

What Do YOU Think?

Beverly Rappaport

Question asked by your inquiring reporter: "What are your feelings concerning the signing of the Korean armistice?" Donald Lewis, age 6, 385 Milltown road, said: "I'm very glad because my uncle is going in the army and I don't want him to get hurt."

Mrs. E. H. Gilbert, Jr., 768 Wabeno avenue, said: "I think it's wonderful. I don't have anyone in service who is very close to me so I wasn't personally touched by the war, but of course I'm happy for those that are coming home. I just hope the peace can be kept."

Vito Campanelli, 286 Morris avenue, said: "The war should have been over a long time ago but I'm happy it is now. I have faith in this signing and feel it will be a permanent peace."

Mrs. John C. Gross, 11 Center street, said: "I made me very happy, naturally, but the way 'the' spoke made the armistice signing appear to be only a temporary act. Of course, I hope that it will be permanent."

Kenneth Bellevue, 47 Denham road, said: "It's a good thing, but to me a truce doesn't mean anything. The fighting could start all over again tomorrow."

Mrs. Robert Wentz, 51 Mountain avenue, said: "It doesn't leave me very elated because I really think it's a lull before the storm. Of course I'm glad but not too confident of its being a lasting thing."

Mrs. H. Pankalla, 67 Battle Hill avenue, said: "I think it's wonderful, couldn't be anything better. I wish all the boys would come home and never have to go to war again."

Ettie Friedman, 236 Morris avenue, said: "I think it's a good thing because the boys will be coming home. I just hope that it will be permanent."

Local Man Enters Rifle Title Test

Sidney Hinton, 125 Henshaw avenue, will be among the nation's top small bore rifle marksmen to fire in the 88th renewal of the National Matches at Camp Perry, Ohio, August 20-25. The National Rifle Association announced this week, Hinton will challenge defending champion Robert Perkins, of Fresno, Calif., for the national crown which the west coast shooter won at Jacksonville, Florida, in 1952.

More than 740 small bore rifle competitors will shoot in the 1953 Championships making it the largest field to challenge the champion in 13 years. The high-power rifle and pistol championships will also be held on the world famous Lake Erie site during the same period.

"Sun" Welcomes New Merchant

The "Springfield Sun" spreads the welcome mat for William J. Dwyer who has recently purchased Silon Brothers Hardware Store on 240 Morris avenue.

Mr. Dwyer and his wife are from Bloomfield where Mr. Dwyer managed E. W. Woolworth. On August 1, however, they will be moving into town and taking residence at 94-A Wabeno avenue.

The Dwyers had never been to Springfield before they took over their new business, but within a few weeks they have come to like it very much. We're hoping they'll like it more and more and that the rest of the town will like them as much.

C of C Names Bonadies to Head Industrial Division

The Board of Directors of the Springfield Chamber of Commerce has announced the appointment of Vincent J. Bonadies, president of Bond Electronics Corporation, as Chairman of the newly formed Industrial Division.

This division is to be an integral part of the Springfield Chamber of Commerce. Its purpose is to increase participation in the Chamber activities on the part of local industries and to better industrial relations with municipal government and the residents of Springfield. The Chairmanship will also carry with it a place on the Board of Directors.

Bonadies will contact member industries in order to insure their participation and to form a working nucleus by which other industries, not members of the Chamber, will be added to the roster.

This project is in line with the Chamber's plans to aid in the business and industrial expansion in the Township of Springfield. Bonadies has an extensive industrial background and is well qualified for the job, having been a senior engineer with Philadelphia, Vice-President of the Board of Directors of John G. Ruckelshaus Corp., Madison, and is President-Chairman of the Board of Directors of Bond Electronics Corporation in Springfield.

Improvements Seen at Marcel's

We applaud Marcel's luncheonette for putting improvements into his business for the convenience of both his customers and employees. A peek over the counter will reveal a dish washing machine and a series of new ice cream cabinets. Mr. Marcel also plans to put in a special sandwich department. These improvements will all make for more efficient and sanitary service.

Family Hope to See Son in 3 Weeks

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas-Latore of 95 Maple avenue will have to show the same patience as 3,312 other parents throughout the nation, awaiting the return of their son, Philip N. who was recently reported a prisoner of the Communists. Philip is one of the allied prisoners of war who will start their march out of captivity next week and they will all get a fine reception and fast start on their sweet trip home.

