Mayor-Layng Talk To Woodside Group

The newly organized Woodside Civic Association held their regular February meeting last Thursday evening at the Chisholm School.

Over 100 members heard Mayor Albert G. Binder and Tax Assessor Gilbert W. Layng discuss problems of the community, including the more timely topics of the new budget and the effect of re-evaluation and the impact of the new highway.

Layng pointed out in his talk that "Woodside residents can probably realize a savings of $100 per home under the new assessment program."

Members of the Woodside Civic group meet with six other member organizations of the Civic Alliance at a meeting held Tuesday at the home of Henry Kessler of 14 Twin Oaks Oval. The members in attendance voted unanimously to send representatives to the final hearing on the town budget to be held March 5 at the town hall.

Troop 73 Boy Scouts Snowbound; Home Safe

Sixteen Boy Scouts of Troop 73 at St. James Parochial School, seem to be certain of winning their second class medals—but they had to suffer through two days of harrowing experiences with 125 Boy Scout campers who were marooned and snowbound at the Union Council's Camp Winnebago at Marella.

Local Girl Scout Isolated By Snow

Ruth Ann Toomey, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Toomey, 138 Ticker Avenue, was among the 54 Girl Scouts from Millburn who were isolated amid 20-foot snow drifts in a lodge on Bush Mountain, eight miles north of Cresco, Pa. in the Pocono Mountains on this week end.

Ruth, a student at the Regional High School here, returned to her home late Tuesday night.

The girls were taken by bus to Mt. Pocono from where they left by train for home. They arrived at Mt. Pocono on Saturday by train and were taken to La Anna by bus.

Heavy snow started soon after they reached the five-acre lodge site and until Monday night their only communication with the outside world was by telephone. In all, some 42 inches of snow has fallen and temperatures have been below zero.

Civil-Defense officers enlisted aid of the Tobyhanna Army Signal Depot, which is also eight miles from the hotel, but strong winds prevented helicopters from taking off.

While the girls were reportedly having the time of their lives, fuel as well as food started running low. The girls foregook their upstairs rooms, which were heated by coal stoves, and slept around a fireplace downstairs.

"The time of their lives consisted of skiing and sleigh riding outside and ping pong, card playing, rock 'n roll dancing and singing around the fireplace inside."

SNOWPLOWS BROKE THROUGH to the camp—three miles from the nearest main road—Monday after towing several disabled autos that blocked the one lane road.

One of the leader's cars was dug out from a dirt road after the driver took a wrong turn. He managed to contact Charles Casey, camp ranger, by telephone. The camp custodian drove a tractor to the scene to rescue the occupants.

Ninety-seven per cent of the township's pupils received dental care last year under the dental health program, it was reported. This figure compares with 60 per cent who were given needed treatment in 1945 and 75 per cent who obtained care in 1943, the report pointed out.

The board decided to ask the PTA's of Raymond Chisholm and Edward W. Walton Schools to prepare a census of pre-school children in their areas. The census will be used to anticipate classroom needs.

E. J. Jan Tausch, psychologist, tendent of schools, reported January attendance was 89.7 per cent. He listed the school enrollments as: James—Caldwell, 421; Raymond Chisholm, 300; Edward W. Walton, 418; Florence M. Gaudineer, 575; total, 1,774.

Scout Drive Is Slowed Down By Snow Storm

The snow storm slowed down the solicitation of funds for the Springfield Boy Scout Finance campaign and the committee has decided to extend the drive in an effort to reach the 1958 quota.

The workers' report meeting this week showed that a total of approximately $1,500 had been collected thus far in the current drive for funds which is far below the amount needed for the Boy Scout program this year.

A great number of the volunteer workers were unable to make their calls because of the heavy snow but the captains are reassembling the teams to complete the drive.

Jay Longfield, general chairman of the local Scout campaign, urges all residents of Springfield to send in their contributions if, for any reason, the workers are unable to contact them.

Removal of Snow Here Is Praised

Out of town visitors to Springfield were loud in their praise for the work done by the local authorities in clearing the main thoroughfares following the terrific snow storm.

