OFFICIAL NEWSPAPER SPRINGFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1950

FRIENDS!!

The General Greene Village apartments are under way... Mayor Robert Marshall made sure of this on Monday when he used a hand shovel to dig the first spade of earth for the huge project...

There were about 75 persons who watched the ground breaking and afterwards about 35 distinguished guests journeyed to the Hotel Suburban, Summit, for noon luncheon...

"Too bad," one onlooker was overheard to say, "that a man like Angleton or Chirgotis could grab this town's miserable school building problem and show how to solve it."

If anyone anywhere has any doubts the General Greene proposition isn't all it's cracked up to be then they should have counted noses among the newspapermen present at the ground-breaking...

Remember the stunt pulled by the Chamber of Commerce a couple of years ago on July 4th when it hired the services of a Mayor Bill Pinyhouse actor...

Springfield Bank Is 25 Years Old

The First National Bank of Springfield this week observed its silver anniversary. The bank was established in October 1925. At the conclusion of the first day's business deposits totaled $100,000. And at the end of 1949 the bank's assets were approximately $1,000,000.

During the quarter of a century which has marked its operation the bank has increased its personnel 400 per cent. During that period the bank has seen many changes here including the installation of a trunk sewer system, the construction of additions to township schools, construction of the Regional High School and expansion of the police and fire departments.

Richardson pointed out that the bank had weathered the great depression of the thirties, an era in which many savings institutions closed their doors forever. The bank has kept pace with the township which now is in the throes of a building boom. It was said.

Robert S. Bunnell is in the throes of a building boom. It was said. Robert S. Bunnell is in the throes of a building boom. It was said.

STATE COURT AWARDS REVERSAL TO KUVIN

Seldom does Herbert A. Kuvin, former township attorney, lose a case—but the odds appeared to be stacked against him last February when he represented First National Bank of Springfield, as plaintiff, in a suit in Judge McGiverty's Superior Court, Elizabeth. Approximately $12,000 was involved and a jury voted against the bank.

League Candidates' Nite Set At School For Oct. 27

With Election Day less than three weeks away Springfield still is in the throes of a battleless political contest. Former Committeeman George M. Turk and his running mate, Stanley Glenn, Democratic Township Committee nominees, have said virtually nothing in the campaign to date.

Some observers believe a break in the strange campaign is due when the Citizens' League holds its annual Candidates' Nite at the James Caldwell School on Friday, October 27. Other civic groups have been invited to participate.

Sermon: Passages from the King James version of the Bible include: "Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me" (Ps. 23:4). Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include: "Death will be found at length to be a mortal dream, which comes in darkness and disappears with the light. Imperfect mortals grasp the ultimate of spiritual perfection slowly; but to begin aright and to continue the strife of demonstrating the great problem of being, is doing much." (p.p. 42, 254)

LETTERS from Our Readers ASKS TOWN SUPPORT

Editor, SUN: For three consecutive weeks, you have not "cast your editorial smile" in the direction of the local Girl Scouts. Perhaps you have had other pressing matters which prevented you from giving us the much needed publicity our organization deserves. Starting October 20th for one week, Girl Scouts will observe National Girl Scout Week. This is an important phase in our Girl Scout annual calendar, in that it covers many outstanding activities. We do not ask for headlines for these activities as we observe them religiously ourselves, but we do ask from you your usual loyal support in the Springfield Sun on our annual sale of Girl Scout Cookies during that week. Now, more than ever, adult backing of the Girl Scout movement in Springfield is urgently needed. Turned away from the church rooms, turned away from the school, rooms-one, because these facilities are being utilized by the Board of Education and two—because of the double sessions in schools, Girl Scouts have no place to hold their meetings. Rather than let Girl Scouts follow the path of oblivion in Springfield, leaders are compelled to open their homes for weekly meetings. Girl Scout quarters are badly needed at this time and Girl Scouts this year are asking for the generous support of their Cookie Sale. Girl Scout leadership is voluntary. Leaders give generously of their time and effort to bring to Springfield girls a full Girl Scout program. Each year's sale of cookies brings us nearer to our goal of erecting a Girl Scout Little House. So far we have hit the thousand mark which we feel is a good start toward realizing this dream. Sister communities such as Millburn, Union and Maplewood support their local Girl Scouts through a Community Chest. Girl Scouts of Springfield do not benefit in such a manner but work diligently twice a year to raise funds for their troops, council expense and building fund, in their annual Strawberry Festival and the sale of cookies during Girl Scout Week. The loyal support of the citizens of our town is deeply appreciated and has brought about the nucleus of our building fund. May we ask a continuance of such confidence and faith by asking you to buy generously of your neighborhood Girl Scout and Brownie Scout when she calls for orders for cookies this year. Our slogan is "A brick for a box" and a hope that you will "Come along with us."

