BULLDOZERS HO!

Highway Path Set: Shovels To Dig Soon

The route of the federal highway slated to cut through Springfield has hardened like cement on state and local drafting boards.

It can still be chiseled a bit one way or the other, but it is just about impossible to move it very far.

This became evident following a meeting between Springfield officials and the State Highway Department last Friday, April 18. The State killed any hope of an alternative route and Springfield has resigned itself to a 300 foot wide elevated highway.

This summer should see surveyors and construction men swarming along the route paving the way for the bulldozers. The siege can't commence until the public hearings are held within four to six weeks and negotiations started for purchase. Then individual property owners will be notified that they are in danger or have narrowly escaped.

Route In Brief

The solidified route of F.A.I. Highway 102 is exactly that announced in the Springfield SUN on Feb. 27, 1958, and only slightly different from the map published during the political campaign last October.

Driving West to East, the highway will enter Springfield running over the historical Sayre House.

It will wipe out the buildings of the New Jersey Quarry Co.

It misses Troy Village
Crosses the Railway Valley railroad destroying Clairmont Place.

Crosses Baltusrol Way and runs up Union County Park Property.

Runs south of Tulip Road and Robin Court.
Shaves off homes all along Bryant Avenue.
Smashes the Post Office and all buildings on that corner.

Cuts through the Jenco property.
Squeezes between Presbyterian Church property and the Presbyterian Cemetery in Millburn.

Misses industries on Springfield Avenue.
Goes out of town in Elizabethtown Water Co. property.
Damage Lighter.

Estimates of the damage to Springfield from this highway are much lighter than six months ago. The original estimate by the Springfield SUN saw 300 homes destroyed. The latest guess puts the figure around 40.

A major reason for this is the dropping, temporarily at least, of plans for a spur highway to connect with Route 102 in the middle of Woodcrest Circle.

Unofficial reports from the meeting Friday with the State's Chief Engineer Fritzsche indicate that the spur will skirt Springfield entirely. The talk was that this road to the Goethals Bridge planned for 10 years from now would go from an interchange at Springfield Avenue down beside Washington Avenue along Union County Park property and the Rahway River.

Also the damage is lighter under the plan where the highway goes straight over the Quarry Co. mountain rather than skirt around it as originally announced.

Look Out For Turn Offs

The big question marks still unanswered are the number and placing of intersections with the new highway. This could be the big joker in the deck.

A member of the Springfield Township Committee told the SUN that the state was going to let the town decide where these interchanges go. No matter who decides it, the choice is a hard one.

If the only turn-off was at Springfield Avenue, then all Morris Avenue traffic would be routed right through Springfield center. If the ramps are at Morris Avenue by the Post Office it means enormous damage to the area. One official said the interchange will take up a quarter mile radius.

Officials Report

Mayor Albert G. Binder authorized the following release to the press following the meeting with state officials:

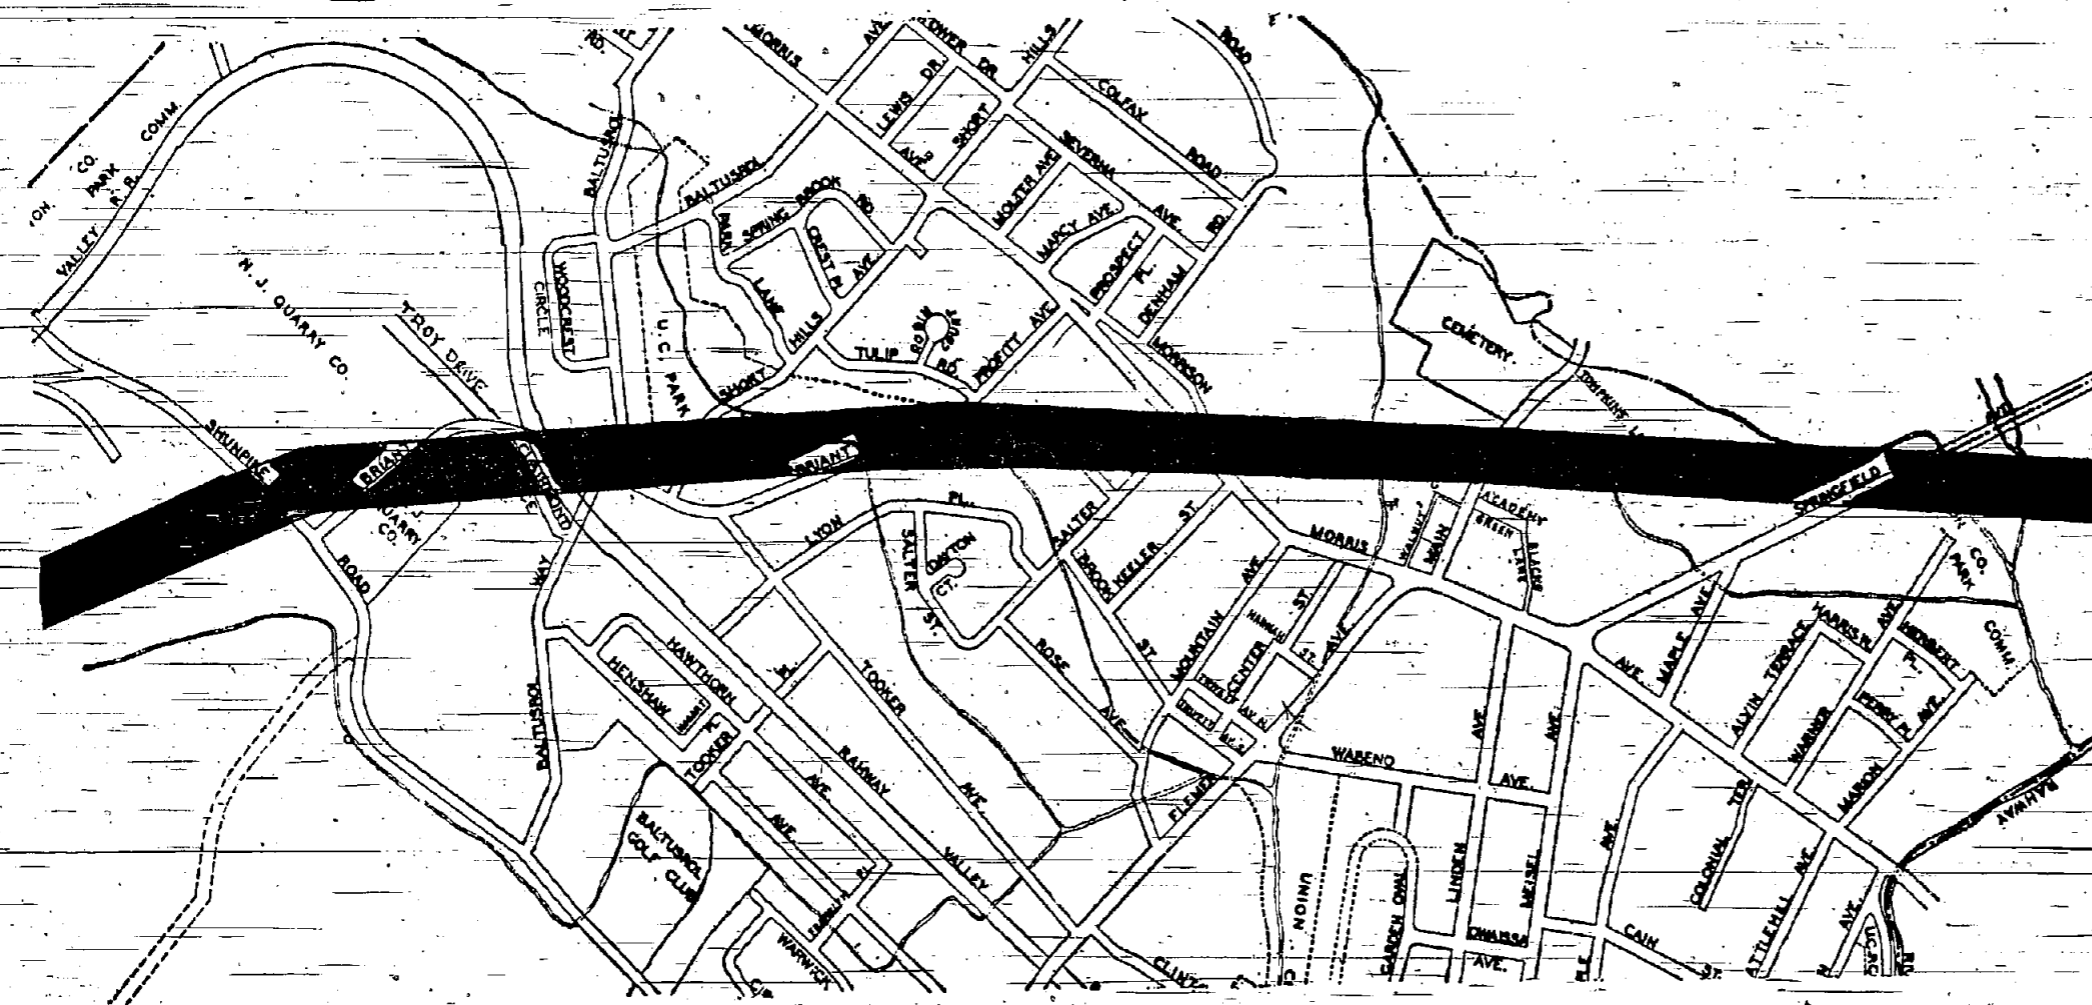

Township officials met with Chief Engineer Fritzsche and the engineering staff of the State Highway Department on Friday, April 18th, to explore further the proposed route for F.A.I. 102. Prior to Friday's meeting the Township Committee had submitted alternate routes to the State Highway Department in connection with the proposed realignment. At this meeting State Highway Department officials advised the Township governing body that the alternate routes suggested by Springfield were not feasible because of higher construction costs and engineering problems. State officials pointed out that the Federal Bureau of Roads, from whom final approval must be obtained, would not go along with the alternatives proposed on the local level for the reasons mentioned.

Township officials pointed to economic disturbances and other practical difficulties which the town would have to live with by reason of the route proposed by the state, and the fact that it is almost definite the road will be elevated, which will further damage the town with a so-called Chinese wall inasmuch as the elevation will range from 10 to 30 feet in height.

The proposed state route is the route delineated on certain aerial maps in the Township Engineer's office. The question of the spur was again raised by Township officials and Mr. Fritzsche stated that the spur would not be constructed in the foreseeable future.

The location of interchanges has not yet been determined. There will be further consultation with Township officials whose wishes in this regard will be given consideration.

A public hearing will be held within the next four to six weeks.

THIS IS IT! The Springfield Township Committee is resigned to having the path shown above as the road bed for the F.A.I. highway, Route 102. Any attempt to swerve the 8 lane roadway from Springfield collapsed Friday when State officials told Springfield alternate routes were not feasible. The above map was drawn by the Springfield SUN from the aerial photographs in the Township Engineers office. Springfield engineers have plotted the route on those photos as close as can be determined. Citizens can get a better picture of what homes fall in the route of the highway by stopping into the engineer's office at the municipal building.

Lions Look For Capacity House

The annual Springfield Lions Club variety show at the Regional High School auditorium tomorrow (Friday night) is expected to attract a capacity house.

A carefully arranged program of "big time" acts will be presented. Tickets have been selling rapidly and, as usual with the Lions annual shows, a sell-out is predicted.

Posters in the store windows of various Springfield merchants have helped publicize the annual show and the local Lions give considerable credit to the talented students of Florence M. Gaudineer School who created and carried out this art work and displays.

Potter At Lehigh?

David L. Potter of 179 Pitt road attended a Candidate's Day at Lehigh University recently. He has been offered admission to the Bethlehem, Pennsylvania school.

Weinberg To Lead Dems In Springfield

Irwin Weinberg was reelected chairman of the Springfield Democratic County Committee at a very enthusiastic organization meeting held Monday evening.

Reyna-Keane was named vice chairman, Lorraine Lewis will serve as secretary and David Strumin will carry out the duties of treasurer.

Sues Springfield For Store Permit

Ernest Topf of 14 Hoffman St., Maplewood, has filed a Superior Court suit seeking to obtain a variance from a zoning ordinance amendment in Springfield in order to construct a retail store in Route 22.

As an alternative, he seeks to have the court invalidate the amendment which requires that all stores be constructed at least 75 feet from the highway.

Defendants in the action are Building Inspector William J. Binder and the Board of Adjustment. The board members named are John A. Hopping, Rupert H. Humer, Arthur H. Buhner, Howard Christiansen and Kenneth E. Bandomer.

Mr. Topf owns a tract of land on the north side of Route 22 (Continued on Page 6)

Chamber Moves To Initiate Broad Program

by Phil Hoff

The Springfield Chamber of Commerce showed amazing signs of vigor at a general meeting Tuesday night attended by 36 members at the Andrew Wilson Co. on Baltusrol Way.

After years in the doldrums, the chamber is now planning a program of considerable scope. And what's more the businessmen at the recent meeting indicated that they're eager to push such a program into action.