Yesterday much of the snow on Morris avenue had been removed and traffic jams were reduced to a minimum.

One engraving company representative travels to a great number of communities from his home office in Paterson said, "Springfield has, without a doubt, done the best job in this area in clearing away the snow."

If you must shovel snow, do it by slow and easy stages, is the advice given to local residents.

If you have a questionable or an actual history of heart disease or high blood pressure, don't shovel snow at all.

"Snow shoveling is excessive exertion, and should be avoided by anyone who is not in top physical condition," the advice continues.

It was explained that cold weather slows down the circulation of the blood and trouble can ensue when there is less blood around the heart.

"Every year at times of heavy snow doctors issue warnings, and every year many fall to heed them," the doctors say. "As a result, the number of heart attacks caused by snow shoveling has been pretty high. Let's cut down this needless waste of life."

B.B.G. Collects $650

Members of the Springfield B'nai B'rith Girls distributed Muscular Dystrophy canisters in seven surrounding towns during the months of December and January.

2 More Nabbed Racing on Rt. 22

Two 18-year-old Scotch Plains boys were fined $30 each Monday night and their driver's licenses were revoked for racing on Route 22. They were found guilty of racing their cars in Route 22. Benedict F. Zimmer, Jr., 2340 Lake Park Ter. and Robin Brunner, 2370 Channing Ave. denied they were racing when they were stopped Jan. 29 by Patrolman Joseph Recessner in the Eastbound Lane. Several Springfield officials and Magistrate McMullen said the youths admitted pulling their cars out onto the highway near a Springfield Drive-in restaurant and lining up next to each other. The Scotch Plains boys brought to six in the last week the number of drivers who have lost their licenses for drag racing on the highway. Last Monday McMullen revoked the licenses of a teenage boy and girl for a year and ordered the licenses of another teenager and a 20-year-old youth suspended for six months.

The bank, long an outstanding example of the monumental bank architecture of the past, has become an intimate wall-to-wall carpeted modern building. It is installing a direct-dial phone system to the branch bank in Springfield.

P.T.A. NEWS

The Plan of Work for Program Chairman offered by the Union County Council of Parent-Teacher Associations, is continued from last week's column of the Springfield Sun, as follows:

H. Before Each Meeting: Program chairman with the President should make complete agenda and check each part of it. Timing of program should be completely checked. Publicity chairman should have all information in plenty of time to insure good coverage. All participants in program should be contacted—speaker, music chairman, hospitality chairman, the hostess who greets guests, seats them, and makes introductions. Be sure to know correct name and title of guests, correct pronunciation of name, short introduction. If the president is to introduce the guest, be sure that she has the information. Check stage to be sure that it is properly set up with adequate chairs, podium, water, and glasses.

I. After the Meeting:

1. Send notes promptly to guest participants expressing sincere thanks. Be generous in your praise of members who have participated.
2. Evaluate meeting for PRO-CEDURE BOOK and for good planning for other meetings: (a) Use Evaluation Reaction Sheet; (b) Interview members; and (c) Have an end-of-the-meeting discussion.
3. Invite County and State Chairmen to local meetings participants or as special guests.

The H, I, J, suggestions above complete the Plan of Work for Program Chairman suggested by the Union County Council of Parent-Teacher Associations. Interested P. T. A. members have voiced appreciation for the opportunity to read the Plan of Work for Program Chairman in this column during the past few weeks.

Regional Offers Students Extras In Advanced Math

Students at Regional High School have many opportunities for gaining extra training in mathematics other than in the classroom. In addition to the extensive offerings in mathematics on an advanced level for students who are particularly interested in pursuing the highly technical fields, club program and mathematics contests are used to stimulate and encourage initiative.

A slide rule club serves to give students an opportunity to become proficient in the use of this important tool.

An advanced mathematics club is available to those students at Regional who are interested in developing mathematical ideas on a higher level. Four years of math is required for membership. During the past number of years, Regional High students have been competing in a number of mathematics contests. Our students have been doing remarkably well in these competitions and on a number of occasions the very highest honors were attained.