Yours in Scouting, MARGORIE FREY, Chairman and Committee Members.

Regional Boosters Will Hear Coach

There will be a meeting of the Regional High School Booster Club next Monday night in the school auditorium. This meeting is open to the public, especially to the parents of Regional students, and followers of Regional athletics.

The group will be introduced to the High School coaching staff, and addressed by the new head coach, John Brown. A football film will be shown, and the New York Giants Pro Football team has promised to send two men over to speak on football.

After the meeting, which is free of charge, refreshments will be served.

The Booster Club has in the past, worked in close cooperation with the High School coaches, teachers, Board of Education, and the Community governing bodies, in a sincere effort to create a fuller and more productive life for the youth of the Regional District.

It has sponsored the annual football dinner at the Flamingo, awarded miniature footballs to all senior lettermen, awarded miniature megaphone trophies to all senior cheerleaders, sponsored Regional Sports Night and sold food funds for the jackets given to the Championship football and basketball teams of last year. In addition they have served refreshments to visiting school and home basketball teams at all home night games.

HAS LEAD ROLE Bill Pollock of 46 Colonial terrace, will appear in Victor Herbert's "Sweethearts," produced by the Operetta Guild of New Jersey. Performance nearby will be at Rahway High School, November 7, 8, and Plainfield High School, November 7, 8. Pollock will have a strong supporting role.

SCHOOL TALK STATED. Dr. Walter Cording of School Executive will speak on "Modern Trends in School Buildings" next Thursday (October 26) at 8:30 p.m. at Summit High School. Dr. Cording has been one of the foremost advocates of the modern school building. Recent best dinner will be served in the Summit High School cafeteria at 6:30 p.m.

G.S. CONFERENCE Margaret A. Paulsen, president of the Springfield Girl Scout Council, has returned from Syracuse, New York, where she attended the regional conference of the Girl Scouts of America. Mrs. Douglas Hodson, former director of the Waves and now vice-president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, was the keynote speaker. Reports were given showing the continued growth of the Girl Scout organization in this region.

Orange And Blue Have Easy Time In One-Sided Victory Over Chiefs; 2,500 See Vicendese Score Thrice

By DONALD ROSSELET The Orange and Blue of Regional High School, led by Frank Vicendese, swamped a weak Caldwell eleven 31-0 before 2,500 fans at Caldwell. The win is the third of the season for the undefeated Bulldogs.

Regional opened the second half by smothering Caldwell's offensive threats and began a touchdown march on their forty-five. Dick Sherry sparked this fifty-five-yard drive with Ted Kasperovich finally hitting away from the three. Scheffler missed the conversion after a bad pass from center.

Regional got another drive going in the final quarter, being temporarily stalled on the Caldwell twelve when they just missed a first down. Kasperovich intercepted a desperation pass of the homesters' forty-five and Herman retallied with a pass to Cliff Smith on the Chiefs' thirty. Sherry eliminated Regional's touchdown parade when he went over from the three-yard stripe. Scheffler's apertured again in his extra point attempt.

Regional grabbed the opening kick on its thirty; but couldn't advance. Caldwell fumbled after taking Vicendese's punt on their twenty-five yard marker with the Bulldogs recovering. After moving to the Caldwell fifteen yard stripe, Hermann's overthrown pass was intercepted, with Joe Lucas returning the ball to his thirty yard line. Paul Leonard added a first down before the Chiefs were forced to kick. The ball before the quarter ended with Regional being clearly outplayed in this, the opening contest. The Bulldogs regained the ball soon after the second period began, Judd Herman completing a pass to Jack Haskell for a first down. Vicendese and Bob McCusker each added another first down for the Bulldog cause before the former scored on a quick opener from the twenty. Dick Scheffler missed his conversion attempt.