Everything is set and ready for the return of these men and the Latore family will mark his homecoming with a series of parties and celebrations. The local boy's name is not on the prisoner of war list but Mr. Joseph Plesno of Queens, L. I., who was returned home some time ago as a wounded prisoner, reported to the Latore family that he had seen their boy and that he is well but in a Communist prisoner camp.

The only person reported killed from Springfield is Pfc. Henry T. Heins, son of Mrs. E. Heins of 122 Henshaw avenue, who was killed in Korea on April 27, 1951, while with the Twenty-fourth Infantry Division.

Red Cross representatives from many countries, who will supervise the exchange, have reached Korea. Communist Red Cross representatives also presumably were in Korea.

Peiping broadcasts said the flow of prisoners in lorries and ambulances would begin "soon," that aid stations were being set up along the way, and living quarters and offices had been prepared at Panmunjon for the Red Cross. (Continued on page 2)

Springfield's long hoped for dream is nearer realization today according to the newly painted sign board announcing that the new Shopping Centre at the Morris, Flermer and Main street corner is "now renting." The shopping centre will be featured by the Grand Union super market—and the sign states that "40,000 square feet are available for ultra modern stores and office space—and 500 car parking."

Very little authoritative information has been made available but all those concerned admitted, when questioned on the telephone yesterday, that "things were moving along and work will start very shortly." William O. Merlich, the exclusive renting agent, located in New York City, said the official announcement would be made in a publicity release in a week or two at which time all the details would be covered, in addition to making public the names of those whose leases are already signed.

"The Grand Union super market will be the center of the shopping area," said Mr. Merlich when contacted on the telephone, "and there will be parking space to take care of 500 cars."

"The Grand Union people at the East Paterson headquarters also confirmed that one of their modern super markets will be the center feature of the development but the publicity and advertising department tell certain it "would not be for full occupancy."

Rumors that the Flermer-Morris avenue corner would one day house a shopping centre have been heard for months but this information was the first actual news that the Grand Union had decided to (Continued on page 2)

A cigar box containing $8.82, practically all in pennies, was presented to Mrs. Thomas F. Doherty, who accepted the money for Charles Phillips, treasurer of the local chapter of the Red Cross.

In appreciation for the wonderful job the Red Cross is doing, particularly with the recreational swimming program, the children of Baltusrol Avenue lit upon the idea to run a carnival and turn the money collected over to the Red Cross.

With the approval of Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Grabarz, son Henry picked his own show and with the able assistance of sister Judy, Donald, Joyce and Dale Dautser, Teddy Hallman, Mary Jo Chipin and Carol Lubenau, the affair was a huge success.

Leaves Newark to Open New Offices in Suburbs

David Binder, resident of Short Hills Village in Springfield, and an ardent advocate of the peace and quiet of the suburbs, has been fighting traffic and parking problems for twenty years, traveling daily to Newark where his general insurance business office has been located.

From the very start he dreamed of getting away from the city's noise, and this Monday that dream is being realized by Mr. Binder and his staff of insurance specialists when the Binder Agency—now celebrating its twentieth anniversary—moves to its own home in suburban Millburn.

The new address is 9 Whittingham terrace, Millburn, a typical, beautiful suburban home which has been converted into an attractive insurance office with all modern conveniences even to a complete air-conditioning job. The new office which now becomes headquarters for the Binder Agency has been completely furnished with every modern convenience for the service to their many policy holders.

"We are following the trend of decentralization," said Mr. Binder, "and I feel confident we can be of greater service to those who (Continued on page 2)

Strand Theater Makes Innovations

In this period of new dimensions and technological change which is taking the motion picture industry by storm, the people of the Summit area need not go far to see what it is all about. The air-conditioned Strand Theatre, already equipped for 3 dimensional movies, is keeping pace with the big city theatres by installing a wide screen with Miraphonic sound. As soon as the installation is completed, sometime in August, the air-conditioned Strand can justly claim to have one of the largest screens in the state and be the first theatre, in a city the size of Summit, to be completely equipped for 3 dimensional and wide screen pictures.

At the present time the Strand Theatre's screen measures 60,000 square inches. With the installation of the wide screen, which will cover the stage, the picture will be more than twice as large, over 122,000 square inches.

