FRIENDS!!

Al Binder, Republican victor over Tim Sheehan for a seat on the Township Committee, attended last week's meeting of the governing body and got a pretty good idea of what goes on. . . Mayor Selander invited the newcomer to sit on the platform with the rest of the board, but Binder turned down the invitation with a polite, "I'll be up there soon enough!"

Yup, all indications are that Bob Marshall will be Springfield's mayor next year. . . Fred Brown wants to stay as road department chairman and Binder is brand new and needs more experience. . . George Turk or Fran Keane don't stand a chance as the minority party's butlers. . . Ordinarily one year's experience as a member of the Township Committee isn't enough to qualify a man to sit as chairman, but this has been bang up year, chock full of all sorts of happenings. . . When Bob first became a member of the board he was hot-headed and ready to stand toe to toe with any antagonist, but he's calmed down a great deal and we believe he's suited for the task which lies ahead.

Despite repeated warnings by the fire department that burning of leaves and rubbish requires a permit in this community, there are still some residents who think it's somebody's fooling. This is not the case. . . persons violating the ruling are subject to fines up to $100. . . once a couple of people are hauled into court and made to pay a stiff penalty—then more attention generally will be paid to restrictions. . . cops are on the lookout for violators.

Headed "Famous Last Words," a postcard dated Nov. 3 and signed by Ed Cardinal, says: "George Turk, to me, a few weeks ago I, personally, with pin Tim Sheehan's ears back this election."

Richard Ehrmann, Joseph Lato, David Monroe, Harry Dalton, Lloyd Van Ripper, Roy Scouts, and Kevin Sullivan, Cub Scout, were Halloween Prince Charming in the opinion of an Orange resident. . . The boys, while masquerading in the vicinity of Baltusrol avenue over the holiday, found a wallet containing $100 in bills and other important papers. . . after considerable difficulty, parents located the owner and each boy was rewarded for his honesty.

Hats off to Florent Schilling and Mesker for coming to the aid of Girl Scout troops which have been without standards for their flags for several years. . . at least 20 permanent standards are being made by the firm.

Being in the newspaper publishing business in Springfield has its humorous moments. . . the day after election our front window bore the following scribbles: "Kat" — "Democratic Lover" — "Go To Hell" — "Inform" — "Turk Lover" . . . and then last week we glanced at our side window. . . It was decorated with "Dirty Republican" — "Selander Stogie" — "Yellow Dewey Journalism" — "Trotter's Pot" — great stuff, eh????

BALTUSROL GROUP NAMES OFFICERS

E. J. Schnell of 10 Remer avenue was host last week at his home to members of the Baltusrol Civic Association. H. R. Wenberg was elected president of the club; E. J. Schnell, vice-president; R. M. ## New Sanitary Code OK'd By Health Bd.

Morris Avenue Store Inspection Reported Good

Springfield's new sanitary code was passed on final reading last night by the Board of Health without objections. Reprints of the measure in booklet form will soon be available at the township clerk's office.

Robert Treat, as sanitarian, reported his recent inspections of stores in the Morris avenue business district showed merchants were making every effort to meet health requirements. Stores generally have improved to a high degree, Treat said.

As registrar of vital statistics, Treat reported 11 births in the township during October. During the same period he said there were two marriages, six deaths, one case of chicken pox, one case of mumps and one dog bite.

According to a report submitted by Arthur H. Marshall, plumbing inspector, 117 permits for plumbing work in new and old buildings have been issued thus far this year.

New School Budget Details Arranged

Plans for preparation of the 1949-50 Springfield school budget were made at a meeting of the Board of Education Tuesday night in James Caldwell School. Committee chairman were instructed to prepare estimates for submission next month.

The estimates will be submitted to Stuart Knowlton, finance chairman, who will compile the total for presentation at the next board session, December 21.

Mrs. Russell J. Pfitzinger, board lunch committee chairman, opened discussion on the possibility of having two serving periods instead of one for lunches at the Raymond Chisholm School.

She declared the serving capacity of 250 pupils would probably be filled by mid-winter. An average of 165 students are currently being served daily. Mrs. Pfitzinger cited an increase of 50 per cent in lunches at the school from September to October.

LOCAL ARTIST WINS PRIZE IN RAHWAY

James A. Clark, local artist, of 159 Morris avenue, was first prize winner in an art show held recently at the Rahway Art Center and sponsored by the Women's Club of Rahway.

The prize sketch done in pastel was titled, "Who Has Seen the Wind?"

Mr. Clark was also a guest on the Morcy Amsterdam afternoon radio program "For People Only," on WJMG in New York City, where he was interviewed in connection with his art work.

Mr. Clark had his pastel sketches of basketball and football on exhibit at Regional High School earlier this year.

The New Jerseyites are Timothy Sherry of Springfield and Ralph Weaver of Roselle. Both shared relief duties at center for regular Al Como, brother of Perry, the singer. Weaver also saw action at the guard positions.

Sherry, a sophomore, played football at Regional High School, and received an honorable mention all-state award. Nineteen years of age, he is majoring in biology at Marietta.

Saturday Movies

Cub movies, sponsored by Springfield Cub Scouts, are shown at 9:45 Saturday mornings in James Caldwell school by Cub Commissioner Ben Zeoli. Attracting a large crowd of young and old, the show includes cartoons, sportsreels, a serial, and a feature film. The entire show takes about two hours. The new 16 mm sound projector was purchased with money the Cubs made in collecting waste papers, selling peanuts, and a cake sale.

Cub Scout Activities Include Band, Glee Club and Swimming

"Five Years of Cubbing in Springfield" is the theme for this year as announced by Ben Zeoli, cubmaster. Some of the projects which the Cub Committee will endeavor to formulate and complete are: the organization of a Cub Band by Hans Kraft; the organization of a Cub Glee Club, under the direction of Mrs. Raymond Forbes, arrangements for a weekly swimming session at the "Y" in Summit and the continuance of the drill sessions under the direction of Edgar de Ronde.

At the last meeting of the Cub Committee, Fritz Meier reported the following badges awarded at the pack meeting: Wolf badges to Dickle Glaser, Ralph Melick, John Decker, Albert Forster, Walter Wellbrock, Fred Benhoff, Walter Kraft, Ben Badges to Robert Mann, Seth Brown, Richard Lewis, Kenneth Schroeder, Gold arrows to Kenneth Schroeder, Edward Wronsky, Bruce Harrison, John Allen, James Allen and Silver arrows to Curtis Merz, George Champlin, Edward Wronsky.

The next pack meeting will be held at the James Caldwell School on Friday night, Nov. 19. A drill session will be conducted at 7 p. m. before the meeting.

PTA Will Observe Fathers' Night

The Springfield Parent-Teacher Association will observe "Fathers' Night" on Monday evening at Raymond Chisholm School. Hostesses for the program will be sixth grade mothers from both schools.

A square dance is slated to feature the evening's entertainment with Joanne Gould of Rahway doing the calling. Also on the program are a few "elimination" dances and a "broom" dance.

"Fluorine and Its Values" will be discussed during the business session by Dr. Balsam. The treatment is comparatively new in the field of dentistry.

The PTA announcement calls attention to the observance of "National Book Week" in the local library which has provided a remarkable display of children's books which can be seen any day and during evening library hours.

ATTEND DINA MEETING
Miss Carol A. Hart of Tocker avenue and Mrs. Jane C. Kohler of Satter street, attended a meeting of the Dental Hygienists Association of New Jersey in Jersey City yesterday. Mrs. Kohler presided at the business meeting, followed by a table clinic entitled "Dental Health Education" given by the association.

DRIVERS PAY FINES HERE FOR SPEEDING

Alfred Gwathmey of 822 West Broad street, Westfield, was fined $13.50 by Recorder Everett T. Spinning in Police Court Monday night on a charge of speeding. Other speeding fines imposed were: Edwin H. Haven, 1076 Center avenue, Plainfield, $13.50; Milford Totten, 5 Elwood avenue, New Providence, $10 and H. Wallace Hsley, 2083 West Broad street, Scotch Plains $10. Raymond F. Dusbach, 174 Forbest street, Rahway, was fined $11 for careless driving.

Springfield's Morris avenue business section was the scene Monday night of a real movie thriller chase between policemen and auto thieves. About a half-dozen shots were fired at the fleeing men, one of whom is believed to have been wounded, but they managed to escape. A statewide search for the pair was being continued today.

Patrolling Linden avenue at Morris avenue shortly after 10 p. m., Patrolmen Vincent Plinkava and George Parsell noticed a car in which two men were riding. They pulled up to the auto as their suspicions were aroused by the manner in which the car was being operated.

