Having a lot of "gifts for the Christmas shopping? Well, I contend with city traffic and simply bulging with wonderful home" on my list I next, stopped meant what I said that I had crowds, and to be able to park gift suggestions for the entire in to see my old friend Milton Hardware, housewares, trains, more fun and got-the best-values either at the curb or on one of family. There were cute gifts for Marks at Radio Sales Corp. Here as wsual I got a warm welcome, and found oodles of excellent values in appliances, television sets, records, electric shavers. etc. And the most wonderful part was the low, low price policy!

From there I went up Millburn avenue to Lord & Taylor. Here is really a happy hunting ground for gifts. Their beautiful, beautiful decorations put one right in the Christmas mood. And such selections. Simply tons and tons of out-of-this-world gift-suggestions. No wonder people come rom miles around to shop here! While in the neighborhood I stopped in at three of the newest stores in town. The first I visited was Chez Modes where I saw a perfectly stunning collection of frocks and sportswear. I selected several, and then filled out many spots on my gift list from their fabulous costume jewelry department.

A little further on I found the new Vogue Gowns shop. Here is one of the most beautifully designed dress shops in the state. enjoyed the comfort of the shop and the excellent service as I selected several cocktail gowns for holiday entertaining. Perfectly charming! "'Til Then." imported perfume lapel pins by Mimi Roget, also intrigued me, and helped me whittle down my gift list even more.

Right next door I dropped in to see Sol Braunstein at his beautiful new fur shop. Mr. Braunstein, through his personality and skill, has built up a tremendous following at his Newark store and it is easy to see he will prosper in Millbur too. I looked and felt wonderful in the furs I selected here. Way down at the other end of Millburn avenue I found another new shop, Millburn Hardware. Here I found plenty of wanted gifts, particularly for the man of the house. Fine tools and gadgets for the do-it-yourselfer helped to fill my list. I found some lovely housewares gifts for the ladies. too. Incidentally they are having a grand opening party this Friday and Saturday with free souvenirs for all! Back in Millburn centre I stopped at Central Drug Store where I had just loads of fun stocking up with gifts for every member of the family. There were-cosmetics for the ladies, cigars, cigarettes and tobacco as well as shaving equipment for the men, toys for the kiddles and just codles of stocking stuffers for everyone. And such low prices; too!

Around the corner on Essex strect I stocked up at Dave's Market for my holiday entertaining. Such a wonderful selection of fine foods! I also ordered several of their beautiful fruit baskets as gifts. The nice part about it was that they offered to deliver all my purchases free. And it's such a long way to the North Pole, too!

Just a few doors away I dropped in on Teen-Haven where I saw a really happy group of teen agers trying on just fabulous clothes! What a joy to have such a shop in town for the younger miss! And then next door to Bamberger's Millburn store where Manager Ken Weeman greeted me and showed me the tremendous array his organization had gathered for local shoppers. Here again I made big inroads on my gift list as I selected

Over on Main street I found that universal Christmas favorite of the small fry-the bicycle. The imported English models, genuine Raleighs, caught my eye, of course. They certainly know how to build bikes, over there. Of course our American models are nice, too, and I selected several to fill out my gift list. While there I enjoyed buying from the fine group of sporting goods on display. Almost across the street at the riendly Samz-Epstein Drug Store I found a long list of gifts for all the family. There were cosmetics for the women-folk and tobaccos for the men, as well as stocking-stuffers in tremendous profusion! On Millburn avenue there were wonderful values at the Younger Set for gifts for the "younger set." Such perfectly styled clothing, with extra durability and at such moderate prices!