Some of the highest honors won are:

1. Three years ago Regional High School as a team scored first out of 38 New Jersey high schools competing in the Pi Mu Epsilon Mathematics Contest at New York University.
2. In this same contest out of approximately 120 contestants from New Jersey high schools,

Regional participants placed first and sixth.

Three years ago in a national contest sponsored by the Mathematical Association of America, Regional ranked 16th out of 995 high schools throughout the entire nation.

Two years ago in a statewide competition at Rutgers University one of our students scored the highest in an engineering test. This was a competitive examination testing scientific and mathematical principals.

On a number of occasions Regional students have been given recognition for their mathematics projects exhibited at the Newark Science Fair.

CAP Urges Youth Try For Academy

Young men interested in seeking nomination to the Air Force Academy class entering next June still have sufficient time to contact their Senator or Representative for nomination.

John Hansen, Commander of the local CAP unit in Springfield announced today.

"Many Congressmen and Senators have not yet made their final selection of the 10 young men each one can nominate this year," Lt. Hansen said.

"Members of the Congress still have time to submit their nominees to the Academy. Any young man interested in seeking nomination to the Academy should act immediately to insure that his Congressman or Senator is aware of his interest."

This will be the final Air Force Academy class selected entirely on an open competitive basis with each Senator and Congressman nominating 10 young men who will compete for selection with other young men from the various states. Beginning next year Senators and Congressmen will nominate a principal and up to 10 alternates for the Academy.

If the principal nominee qualifies on all examinations he will be selected for attendance at the Academy.

Students Display Art At Newberry's

The display at the General Green Shopping Center in the work of Robert Cather, a senior at the high school majoring in distributive education, Robert has his school studies divided between class-work and practical experience at the J. J. Newberry store where he is being trained in window display.

The theme for the present display is "Teen Age Art." The paintings and drawings are the work of an Art Club and art classes under the direction of Miss Laura Smallock. Twenty-four students have their talents in this elaborate contemporary art exhibit. Work of the students includes the following media: charcoal, oil, pastels, tempera, water colors and pen and ink. Through the support of J. J. Newberry who supplied the background material, Robert Cather used his talent in creating a striking effect to add to the art work on display.

The project is a result of work of the Pen and Pallet Art Club which was seen by Lewis Fredricks, Director of Fine and Industrial Arts for the Regional School System, who felt that the public should be privileged to see the work done by this club.

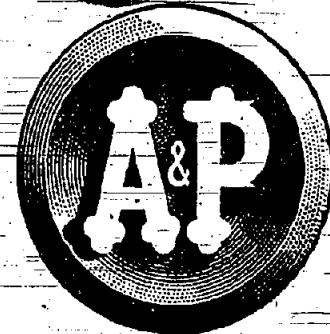

The display will be on exhibit until February 17 and includes work by: Martha Blair, Richard Nauman, Edwin Fischer, Tim Nolan, Susan Melick, Gloria Gallois, Julie Ryder, Walter Garthwaite, Nelson Brown, Jack Gartman, Madeleine Calvas, John Lynch, Bonnie Dietz, Mary Ann Ingate, Sharon Warman, Catharine Thompson, Robert Curless, Mary Lou Rhodes, Dawn Butts, Julie Clemming, Barbara Zalot, Kay Palumbo, Rita Lester and Natalie Holland.

Give them a Faith to live by

Worship with them this week

Naturally you want them to have all the good things in life... a happy home... a good education... plenty of chances to meet other nice young people. But be sure to give them the most precious gift of all... Faith.

The wonderful part is that faith is yours to give... no matter who you are, what you do for a living, how much money you have in the bank.

Faith is the gift you give a little at a time. Every week you worship with the children at your church or synagogue. The youngsters see you... the biggest, smartest, most important people in their world... asking God for help, thanking Him for blessings. Then it's clear to them... here they can always find the strength they need, always find the happiness they want.

Then you've done the best a parent—any parent—can do.

Alumni Honors Go To Dr. Graessle

Dr. Otto Graessle of 8 Alvin Terrace, Springfield, assistant director of the Merck Institute of Therapeutic Research, Rahway, has been awarded an alumni citation by Union Junior College, Cranford.