When the pair saw the police car approaching, they veered to the left. The police cut their car sharply to avoid a collision and then swung into a chase which led toward Regional High School. As the Mountain avenue intersection loomed, the police car gained. One of the men, police reported, attempted to jump out of the car but as the vehicle took a sharp curve into Mountain avenue, he was unable to get out.

Once again the patrol car caught up with the fleeing vehicle and once again the driver of the stolen car careened to the left, almost hitting the patrol car. Patrolman Parsell fired two shots hitting the car as the chase continued.

Xmas Club Checks Climb to $87,000

A total of approximately $87,000 in Christmas Club checks will be mailed this week-end to nearly 1,000 persons by the First National Bank of Springfield, according to an announcement today by Carlisle H. Richards, cashier.

The total represents an increase of about $18,000 over last year's savings and marks an all time high in the Christmas Club department of the local bank. The bank's 1949 club will start November 29, Richards announced.

At a conference this week with Vernon Clark, National Director of Sales, U. S. Treasury Department, Savings Bonds Division, Elmer H. Bokst, New Jersey State Chairman, was told that the banks in this State would distribute over $64 million in Xmas Club checks.

The recipients of this money, according to a cross section survey, will reinvest 32 per cent of these funds in permanent savings. Bobst urged New Jersey citizens to remember Uncle Sam's Savings Bonds when reinvesting their funds. Also if they must give presents that a bond is one of the best Christmas gifts a person can receive.

Regional Okays Sub Pay Increase

Increase in the daily wages of substitute teachers from $8 to $10 was voted unanimously by the Regional High School Board of Education Tuesday night.

It was pointed out that provision had not been made for this group during the recent revision of the teachers' salary guide. The board also adopted a resolution which approves modification of the teachers' sick leave provision. "The measure removes the present limit of thirty days on accumulated days of unused sick leave."

The district clerk was authorized to advertise for bids for a bus to transport students from the high school by Mountainside and New Providence Township. This will accommodate students who are delayed beyond dismissal hours by sports and extra-curricular activities. Pending award of a contract the board authorized the hiring of a bus from Charles Shallcross from today until a permanent contract can be awarded.

Also authorized was the payment of $86 per bus to bus operators employed by the board who have installed the safety signal light on their buses. Warren W. Halsey, school principal, was empowered to hire a secretary for the guidance director, Miss Carol Kraft.

Police Guns Blast in Business Section As Auto Thieves Escape Hail of Bullets

Finally the men stopped the auto near the intersection of Morris and Mountain avenues and leaped out. They separated and took refuge behind store buildings in Morris avenue.

Plinkava and Parsell fired two more shots a moment later when they sighted the pair crossing the street into an alleyway. One apparently struck by the volley, yelped, police said. The pair then ran off in different directions, escaping in a swampy area behind the stores. Part of the chase was witnessed by Milton Billet, who was just closing his Morris avenue liquor store.

The car was stolen from Harry S. Barlo of 100 North 9th street,

Stassen, Driscoll Speak in Township

More than 100 of New Jersey's leading industrialists gathered at Baltusrol Golf Club last week to discuss safety systems in their respective establishments. Principal speakers were Harold E. Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, now president of the University of Pennsylvania, and New Jersey's Governor Alfred E. Driscoll.

Stassen said safety concerns the well being of every individual, and its promotion has a by-product worth more than dollars and cents. He said promotion of industrial safety has been a factor in changing "a sad labor-management background" into a more satisfactory relationship in that sphere and to correction of other problems affecting workers and their families.

Stassen told the executives their interest should be demonstrated by a regard for workers and their families. He said the country is entering a period when events may determine whether it is to continue under a free economy or greater governmental control. Safety, he added, should be one part of the basic approach to solution of the way—a great people shall live together.

Governor Driscoll pledged the state's "full partnership" in the conference objectives, but reminded his listeners that "laws in themselves are not the answer to safety problems." He told the executives their interest in safety should not be confined to individual plants, and that their leadership should create a safety record for the state.

Leading New Jersey's records for industrial and highway safety, the Governor declared much is still to be done. He promised the state would back up the executives' findings with legislation.

JACOB O. KRENKE DIES IN HOSPITAL

SCRAP PAPER DRIVE SLATED ON SUNDAY

Another in a series of community scrap paper drives will be held this Sunday. Residents have been asked to have paper tied at the curb by 10 a. m. Committee members, urging greater cooperation on the part of the general public, point out that the October drive was far below expectations. Tonnage collected was less than half of the previous drive.

Funds from the project are divided among the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and local Girl and Boy Scout groups.

Public Hearing on Measure Slated on Wednesday Nite

Encouraged by the victory scored last week by merchants in neighboring Union Township who supported their governing board in its fight to preserve parking rights along Morris avenue in the Larchmont section, Springfield merchants are expected to appear in Town Hall Wednesday night when a public hearing will be held on the new parking ordinance.

The measure, passed unanimously on first reading by the Township Committee following a series of conferences with merchants, civic leaders and officials of the State Highway Department and Motor Vehicle Department, would ban parking on the northerly side of Morris avenue from Springfield avenue to Millburn avenue between 4:30 and 6 p. m. and on the southerly side from Baltusrol way to Meisel avenue from 7:45 to 8:45 a. m. The ban will be in effect every day except Saturday and Sunday.

The action of the governing board has been vigorously opposed by merchants who insist that the prohibition would work a hardship on them. They have estimated that hundreds of sales will be lost each week as a result of customers being unable to park in front of their establishments, especially during the evening hours.

The parking ban is the first step being taken by the Township Committee to enable the municipality to accept the State's offer to install new traffic lights at the Mountain, Flomer and Meisel avenue intersections. Cost of the project will be $18,000. The township's share of the work will be less than $3,000.

The State refuses to assume the reworking of the traffic light system unless the township institutes the parking ban. Members of the governing board claim that failure to do so would cost the township thousands of dollars.

Regional-Rahway Excitement High

Regional High School's unbeaten football team will travel to Rahway next Thursday. It will seek its 16th straight win and first unbeaten season.

Most of the neutral fans play the Bulldogs a one touchdown favorite but they will need all their skill, speed, stamina, and strength against Rahway.

Rahway lost its opening game 28-21 to an unbeaten Dover combine, and then bowled over seven straight foes. They beat Highland Park 28-6, Linden 20-0, Cranford 27-6, Roselle Park 13-8, Bloomfield Tech '39-0, Summit 32-13 and Roselle 25-0.

In comparing the four mutual opponents, Regional beat Highland Park 39-6, Summit 14-7, Cranford 34-14 and Roselle 47-0.

The scoring for and against Regional is 228 to 62; while Rahway's has been 213 to 69.

Pressure will be on Regional as the Bulldogs must win to have a chance to retain the State Sectional Title which they won last year along with Hillsdale and Westfield. Either Dover or Morristown will come through their clash-unbeaten.

Rahway will have the sting of last year's 38-0 rout of their otherwise unbeaten team to spur them on. A pre-season article in the Newark News stated Rahway's one aim was to beat Regional this year.

The game promises to be a wide-open high-scoring contest.

In addition to the December 1 concert, arrangements have been completed for appearances at the Grove Reformed Church, North Bergen, and at the Veterans' Hospital, Lyons.

Arline Flirstone was elected president of Girl Scout Troop 53 recently in Mountainside School. Johann Conrads was elected treasurer and Carol Ann Kristiansen was named co-leader. Mrs. D. M. Tuttle is troop leader. The girls have begun work on Christmas presents under direction of Mrs. Harold Engleman, assistant troop leader.

Because of the length of this film, it has been divided for the sake of convenience into two parts. One part will be shown at each of the two evenings indicated. Other portions of the service will be in charge of the young people themselves.
"Queen Esther," of course, is a dramatization of the Old Testament book which bears the name of this heroine of another day. The entire story is told in a manner that is both gripping and inspiring. The technical achievement of the producers is magnificent. The lesson it teaches is forthright and pertinent.
Everyone is welcome. Read the story in the Bible and then witness its truth come to life before your eyes.

NEW JERSEY
Pioneered in Their Production
AS EARLY AS 1873 plastics were being produced in New Jersey. In 1939 this state ranked first in the production of plastics, both coal-tar-resins and intercellulose products. The value of plastics products has been placed at $33,336,642 and value added by manufacture at $16,490,710*.
The uses of plastic products are far too many to enumerate, some of them having more than twenty thousand uses. Their unique qualities make them of great value and universally popular. It is quite likely that plastics, in some form or other, are being used in practically every home, every office and every shop and factory to-day.
The story of plastics is one of continual development and extensive research, and in both manufacture and research, electricity and gas make a worthwhile contribution.

