makes 336 million pounds of raisins released to civilians from the 1943 pack. Cheese supplies in 1944 will be divided so as to make available for civilians about four pounds per capita, or one pound less than they received during 1943. About five million more pounds of cheese have been allocated to U. S. servicemen than they used last year, an increase necessary mainly to provide milk nutrients for the larger number of soldiers overseas.

Possibility of using prisoners of war in farming an industry in U. S. areas where free labor is not available has been studied by representatives of WMC and the War Department. Limited use of prisoners on farms was begun last summer. The employer is required to pay the wage prevailing in his community, and the prisoner gets credit of 80 cents a day for personal expenditures, the remainer going to the government for camp maintenance.

WFA says dairy payments at present rates will be continued up to February 27, and beyond that they will depend upon congress-sional action. Older vinegar will cost approximately three cents a quart more at retail—a 20 per cent increase—under a new OPA regulation to compensate producers and packers for increased raw material costs. Local rationing boards may now issue an interim coupon sheet enabling a consumer to buy fuel oil while OPA investigates the less or theft of his ration sheet. Retail prices increases per pound of three cents for sea scallops, five cents for lemon sole round, and 16 cents for lemon sole fillet are expected as a result of wholesale price increases allowed by OPA. Manu-

Springfield Men and Women In Service Thrilled By "Home Town" Movie Films

Russell Frost, a Pilot School in Chico, Cal., when he saw his own father, "Committee" Gregg Frost, in the picture.

Here are excerpts from a few of the letters which have reached the home town boys saw their home town on the movie screen:

Jack Mohler, at Camp Stewart, Ga.: "When it flashed on the Springfield issue!

"It started simply as Army-Navy Screen Magazine No. 18. The first item was labeled, 'The Old Home Town.' But it turned out to really be 'the old home town'—Morris avenue, First National Bank, the Presbyterian Church, the James Caldwell School and all.

"There was Gregg Frost painting his back porch. There was Herb Day fixing a window. There was Dr. Liggitt leading a prayer. And many other familiar faces and familiar places.

"It struck me hard, as it will every Springfielder in the services who sees it. We'll be proud that our town has been selected as the typical 'old home town' for millions of service people everywhere."

Mr. J. Frank Jakobsen, at Lawson Gen. Hospital, Atlanta, Ga.: "I had a thrilling experience last week. Thought you might care to mention it in the SUN, if you have the space."

"The picture was an Army and Navy short, subject of 'Write Home Today.' It showed Mrs. Fred Bohl writing to her son, John. Then Mrs. Bohl receiving a letter from John. The mailman Cassidy? (Ed. Note—We have no such mailman, changed purposely.) Dr. Liggitt preaching a sermon in the Presbyterian Church and Mrs. O.

L. Ste Marie and Virginia Wilson among those in the congregation. Mr. Lamoix cutting cord wood in his back yard. The drug-store, bank, post office, and children coming out of the James Caldwell School with Jack Tenenbaum on special duty at the school crossing.

"And something outstanding, the Legionnaires doing chores for wives and families of service men. Gregg Frost painting a back porch, Jack Tenenbaum washing windows, and Herb Day putting up storm sash. Two men putting a star in front of Howard Lott's name on the town's Honor Roll.

"The closing shot was of the steeple of the Presbyterian Church with the comment, 'Keep up the Morale of the Home Front by Writing Today.'

"The fellows were very impressed by the picture and told me that I came from a swell town. I showed them my news to I've always felt that way about Springfield."

Pte. Cliff Mulbach had an added thrill, for not only he but his wife, as well, who is with him at Camp McCoy, Wis. also were in the Army audience to see the picture. Mrs. Mulbach said, "Cliff and I were thrilled to pieces. First they showed the home of Mrs. Nitolo and we saw her sitting in her parlor, writing to her son, John."

"She wrote, 'You asked about Springfield, John, and I shall tell you about the changes. The camera shows the bank, Presbyterian Church and other parts of town. We really got an enormous kick out of it.'"

Corp. Raymond Forth of New York, brother-in-law of Mrs. Daniel Sheehan of 57 Denham road, saw the picture at his post in Central Africa. Corp. W. J. Burek, a relative of Mrs. Douglas Cubbon of 7 Tower drive, at Camp Edwards, Miss., writes: "A funny thing happened tonight. I went to the movies and they had one of those films called Army and Navy Magazine. They are pictures dealing with the civilian and military war effort. Morris avenue was so real, I felt I was driving to your home. The residential scenes were taken on some of the older streets with the big trees. I was hoping they would show your street. I think I might have let out a yell. That film will be shown all over the world wherever we have troops."

Edward DuVall at Fort Crockett, Galveston, Texas, wrote that he saw the pictures, and letters keep coming in. There are service men in nearby towns, like the Cranford sergeant who wrote his mother from Greenwood, Miss. that he recognized Springfield in the picture.

"By that time I was sure it was Springfield. Then the church showed up. Can you imagine how I felt? I was home? The final shot showed the Honor Roll with the name, Springfield Township. That's picking out familiar spots. I really got a kick out of it."