President Donald S. Lenny appointed six more committee chairmen, bringing the total of active committees to nine. The new appointees are:

- Civic Committee — Henry F. Grabarz, contractor.
- Industry Committee — A. W. Morrison of Andrew Wilson Co.
- Professional Committee — Dr. Henry F. Huneke, Jr.
- Merchants Committee — Robert Davidson, of J. J. Newberry.
- Projects Committee — John A. Schable, Jr., of Schable Oil Co.
- Community Protective Service — Dr. Henry Mulhauser.

Two weeks ago the following committees were launched:

- Membership Committee — Arthur H. Smith, Jr., of the National State Bank of Elizabeth.
- Publicity Committee — Jack H. Siffelman, C.P.A.
- By-laws Committee — Carl Jehlen of Baltusrol Golf Club.

Better Business Bureau — Lenny urged the members at Tuesday's meeting to return some mimeographed forms indicating what committees they wished to serve on. He outlined some of the possible fields the committees could tackle including a description of how Community Protective Services work in other towns.

"This chamber function operates something like a Better Business Bureau," Lenny explained. He felt there was a need to police the solicitations in Springfield, watch out for fake charities, set up machinery to handle the deluge of ad programs, and protect homeowners from frauds. He thought the Service could handle customers' complaints against chamber members and warn against unfair and illegal business practices.

Urges Road Basis — Newark public relations man Joseph Mayers, Jr. was the featured speaker at the meeting and he told the chamber that it would be effective only if it broadened its scope beyond "simple retail promotions."

Mayers said that chamber men should take an active part in community affairs from recreation activities to government work. Businessmen should use their talents for the general welfare, he urged, for in the long run business prospers when the town prospers.

"It is vital that people not come to think of the chamber as a selfish interest group," Mayers said, "What is needed is a continuous public relations job in selling the (Continued on Page 2)

New Highway Will Go Over Seven Streets

The official family of Springfield members of the Township Committee and the engineering department traveled to Trenton last Friday to learn that the new Federal highway is coming right smack through Springfield along the same route announced by the Highway Department several months ago.

The alternate routes suggested by the McCroskey Engineering Organization of New York City were rejected.

Springfield is resigned by residents can get some comfort in knowing that there will be no spur interchange right in the center of the residential section. The matter of turnoffs will be decided at the public hearing to be held here within a month.

However, there will be very little comfort in the definite news that the new highway will be elevated all through Springfield. This, according to the State Highway Department engineers will vary from about 10 feet to 40 feet over intersecting streets and highways.

A study of the new route will show that the elevated roadway will cross, at least, seven intersections with enough clearance at the highways for the full 40 feet. It will go over Shumpke Road, Baltusrol Way and Claremont place, Short Hills avenue, Briant avenue, Morris avenue and Saller street, Main street and Springfield avenue where the new 22 leaves Springfield.

Elevating the highway means building up the roadway with landscaping

Local 1st Aid Squad Stages Disaster Mobilization Test

What started out to be just another lazy Sunday afternoon in Springfield turned instead this past week into a passing parade of red-light-flashing ambulances and crash trucks as first aid squads and rescue teams from four counties streamed into town in response to a "disaster" mobilization test staged by the Springfield First Aid Squad.

The drill, planned by Captain Robert Voorhees and Lts. Helen Bowles and Ed Street, began when at 1:37 p.m., Voorhees requested help from mobilization directors of the New Jersey First Aid Council. They, in turn, relayed the message over police teletype to ten other municipalities where ambulances were dispatched immediately to Springfield.

Squads from Union, Essex, Middlesex and Somerset counties answering the call included Mountainside, Cranford, Westfield, Clark, Watchung, Hillside, Irvington, Linden, Plainfield and Dunellen.

The callmen's rescue truck from Union and the Springfield Fire Department rescue truck also responded.

Squads reported to the First Aid Headquarters here. They were dispatched to "disaster points" by Capt. Voorhees and Lts. Helen Bowles and Edward Street.

At the Meisel Ave. athletic field 16 "victims" suffered injuries including fractures, lacerations, bruises, burns and spinal injuries. (Continued on Page 2)

 business community and the chamber of commerce to the public, local government, youth and the educators.
 Laurence J. Rogers, manager of the Chamber, suggested that the Chamber adopt a two slogan and town flower for use on "significant signs" marking the entrances to Springfield.
 Henry Grabarz pointed out that to state the town slogan might be construed as Washington's words before the battle here—"Don't do anything until I return."
 Rogers named a few slogans—including "Springfield, N. J., Springboard to Prosperity" as starting points for the publicity committee. He feels that what is needed most is to get rid of the "poor cousin" among New Jersey towns. He thinks that two for one sales like the ones proposed by Miller only cheapen the town. "We need to build prestige rather than two for the money sales," Rogers said.

'New' House—Old Site

Remodeling Solves Problem

Remodel or tear the old house down to the ground and build anew?

This is a problem faced by many owners of old, outdated houses, particularly farmers who can't move away to new locations, or families who don't want to leave the friendliness of a familiar neighborhood.

In the case of Dennis F. Haines, of Haven, Kans., the answer was remodeling, since the old house occupied the best site on his wheat farm and was in sound structural condition.

As the "before" and "after" photographs show, remodeling changed the awkward-appearing house into a modern-looking home, giving greater comfort and more space, plus the conveniences of up-to-date living. The total costs was less than a third the price of a new house of comparative size.

Principal structural changes included removal of an upstairs wing, enclosing one front porch for a kitchen, and another porch for an office.

The house was given a complete new look by reroofing it to make it appear lower, and choosing a color for siding that harmonizes with the new roof.

To bring more light into downstairs rooms, new windows were installed all the way around the house. These are stock units consisting of a wide pane of fixed glass above modern hopper windows which open for ventilation. Windows upstairs were flanked with louver shutters to make them look bigger.

Other new features included a new heating plant, central air conditioning, a modern new kitchen, and complete interior redecorating.

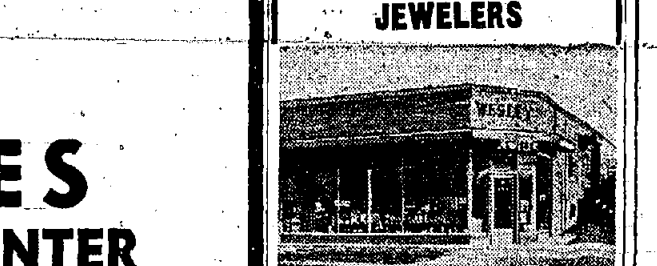

The remodeling was designed by Arthur B. Campen of Peoria, Ill., modernization consultant and remodeling editor of Practical Builder magazine.