Dr. Kenneth C. MacKay, president of Union Junior College, conferred the citations upon 19 alumni at a recent dinner at the Hotel Suburban, Summit.

"The citations," Dr. MacKay said, "recognize some of our alumni who have distinguished themselves in their chosen fields." The following citation was conferred jointly upon Dr. Graessle and Dr. Harry J. Robinson of Union, director of the Merck Institute:

"Like Castor and Pollux, stars of the first magnitude in the Constellation Gemini, Dr. Harry Robinson and Dr. Otto Graessle are scientific twins, the magnitude of whose brilliant accomplishments burns brightly in the endless expanse of medical research.

"Offered the chance of a college education at Union Junior College at night while working at Merck's as laboratory assistants, Drs. Graessle and Robinson both went on to obtain their A-B and Ph.D. degrees, thereby becoming that rarity of rarities—humanistic scientists. Dr. Robinson subsequently went on to earn his M.D. at Columbia's College of Physicians and Surgeons.

"Solely and unselfishly dedicated to the alleviation and cure of the ill of the body, Drs. Robinson and Graessle have been associated with outstanding scientists in the field of infectious diseases, resulting in their famous collaboration with Dr. Waksman in the discovery and development of streptomycin.

"As director and assistant director of the Merck Institute of Therapeutic Research, not to mention their many other outstanding roles, Dr. Robinson and Dr. Graessle continue in their dedication to the eradication of diseases for the betterment of mankind. Laden with honors in recognition of their countless accomplishments, Harry Robinson and Otto Graessle—personify those ideals of the dedicated scientist."

Brothers Unite To Run Station

Two brothers from Newark have launched the Sinclair service station on the Keovic-Farber Lumber Co. property, corner of Springfield Avenue and Morris Avenue.

George and Bob Frana took the completely refurbished gas station on Feb. 1. They are offering several unique services.

One is a tie-in with Sip & Sup

Restaurant across the street. The Frana brothers will give any kind of car servicing to the restaurant patrons while they eat.

The other service is an introductory offer good until March 15. They are giving free chassis lubrication with every oil and oil change.

A big attraction for local motorists at Frana's is the giving of 3-4 Green Stamps at all times. The brothers are open from seven in the morning until midnight daily and until 2 a.m. on weekends.

What Does Food Cost You?

It May Cost Years Off Your Life!

Why not plan to add life to your years? asks the National Dairy Council. Today, the average length of life in the United States is 68 years. In 1850, it was 40 years. Twenty-eight years have been added to your life. Add nine to the years with health through proper food.

You often feel in middle life that there is never enough time for tasks-in-home, business or community. You long for the days when there is nothing you really have to do, the council says, but people who have tried it wish they were busy again.

You can make later years more lively, the council advises, if you keep fit in mind and body, now and in years ahead. This can be accomplished by absorbing interests or hobbies to keep you useful and cheerfully busy; pride in your years and your looks; regular sleep, frequent rest; moderate exercise chosen with judgment; a regular health examination by your physician; and a wise choice of food. Evidence is piling up, the council states, that what we eat, or do not eat, through life, affects how and when we begin to age. Here are pointers suggested by the National Dairy Council for good years after forty.

You would be surprised if your car, your washing machine or your lawnmower should repair itself some day. But your body mechanism repairs its own daily wear and tear all the time. One food essential for self-repair is protein; your body tissues must have it, even to live.

Milk, cheese, ice cream, eggs, meat, poultry and fish contain "complete" proteins, building materials the body cannot make for itself. Bread, cereals, peanut butter, dried beans, peas and other vegetables provide useful but less complete proteins. You need to eat some protein foods from animal sources and some from grains and vegetables at each meal.

You cannot afford to neglect calcium-rich foods just because your bones are full size. Calcium can be withdrawn from the bones during adult years if your food does not provide enough for all your needs. Calcium is used for normal blood clotting, and for healthy nerve and muscle action, as well as for bones.