Landscapes, plains and other outdoor scenes will now be truly breathtaking and many hearts will beat faster when such beauties as Marilyn Monroe and Esther Williams fill out the mammoth sized screen.

Traffic Violators Breathing Easier

Speeding motorists and other violators of traffic regulations in Springfield can breathe a bit easier—until August 10 anyway, when Magistrate Henry C. McMullen returns from a little well-earned vacation. He and Mrs. McMullen, en route through New England, stopping off at various historic spots, looking at an antique here and there and taking things easy in general. They are expected back August 10.

Thank You, Mrs. Andrews

We find it very gratifying to know that a reader will take time to comment on what he or she reads in the "Springfield Sun." Your interviewer wishes to thank the writer of this letter for her kind words. Dear Miss Rappaport: After reading your wonderful article about me in the "Springfield Sketches," may I say thank you for allowing me, one of the many persons who make up the community of Springfield, the privilege of being the honor guest of the week.

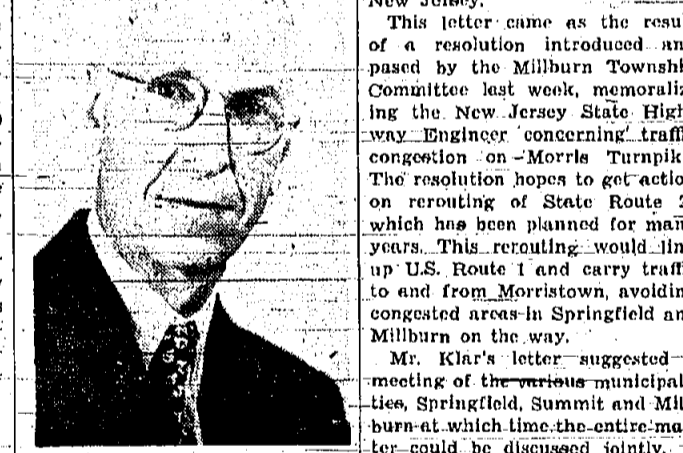

With God's help may I continue to serve whenever and wherever my help may be needed.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Lee L. Andrews, Jr.

Signs of the Times

Indication that something is going to be done with the lot on the corner of Morris and Flermer Avenues is evidenced in this billboard which was painted last Saturday. If seeing is believing, there will be 40,000 square feet of ultra modern stores and office space with facilities for parking 500 cars. First among the new stores will be a Grand Union Super Market; further prospects include some very well-known chain stores.

Springfield Interested in Plan to Reroute Traffic

Springfield will eagerly join with Millburn and Summit if there is any chance of diverting and rerouting traffic away from Morris avenue, was the reaction to a copy of a letter received from Herbert Klar, Engineering Department of the Bureau of Traffic Safety of New Jersey.

This letter came as the result of a resolution introduced and passed by the Millburn Township Committee last week, memorializing the New Jersey State Highway Engineer concerning traffic congestion on Morris Turnpike. The resolution hopes to get action on rerouting of State Route 24 which has been planned for many years. This rerouting would link up U.S. Route 1 and carry traffic to and from Morristown, avoiding congested areas in Springfield and Millburn on the way.

Mr. Klar's letter suggested a meeting of the respective municipalities, Springfield, Summit and Millburn at which time the entire matter could be discussed jointly.

The resolution of the Millburn Township committee which started the latest development in this long discussed plan is as follows:

A resolution memorializing the New Jersey State Highway Engineer respecting traffic congestion on New Jersey State Highway Route 24.

Be it resolved by the Township Committee of the Township of Millburn in the County of Essex, as follows:

1. The Township Committee of the Township of Millburn in the County of Essex views with increasing concern the threat to public safety presented by the progressively increasing vehicular traffic on that section of New Jersey State Highway Route No. 24 upon which a portion of the territorial area of said Township abuts.

2. The Chairman of the Committee on Police and Charities of the Township Committee of the Township of Millburn in the County of Essex is authorized and directed to communicate with the Hon. Edward W. Kilpatrick, New Jersey State Highway Engineer, for the purpose of invoking his guidance and eliciting his suggestions in and for the taking or participating in the taking of such action by this governing body and other appropriate authorities concerned, for the adoption and approval of plans and the authorization and performance of such construction and acquisition of such interests in real estate as may serve to effectuate a rerouting of that section of New Jersey State Highway Route No. 24, commonly known as the Morris and Essex Turnpike, between the Town of Morristown in the County of Morris and New Jersey State Highway Route No. 25, in accordance with certain resolution adopted by the Planning Board of the Township of Millburn in the County of Essex on January 3, 1951.