Regional Flattens Highland Park by 39-6 Scoring Spree

By Bob Wood

Regional High School's unbeaten football team rebounded from last week's close game with Bound Brook to flatten Highland Park on the County Field Saturday. Despite being hobbled by fumbles and penalties which directly cost three touchdowns, the Bulldogs piled up a 39-6 margin.

Frank Chorniewy, with 81 yards in 13 tries for a 6.2 average, scored three times and kicked three extra points. Bob Ziegenfuss, with 77 yards in 9 attempts for an 8.7 average, hit pay-dirt twice. Ken Belliveau, with 219 yards in 19 rushes for an 11.5 average, tallied the other Regional touchdowns.

Early in the first period, Warren Ousterman blocked a Bunk punt and Frank Rice recovered on the visitors' 28. Belliveau bucked for nine yards and two rushes by Chorniewy moved the ball the remaining 19. Chorniewy's kick was good.

Later in the second period, Belliveau bulldozed his way through the Park line for 67 yards before being brought down from behind on the 18. After Chorniewy had lost two and Frank Vicendese gained them back, Belliveau flipped to Charlie Fleck who was hauled down on the two. Belliveau scored to make it 13-0.

Early in the third period the Bulldogs covered 63 yards in three plays with Chorniewy scoring from the 18.

Here Highland Park struck back. A pass play carried them 44 yards to the homester's one. On third down, Ernie Vanveer bucked over.

Sparked by fine line play and Belliveau plunging, the Orange and Blue marched to the Park 39 on the third period closed, despite a penalty which voided Vicendese's 55 scoring romp. A holding penalty set them back to the 25 but Ousterman kept Belliveau's pass to the 8. Three plays later Chorniewy went around end for his third score.

Then with most of the first team on the bench, Ziegenfuss put on a good display of ball carrying. He took a Park punt on his own 30 and twisted his way 25 yards behind fine blocking. He then carried three times for 35 yards with Vicendese and Ray Galiszewski contributing seven to move the ball to the four. Ziegenfuss then slipped off-tackle to score but an offside penalty nullified this and set Regional back to the nine. To prove the first was no fluke, he circled left end and tallied again.

Later in this period, a visitor punt bounded on the Regional. 30. Ziegenfuss fired 17 yards to Frank Calderaro, then slipped off-tackle for 11 more. His next pass was intercepted but Vicendese intercepted Vanderveer's on the next play and moved to the 27. Ziegenfuss went 15 yards in two plays. Galiszewski bucked for five and Ziegenfuss went outside of tackle for the last eight. Chorniewy kicked the point.

Ray DeBerjous intercepted a pass and carried it to the Park 32 as the game ended.

The Regional line-up: Ends, Frack-Ousterman, Saffery, Secl, Sherry; tackles, Cole, Kerestes, Larson, Mandy, Rien; guards, Doolan, F. Festa, Machrone, Malencho, Rittwiger; centers, De Berjous, Rile, Toll; backs, Belliveau, Calderaro, Chorniewy, J. Festa, Galiszewski, Grant, Vicendese, Ziegenfuss.

Barbers and Market In First Place Tie

A. Dandrea's 230 was high game for the night. Norm Ganek had 218, Sal Lordi, 227. Walt Schramm, 221, Charlie Davis, 210, Harry Volz, 211, Tony Graziano, 215, and Eddie Bill 223.

Girl Scout Corner

By Teresa Doherty
Greetings to a New Troop Troop 12

This is a new Brownie Troop organized a few weeks ago under the leadership of Mrs. C. Wyckoff, assisted by Mrs. M. Pringle. The girls meet every Friday at 2:45 p. m. in the Presbyterian Sunday school room.

The membership now stands at fourteen. The regular Brownie investiture ceremony is planned for the meeting this Friday, at which time the following girls will be received into the Brownie circle: Bianca Colstone, Judy Crowley, Dale Dauser, Joyce Field, Naomi Fleetwood, Lottie Kahler, Carol LuBenua, Margaret Mojis, Sandra Penard, Marie Ronkowitz, Dorothy Ann Scriba, Angela Terranova, Mary Ann Viceno and Marlene Walton.

Mrs. W. Penard was named chairman of this troop committee. Mrs. E. Lubenua and Mrs. W. Moffie will serve with her.

The leaders have been helping the girls with special craft work and most of them have already completed candy baskets and decorated napkins. For their investiture service, the youngsters wove special invitations to their mothers. The entire troop visited the post office when the "invites" were mailed, and Mr. Corby again explained the routine of the post office to the girls. Each saw her letter "cancelled."

This new troop has the good wishes of all Scouting friends. The Association is proud to have Mrs. Wyckoff and Mrs. Pringle join the rank of Scout leaders who are ever alert to the need of adult guidance in the molding of the character of our youth.

REGIONAL HI-LITES

Regional had 39 points to Highland Park's 6. Here's hoping we do this well Thanksgiving Day. Don't forget the game starts at 11 a. m.

For assembly this week we had three films. These were "Wings Over World, Wonders," "Thrills and Spills," and "Andy's Garden." Plus, as a special treat, we had with us Paul Possiter, ex-'49. He did two pantomimes to the records "That's What I Like About the South" and "Dinah." Glad to have you back, Paul. Assembly was led by Kathy Green.

On Friday, ten Student Council members are going down to Princeton for a meeting of the New Jersey Association of High School Student Councils. Those going are Eddie Pieper, Joan Gorman, Ann Ayres, Lou Perrotta, Fred Hafner, Harvey Karlin, Carol Grieser, Alice Monahan, Ray De Berjous and Frank Calderaro. Fred Hafner will speak on "How a Well-planned Meeting Contributes to a Student Council Success." I'd like to mention, also, that Frank Calderaro is a candidate for the executive committee of this organization.

It's been announced that Bamberger's is having another fashion show at Regional on December 17. Those interested in modeling signed up with Miss Romano.

The Junior Red Cross drive is now on. Home room 202 was first to reach its 100 per cent goal. Next in line were 208, 5, cafeteria 1 and cafeteria 2.

YOUR LIBRARY

Children's Book Week has been observed for so many years it would seem as if there could be nothing new to write about, no new ideas for plot or picture. Yet every year there is a bright and colorful array to entice the new reader and charm the old; but only after long and careful preparation on the part of educators, writers and publishers. The current exhibit, consisting of two cases of children's books of the past century, emphasizes as nothing else could, the amount of work that has been done and the immeasurable improvement in paper, print and subject matter.

The Springfield library issues borrowers' cards to children when they are six years old and many come to the library for their first card as a part of their birthday celebration, or shortly after. Pride in card ownership and the privilege of borrowing their own books and the responsibility of caring for them, often results in improved manners and all-around better behavior. The library's juvenile program also includes a regular monthly story hour, held the third Saturday in each month at 10:30 a. m. for children of five years and older.

Books that adults will want are the Wallace Nutting "Furniture Treasury" in two volumes; "I Capture the Castle" by Dodie Smith; "River to the West" by John Jennings; "Kissing Kin" by Elsiebeth Thane; "Castle in the Swamp" by "Jonathan Fisher" by Mary Ellen Chase; "Michael's Wife" by Gilbert Frankau and "Tales of My People" by Sholem Ash.

Final plans for construction of the PWA approved addition to the Raymond Chisholm School will be submitted to the Board of Education by Architect Elsassner by November 24, and work will be started on the new addition next month.

The Springfield Board of Education has under consideration a request from the Teachers Association for "general increments" and alteration of its policy regarding teachers without degree.

The second step towards fulfillment of a comprehensive park program in Springfield was realized when the Union County Park Commission approved the proposal of W. R. Tracy, secretary-engineer, to exchange 18 acres of township-owned land in return for improving the property for public use. The proposal provides for two revisions in the boundary line of the Rahway River Parkway through Springfield. The exchange is to include additional land in the vicinity of Angell, Warner and Marlon avenues as well as the former Brooker property on Milltown road.

Final figure in the Springfield War Fund Drive showed a total received of $4,446.21, after expenses of $72.50 were deducted and $600 turned over to the Boy Scouts.

The Springfield Board of Education has submitted a request to the Township Committee to set aside three township-owned properties for future school sites.

Ten Years Ago

Construction will be started within a few days by the Jersey Central Power and Light Co. to improve street lighting facilities in Morris avenue, Seven Bridge road and Route 29 through arrangements being completed between the Township Committee, State Highway Department and the utility company.

The "Regionlogue," first yearbook of Regional High School, has just been announced as winner of the second place in the Columbia Scholastic Press Association Contest. The contest was open to all schools of the country.

David S. Jenkins was renamed to the presidency of the Springfield Volunteer Fire Department at its annual election in the Archbosh.