It is difficult to get the calcium you need unless you use milk daily—two glasses or more, with cheese and ice cream often. Turnip greens, broccoli or dried beans, the next best sources, are not nearly milk's equal in calcium. Iron is required for healthy blood. Eggs, lean meats, especially liver, poultry, fish, whole-grain or enriched bread and cereals, some "greens", dried peas and beans and dried fruits are good sources of iron. Be sure to include some of these foods daily.

Naturally you need vitamins. Foods provide the vitamins we know we need and probably some that are still unknown to us. Vitamins are necessary in order for the body to make proper use of food. They function in vision. They are essential in maintaining health.

Some foods are particularly rich sources of certain vitamins; riboflavin from milk and milk products; C from citrus fruits and tomatoes; A from butter, butterfat in dairy foods and green leafy and yellow vegetables; thiamine, niacin and riboflavin from meats, legumes and whole or enriched cereals and breads; D from vitamin D milk.

How does your diet measure up to these foods recommended as a guide to good eating because they are high in proteins, minerals, vitamins... modest in calories:

Milk in some form at every meal.
One serving or more (at least 4 ounces, cooked) of meat, fish, poultry, cheese or combination of these foods.

An egg a day, or at least three to five a week.
A green or yellow vegetable once a day.
Citrus fruit or tomato each day.

At least three more servings of vegetables or fruits each day. (One may be potato)
One serving or more of enriched or whole-grain bread or cereal at each meal.

Two tablespoons of butter a day on bread and in cooking.

A day's supply of average servings of these foods give only 1200 to 1400 calories when you choose lean or moderately fat meat and unsweetened or lightly sweetened fruits. Do not add more food than you can eat and stay at the weight desirable for you.

Do not neglect liquids. Drink water, plain or in coffee or tea, often.

Milk is needed at any age in life but you can eat it, too, in creamed dishes, creamed soups, with cereals, custards and puddings, soufflés and rarebits, as Cheddar-type cheese and as ice cream.

Milk can be replaced, too... one cup of skim milk

Vitamin C Needed Daily. Available Various Ways

Don't overlook your daily portion of citrus fruits, says Mary W. Armstrong, Home Agent, Orange County Extension Office.

But there are many kinds of citrus fruit besides oranges, and there are many forms in which they are available. Although the recent Florida freeze has cut shipments and raised prices of some citrus fruit, there is still a wide selection on the market.

The importance of a daily serving of citrus fruit—fresh, frozen or canned—cannot be stressed too much, especially in winter when fresh fruits and vegetables may make up a little less of the daily diet than in summer. Mrs. Irene Wolgamot, Extension Nutrition specialist on our Rutgers University staff, says we all need an orange or half a grapefruit each day, unless we have a serving of tomatoes which also provide vitamin C.

Vitamin C serves as a cement to hold body cells together. When we don't get enough vitamin C, the walls of tiny blood vessels collapse, causing hemorrhaging, gums become spongy and bleed, causing teeth to loosen, cartilage and connective tissue are weakened and nerves are damaged. Bones lose calcium because their protective lining is unable to hold it.

There are also substitutes in the membranes separating the pulp and the white part under the peel called bio-flavonoids and preceptins. These aid digestion and regularity and work with vitamin C to keep the walls of the tiny blood vessels strong. For this reason, it is well to eat the whole orange occasionally and not remove all of the white part that covers the pulp.

At five cents per serving, or less, you have a choice of frozen orange juice, canned grapefruit sections and fresh grapefruit.

Canned orange juice is usually close to this price, also. Dried orange lemons as a citrus and vitamin contributing fruit. Right now the price of frozen lemon concentrate is especially low amounting to four cents per cup and this is an excellent product.

Regardless of price, "C" is for citrus and only raw cabbage and tomato juice are other reasonable sources of vitamin C.

SUITS LOOK YOUNG
Very fresh and young looking is the bright, blazer jacket suit, often bound with contrasting braid and featuring its own blouse, jersey overblouse or sailor-collared, string-tie middy.