3. The action of the Chairman of the Committee on Police and Charities of the Township Committee of the Township of Millburn in the County of Essex in writing said State Highway Engineer as set forth in said Committee's letter of July 6, 1953, is ratified and approved.

THURSDAY, JULY 30, 1953

ON THE SUNNY SIDE

Even though they haven't turned a single shovelful of ground, Springfield residents are turning mental hand-springs with the announcement that a shopping center, with one of Grand Union's super markets as the central store, is coming here. This time it is no longer in the rumor stage—a big sign board at the corner of Morris and Flermer avenues announcing the project—with the punch line—in large type—"NOW RENTING—FALL OCCUPANCY."

There's no denying that such a project will mean a great deal to Springfield—not only in beautifying the most important center of the township but it should mean bringing a lot of new shoppers since the Grand Union organization knows a great deal about merchandising and there's no question about the quality of their products.

The most important feature of the announcement is the parking space for 500 cars. Those who have been giving their feeble reasons for shopping in Millburn and Summit—always pointing to the parking problem as their main excuse—will have the carpet pulled out from under their feet with our own shopping center in operation.

And while we're discussing shopping—we had occasion to board a bus at the Millburn station headed for Springfield center. At the corner of Main and Millburn, at least four women climbed on carrying heavy shopping bags, apparently loaded with groceries and stuff. All four of them paid fare to Springfield—which brings up the question again—why these housewives should go to Millburn for groceries.

These weren't the automobile drivers who find fault with the parking on Morris avenue. They traveled by bus and certainly all of them could not have been taken direct to their doors; they must have had some walking to do before arriving home.

No one can explain it—and very few even try—any more. One Springfield resident, who had occasion to be in Union on a Friday night, said he met more neighbors and people from Springfield than he does on Morris avenue in his home town.

Captain Carl L. Matthews of 48 Kipling avenue, whose picture appeared in the Sun last week in connection with Camp Drum activities of local men, doesn't like to ignore a little reporting error when it concerns his military record. Capt. Matthews said the publicity release—that he was commissioned on the battlefield in New Caledonia in 1942 while serving as an artillery officer—was not exactly so. He insists that he went to Officers Candidate School for his commission in 1942 at Noumea, New Caledonia. We're glad to make the correction but, as far as we're concerned, it doesn't take away one bit of glamour from the fine service he gave to his country.

Under the heading of "Only Fighting Nations Should Decide," the Hudson Dispatch insists that U. S. Senator Knowland (R-Cal.) is right in demanding that only those nations that contributed troops to fight aggression in Korea should have a voice in the permanent peace settlement. Of the 60 members of United Nations, there were only 16 who provided fighting units. Most of these forces were small, and the United States sent about 98 per cent of the total Allied strength, not counting South Korea's manpower contributions.

As to the cost of the war, this nation contributed more than 95 per cent. The amount in dollars is roughly estimated at about 22 billions. However, before the United States gets rid of this Asiatic problem, grandchildren and great-grandchildren of the present generation of taxpayers will probably be still paying for the STALEMATED WAR; the strangest war that this nation ever fought; the war that will probably haunt U. S. for generations in its heritage of future troubles and burdens.

When General Assembly of United Nations convenes on Aug. 17, there will be a cacophony of voices from representatives of nations that had nothing to do with fighting the war. In naming the Political Conference delegation, they may try to have much influence. It should be understood now and clearly that the greatest voice must be given to this country, which spilled the most blood and put up the most cash. Then, the other 15 nations who sent troops, most of them "token" forces, should have their opportunity to determine the make-up of the UN-delegation to negotiate a permanent settlement in Korea in exact proportion to the amount of men and materials that they actually sent to the Nature-forsaken peninsula.

President Eisenhower has asked Congress to provide $200,000,000 for rehabilitation of South Korea. How about North Korea? Will this nation be expected to rebuild that bomb-wrecked part of the peninsula?

We suppose so, because ever since U. S. entered World War I in 1917 the United States has been tearing down the enemy's homelands and then helping to restore them after the fighting ended. That may be called a NOBLE ROLE. Yet, we wonder, if it has not been repeated so often since 1917, that the world looks upon Uncle Sam as the greatest sucker of all times?