Commuters Association Hears Gripes of Railroad Riders

DAILY SOME 30,000 suburbanites ride the Lackawanna from their homes to work in metropolitan areas. One of the amusing complaints aired by one of the riders was to ask that all seats on the trains be lowered two or three inches. It seems the seats at their present height prevented his legs from reaching the floor.

By JEFFERY JAMES

With the growth of suburban areas new organizations arise specifically adapted to meet the needs of suburban residents. Such an organization is the Lackawanna Commuters Association.

Organized in 1945 to fight the closing of the 23rd Street Ferry by the Lackawanna railroad, the association now has a membership of a little less than 1,000 commuters. The object of the non-profit organization is to help provide better and more comfortable commutation for the some 30,000 persons who daily commute between suburban and metropolitan areas on the Lackawanna railroad. Last week as the association's complaint committee was editing a batch of gripes from railroad riders, Louis Dos Passos, Summit, chairman of the complaint committee and past president of the association ran across such criticisms of Lackawanna service as: The grips of one suburban commuter who complained that the hard wicker seats were uncomfortable for his daily ride to work, the inability of riders to open windows on hot summer days, and lack of consideration of fellow passengers by invertebrate smokers.

Seats Lower
One commuter complained that if he wished to look out of the windows he would need to carry a washcloth. The reason—vacuum chair tonic from former riders had so coated the windows that he was unable to see out clearly.

But the choicest complaint of all came from a Lilliputian commuter who asked that the railroad lower all its seats two or three inches. Seems the height of the present seats prevented his legs from reaching the floor.

Back in 1945 the association lost its fight to keep the 23rd Street Ferry open. But according to Julian Kurzman, New Providence, secretary of the association, they were able to delay its closing for about two years.

More recently, with an enlarged membership they were successful in preventing the railroad from raising the fare on the monthly restricted commutation ticket.

Futura Plans
The association hoped that with added membership from their membership drive this year, they would be successful in persuading the Lackawanna to issue a Hoboken ticket. Now, even though 66 per cent of the riders stop off on the Jersey side, they must buy a New York commutation ticket.

They also hoped to help the railroad fight against high municipal railroad taxes, which the association believes forces commutation fares to spiral upward. High commutation costs, the association claims, will only serve to dissuade prospective suburbanites from settling in suburban areas.

Eventually, according to Dos Passos, the association hopes to have an organization of 5,000-6,000 commuters.

CATCHING UP WITH THE WORLD

By GREGORY HEWLETT

The most important thing to come along in New Jersey since the production of the state's new Constitution... that's the only way to describe the proposed "optional charter plan" for local self-government in our too many municipalities.

No matter what kind of government your particular home town may now have, you just have to be interested in this preliminary statement of the Commission on Municipal Government. For if the report is accepted by the Legislature in any form near its present form, residents of every municipality eventually will have to decide whether to keep what they now have or to change to one of the several governmental forms recommended.

Largely because of its criticism of the commission form of government—the type used in Newark—the report already has been put on the firing line. But—before it is summarily rejected or summarily accepted, we would suggest, as its writers have suggested, that it be carefully studied and widely discussed.

The report, in brief, does this: It calls attention to the present variations in types of municipal government and to the weaknesses and strengths of those types. It then recommends three separate kinds—the strong mayor plan, council-manager plan, and small municipality plan—and sets forth the procedure for determining the plan desired.

Under this procedure, a five-member charter commission would be elected in each municipality either upon resolution of the governing body or upon petition of 5 per cent of the registered voters. This commission would study local needs and recommend one of five possible courses of action. If needed, a referendum would be held to decide the issue. Yes, and if neither the governing board nor the voters took action to set up a charter commission by 1955, the municipal clerk would be required to put the question on the ballot in '55!

This last provision, said the Commission on Municipal Government, "is designed to overcome civic inertia—a condition which the Commission believes to be the major weakness of American local government."

ELECTION SEQUEL
Again we find it necessary to look backwards a moment to catch up on an election event that was side-tracked by the main action—the adoption in Connecticut of a proposal "for strengthening the UN to prevent war."

In the opinion of the head of the Orange and Maplewood chapter of United World Federalists, Louis B. Dalley, this action was "the most significant thing that has yet been done in this field." The vote, he added, proved two things: "First, too few people are thinking about it (only 16 per cent of those voting for president balloted on the question) and second, of those who do think about it, 11 to one favor it." (The vote was 139,548 for and 11,488 against.)

Although the question was boiled down on the ballot, the full statement of the issue followed the UNVE platform right down the line. "Do you, as a sovereign citizen of Connecticut and of the United States of America," it read, "direct our representatives in the national Congress to urge the President and the Congress to take the lead in calling for amendments to the United Nations Charter, strengthening the UN into a limited world federal government capable of enacting, interpreting and enforcing laws to prevent war?"

ON THE BRIGHT SIDE
Those two items of intelligence, incidentally, are probably the brightest developments to be reported in connection with our promise of last week to end up this time on a cheerful note. They're not exactly the kind we had in mind—not the opposite of the blood and thunder items we listed a week ago—but after making a diligent effort to look for things happy, we've come to the unhappy conclusion that by and large too few of the good things of life are given public attention.

There are exceptions, of course, like the birth of a son to princess Elizabeth... and births, too, in hundreds of ordinary homes. And there are weddings and golden anniversaries and things like that. But not enough of the good deeds of guys named John and Joe and Mary and Sue get in the papers or on the radio.

We did like the one about the shooting peddler who gave a parking lot attendant out in Los Angeles $1,000 just because the latter seemed "worthy of it." And the one, too, about the Philadelphia father of a 9-year-old girl who has a fatal illness... "if science learns anything from her before or after death, I will gladly consider any feasible course of action."

Our Neighbors

These events made front page news last week in the nearby weekly papers.

According to Fair Lawn's ace forecaster, "It ain't gonna be easy to predict weather conditions this fall." The reason he says has something to do with converging cyclone weather factors late this fall and recurring during the next year or two. All of which, we assume, adds up the fact that the weather bureau is getting a little cagey after last year's winter fiasco.

Can a uniformed petty officer of the U. S. Navy vote in his home election district?

The question was open to much argument in Ridgewood last week after one election board refused to let a uniformed petty officer cast his ballot. After much discussion pro and con, the board quoted the sailor go home, don civilian clothes, then come back and vote.

At last report the question of the board's action is still being debated. No final decision has been reached as to the correctness of the board's policy.

But during the discussion one interesting question was brought up.

"What," one person asked, "is to prevent a serviceman from casting his military ballot, then changing to civilian clothes and casting a ballot in his home district?" No one seemed to have the answer.

Some Teen-agers Feel That Press May Be As Wrong on World War III As Elections

By JOHN COAD

Many suburban youths this week faced the near prospect of donning uniforms as their predecessors, the first draftees under U.M.T. were to take their induction oaths on November 18-19. At least some of the teen-agers (facing the prospect of 21 months of compulsory military life) took a dim view of the situation, statements from representatives of teen-age groups in Maplewood revealed.

Unlike the draftees during World War II, when because of the patriotic fever which swept the country, most were reconciled to service in the armed forces, many of the potential draftees now appeared to be less eager about army service than their World War II forerunners.

Those teen-agers who disagree with the policy of U.M.T. state that it will be an interruption of their future plans. Many suburban youths of draft age are just beginning college careers and they do not want that career to be interrupted.

Willing to Serve in War
While this group emphasizes the fact that they would be willing and honored to serve their country in time of war, they feel that conditions today, despite international tensions, do not warrant such drastic steps as Universal Military Service.

Much of the war talk currently heard, these teen-agers claim, is the result of an overenthusiastic press. This press they point out, went overboard on the wrong side of the fence in the recent elections. With this to substantiate their argument they claim it possible that the press may very well be on the wrong side of the fence concerning a World War III.

This group would prefer to see the powerful journals of the world turn their influence to the strengthening of the United Nations rather than aiding and abetting the rash of war scares.

"U.M.T." is not for me," were the symbolic words of one spokesman for this teen-age group who does not wish to have his ambitions interrupted by military service—unless that service is unmistakably a necessity.

While one group of teen-agers held this opinion, another group of Columbia High School teen-agers expressed favor for U.M.T. This segment of teen-agers who favored military service asserted that the nation's military preparedness was the best security for their own personal future security.

New Problem
And the army, recognizing that the training, morale and discipline of a peacetime army would be a different kind of problem from a wartime program, has made an effort to readjust itself to a peacetime draft.

According to army officials, the army has made a real effort to correct the abuses pointed out in the post-war criticism of the army, caste system. The emphasis now, war army bulletins, has been placed on the individual rather than on the serial number. Staff discipline and training are still maintained but officers are instructed to maintain discipline without abusing the men under their command.