Caldwell was held in check after taking Regional's kick-off, and the Bulldogs sprung Vicendese loose on a forty-yard touchdown jump. Scheffler's kick was blocked. Caldwell lost the ball on downs. Herman hit Haskell with a pass before Vicendese recorded his third TD. Scheffler split the uprights this time for the extra point. The half ended a few minutes later with the Orange and Blue ahead 19-0. Regional opened the second half by smothering Caldwell's offensive threats and began a touchdown march on their forty-five. Dick Sherry sparked this fifty-five-yard drive with Ted Kasperovich finally hitting away from the three. Scheffler missed the conversion after a bad pass from center. Regional got another drive going in the final quarter, being temporarily stalled on the Caldwell twelve when they just missed a first down. Kasperovich intercepted a desperation pass of the homesters' forty-five and Herman retallied with a pass to Cliff Smith on the Chiefs' thirty. A Piece of Your Mind — Broom Making In Florham Park

By KARL H. PLATZER
Psychologist

In continuing our effort to find the causes behind Carrie's behavior, other questions might well be asked.

Carrie is a young woman. She feels she is missing an important part of her life as it is. She began to experiment to find out what was wrong. She thought that the fault might be in her husband, and that other men could supply the sexual satisfaction she lacked.
She tried another affair, and another, hoping desperately to find with someone the warmth, the satisfaction, the feeling of belonging with someone that she needed so badly.

Why can't she find a satisfactory outlet in her social activities and in taking care of her family? Why this insistence upon sex?

Nobody has to insist upon sex.
Sex has a way of insisting upon itself. As the lyric of a popular song has it, for certain purposes, there is nothing like a dame, and no amount of other activities will be quite the same. Carrie has tried to sublimate her needs, that is, to find other outlets for them. However, none of them has been able to satisfy her, and so she flits from one to the other, always hoping for contentment but never finding it.

If we keep trying to find reasons for Carrie's behavior, aren't we ex-cusing her and encouraging her to go on in the same way? Wouldn't it have a better effect if we just condemned her as a bad girl and a bad wife?

Nothing we could say in scolding would do much except add to the already crushing burden of guilt and anxiety which Carrie bears.
It is precisely that weight which drives her, to act as she does; to make it even heavier would only drive her on further in desperation. To find the reasons for her behavior and lead her to realize them, to lighten the unbearable feelings of guilt she carries, would quite probably be of help. It is a mistake to think of Carrie as a bad person; it is more helpful and more nearly correct, to regard her as a vastly unhappy person.

Isn't it an irreligious and immoral attitude to take when we try to understand the sinner, instead of condemning him as he should be condemned?

I don't think so. Of the many words on this subject, surely no one would call these immoral and irreligious:

"Men condemn the sinner, But the Lord trieth the hearts of men."

"Thou, Oh Lord, and Thou alone, knowest the hearts of men."

"Let him who is without sin among ye cast the first stone."

The authors of those phrases were surely not spreading immorality, yet essentially, they were saying what has been written here.

Broom Making In Florham Park

SUBURBAN Florham Park, just outside of Madison, prior to 1900 was popularly known as "Broomtown." The town earned its nickname by the fact that some 40 years ago broom making was the community's principal industry. Then customers began covering brooms of different colors, brooms stiched with velvet ribbons and brooms of different shapes.
Larger factories were able to better meet the new demand. In 1910, Florham Park put its broom making machines in moth balls and the last company in Paich's Store on Ridgedale Avenue ceased to function. The store since has been converted into an antique shop.

On October 23, 24 and 25 the Florham Park Historical Society will sponsor its third annual antique show to be held in the Little Red School House and in the Boys Hall, Florham Park Center.
One of the exhibits will be, in keeping with the history of the community, an exhibit of Monroe Hancock's broom making machine (see cover). Mr. Hancock's father was one of the chief broom manufacturers of Florham Park during the 19th century.

Despite technological advances, the manufacture of brooms has changed little during the years.
They still are made by machines of basically the same design as used a century ago, only now operated by motor rather than by foot power.

There's an old saying that many an Englishman is walking the streets of London because he failed to pull trumps. Close behind must be many another Englishman who deliberately gave declarer a "stuff

With the heart lead South still has to locate the queen of clubs to make his slam. He can try to drop it by cashing the ace and king, or finesse the clubs either way. In any event he may guess wrong and lose the slam.
Once more the exception proves the rule.