Old house, bottom, became "new" house, top, after it was remodeled by its owner, Kansas wheat farmer Dennis Haines. New roof of asphalt shingles and new windows of ponderosa pine help give the house its modern look.

In 1957, there were over 370 persons killed while crossing at an intersection with signal. Remember, cross cautiously.

Passenger cars were involved in over 78 percent of all U. S. traffic fatalities in 1957 and in 86 percent of traffic injuries.

Kitchen Morale Boosted

Gloom Goes Out Window

Big kitchen window brightens housewife's day.

A window over the busiest work area in a kitchen—the sink—usually is as important to a housewife as any window in the house.

It gives her a wide view of the children at play, brings in plenty of light and air, and takes away the "trapped" feeling many women experience during long days of preparing meals and snacks and cleaning up after each.

The window in the photograph is a unit consisting of a large, fixed sash flanked by two casement windows which open outward with a turn of a crank at counter level.

Windows of this style and many others ideal for kitchens can be obtained from building materials dealers who carry them in stock. A big advantage of wood windows in kitchens is that moisture from cooking and washing dishes won't condense on the frames or sash. Also, as the photograph shows, wood can be painted or stained to match cabinets, shelves, and other woodwork.

Library

Every year in the early spring two subjects come up that are of perennial interest to the citizens of Springfield. These are vacations and gardens. Because of the continued interest in these topics, the Free Public Library of Springfield adds books whenever new ones are published. Anyone looking into the Garden Corner will notice the shelves there are becoming crowded.

Some older books have been added, as well as new ones, because several citizens moving away from town, have presented their own private garden books to the Library. These books, both new and old, have been in constant use for weeks as gardens were being planned for the summer.

Now the questions about travel are beginning to come in. Washington, D. C. has been the center of attention for the past week or two. But, in our Library are many types of travel books. The names of a few of the newer ones will give an idea of their extent and variety.

Traveling by automobile is always popular. "The Handbook of Auto Camping and Motorists' Guide to Public Campgrounds" and "National Parks—What They Mean to You and Me" are two which will help travelers by car. For anyone who can reach the Pacific Coast and still have time left to travel, "N.A. 1 Looking South" and "N.A. 1 Looking North" are a must. These cover the coastal route from Costa Rica to Alaska. Then there is "Herb Caen's Guide to San Francisco" which shows how fascinating that city can be.

A little handbook prepared by Pan-American World Airways called "New Horizons" is very concise, but covers every continent.

"Bermuda-Holiday" and "Shopping Guide to Mexico, Guatemala, and the Caribbean" are just samples of the books about countries from the south, and the type which delight ladies who are shopping. Here are countries which can be visited the year round.

On the other hand, places such as are found in "Martha's Vineyard," "The Coast of Maine," and "Atlantic Seaboard" are popular only during the summer. For travelers planning to cross the-ocean, there are books on how to do it by plane or by ship. For suggestions about what to see upon arrival, a new book has just been received called "Festivals of Western Europe." This lists events under twelve different countries arranged alphabetically, beginning with Belgium and ending with Switzerland.

There are shelves full of books about Europe, since travelers have been writing about their experiences and impressions for well over two hundred years. Some of the latest to be added to the Springfield collection are "A Traveller in Rome" by H. V. Morton, whose "A Stranger in Spain" was popular a year or so ago, "Skool Scandinavia," an older book, is an example of a regional book.

All of these books and others are being placed in a special display in the hallway, but may be borrowed at any time. The object is just to exhibit a few of the types of travel books which can be found in the Springfield Library.

Chisholm School
 The many influences on a child's development were enumerated by Dr. Ruth Boyle, psychologist, at the meeting of the Raymond-Chisholm School P.T.A. April 21. Dr. Boyle led a lively parent discussion following the movie "Preface to a Life."

By tracing the family constellation, Dr. Boyle explained how within the family each child's personality is different because of differing pressures exerted upon him. The film compared the negative results of parents trying to conform a child's behavior to their preconceived ideas and ambitions with the happier outcome when they allowed the child to be an individual.

Dr. Boyle was introduced by Mrs. Adam LaSota, Program chairman. Guest of the evening was Mrs. J. Frank Jakobsen, Key Woman and County P.T.A. Program Chairman.

Mrs. Louis Cohen, Nominating chairman, presented the slate of nominees for office and it was accepted unanimously. New officers who will be installed May 19 are: President, Mrs. Irvin J. Gershen; Vice-president, Mrs. Adam P. LaSota; Secretary, Mrs. Gloria Boorujy; and Treasurer, Carmen Catapano. Standing officers are: Honorary President, Benjamin P. Newslinger, and Vice-president, Daniel R. Murray.

Plans were discussed for future projects and the continuation of those which bring into closer relation the school and the home, one of the objects of the P.T.A.

Present at the meeting were the following officers: Mrs. Victor Massa, Berkeley Heights; Mrs. Anthony Pascale, Kenilworth; Mrs. Franklin Palcanis, Mountainside; Mrs. David Schwartz, Springfield; Mrs. John Dunn, Mountainside; Mrs. A. J. Stadek, Berkeley Heights; Mr. Herbert Kern, Springfield; Mrs. Gordon Hunter, Mountainside; Mrs. Clifford Wolf, Kenilworth; and Mrs. H. Wilson, Springfield.

Mrs. Libby, prior to the meeting of the new board, and as is the custom of all P.T.A. presidents at the completion of each year,

The regulation which requires that he build at least 75 feet from the highway constitutes acquisition of his land for public use without compensation, Mr. Topf charged. Sidney Krieger of Newark filed the papers.

He said the building inspector refused to issue a permit for construction of the proposed store and on March 17 the board refused to grant a variance.

The ordinance amendment was adopted after Mr. Topf acquired this property, the plaintiff said.

TAKING CARE OF YOUR GARDEN

By Edward A. Cardinal
Chairman, Springfield Shade Tree Commission

While looking over some problem lawns recently, I could readily see why the N. J. Agricultural Experiment Station recently tried to raise the standards of grass seed mixtures. I was not surprised to see that most of the better seed suppliers are interested in packaging top grade mixtures, but you, the home owner, are largely responsible for the trash that is being sold today.

In checking lawns recently, I looked at the seed containers and found that in most cases the weed content was excessive and the percentage of permanent seeds was quite low. One package, purchased from a popular bargain house, stated on the analysis tag that it contained eight obnoxious weeds per ounce. Obviously the buyer was not aware of what he was buying. Another package contained over 2% weeds and six percent corn seeds. There are enough weeds in the topsoil without purchasing more in the grass seed mixture. Beware of sales gimmicks such as "guaranteed to grow", "Free of Crabgrass", "Contains Bluegrass", etc. Don't spend hundreds of dollars preparing a lawn and then use a questionable seed.