Since the scenes in this picture are familiar to so many out-of-town service men, the list of those like the Cranford soldier who recognized nearby Springfield will probably climb to an ever-mounting figure.

Meanwhile, Springfield residents are enjoying a private showing of the film, through arrangements made by the local American Legion. At last Thursday's Legion meeting, the film was shown to the members and a full house is expected Monday night when the Springfield Republican Club repeats the performance in the Legion Hall.

tion there, nor does this finish the bad news. This year's tax form is a masterpiece of mystifying multiplicity. I doubt if a certified public accountant could complete his own income tax return accurately in a day.

The most obvious drawback to 1944's revenue raising rumpus is its waste of time. Few of America's 50 million income taxpayers are handy with figures like a C. P. A. but even if they all were, the needless figuring scheduled for March would total 50 million days. That's more than a year's work for men enough to form nine army divisions; too much for times like these.

Sales Tax Coming
Whoever cooked up the formula for computing this year's taxes is pretty unpopular just now. So far he has managed to keep his name out of print but he may be a benefactor in disguise. His headaches already have begun to resound the American people to their almost inevitable sales tax. And if it's coming, the sooner it comes the better. At least it is simple to handle.

Nation-wide filing of forms is not all the time wasted by 1944's lot on small incomes. Government people must audit the forms; an endless chore. Back in 1913 when the income tax was born, one of the chief arguments for it and against sales taxes was this: It is simpler to tax a few overpaid people than a huge number of retailers. That argument works backwards now.

Other Advantages
There are about three million retailers. If auditing three million returns was too expensive of manpower in World War I, how can we afford to audit 50 million now? Besides being open and above-board, simple and easy to handle, a sales tax would release a small army of people from the Income Tax Bureau to do useful things for their country in a time of need.

I favor a sales tax. I oppose income taxes for all except the very high-paid class; we should not eliminate it entirely. But in general, the sales tax conserves manpower, it is honest and easy to handle, it encourages people to save money and thus helps fight off inflation. Nothing could be fairer to people of moderate income than to tax them in exact proportion to their willingness to spend.

Leaving For Army MOUNTAIN SIDE
Andrew Schneller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Schneller, of New Providence road, leaves February 18 for the Army. There will be a family get-together for him at his home tomorrow evening.

There's still time to choose from hundreds of Valentine Day cards for every member of the family. Valentine's Day is Monday, drop in to the Springfield R.F.S. Stationery and Gift Shop, 8 Finner Ave., 2 doors from bank.—Adv.

SIMPLER TAXES
America's federal income taxing machine is hopeless. We need a new one, a simpler model and heavier. I would favor taxing the average married person and wage earner more, in the hope of finishing this war with less national debt. I believe most working people will gladly pay more than they're paying, and I know they want less red tape about it.

Most people who will vote in the 1944 elections, can remember when paying income tax was a distinction. The man who paid one had a good car or his wife had a fur coat or both. The small brown envelope from Uncle Sam arriving early in March brought, I am told, a swell of pride to each addressee, a lift to offset the weak feeling that comes when paying for intangibles; but no more.

Absent from this year's pill is the sugar coating that used to feed the taxpayer's pride. About 50 million people will file returns this March—more than one report from every house; no distinction.

It's a mere boast, but we can't pass over the opportunity to glow over the fact that if any event of importance slated to take place in Springfield isn't listed in "Coming Events," then there's something wrong. But, if we're wrong, help us with your item. There's no charge for the service and no confusion will arise with other local group's activities if as long before the coming event as actually takes place, you remember to pass the date along to the SUN, by mail or phone, Millburn 6-1256.

How much does it cost to bomb Berlin ?

SUPPOSE, in the dusk of an English evening, 1,000 huge bombers soar over the Channel and head for Berlin.
By the time those planes return to England, their motors will have consumed 2,400,000 gallons of gasoline!
The cost . . . of the gasoline ALONE . . . will be more than $380,000.
To pay for the gasoline used on ONE such raid, 96,000 Americans would have to invest at least 10 percent of their next pay check in War Bonds!

What are YOU doing to help pay the cost of those raids? (In addition to the gasoline they use, it costs Uncle Sam TWO HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS to build 1,000 4-motored bombers . . . plus the cost of training the 10,000 men who make up their crews!)
Modern war is expensive business . . . its cost runs into fantastic figures. 30,000,000 American wage earners are now putting an average of 10 percent of each pay check into War Bonds every pay day . . . but still it isn't enough!
Our air raids on the Axis are increasing in frequency and intensity. When land operations really get going, the cost will be staggering.

More and more Americans must join the Pay-Roll Savings Plan . . . more than those already in the Pay-Roll Savings Plan must begin to jack up their War Bond purchases . . . must start to invest more than 10 percent!
Remember . . . War Bonds are the finest investment in the world today. You get back $4 for every $3 you invest. And . . . the more War Bonds you buy now, the quicker the Axis will be licked . . . and the less the war will cost in the long run.
Think it over. And every time you're tempted to put a nickel in something you don't absolutely need—put it in War Bonds instead!