Mr. Eisenhower, in his message to Congress indicated that he would cut off funds to South Korea, if Syngman Rhee, president of ROK, causes more trouble.

If this little dictator sabotages the peace, we don't think the United States should "baby him" any longer. He has already betrayed US by breaking a solemn promise that almost wrecked the armistice. He released 27,000 war prisoners, without approval of the UN commanders.

Mr. Eisenhower also told Congress that he would be asking "for more" rehabilitation funds later. It is estimated that another year of war in Korea would cost US $1,200,000,000. Will the wily Mr. Rhee attempt to wangle that amount out of US in the next 12 months as a bribe for keeping the peace?

Some day, we should pull out of Korea AND NEVER GO BACK!

When the guns stopped barking, it was the first time in 3 years, 1 month and 2 days, with a slaughter total that may reach 100,000 for the Allies WHEN ALL THE RECORDS ARE COMPLETED, INCLUDING POSSIBLY 40,000 AMERICANS. This total includes South Koreans. Just how many were killed on Communists' side may never be known. UN leaders claim some 1,350,000 casualties that the enemy sustained. No estimate of the number dead among the North Koreans and Chinese Reds.

A strong defense is sometimes your tree's best offense in the fight against destructive insect pests.

A major menace to all trees is the ruthless, boring insect, often the Public Enemy No. 1 of the insect world. Borers have a special liking for weak and ailing trees.

An ounce of prevention against borers, says Martin L. Davey, Jr., head of the Davey tree experts, is worth ten times the pounds of cure.

The borer often can be discouraged by keeping trees in high vitality or by restoring them to high vitality as quickly as possible. Primarily, this calls for proper feeding, watering and other care needed to promote better arboreal health.

During these hot days, feeding is one of the most essential procedures. Davey experts have found that augmenting the tree's natural diet helps it weather depleting arid summer months. Researchers have shown that a special tree food high in nitrogen content helps trees resist the effects of water scarcity.

Drought weakened trees are the favorite sanctuaries of many borers. They burrow their way inside trunks and limbs where they can't be reached by poison sprays and other dislodging attempts.

Like any fifth columnist, the insect bores from within. Keeping it out in the first place is the preventive. And keeping trees healthy solves much of the borer threat.

New Jersey, despite 201 more forest fires in 1952 than during the previous year, reduced the amount of woodland burned by 1,600 acres.

A report issued this week by American Forest Products Industries showed 1,349 forest fires burned 13,407 acres in New Jersey in 1952. During 1951 a total of 1,148 fires burned 15,007 acres.

James C. McClellan, chief forester, American Forest Products Industries, pointed out the acreage reduction was achieved in the face of a 30 per cent national increase in land burned in forest fires last year.

The AFPI forester credited the New Jersey reduction to an increased awareness on the part of the public of the dangers of forest fires and to effectiveness of the forest fire-fighting organizations in the state. He pointed out all but 122 of the 1,349 fires were suppressed before they had spread to an area greater than 10 acres.

The AFPI report, based on U. S. Forest Service figures, showed careless smokers caused 819 of New Jersey's forest fires in 1952. Debris burners caused 215, and those who deliberately set the woods afire, through malice or in the mistaken belief greater profits could be realized by "burning off" their woods, accounted for 152 fires.

New Jersey is one of 31 states that provide organized protection for all their woodlands.

Felpling said each Allied prisoner would get extra food rations, a new blanket, shoes, a carton of cigarettes, and sweets for the journey to Panmunjom.

The able-bodied Allied captives will sail home from Korea. The sick and wounded will fly.

The Reds at Panmunjom promised to return prisoners at the rate of about 500 a day.

The Reds said they also held about 500 Allied sick and wounded but no nationalities were given.

Disabled Allied prisoners received at Panmunjom will be placed aboard helicopter and flown straight to the 11th Evacuation Hospital at Munsan. The seriously sick and wounded then will be air-lifted to Seoul to board big air transports for Japan.

Few of the repatriates will move this fast. Most of them, deemed well enough for slower travel, will follow this route home:

Deposited by the Communists at an Allied reception center in the vicinity of Panmunjom, they will be quickly screened by medical officers.

Loaded on trucks, they will be driven down the road about 15 miles to Freedom Village at Munsan.