Probably the most difficult part of the program to get across to the teen-age peacetime draftees will be to instill in them a sense of mission, confidence and satisfaction in their army life. But the army hopes to do this through its peacetime training program.

Perhaps the army peacetime program will be as hard to sell as a costly life insurance policy to a man who has just been told by his doctor that he will live to be 100. But the army's attitude toward their peacetime draftees is that they are like a huge parachute. You may never need a parachute, but when you do there is very little that will do for a substitute.

Power Pole's Life Numbered
The careers of cedar poles, atop which are those bucket-like affairs known as electrical distribution transformers, are numbered, because of spuy marks of service men. A pole climbed 75 times becomes unsafe and must be replaced.

MANY SUBURBAN YOUTHS now about to finish high school or beginning their college educations will in the near future be faced with the prospect of 21 months compulsory military service under U.M.T. At least some of these teen-agers feel that at the present time, despite international tensions, U.M.T. is an unnecessarily drastic step.

Juvenile Delinquency Begins At Home, Public Believes

By KENNETH FINK

Director, The New Jersey Poll

The responsibility for juvenile delinquency, according to seven out of every ten of the state's residents, can be laid at the door of the child's parents. This charge made by the New Jersey public is one that all parents might well take to heart.

THE NEW JERSEY POLL SIGNIFICANCE

What specifically do people have in mind? In answer to the question: "Police records show that many crimes are being committed by teen age boys and girls. What do you think is the main reason for this delinquency?"

People named—poor home environments (22%); parental neglect (18%); lack of home discipline (16%); and the parents themselves (14%).

Other contributing factors are present, of course, but the big majority of the people in this state believes that juvenile delinquency begins in the home.

Lack of Facilities
The other most important reason mentioned was lack of recreational facilities. 12% of the state's adult population think this is the main reason. Here is a matter that must certainly merit the attention of community leaders throughout New Jersey.

A very significant finding brought out by this survey is the small number who mentioned crime movies, radio crime programs, and comic books as the main cause of juvenile delinquency. Only one person in ten gave those as a reason. From time to time, these forms of entertainment are held up as major causes of juvenile delinquency, but the New Jersey public is not of this opinion. Here are the reasons the New Jersey public gives for juvenile delinquency:

- Lack of home training; poor home environments; lack of home life 22
- Parental neglect; mothers not home enough; parents do not pay enough attention to children 18
- Lack of home discipline; too little parental control; parents too lax 16
- The parents; it's the parents' fault; parents are to blame 14
- Lack of recreational facilities and playgrounds; town's fault for inadequate playgrounds; not enough recreational centers 12
- Too many crime and gangster pictures 6
- Children don't have enough to do; not kept busy enough; too much time on their hands 6
- The aftermath of the war; the war cycle 3
- Too many married women working; working women should stay home 3
- Kids on street too much 2
- Comic books 2
- Radio programs; radio crime programs 2
- Lack of discipline in the schools 2
- Wrong ideas children have today; think they know it all 1

Wise Parent Helps Teen-agers Prepare Their Own Party

Theory is all very nice, but until the best way to impart knowledge is through practice.

It is a wise mother that starts in early to train her young daughter in the social graces, one of the principles of which is being a gracious hostess. So now as the indoor entertaining season is upon us why not encourage the very wholesome desire of a young teen-ager to give a party by having her help you and see how the mechanics are accomplished.

She'll learn that it isn't all pretty frocks, flowers, place cards and elegant refreshments, but that there is work entailed. So envelop her in a capacious apron and let her help you with the table service, washing the company china, cleaning silver, and making the glassware clean and bright.

Gleaming Silver

She will find it fun to make the silver gleam, and to work a small brush into the crevices of cut-glass pieces.

Consult with her on all phases of the party. Ask her suggestions about the flowers and how the centerpiece or buffet decorations should be handled. The chances are that she will come up with several very good suggestions, ideas that you can work out together. If her ideas are a trifle grandiose, ask her whether she would rather give her guests flowers or food. So work out a compromise and show her how clever ideas and beauty are more a matter of ingenuity and good taste than just large expenditure—an important lesson for every woman, and one she can't learn too early.

The Menu

Go over the menu with her and see if you can't arrive at refreshments that she can help prepare. If a home-made cake is on the menu, daughter can assist by measuring and sifting flour, sugar and shortening, and by mixing. Put her in charge of the dishpan filled with sudsy water and show her how it helps to clean cooking utensils as one goes along, instead of letting the bowls and spoons and pans pile up.

On the actual day of the party coach her to set an attractive table or buffet, how to arrange flowers, favors, place cards.

In every detail let her share the responsibility for the success of the party, whether it be your party or hers. By doing so you are teaching your girl that being a hostess means much more than putting on a pretty frock and putting on records for the latest dance hit. She will learn that a clean and charming home and sparkling appointments are as important as the food and flowers.

Kieffer Pears May Be Picked Green

One of the few fruits which can be gathered green and then stored for ripening is the Kieffer pear.

When should Kieffer pears be picked? Mrs. Helen Robbins, associate extension specialist at Rutgers University, favors the old rule of picking the whole crop when the first pear drops.

"Don't despair if the pears are hard as rocks, they will ripen quickly if stored at a temperature of 60° F.," says Mrs. Robbins.

Kieffer pears are especially satisfactory for cooking because the pieces hold their shape even after peeling and coring.

They are just right for preserves or sweet pickles. A little lemon or ginger will give the preserves a tempting tangy taste.

If the pears ripen too quickly and you find yourself with pears galore, can them.

Place peeled, cored, halved pears in boiling syrup and cook gently 4 to 8 minutes or until edges begin to look transparent. Then pack in clean, hot jars. Fill the jars with hot syrup to within 1/2 inch of the top. Process quart jars 20 minutes in a boiling water bath.

The narwhale is a playful Arctic whale, frequently seen crossing tanks in a manner suggesting fencing.

A NOVEL IDEA for decorating your living room materials. In this case leftovers from the drapes were used as material for covering the lampshades.

How to Remove Holiday Spots From Tablecloth

Most homemakers agree that no matter how simple they may keep their table settings during the year, they want the holiday season table to be something special. But suppose that best banquet cloth should be stained?

If there are fruit or berry stains stretch cloth over a bowl and pour boiling water from a height, dry in the sun, if possible, to bleach. If the stain has "set" and the cloth is white cotton or linen, follow the boiling water with a chlorine bleach and rinse promptly and thoroughly.

For coffee, chocolate or cocoa stains, first soak in cold water for several hours, then pour boiling water through from a height, and wash as usual. For "set" stains, apply a paste of borax and cold water. Rub in well, rinse and wash in warm suds.

To remove candle wax, scrape off the surface wax with a blunt knife. Place a piece of white blotting paper or brown wrapping paper over the spots, and press with a hot iron, moving the paper frequently. Remaining dye stains can be treated with chlorine bleach, if the cloth is white.

Lipstick smears aren't too difficult to remove, usually laundering is sufficient. If the lipstick is of the "indelible" type, try using a special lipstick remover than can be purchased at hardware and department stores and at some drug-stores. If you have none, rub with kerosene, wash in hot suds, and bleach remaining stain with peroxide of hydrogen. Sponging lipstick stains with carbon tetrachloride is often successful, too. And try putting these little lipstick tissue folders at each place. Thoughtful women will be glad to use them.

A Magnetized Can Opener

A new wall-type, hand-operated can opener features a novel magnet application. A magnet, on an adjustable arm, picks up the lid once a can has been opened.

Your Home and You

By BETTY TELFER, Short Hills

When you first studied color you learned that there are three primary colors—red, yellow and blue and that all other colors are made from these. The secondary colors are green, orange and violet. Little children understand and like the primary colors and the green and orange of the secondary colors. These colors have some meaning in their lives. They know the green of the grass, the orange that gives the daily juice, and the blue of the sky. In selecting papers for children consider the primary and secondary colors very carefully. Be sure that reds, yellows, blues, etc. are to be found in the designs. These colors do not need to be harsh or brilliant, but they do add to the child's enjoyment of his background.

Another consideration is design. Children are active little creatures and like action in their papers. They like something to be happening. The papers with boys riding bicycles, playing ball, flying kites, and little girls wheeling doll carriages appeal to children who do these things when they play. Boys are interested in boats, cars, planes, and trains—all things within their knowledge.

When selecting a paper for a child's room think of it as lasting about five years. Select a design that will be good for that length of time. By the time a child is three years old he will begin to show some sensitivity to his surroundings. At five he will express some decided likes and dislikes. It may be wise to let him have a part in the choice of his paper. Do not give him a large wallpaper book and expect him to be clever in deciding upon the correct paper for his room. Get three or four papers of proper design and color, put them up for him to see and await results. You will be guiding his taste and he will be establishing the habit of making independent decisions!