LININGS ARE LIVELY
Brilliantly colored linings provide a surprise contrast in jackets topping skirts or chemise-influenced dresses.

FIND FAVOR
V-necked cardigans find spring favor with little boys.

Children's Wear Stars Chemise This Spring

The chemise as a major ready-to-wear silhouette change reflected in a general fluidity of silhouette in coats, suits, sportswear and dresses in children's wear for the spring season.

For teens and sub-teens there are a few genuine chemises, widened across the shoulders, tapered at the hem. These are basically not nearly as difficult to wear as the sheath. Side or back kick pleats release the hem.

Party nylons with very full soft skirts and velveteen ribbon rashes, copy classic organdies but little girls who prefer the original will find assortment of these, too. Silk means pure silk prints as well as silk organdies. And those young ladies who feel that their closet is a little drab with beige or gray, black and white, soft pastel dresses, can count on brightening the scene with new vivid shades—apricot leno weave Dacron and cotton, watery nylon chiffon print in shades of deep blue.

To be in fashion this spring a little girl needs a chemise for news, a navy dress-and-jacket ensemble for Easter Sunday and a dressy but not fussy nylon or silk organdie for parties.

For teens and sub-teens there are a few genuine chemises, widened across the shoulders, tapered at the hem. These are basically not nearly as difficult to wear as the sheath. Side or back kick pleats release the hem.

No dress designer expects the children of America suddenly to drop all their bouffant petticoats, nor can the older girl be expected to abandon the figure-fitting sheath which she wiggled into

Green Peas Add Color To Table

For more than 4,000 years people have enjoyed peas in one form or another. At first it was mostly in the dried form. It was not until the 17th Century that people found eating fresh peas was even better and became more generally possible. In the 18th Century scientific research produced canned peas and within the memory of most of us the bright green frozen product joined the last of offerings at budget pleasing cost at all seasons. Both canned and frozen peas are labor saving.

Prices are influenced a good deal by supply and right now this is well demonstrated in regard to peas. There is a large stock on hand of processed peas and sales are seen in many supermarkets. If you wish to compare prices for different types, remember 1 No. 303 can (usual size) gives 3 half-cup servings of drained peas, or a half-cup, including liquid. The ten ounce frozen package also makes 3 half-cup servings.

If you like pea soup, remember that one pound of dried peas makes 10 half-cup servings as a vegetable and more than 20 in the form of soup. This is a good use for a ham bone or a piece of ham hock. Cream of pea soup, made from dried peas, can be delicious, however, without any meat seasoning.

The bright green color of frozen peas adds a great deal to pale foods such as cauliflower—add a half cup of cooked frozen peas to the cream sauce for cauliflower just before serving. You'll have enough peas from the package for two servings as a vegetable.

Combine either kind with carrots or diced celery or almost any left-over vegetable. Add peas, the greens the better, to jellied vegetable salads. Green canned peas are as good as any in vegetable soup or in casseroles. Salmon "wiggles" is an old fashioned name for creamed salmon and peas, and a salmon loaf is enhanced by the addition of peas either to the loaf itself or to the cream sauce to be served over it.

Peas alone are good as a vegetable, but chopped sautéed mushrooms added, they are in epicure's dream.

SASH RETURNS
Sashes make a fashion comeback, in heavy silk crepes, satins used on the double or single thicknesses of lacy wools.

DURING THIS LENTEN SEASON make the most of the menu opportunities that the many convenience products have to offer. One of the most versatile is packaged pre-cooked rice. Just try this special Lenten recipe and you'll win the enthusiastic approval of your family. The rice is served with a delicious combination of mushroom soup, crisp green beans and tuna... an unusual blend of flavors. And, the suggestion of added lemon rind to the fluffy packaged pre-cooked rice gives it extra goodness and appetite appeal. This is but one of the many variations that can eliminate the chore of planning Lenten menus. At the same time you can add to your own imaginative and creative cooking ability.