QUESTION: In purchasing Kentucky Bluegrass recently, I noted quite a variation in price. Can you give me a reason?

ANSWER: Yes, bluegrass can be purchased in various grades of purity and germination. It might vary from 20% purity to 90% purity. Germination might range from 0% to 80%. Better grades usually show about 85% purity and 75 to 80% germination. Anything higher than that would be top quality.

QUESTION: I planted the best seed I could buy and only got crabgrass and weeds. Answer that one if you can?

ANSWER: Your bitter experience could have been your own fault. If you use poor luck, seed should be lightly raked in after sowing, and kept moist almost constantly for long enough to germinate and root deeply. This might be for a six week period. Water is most important after the seed has germinated, in order to prevent the fibrous roots from drying out.

QUESTION: Why do some lawn makers put hay all over the lawn after seeding?

ANSWER: Some of the better lawn makers cover the seed with a thin layer of salt hay to act as a mulch. This requires less watering and maintains a more constant supply of moisture in the seed bed. I heartily endorse this method when it is done properly.

QUESTION: Some of my neighbors have had bitter experience with so-called professional lawn makers who seem to know, or nothing. Can you give me some names?

ANSWER: I couldn't give names in this column, but call or write me in care of this column and I will refer you to qualified gardeners.

NOTE: Write to this column for free literature on lawns.

The report further showed that 5 tanks of oxygen were consumed during the three month period. It was necessary to call upon the second ambulance on 10 occasions. 1,197 miles were clocked by the two "trigs" and a total of 395 man-hours were logged by squad members.

Regional Defeats St. Mary's 5-4

Springfield Regional's undefeated baseball team squeezed out a tight 5-4 decision over a good St. Mary's team last Friday. The Bulldogs' pitcher, Tom Hunchar, pitched the winning game of the third inning. Then Coach Hunchar's nine capitalized on St. Mary's miscues to score five times and take a commanding lead. They never relinquished it as they held on after a Hilltopper uprising for three runs in the top of the seventh. Bulldog ace John Kolosar was credited with the win and his record now is 2-0. A compilation of Regional's batting averages follows:

Name	AB	R	H	AV.
Hunchar	10	2	1	.100
DePinto	3	1	1	.333
Sabatini	13	2	3	.231
Rubani	10	1	1	.100
Carpenter	10	1	2	.200
Kolosar	3	3	4	.444
Bonner	2	0	0	.000
Doyle	7	2	3	.429
Janaco	2	0	0	.000

John Kolosar was credited with the win and his record now is 2-0. A compilation of Regional's batting averages follows:

Springfield Regional's baseball team should enter Friday's clash with Linden unbeaten. Last Tuesday's game with Rahway was called off because of rain and with the added lay off, the Bulldog hurlers should be in excellent shape for the crucial game. Linden was recently dropped from the unbeaten ranks by Rahway and the Linden Tigers will be gunning for the Bulldogs with pitcher Richie Cichowski leading them.

Coach Russ Hunchar has decided on his line-up for this important contest and it follows with a sketch on each player.

Vinnie DePinto - A Junior. DePinto plays rightfield for the Bulldogs. He has an excellent throwing arm and he is outstanding defensively. But his hitting leaves something to be desired.

Sonny Hanbold - A Senior. Hanbold plays centerfield in an outfield that Coach Hunchar ranks as one of the best defensively in the state. He bats righty and has hit safely in every contest. He can and does hit for the long ball. He is a very fast runner on the base paths.

Jerry Sabatini - A Junior. Mr. Sabatini has the distinction of being the only lefty batter on the team. He led the team in batting last season and he is an excellent clutch hitter. He has played first base this season but he is also a very qualified pitcher, being the top pitcher on the squad last year.

Henry Rubani - A Senior. Rubani completes the outfield. He plays leftfield well defensively and he has a very potent arm.

Don Carpenter - A Senior. Carpenter is the team captain. He is the firststring catcher and handles the pitchers extremely well. He hit .350 last year and his hitting climbs to those heights again, he is a sure bet for All-County honors.

Ray Dickey - A Senior. A regular from last year. He plays third base. He plays that position more than adequately and his hitting has been a mild surprise to Coach Hunchar.

Bill Bonner - A Junior. He is Hunchar's best bet at shortstop. He is big for a high-school shortstop at 6'2". He hits the ball very hard and may prove to be the hero of tomorrow's contest.

Ed Reese - A Sophomore. He is a hustler from the Nellie Fox school. He has justified Coach Hunchar's confidence in him with two hits at Edison, one at Roselle Park, and a very vital one at Union.

Charley Janaco - A Junior. He is slated to pitch against Linden tomorrow. Scourge of the Babe Ruth and American Legion Leagues the last two years, he is the ace of the staff. He possesses many pitches but watch for his "Bunny doodle" when he is ahead of the batter. That is his famous drop-ball.

Extra bleachers will be provided for tomorrow's contest which will be played at home, starting at 3:45. No admission will be charged. The game should be an excellent one with newspaper coverage and it should be much more interesting than the monotony of seeing the Yankees win again on TV.

Air Cooling Installed Now May Cost Less

If you've been thinking seriously about installing central air conditioning in your home, chances are you're waiting for summer...
Here's why:
Like most seasonal goods, air conditioning prices are often lower this season...
Recent studies have shown that in Southern parts of the U.S. home-owners can save up to 27 percent on equipment if they have 6 inches of mineral-wool in ceilings...
Mineral wool insulation can be blown into walls and ceilings of existing houses by insulation contractors with special pneumatic equipment...
Another advantage of having air conditioning installed in winter is the chance of getting a better job. This is because contractors aren't as rushed as they are in hot weather and are able to devote more time to inspection and check the system's operation...
Leading government and industrial officials in the home construction field are predicting that 1958 will see more installations of central air conditioning in new homes than ever before in history.
The chief reason for this outlook is a new policy of the Federal Housing Administration in which Commissioner Norman Mason said that FHA should start encouraging the inclusion of air conditioning in homes with FHA-insured mortgages.
In a memorandum to field offices across the country, Mason pointed out that air conditioning actually saves more money than it costs to run, and that before long houses without it will be out of date.
He suggested that FHA officials forget about the anticipated operating cost of air conditioning.
"The best option," is that the savings on cleaning, laundry, and medical expenses resulting from air conditioning more than offset the added cost of operating a compressor during the cooling season."
The FHA Commissioner added that:
"Within a few years, any house that is not air conditioned probably will be obsolete, so FHA should start encouraging the inclusion of air conditioning."
FHA's new attitude toward air conditioning is based for the most part on studies showing that the economy of present-day home cooling makes it almost a necessity rather than the luxury it once was.