A Private Showing
My first experience with a little boy of four who was very sensitive as to what was happening around him was a lesson I will always remember. In a home being decorated every room was being prepared or painted except two—a breakfast room and the one for little Jack. The paper in his room was "good enough for the present," Grandmother, Jack and I were in selecting the work and finally, Grandmother asked, "How do you like your new home, Jack?" "I like it all but my room. Why can't I have a new paper the same as all the others?" That was my first introduction to a child's feeling of being excluded from sharing with the family. Grandmother and I exchanged glances. Immediately I arranged a "Private Showing" for Jack and his grandmother. No one else was invited. We explained that a private showing was like going to an art gallery with a special invitation to see an important picture. Jack was to see special papers for little boys. At the appointed time seven papers were hung. Jack was very serious in his inspection, asked a few questions, and finally pointing to a paper with ships said, "I want that one. It looks like where we go in the summer."

Another example of making a decision by a small child is that of a little girl of my acquaintance. Her mother decided upon a paper with symmetrical design of uninteresting circles with conventional flower centers—just one of those papers that is suitable anywhere, any time, with any color scheme. No one would make a mistake in

Modern Trends Shown in Some New Furniture

As the stores step up their furniture stocks interesting displays showing active settings and suggestions add to the increased fall tempo.

There's no doubt about it, contemporary furniture design is undergoing a radical change, or rather, an accelerated evolution, which is all to the good. Instead of the stark straight lines, the blonde woods, the rough textured or wooly upholstery, there are interesting curves, beautiful dark woods and simply magnificent patterned upholstery. We became increasingly aware of this while studying the new furniture galleries of a famous metropolitan store, one noted for innovations and interest in all phases of modern design and designers.

Furniture Designers

Two well-known modern furniture designers are represented by interesting displays. In one group we were entranced with chests, storage pieces that have striking modern beauty. The chests are mounted on legs of aluminum and have interesting sliding doors fashioned of woven strips of light mahogany finish wood and aluminum rods. Behind the doors are special drawers for linens, while above are compartmented drawers for tableware and such.

Other items in this group include a table with twin monoliths for legs, a table that can be used as a desk, a dining table or a library table, and look right in any setting. Then there's a round chair that does a piano stool revolving act.

Foam rubber is responsible for the new, light look of modern upholstered pieces. For this group, the foam rubber cushioning is cut and curved to exact dimensions from pieces that are mold-shaped, rather than cut from squares, first designs. An excellent modern group includes a slightly curved sofa, a round coffee table and a pair of armless chairs of interesting design.

Seasonal Greeting Cards Say "Merry Christmas" Many Ways

BY LOUELLA BELDEN REDDA

Many times between now and December 25 you are going to write that familiar message: "Merry Christmas!"

And, if you do as the Postoffice Department urges, you'll have all of those Christmas cards in the mail very shortly.

So, what could be more timely this week than to start out on a tour of the greeting card shops?

It's fun to make the rounds, picking up a few here, and a few more there, as your eye lights on just the very card to send to this or that friend, until you have a triumphant collection, each one uniquely appropriate for the person to whom it will be sent.

For one of the fine things about modern greeting cards is that they're so varied you can always find a subject or a type that will particularly appeal to anyone's special temperament or interest.

So among this year's Christmas cards, there are the whimsical cards, the religious cards, the humorous ones, the old-fashioned traditional scenes, and a whole host of miscellaneous ones which will just fit the career, hobby, or special taste of some one you know.

From the cat lover to the ski enthusiast, the amateur photographer to the expert cook, the sports fan to the home gardener and innumerable others, there's a card to appeal to each one.

New Junior Haven Shop at Bams

"Silk and satins—buttons and bows was the theme of yesterday's fashion show ushering in the New Junior Haven shop on the third floor of L. Bamberger & Co. store in Newark.

Keyed to the holiday spirit, the "Buttons and Bows" show featured evening gowns and dramatic dresses styled for holiday hours with "classic" frocks for brightening every single day!

For the dressy occasions dominating the holiday social calendar, the show featured a two-piece bronze satin dress with a pleated skirt, topped by a fitted jacket, boasting a square neckline and enhanced by pearl and gold-link rope choker. Iridescent taffeta gloves and brown jeweled velvet hat completed the ensemble.

Victorian finery was found in a fitted black velvet evening coat with jet buttons and braid trim on collar and pockets. Complimenting the creation was a tiny velvet bag and black pleated felt hat with velvet trim.

More Efficiency At Kresge's

Customers seeking competent help with their shopping problems should find that salespeople in Kresge-Nowak's Home Furnishings Division are now better prepared than ever to give them the advice they need.

Personnel of this division today completed an extensive training program designed to impart information to aid customers in selecting and buying merchandise. The courses included such subjects as the basic principles and psychology in the use of color, style adaptations and variations in the treatment of styles in home furnishings—"what goes with what" in furniture and other furnishings.

Latest Fashions In Furs

East Orange had a view of the latest in furs at the recent fashion show of the Terzaco fur store for members and guests of the Mount Holyoke Alumnae Club of Northern New Jersey in the Hotel-Suburban.

Hats for the show were by the Jane Engle store and Miss Emily Prochaska, head of Terzaco Furs, acted as commentator.

Highlights of the display included:

Ranch Mink coat and jacket, with skins of both sleeves and body skillfully worked into a sunburst effect, narrow shoulders gradually widening in a dramatic sweep.

Below-the-hip length cape of natural lamb blood Ranch Mink, with scalloped hemline, exquisite black flare detail and small stand-up collar.

Mink blended Squirrel cape and stoles, displayed in countless styles over suits and dinner

Fat Checkbook Is Not Necessary for Well Dressed Look

By interesting herself in line and color, keeping up with the modes, using taste and discretion when selecting her sartorial draperies, any woman can look smart and well-dressed. While it is a big help to have the wherewithal to buy what one pleases, it isn't necessary to have a fat balance in the check book.

Some of the worst looking frumps have dozens of expensive frocks. They fancy that any item that costs a lot must be all right. But if one has the seeing eye and the seeing brain, one can find wearing apparel that will fill the bill. It is a matter of being choosy, and knowing one's figure. With a well-developed dress sense a woman will never make a mistake. No orphan frocks will be hanging in her clothes closet.

No matter what the styles may be, they can be applied to one's own needs. The smart shopper will never fall for extreme models. Simplicity is a safer bet than a lot of fancy things. A woman is more important than her clothes; she isn't if she looks as if she were carrying a display of dry goods. The greatest error of all is to be over-dressed.

The hairdo and the hat are very important. They should be neither too youthful nor too old. A shoulder length bob, flying hither and yon, on the faded beauty is a good looks mistake, as is the severe up-swept effect on a girl of seventeen.

A well-dressed woman is a joy to the eye. For the sake of those who have to look at her, every woman should endeavor to appear her most attractive.

Hints on Choosing a New Lipstick

It is worthwhile to take an angle's view of cosmetic counters now and then. Chemists who design and compound items to help the sisters to be pretty and attractive and continually making new offerings. No girl can afford to drop out of the pulchritude parade; she must carry the "new look" fashions are ever-in-a-state of evolution. One must keep informed.

Perhaps you tire of the same old color for the mouth portals. Possibly, when you get a new frock the shade you are using starts a color fight. Why not, then, have several tints?

Choice of Colors
There are rules about the choice of colors that work out pretty well. For instance, beauticians say that the lighter your skin, the lighter the lipstick should be. The darker your hair, the darker and richer the lip smear. Raspberry and wine shades, all those that are blue-reds, look better under artificial light than in the daytime. Also, you have to be wary about them; they may clash with the color of frock or chequise.

On a cloudy day you can use a brighter tone than on a sunny day. Or is that spitting beauty hairs? Anyhow, an authority says so, and she should know.

Professional Attention
As movie stars have professional attentions from the most expert make-up artists in the world, it is an excellent idea to make a survey of the lips of the lovelies of the silver screen. You may pick up some information that you can apply to yourself with benefit to appearance.

Making the lower lip full will make your chin look shorter. A hint to the girl with the long, thin face.

Sharpen your lipstick to a flattened point. Use it to form an outline of your lips, then fill in. Form a wide grin while doing that so the pigment will get into all the little crinkles.

Gold belts are leading in popularity this season, with exceptional interest shown for bronze and gummetal. There is some silver, but so far this season it hasn't shown much activity.