TUNA AND GREEN BEANS WITH LEMON RICE

1 1/2 cups packaged pre-cooked rice
1/2 cup milk
1 can (7 ounces) tuna fish, drained and flaked
1/2 to 1 cup cooked green beans*
Dash of pepper

Add rice and salt to boiling water in saucepan. Mix just to moisten all rice. Cover and remove from heat. Let stand 13 minutes. Add butter and lemon rind, mixing lightly with a fork. Meanwhile, combine soup and milk in saucepan. Heat, stirring occasionally. Add tuna fish, green beans and pepper. Mix and heat thoroughly. Arrange lemon rice in serving dish and top with the tuna and green beans. Makes 4 or 5 servings.

*Use leftover or canned green beans. Or cook 1/2 package quick-frozen French Style green beans or quick-frozen cut green beans. (ANS Features)

Gloves Deserve Proper Care

Gloves not only complete a costume, says Carolyn Yuknus, Associate Home Agent, but provide warmth and protection for your hands during the winter. Style varies and may include both long and short gloves. Your choice may depend on personal preference and costume. Generally, gloves should not be too elaborate but simple and subdued.

Buy gloves to fit. The salesperson can help you find the right size. Leather gloves will usually stretch more than fabric gloves. Check for finger length too. Fingers in gloves that are too short will wear through quickly.

Read the label for instructions on care. Many are sold as washable while others recommend dry-cleaning. Never wash leather gloves that have been drycleaned.

Do not attempt to wash leather gloves unless they are stamped washable or the label gives instructions. Such leather must be especially treated to remain soft after being wet. Fabric and most washable leather gloves are most easily washed on the hands. Do not wash chemisols or do not wash gloves this way, since these leathers become soft when wet and may tear. Use lukewarm water and suds and with the gloves on, wash as though you were washing your hands. Rub stubborn stains gently to remove.

When gloves are clean, peel them off gently from the wrist, filling gloves with water while still on the hands to make peeling easier. Rinse thoroughly in clear, lukewarm water. Do not twist or wring gloves. Roll them into a towel to remove excess moisture.

Blow into gloves to puff them into shape and dry away from excessive heat. When almost dry, finger press, then gently work the leather between your fingers to restore the original softness.

Remember, dark-colored gloves get as soiled as light colored ones. So regular washing is just as necessary.

Classic favorite, the shirtwaist, has been brought up-to-date this spring with V-necklines plunging in a new, low and framed with self-or detachable white collars.

BACK-INTERESTING

Fashionably speaking, there's a lot going on behind juniors' backs this spring. For a brilliant exit—are draped cowls that jut away from the neckline or shoulder blades, and draped, gently knotted treatments for the back of jackets or bodices.

HATS ARE COPY-CATS

Hats that match the dress or costume in fabric and color are a popular spring trend.

GO NAUTICAL

Red, white and blue form a happy alliance in striped wool-knit dresses, nautica in design as well as coloring, for spring wear.

For A February Bridge Party

IS it your turn to entertain at bridge? This means your best foot forward in the food department. February is the month of celebrations, and your theme can be taken from one of these. Serve a hearty soup in your prettiest soup bowls. Your best delicate china and a centerpiece attractively done with small red rosebuds, create a pretty table. Use lots of green fern too; it lends the delicate "feminine air" for the bridge foursome.

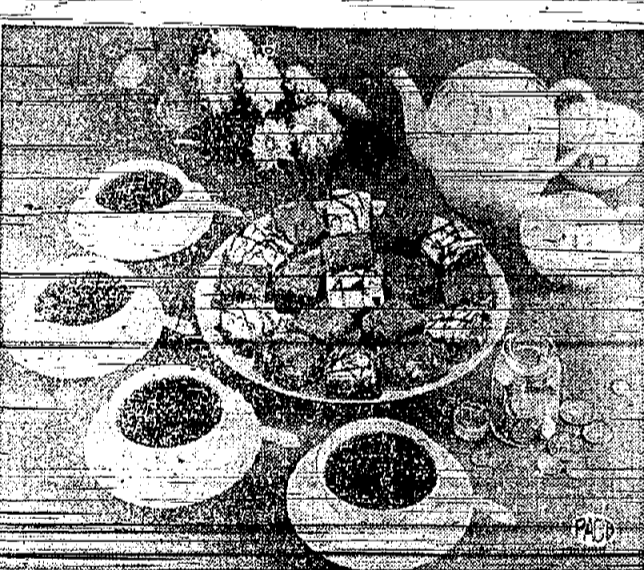

Mix and match two chicken soups... the canned condensed kind... cream-of-chicken and chicken vegetable. Make the combination hearty enough for an entree with ham strips; for color add chopped parsley. In case you want a red-hued soup for Valentine's Day, make it TOMATO BEEF DUST. Crisp crackers as go-withs add crunch.