At Freedom Village, the captives will be screened again by medical.

American prisoners next will move to an adjacent general's section, where teams will record details needed to bring military records up to date.

The repatriates next will attend religious services of their wish.

After showers, the repatriates enter the 11th Evacuation Hospital for further examination.

The physically fit next walk to the clothing issue room for a fresh wardrobe.

Then the men head for the recreation and waiting room, where mess crews will serve coffee, soup and ice cream.

After eating, they will be loaded on helicopters six at a time for the flight to Inchon. Some will go by train. At Inchon port, they will board Navy transports for the ocean voyage back to the United States. This trip probably will take about two weeks.

Mr. Binder, head of the insurance agency bearing his name, was formerly secretary of the Essex County Agency Association and is considered one of the top men in that field. He was an executive with leading insurance companies for fifteen years before establishing the Binder Agency in Newark twenty years ago.

He and his firm are general agents for the largest insurance companies such as the American Surety Company and others of that stature. The former address of the Binder organization was 31 Clinton street, Newark, and this new suburban address will enable the organization to increase its facilities and give even better service to clients.

This agency specializes in making exhaustive surveys of all types of insurance with the result that they not only reduce the cost of premiums but give greater protection to business and personal properties. These surveys are made by the Binder Agency without an obligation and the advice they usually give is reflected in the fact that it is considered to be one of the finest services available.

GIRL SCOUT CORNER

Miss Lenore Johnson of Millburn was the new camp director of the Springfield Girl Scout day camp.

Miss Johnson offered new ideas on craftwork and the girls have made colorful paperweights, and wound crepe paper around jars, thus making lovely ornaments. They also worked with wild plants, pasting them on paper and having them appear drawn. Oil cloth was woven into place mats and all sorts of games and sports were conducted.

Mrs. F. John was the dramatic director. On the last day of camp, a play was given by the girls. Mothers were invited and besides watching the play, had the opportunity to see the craft display.

The girl scouts feel that day camp was a big success. They are grateful to Miss Johnson and the leaders who assisted her among them being Mrs. F. John, Mrs. G. Rau, Mrs. E. A. Foley and Mrs. A. Hirsch. Miss Nancy Frey, a senior girl scout, was a junior counselor this year and Anita Koherty also assisted.

SPRINGFIELD SKETCHES

BEVERLY RAFFAPORT

In having these personal interviews, your interviewer tries to encourage her personality to speak of himself. However, Isaac (better known around town as "Ike") Freedman was more anxious to talk about Springfield.

We were able to uncover the fact that Ike is originally from Manchester, England, and came to the United States at the age of 16. He settled first in Tennessee, where he lost his British accent, and then worked his way up to New York, Newark and then Springfield.

"Springfield is the best place of all," commented Ike. "Its growth has really been something and will definitely be better. Many people from Newark and other large cities seem to prefer Springfield to other communities like it in this vicinity. This is a nice little town—one of the nicest around here. The people are the most pleasant I've ever met."

Ike shows that his interest in Springfield is an active one by being a member of the Chamber of Commerce and the Jewish Community Group. This year he helped in the March of Dimes drive.

Ike has been in his hardware store for 16 years, and today has a thriving business. "When I first came here I here I knew this town had potential," exclaimed Ike. "I've made friends and not customers."

When asked if he were anxious to return to his native country to visit, Ike said that there is no place like the United States. He has never been back to England and feels that there is too much to see here before going there.

It is evident that Ike is completely happy here with his wife, whom he says is "the prettiest girl in town," two sons, seven and thirteen years old, and pink ranch house at 407 Milltown road. "In my spare time I like to work on gardening around the house," said Ike. "Fishing is also one of my favorite pastimes."

A person doesn't have to do any one spectacular thing to make news. He can be an interested and loyal member of his community as Ike Freedman. He can do service to his town and the people in it and be a "nice guy" and that way be an inspiration to his friends and neighbors.

The turkey is said to be the only North American animal to have been domesticated.