What To Look For In Meat Methods of Cooking Meat are Important

Choosing cuts of meat and properly cooking them can present many problems to the American housewife. Grandmother would have been horrified at purchasing a piece of meat that had been cut before she entered the butcher shop. Modern methods of packaging and refrigerating, however, make it possible for pre-cut meat to retain its freshness. It also makes it possible to choose from a large selection of steaks, for instance, while Grandma could only choose the next one to be cut from the piece of beef hanging in the butcher's shop. A large selection means nothing if the housewife can't tell a good piece from a poor piece when she sees it.

The first thing to look at in any cut of beef is the fat. The fat should be snowy white and firm. If it's off-white towards grey or yellow and "spongy" in appearance, better plan to sprinkle it well on both sides with a good meat tenderizer two hours before cooking.

The second thing to look for in a cut of beef is fat veins running through the meat itself. The meat should be well covered with thin veins of white fat. This makes the beef tender as butter and sweet as sugar. These thin veins of fat must not be confused with coarser veins of gristle which will make the meat tough. A close inspection and a little experience will soon teach you the difference. If the piece you choose is "good," solid meat with no fat in it, be prepared to cook it long and slow, a method which will render tender the toughest cuts. Americans have a tendency to cook everything too fast, including vegetables, and meats, even the good, tender cuts, benefit from slow cooking.

The final thing to look for in choosing good beef is the color which should be medium bright red, never dark towards purple.

Pork should be a light pink and the fat should be white and firm, similar to beef.

Veal has very little fat and unless used in special recipes will benefit from pounding with a tenderizing tool to break the meat fibres. It should be very light in color.

The same rule of white, solid fat applies to lamb which may be a deeper pink in color but not deep, dark red. Any cut of lamb is usually very tender.

A good piece of meat can be ruined by improper cooking. An inexpensive, tough cut can be made highly palatable through proper cooking.

Roasting, as the term is used in this country, really is baking. To truly roast a piece of meat or fowl, it must be placed on a spit and turned before an open flame or over hot coals. If you are fortunate enough to own an electric broiler with a rotisserie attachment, you can enjoy the succulence of true roasting. Oven "roasting" is a simple process requiring almost no attention. There are few rules to follow but it is important to have the meat at room temperature. There are two schools of thought on whether the meat should be put in a hot oven for twenty to thirty minutes and then reduce the heat; or whether it should be put

Newcomers Give Fashion Show

Members of the Welcome Wagon Newcomers Club who modeled at the group's fashion show Tuesday at Connecticut Farms School included Mrs. Anthony Arrighi, Mrs. Stanley Matera, Mrs. Angelo Sorrentino, Mrs. Joseph Musso, Mrs. Louis Banasiak, Mrs. Paul Mileik, Mrs. Gordon Phillips, Mrs. George Lowe, Mrs. Dominic Quagliato, Mrs. Ernest Porter and Miss Janice Weiss. Fashions were by Levy Bros. of Elizabeth and refreshments were served.

President Mrs. Edward Ruff Jr. thanked everyone who participated in the show and announced the club's spring luncheon will be held June 21 at Tretoia's Restaurant. Reservations must be made before May 20, she said, with Mrs. Bruce Powers or Mrs. Quagliato. Membership in the club is available to any women who moved to Union within the past three years, Mrs. Ruff announced.

Union Girl Wins Koos Bros. Prize

Miss Anneliese Voigt of Union was among the engaged girls who won prizes at Koos Bros. seventh annual Bride's Show for engaged couples only. More than 1,000 people attended the show at the Bahway furniture showplace to see the model rooms, the fashion show presented by R. J. ## Facing Technique Gives Fine Finish

Fitting facings may be a problem for some home sewers. Their perfection is important to the professional look of your garment. A fitted facing is cut separately from the bodice, front or back. It is wise to use the facing pattern pieces to cut the interfacings. After the shoulder seams and side are sewed and pressed, lap the seam edges of the interfacings. Place the interfacings on the wrong side of the material around the neck or armhole. This can be pinned or basted in place. Trim the un-notched edge of the interfacings off ¼ inch. Sew the seams of the fitted facing. Turn under and edge stitch one quarter inch along the outer un-notched edges.

Place the fitted facing around the neck or armhole edge—matching notches—right side together. Pin or baste the facing in place. Stitch around the notched edge of the neck or armhole, ¼ inch from the cut edge.