To complete the luncheon menu, all you'll need is a light dessert of canned or fresh fruit and crisp thin cookies. Demi-tasse or horbed tea for the beverage.

Bridge Party Special
 1/2 cup dried cooked rice
 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
 1 can (1 1/2 oz.) condensed cream-of-chicken soup
 2 cups (10 1/2 oz.) condensed chicken vegetable soup
 2 soup cans water
 1 tablespoon chopped parsley

In saucepan, brown ham lightly in butter. Stir in soups, water and parsley. Heat. Makes 4 servings.

REPORT TO THE PEOPLE FROM YOUR CONGRESSWOMAN

FLORENCE P. DWYER

Two grave questions have absorbed the attention of official Washington these past few weeks—"How bad is this recession? How long will it last?"

Two simple questions, but no simple answers.

Like most of you, I've become increasingly disturbed at the multiplying symptoms of this recession, this downturn in the rate of business activity in the United States: the slow-moving inventories, unused productive capacity, and slackened rate of investment.

But the most serious sign has been the increase in unemployment, the growing number of workers—now about 4½ million—who have been laid-off either temporarily or for longer, indefinite periods.

Almost as disturbing, however, have been some of the reactions—two in particular—which this situation has aroused. On the one hand, there have been the callous, insensitive few who proclaim bravely since they're never in any danger themselves—"There's nothing to worry about; the economy will come around in time; this is just a healthy readjustment."

The other has been equally irresponsible. It has consisted in rushing about and shouting about "the depression."

Neither is right. This recession is emphatically not a "healthy readjustment." Nothing is healthy that puts several million men and women out-of-work. But, just as emphatically, this is not a depression. Our economy is fundamentally sound. Assuming the right decisions are made now, there is no valid reason why this economy cannot produce to grow and continue to produce the national strength and high living standards we have come to expect.

But this, of course, is the whole point. Just what are the "right decisions?"

To try to find out, I have devoted much of my time these past two weeks to studying the origins of the recession and the various proposals now being made to get us out-and-on-our-way-up-again.

Hours were spent talking with the five men in our Government who, aside from the President himself, are most directly involved in guiding our economy into more prosperous times.

They are: Secretary of the Treasury Robert Anderson; Dr. Gabriel Hauge, Special Assistant to the President for Economic Affairs; the Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, Mr. William McC. Martin Jr.; our fellow Jerseyite, Secretary of Labor Jim Mitchell; and Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks.

These are the men who make the decisions that will move our economy one way or the other. They are in day-by-day, almost hour-by-hour touch with the changing economic situation. They have the power to act or to recommend strongly that the Government act.

Most of these men I had met before, at least briefly. But this time I had a chance to sit down privately with each of them—either in their office or in mine—and talk bluntly and candidly about unemployment, business cycles, taxes, credit controls, pricing and investment policy and interest rates—and about the steps this Government is prepared to take to stop the recession and put men and women back to work.

Frankly, I was impressed.

These men, as you might have expected, were extremely well informed. They were not embarrassed by my direct questions. They had no easy panaceas to offer, but they did have answers and plans and programs. They were fully aware of the seriousness of the situation, but they were neither overly optimistic nor unduly pessimistic.

They seemed to be in short-men who knew what might have to be done and were prepared to do it when and if necessary.

Several of the things they told me, the President has—as I write this—just announced: plans to stimulate increased home-building, a speed-up in the construction of the national highway system, a $2 billion program to build-and-modernize Post-Offices, increased urban renewal activity, and others.