It is always reassuring to find that the old books are being recognized for their true worth by each succeeding generation of readers. With modern methods of publishing and the ever-increasing number of new books being published, the competition is keen but the result always gratifying.
These findings apply to adult as well as juvenile books for reprints of classics for all ages are published yearly in order to supply the demand. There is always someone reading their first pages of Dickens, someone thrilling to the deeds of King Arthur, someone who prefers Jane Austen or the Brontes. Other old favorites you may like to reread are David Grayson, Robert Louis Stevenson, Booth Tarkington, Joseph C. Lincoln, James Fenimore Cooper, O. Henry, Albert Payson Terhune, Rudyard Kipling and many others of like stature. Books written by these authors are suitable for young and old and stories about the lives of these people make splendid reading too. In the children's department biographies are often first choice and always one of the three most popular.
New books this month include: "Out of the Dust" by Helen Warren, "The Stones of the House" by Theodore Morrison, "The Sealing" by Will Thomas, "The Papers of Trembling" by Karl Brown and of Thomas Jefferson.

Cancer Society To Produce Film

NEWARK July 30—If by chance during the next few weeks visitors of the American Cancer Society, New Jersey Division, are found in the midst of cameras and other motion picture equipment they are Hollywood-conscious but because they are participating in another activity of the division. However this has nothing to do with the caring of cancer patients, according to officials of the division. It will be the filming of a story to be entitled "The Swift Sward" and which will tell of the programs of the New Jersey Division. It will be an educational, as well as a campaign feature, and will be available in the fall for showings throughout the state.
The scenes will be taken and the film produced in color by the Beeland-King Film Productions of Atlanta, Ga., who have had considerable experience in this type of filming. The various phases of the Cancer Society's program will be covered including shots at clinics and hospitals and the search work at Princeton and Rutgers Universities as well as the radioisotope center at Beth Israel Hospital.
Designed to show the people of New Jersey how the funds they have contributed in the April Crusade are spent, the story will be along the theme that early detection of cancer can bring about a cure and the script will depict the experiences of one man on the cancer society's program in this state. The film will show him at work and at home; his visit to the information center and doctor's office; to the clinic and finally his return to work as a cured patient. The various services he is provided with, while under treatment will be brought out and the extent of the educational program, which is geared to reach everyone in the state, will be stressed.

It is always reassuring to find that the old books are being recognized for their true worth by each succeeding generation of readers. With modern methods of publishing and the ever-increasing number of new books being published, the competition is keen but the result always gratifying.
These findings apply to adult as well as juvenile books for reprints of classics for all ages are published yearly in order to supply the demand. There is always someone reading their first pages of Dickens, someone thrilling to the deeds of King Arthur, someone who prefers Jane Austen or the Brontes. Other old favorites you may like to reread are David Grayson, Robert Louis Stevenson, Booth Tarkington, Joseph C. Lincoln, James Fenimore Cooper, O. Henry, Albert Payson Terhune, Rudyard Kipling and many others of like stature. Books written by these authors are suitable for young and old and stories about the lives of these people make splendid reading too. In the children's department biographies are often first choice and always one of the three most popular.
New books this month include: "Out of the Dust" by Helen Warren, "The Stones of the House" by Theodore Morrison, "The Sealing" by Will Thomas, "The Papers of Trembling" by Karl Brown and of Thomas Jefferson.

Rosary Shrine Founder Marks Golden Jubilee

On Tuesday, August 4, Mother Mary Imelda, August 4, founder of the Monastery of Our Lady of the Rosary (Rosary Shrine) will celebrate her golden jubilee as a Dominican cloistered nun. A solemn mass of thanksgiving will be conducted at the monastery chapel at 10 a.m. by the Most Rev. Thomas A. Boland, STD, archbishop of the Newark diocese.
Mother Mary Imelda entered the convent of the Dominican Sisters of the Perpetual Rosary at Union City, in 1901, and made her first profession on the feast of St. Dominic, August 4, 1903. After a term of about twelve years as mistress of novices, she became the mistress of that community in October, 1917. Two years later, when an opportunity presented itself, she and twelve of the Sisters, established the monastery in Summit on October 2, 1919, the feast of the Holy Angels.

Only Electricity
COOKS COOLER because it's flameless
Stays cool to the touch
ELECTRIC COOKING IS COOL because it's flameless. Unlike other type ranges, the oven is completely insulated on all six sides. The heat remains in the oven where it belongs.
Surface cooking is cooler, too. The flameless units, in direct contact with pots and pans, send the heat directly to the food, not into the kitchen.
Don't toil and boil over an old-fashioned range again this summer. Keep cool and comfortable with low-cost electric cooking. See your Reddy Kilowatt Dealer.