Clothing Prices Are Expected To Remain High During 1949

In the late summer months prices of cotton fabrics decreased somewhat, but prices for some rayon and most wool fabrics remained high. Prices for footwear increased as did most items of men's wool-clothing.

But what about the clothing outlook for 1949? Will prices remain the same, go higher, or drop?

Predictions of conditions for the clothing picture are reported by Inez LaBossier, extension specialist in clothing at Rutgers University, from conclusions drawn at the annual agricultural Outlook Conference held recently in Washington.

If economic conditions continue as they are, according to the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, it is likely that ready-made clothing prices on the whole will continue high during the winter months and may go even higher. Labor costs are expected to remain high, freight rates have been increased, and prices of fabrics are still high. All of these may be reflected in retail prices.

Some May "Soften"
This does not mean that all prices on all clothing commodities will be equally high. Prices of some types of clothing may "soften" somewhat. This will be true in cases where the demand is lighter than expected and where heavy inventories have been built up. In order to move stocks, prices on such items may be reduced.

According to the Bureau, prospects for lower clothing prices rest in the future of raw fiber prices. If raw cotton continues to drop there may be more and somewhat cheaper cotton garments available. Garments made from fibers not in competition with cotton, such as wool, may be higher or instead of lower.

For the most part, supplies of clothing and household textiles are good. Stores are well-stocked, so clothing is generally available, though it may be too high-priced for many families to purchase anything more than the necessities.

Competition among the various fibers used for clothing and household textiles is becoming very keen. Rayon and nylon are being used more and more where formerly cotton or wool were used. One notable example of this is in the field of men's summer suits, and they possibly extend to men's winter suits as well. Women's lingerie is another place where nylon has made a noticeable inroad over rayon as well as cotton.

The trend toward home sewing will doubtless continue, as many homemakers find in home sewing one way of reducing clothing costs and thereby stretching the clothing dollar.

EXPERT ADVICE FOR HOME GROWING

Heat Eating Gremlins Cause Your Fuel Costs to Rise

BY WILLIAM BAILEY Heating Consultant, South Orange

Are heat chasing gremlins causing your fuel supply to dwindle more rapidly than expected? With oil and coal selling at the highest price in years it behooves the home owner to look into his heating system to see if any of the mischievous little devils are robbing his winter heat.

One of their favorite hiding places is in the boiler. The boiler gremlins, disguised as scales, rust and algae are a prolific and hungry lot. Heating surfaces must annually be swept clean of these heat eaters to provide comfortable temperatures at a minimum fuel cost.

According to the U. S. Bureau of Mines, scale and rust which forms a coating of 1/32 of an inch in the boiler costs the home owner a 7 per cent loss in heating efficiency. Translated into terms of coal this means that the home owner must add an extra 144 pounds of coal for every ton of coal shoveled into the furnace, merely to compensate for that 1/32 of an inch of scale which has formed in the boiler.

When the scale reaches the thickness of 1/8 of an inch, the heating system shows a 16 per cent loss in efficiency or the equivalent of 318 pounds of coal in each ton.

Boiler Like Car

If you drove a boiler to work each day it would receive more attention. The average car is, at least, checked periodically for clean water in the radiator, gas and oil. It is this periodic attention which permits your car to function smoothly. The same is just as true of boilers. Neglect their

IF YOU FIND that your house is uncomfortable while heating expenses keep going up, you had better look for gremlins in your boiler. These heat chasing gremlins take the form of scales, rust and other heat absorbing materials inside your boiler. According to figures from the U.S. Bureau of Mines, every 1/32 inch of scale inside your boiler costs the homeowner a 7 per cent loss in heating efficiency. In terms of coal this is 144 pounds of coal for every ton used.

Your Suburban Garden

By Alexander Forbes

The storing of tender bulbs and roots over the winter months is one of those important after season jobs that is often neglected. Most of us, while the garden fever is still on, remember to dig them up at the proper time either just before or after a hard frost. Having done this we throw them in convenient baskets or boxes and leave them in the garage or tool house with the firm intention of doing the rest of the work later on. Suddenly we realize that hard freezing temperatures are here and we haven't yet put the roots in proper storage. On inspection we may find some tender bulbs have been frozen or some roots have dried out, shriveled or even started to decay. Temporary storage is desirable for most bulbs to give time for the tops to dry back but, before danger of hard freezing comes all the bulbs and roots should be cleaned, sorted and carefully stored away for the winter.

Look Over Stored Bulbs Failure to examine the stored material occasionally through the winter may result in serious losses. If you find some are shriveled up it may be caused by too high a temperature or be due to dryness of the material in which the roots are stored. If the damage has not gone too far, they may easily be saved by packing them in moist peat moss for a few days to make them plump again. Conversely if the roots are found to be too moist they can be dried off by exposure to the air and sun. Even decayed spots can be cut out, if found in time, and the roots dusted with sulphur to save them.

YOUR GARDEN This Week

The killing frost came to our garden without much warning, so it is time to dig and store dahlias.

Usually, they are allowed to remain in the garden for four or five days to mature the roots a little. However, this needs to be watched. Last year freezing after first frost went clear to the roots, causing much damage.

In digging, we need to be careful not to cause injury to the neck that joins the root to the stem. If strained, they may not grow next year.

Annual War Declared Against Rats

Union County farmers are being asked again this year to gang up on rats. Spearheaded by the Extension Service and the Fish and Wildlife Service of the Department of the Interior, the attack is on now and will continue until Thanksgiving, when many farmers will spread a Farewell Banquet for Rats.

The banquet's main course, naturally, will be poison, temptingly disguised in bits of fish, meat, vegetables or other rat delicacies. All-out effort on one date does a much more thorough job of cutting down the rat population then once-in-a-while poisoning. The reason is that rats usually travel from one farm to the next, so that individual efforts do not solve the problem.

Any Way You Make It, Leaf Mould Is Garden Bonus

Wherever gardeners meet, talk about "organic gardening" is likely to be heard, and loudly. But do not let this clamor, which is often accompanied by arguments about various pet formulae for making compost, frighten you out of saving your leaves this fall.

All you need to do to make leaves turn into humus is let them alone. For the sake of neatness, it is well to rake them up, and pile them in a corner where they will not be unsightly. But nature will do the rest in due time. Two years from now you will have a precious store of leaf mould without any further trouble. And once the annual practice is established, then every year a crop of humus, thoroughly decayed, is available for spreading on your garden.

Methods of management, which may seem elaborate, are justified on two points, first, they can speed up the rate of decay, so that compost is available in one year instead of two; and second, where room is at a premium, they confine the compost pile in restricted space, and improve its appearance.

To speed decay, the growth of the bacteria which cause decay is stimulated. There are two methods of doing this. These bacteria are present in decaying manure, so that when a small quantity of manure is spread through the compost pile, their number is increased and their activity hastened.

Consumo Nitrogen They consume nitrogen, so if they are fed, so to speak, with nitrogen they will increase in number and decay will be hastened. If manure is lacking, or there is objection to using it, commercial cultures of these bacteria are now available, and can be used instead. Nitrogen can be supplied by mixing chemical fertilizer with the compost material.

Any organic matter can be used in a compost heap; and this means table refuse from the house. But it is not practical to use it except in a managed pile, where it can be covered with earth to kill odor.

WHO IS THIS MAN POULENC?

A few weeks ago there was probably only a very small group of Americans who had heard the name Francis Poulenc, and even a smaller group who knew anything about him.

November 7, had five out of eight of their columns devoted to Poulenc, with the other three columns bearing a large picture of him.

On that same Sunday at Town Hall, Poulenc accompanied at the piano Pierre Bernac, baritone, in their first American appearance.

To the actual outlook, it might seem that Poulenc is a new light in the field of music, a young man just starting out in the world.

On American Recordings

Why don't we know more about him? Mainly for the same reason we don't know about many other of the best composers of today: they are not recorded in this country.

Looking over a few miscellaneous remarks written about different Poulenc works, I have come across many statements saying in effect, "this is Poulenc at his best."

Whittmore and Lowe are the duo-plantists in the recording of the concerto, Dimitri Mitropoulos conducting the RCA Symphony Orchestra.

Pictures, Plays and People

By PAUL PARKER

Review of the Week: Greer Garson and Walter Pidgeon play opposites in the delightfully amusing and sophisticated comedy, "Julia Misbehaves."

Julia (Greer Garson) not at all like Mrs. Miniver, plays the role of a somewhat scatterbrained, but nevertheless nimble witted, chéris girl. And although it would seem that Mrs. Miniver Garson might be out of place in such a role, she does a smashing good job of it. A tribute to her versatility.

Julia, the story goes, was married to Mr. Pidgeon, during the first World War. For some reason, which is not elaborated upon, the two called it quits after a short time together.