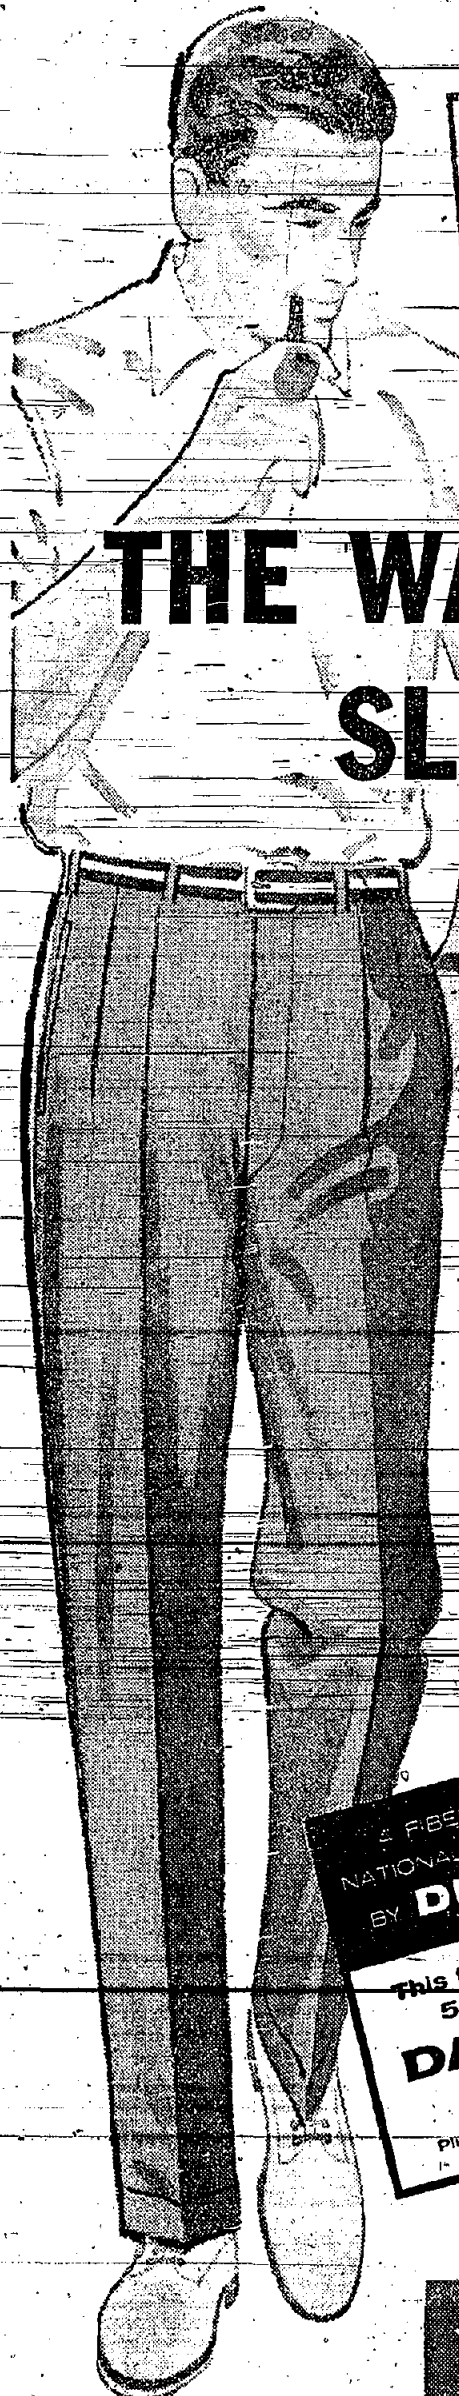

Trim the seam allowance of the interfacings close to the row of stitching. Trim the seam allowance of the facing a little less than the interfacings. Trim the seam allowance of the bodice a little less than the facing.

Make right-angle clips almost to the stitching through the remaining seam allowance.

Here She Is! This is Mrs. Pat Steiner April's "Girl-About-Towne"

In the month of April the voters went to the polls twice, once for a political election and once to decide a Fashion Contest in which all the contestants wear glasses. The political campaigns are over, the winners have been declared and the shouting dies, but the winner of the "Girl-About-Towne Election," Mrs. Pat Steiner, will receive compliments for many a day to come.

Mrs. Steiner is the former Pat Raymond who resided in Union and graduated from Union High in 1935. She was also an employee at the Schering Corp. in Union. At present Mrs. Steiner is awaiting the arrival of what perhaps may be a future "Girl-About-Towne" winner.

Several years ago Mrs. Steiner also cast a vote, when she "elected" to visit the Eye-wear Salon of Towne Opticians, where she received the assistance of experienced and imaginative eye-wear stylists. Have You Visited Towne Opticians Yet?

Dishwashers Save Time

Is a dishwasher worth while? Homemakers often ask Mary W. Armstrong, Home Agent. The question usually comes up in regard to the small family. The answer may be surprising. A recent study made under the direction of the Department of Home and Family Life at Teachers College, Columbia, showed a dishwasher to be time-releasing, even in the two-person family. Tests were made using two types of dishwashers, and the results averaged. Time saved in washing dishes for two from one main meal averaged 5 minutes. And on dishes for four from the same type meal more than 10 minutes. No pans or mixing bowls were included. Only machine loading and unloading time and actual washing, rinsing and drying time were tallied for comparison. The carrying from the table, scraping and putting away did not vary, regardless of how the washing was done. If it had been assumed that dishes would be left in the dishwasher until the next meal, an even larger time saving could be credited to the machine method. No pans or mixing bowls were included with the dishes in the test washings. One of the two dishwashers used, does, however, wash most pans satisfactorily with dishes. It also requires a minimum of scraping of dishes. Both are factors in saving time, but were not considered in the study reported. Further work is under way comparing time saved when breakfast and dinner dishes for two are washed together in one operation of the dishwasher. This is expected to add to the time saved and also to reduce operating cost. The cost of current for each dishwasher operation is estimated as low as 1.8 cents and on a monthly basis only 7.3 cents for an average family. Even with the initial dishwasher cost, including installation, spread over a ten year-life the total average monthly cost is not great. Many women, however, find one asset of value: the help a dishwasher gives in keeping the kitchen tidy at all times. Caution is needed, however, if satisfactory results are to be obtained, not only in selecting the dishwasher initially, but in following the manufacturer's instructions in regard to loading and type and amount of detergent to be used.

Rules Listed For Windows

How much window space should be planned for each room in a building or remodeling a home? Windows can affect the comfort of a family both physically and psychologically, says the University of Illinois Small Homes Council. Most homes need at least twice as much glass area as they have. Here is a set of new rules worked out by the Council for ideal windows in the home:

1. Each room needs glass areas in excess of 20 per cent of the floor area in each room. Much more is desirable on cloudy days.
2. In cool climates, the principal window areas should be placed toward the south, since this direction has the brightest sky. In warmer climates, a northeast orientation will limit heat from the sun.
3. Windows in more than one wall give more effective daylighting than windows in just one wall. One large window, however, gives a better distribution of light than the same amount of glass-space distributed around the room.
4. Windows placed as close to the ceiling as possible lengthen the depth of light penetration into a room.
5. At least 10 per cent of the floor area in a room should be matched with windows that open. Popular windows are available in many styles that open, including the familiar double-hung style that gives effective ventilation by opening at top and bottom.

Soufflé And Soup For Supper

New-method soufflés are simple enough for the most inexperienced cook and hearty enough for the hungriest man. A perfect soufflé can be made in an everyday pie plate... it owes its ease of preparation and airiness of texture to the cup of evaporated milk in the ingredient list. The evaporated milk eliminates the need for a white sauce, and even the cheese is sliced right into the milk mixture without any previous grating. The only unbreakable rule is that a soufflé waits for no man, so better a hungry brood clamoring at the dinner table, than a crestfallen soufflé that's been kept a-waiting. Preceded a cheese soufflé pie topped by a piquant asparagus sauce with soup on the rocks.

Cheese Soufflé Pie

1 cup evaporated milk	1/2 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
3 tablespoons all-purpose flour	1/4 pound cheddar cheese or process American cheese
1/2 teaspoon salt	3 eggs, separated
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard

Pour evaporated milk into top of double boiler. Add flour, salt, dry mustard and monosodium glutamate; beat with rotary beater until smooth. Place over boiling water and beat until slightly thickened, about 5 minutes. Slice cheese into milk mixture and stir occasionally with rotary beater until thickened and cheese has melted. Beat until smooth. Remove from heat. Add egg yolks, one at a time, beating after each addition. (Wash beater thoroughly. Any trace of fat will prevent egg-whites from whipping.) Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Gradually fold in cheese mixture. Bake in a slow oven (325° F.) 30 minutes. Serve immediately. YIELD: 4 servings.