Julia's daughter, when the separation takes place, is sent to Pidgeon's sumptuous villa. It is a surprise therefore when Julia some 18 years later receives an invitation to her daughter's wedding.

That's where the fun begins. In the process of reconciliation Miss Garson not only manages to get her own husband back but also persuades her daughter to jilt her imminent bridegroom in favor of a young artist. Along the way she also collects 8,500 francs from an over-age Lothario and throws a retarded acrobatic sultor off her trail.

All these sophisticated antics add up to a most amusing few hours. We thoroughly enjoyed ourselves.

Television

Large-screen theater television enabled patrons of the Paramount Theater on Times Square, to witness the return of President Truman to the National Capital.

Presenting important television events on its large motion picture screen has been a regular policy of this theater for the past six months, and many others, in the next few years, are expected to follow the pioneering example.

In the case of the President's homecoming, the system worked in this fashion. The television cameras focused on the Washington activities. The signal was relayed by co-axial cable to New York for the joint use of local television broadcasting stations.

This same signal was also piped into the projection booth of the theater and the picture on the television receiver was photographed by a special light-and-sound film-recording camera. The film was fed into a fast-developing machine, examined and edited to obtain choice highlights, and passed on to the theater's standard film projector to appear larger than life on the theater's 18'x24' motion picture screen.

Large-screen theater television, it should be noted, is well on its way to becoming an important program feature of our modern motion picture theater.

"Silent Water"

"Silent Water," an innovation in motion picture production eliminating noise while creating the illusion of flowing water, has been used successfully for the first time by Director Mitchell Leisen in "A Mask for Lucrèce." The device consists of cellophane strands twisted together and suspended in a three-tier fountain. Water drips down the cellophane and, with proper lighting, creates the effect of a continually flowing stream. Dialogue near a fountain in "A Mask for Lucrèce" was recorded without interference by the noise of dripping water.

Vaudeville Comes To Mosque Theater November 20

Vaudeville of top-notch calibre reminiscent of the famed heyday of the Palace Theater is coming to Newark under the auspices of Ken Robey and Joe Franklin with one of the greatest bills ever offered on any stage being unveiled at the Mosque Theater, Newark, Saturday evening, November 20.

Comedy at its hilarious best will be presented by Zero Mostel, sassy comedian of Broadway stage, night clubs and the movies, Benny Rubin, Hollywood and musical comedy favorite who has just returned East for a nightly midnight show over WOR, and the renowned Calgary Brothers, Andre and Steve, who scored their most recent hit on Television's Texaco Theater.

Roselle Allen, comely hillbilly radio star, who holds the title of "World's Champion Grl Yodeler" and top seller of Victor's folk recordings, will come to the Mosque with her faithful trio, mandolin, guitar and bass. One of the nation's favorite disc jockeys, Paul Brenner, will be on hand as master of ceremonies.

Two top favorites from the night club bill will give another note to the program. Enid Williams, whose singing has made the Club Ebony a must spot in New York's night life, will fill another spot on the program, while the Nilsson Sisters, who have been appearing at New York's busiest and most popular night club, the Copacabana, will also present their specialties.

A new-type electrical control has been developed to speed up all well drilling operations through automatic control of the pressure on the bit as it bites into the earth as much as 18,000 feet down.

ANGELA LANSBURY and Frank Morgan between scenes of the "Three Musketeers" which is due to be released to neighborhood theaters shortly. Angela Lansbury portrays Queen Anne in the film version of the Dumas novel, while Frank Morgan plays the part of King Louis XII of France.

"The Velvet Touch" Offers an Unusual Hollywood Setting

One of the most realistic theater settings in Hollywood annals was built for "The Velvet Touch," playing at the Liberty Theater, which stars Rosalind Russell, plus Leo Genn, Claire Trevor and Sydney Greenstreet.

Much of the action of the dramatic story takes place in and around a Broadway theater, a set for which was built, complete with auditorium and boxes, a full-sized "practical" stage, foyer, lobby, offices and back-stage dressing rooms. The set-occupied two full sound stages. Some dramatic scenes from Ibsen's Hedda Gabler are enacted on the stage in the course of the "play within a play" story, which deals with a woman's struggle with her conscience after committing an unpleasant murder.

"The Velvet Touch" is effectively applied by humor by which Miss Russell distracts inquiry into her manager's death.

Paris gambling was introduced into France in 1674.

Charles E. Fizzle, manager of the Flagship, Route 29, announced that Bill Turner and his International Boys have been signed to replace the Stan Nelson Trio. Turner, leader of the orchestra, achieved some fame a few years back as one of the original Hollywood "Dead End Kids." Now as leader of the band "Dead End Kid" has turned comedian.

Fizzle also announced that Joe Ricardel and his seven-piece orchestra has been signed for an engagement which will begin Tuesday, November 23. Ricardel's orchestra recently completed an engagement at the Versailles, New York.

The popular Cromwell Trio will be retained, Fizzle stated.

"Accidentally Yours" Begins Second Week at Montclair

Beginning next Monday night, November 22, the Montclair Theater will begin its second week of "Accidentally Yours," the Pauline Williams Snapp-comedy which stars film favorite Grant Mitchell. The hilarious comedy farce will play a special Sunday night performance this coming Sunday, November 21. A Thanksgiving holiday matinee has been scheduled for Thursday, November 25 in place of the usual Wednesday afternoon performance.

Heading the cast of featured players are the celebrated stage actress Jessie Burley; Pauline Williams, popular Broadway stage star; film actor Craig Stevens; Lynne Carter, Don Grasso and I-lam Dunny in addition to Nick Mayo, Betty de Cormier and, Leora Thatcher. The highly entertaining farce comedy has been staged by the noted director Joseph Olney and the settings were created by William De Forest. Charles K. Freeman supervised the entire production for Albert H. Rosen, managing director of the Montclair Theater.

Andy Kress and Orchestra Signed at Mayfair Farms

The suave syncopation of Andy Kress and his society orchestra replaced the music of Jose Mells and his band on Tuesday, November 18 at Mayfair Farms in West Orange. "Maybe it's the salt sea air that puts the zing in our tunes," said the fair-haired maestro after a stint as ship's orchestra on the "Lafayette," a French line steamer that cruises to the West Indies. He is coming to the Mayfair Farms from an extended stay at the fashionable Ailleite Hotel in Spring Lake.

This is a return engagement by popular demand for the personable young Kress. His special brand of smooth danceable music is just right for the cozy intimacy of this town-and-country supper club.

DIRECTOR VICTOR FLEMING salutes Ingrid Bergman with a little handmade gift on the completion of her starring role in "Joan of Arc." The miniature model of Joan astride her horse was whipped up by Fleming and the prop chief.

selecting that one! The little girl was not impressed, in fact she would not look at the paper. It meant nothing to her. So we put up four papers, let her see them for two days, and she decided upon one with a blue ribbon stripe, eye-let embroidery pattern, and some hawknests. Why? She knew how for her hair (they were usually blue) and the eyelet embroidery was like the ruffles on her organza curtains. The design is well drawn, the child is happy, and the paper cost half as much as the one with the geometrical design.

Story Papers

With radio and television to the fore, much of the old-fashioned story telling has departed. However, children still like to make believe and a story paper stirs their imagination. A woman I knew used to entertain her little niece by telling stories about the pictures on the wallpaper. One design showed some tiny girls sitting at a table, playing with a tea set. The story went on for at least two years. It was always the same and evidently satisfactory. The story, greatly embellished, was that the little girls were having a party; they were eating ice cream and they were wearing pink dresses. The only change was the color of the clothes. Towards the end of the recital the friend would say, "and they are wearing" and the tiny listener would supply the color.

Wallpapers do so much for children, so take time in selecting those that are interesting and could guard diamonds, they would be sunk by a double squeeze in case East protected spades and West clubs.

So South put the diamond 10 on the 2, bringing out the Q and K. Then he raked in the club K, five more hearts and the spade A. So when the last heart was now led, his double squeeze worked. West had to keep the club Q to top the J, so discarded a diamond from the J-5. The club J was then tossed from dummy, and East was squeezed. If he threw away the spade K, the J would become good, so he picked a diamond from the 9-7. That enabled the diamond 3 to the A to drop both the J and 9 and make the 8 good for the final trick.

New Lamps Give Effect Of Lamp Flame

Among new lighting novelties are electric lamps that simulate candle flame to provide atmosphere in the home or restaurant for banquet table settings. The imitation candles eliminate first hazards, won't burn down, and last as long as 1,000 hours. They can be obtained with either medium or candleabra bases and in several finishes—clear, flame tint, frosted, amber, red and candle flame (white with yellow tip).