Bit 'O' Spring Sauce

1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed cream of asparagus soup	1/16 teaspoon thyme

Home Planting At Peak Demand Despite Slump

People in all parts of the United States are rushing to buy shrubs and trees, if sales by the nursery industry are any indication. Despite the recession in home building for the past two years, nursery sales hit a new peak. The increase in sales last year for home gardening and landscaping was 44 per cent greater than the average increase in consumer expenditures generally. There is a tremendous surge for outdoor living and beautification of home properties, according to the American Association of Nurserymen. Industrial landscaping has increased about 300 to 400 per cent in the past five years, while the public demand for trees and shrubs to make America's new highways safer and more scenic is increasing rapidly. The heavy demand for landscaping and beautifying the grounds of older homes is cited by the industry's spokesmen as the reason for the sales not dropping off as new building declined. With home construction now rising, home beautification with plants is expected to keep on booming. Rhododendron, lovely star of many flower shows, takes its name literally from the Greek word for rose tree. However, it is closer to the heather and mountain laurel families than it is to roses.

Turn That "Coffee" Break Into A Real "Pep" Break

The popularity of today's morning coffee break may be an indication of inadequate breakfasts. Any warm drink may help relieve the run down feeling that comes when body energy is depleted. It isn't apt, however, to make up nutritionally for breakfast shortcomings, says Mary W. Armstrong, Home Agent. But the fact remains that many persons still start the day with poor breakfasts—often coffee and a doughnut or—perhaps just coffee.

"Eat a good breakfast to start the day right", long the advice of nutritionists, suggests as well as the need for food itself, the importance of getting it before body reserves are used up instead of food for energy. Breakfast skippers are naturally short of energy by mid-morning.

If you eat your dinner at six o'clock and your breakfast at seven the next morning, your body has been without food for 13 hours, and you do it an injustice to try to force it to carry on without a fresh supply of fuel.

A cup of coffee, or even coffee and a bun, hardly provides enough calories to go on and not much else. Where is your daily quota of vitamin C to come from, and what about needed protein?

A good breakfast provides food to go on—fruit, a protein main dish, bread and butter and milk. The main dish may be cereal and milk, eggs, meat or fish. The best fruits are those high in vitamin C—citrus fruits, tomato juice, strawberries or cantaloupe. Choose whole grain or enriched bread and cereal.

If you prefer a light breakfast make the choice between bread and butter or cereal. Instead of both. Breakfast should provide a fourth to a third of the nutrients you need for the day—food energy, protein, vitamins and minerals. Food studies show that most people who skip breakfast fail to make up their quota of nutrients during the rest of the day.

If the rush to get out in the morning or some personal difficulty interferes with eating enough early, let the coffee break help to supply nutritive needs—a glass of milk contains minerals, vitamins and protein. An orange or raw apple provides vitamin C. Why not try one of these in mid-morning, and call it a pep break instead of a "coffee" break.

New Hampshire's state motto—"Live Free or Die"—is a quotation from a speech by the Granite State's great Revolutionary War hero, General John Stark, who saved the day at Bunker Hill and stopped the British at Bennington.

Chinese artists long ago discovered in painting and poetry the value of reserve and silence, the invitation to imagination, in a thing left unexpressed. This was developed into a system of spacing which makes the empty part of a picture an integral part.

Trinidad, in the West Indies, has a large hummingbird population.

Try This Sauce With Baked Ham

Next time you serve baked ham, you might use this Orange-Pineapple Sauce, recommended by Mary W. Armstrong, Union County Home Agent.

ORANGE-PINEAPPLE SAUCE
1 cup pineapple tidbits
1/4 cup orange juice
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/4 cup water
1/4 teaspoon sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon cornstarch
2 or 3 drops almond extract

Drain the pineapple and combine the pineapple juice, orange juice, lemon juice, water, sugar, salt, and cornstarch in a pan. Cook about 15 minutes, stirring constantly. Add pineapple tidbits and orange bits to the sauce. Heat. Add the almond extract. Serve hot.

Ham prices vary with the degree of preheating or tenderizing the meat receives in processing and with the amount of bone, fat and skin they contain. You will pay more money for a pound of boneless, fully cooked ham than you will for a pound of regular smoked ham, but the boneless ham will yield twice as many servings. As a guide to comparing costs, you can get five servings per pound from boneless ham; two and a half servings per pound from regular smoked ham, butt or shank half.

Favorite Foreign Recipe Column

Scones, a flat cake of Scotch origin, are highly popular in England at tea time. Here are some English variations you might like to try.

Soda or Buttermilk Scones
1 lb. plain flour
Good pinch of salt
1 level teaspoonful bicarbonate of soda

1 level teaspoonful cream of tartar
Buttermilk or sour milk
Time: about 10 minutes.
Temperature: moderate.

Method: Use a hot griddle, or an iron frying pan which has been lightly sprinkled with flour. Sieve the flour and a good pinch of salt into a basin, and add the soda and cream of tartar. Add sufficient buttermilk or falling this, sour milk, to make into a very soft paste. Turn this on to a well-floured board. Roll it out rather less than half an inch thick, and cut into rounds or triangle shapes. Cook these on the griddle or frying pan for about eight to ten minutes, turning them over when half done. Cool in a tea towel.

Lardy Scones
Good pinch of salt
1/2 lb. self-raising flour
1/4 lb. lard
1 dessertspoonful sugar
Milk to mix
Time: 15 minutes
Temperature: 450 degrees F.

Method: Add the salt to the flour and mix well, rub in the lard as you would in making pastry. Stir in the sugar and mix to a soft dough with milk. Roll out half an inch thick. Cut into cakes with a wineglass, and bake about 15 minutes in a fairly hot oven. Split, butter, and serve hot.

Wholemeal Scones
3/4 lb. wholemeal flour
4 oz. white flour
Salt
2 teaspoonfuls baking powder
3 oz. butter, or butter and lard, or lard with margarine, or margarine
Milk
Time: 8-10 minutes
Temperature: 450 degrees F.

Method: Have ready a floured baking sheet. Put the wholemeal and white flour into a bowl with a little salt and the baking powder. Rub in the fat with the tips of the fingers. Make into a soft dough with the milk. Turn on to

Saturday Mealtime Special

It's the time of year when Saturday becomes an extra busy day at home... especially for working folks. There's gardening... painting... spring house-cleaning... and a "dozen and one" chores to be done. Yet with all this, there's lunch and supper to prepare. Rely on the pantry shelf for a quick and easy meal. Make it one that requires little effort on your part.

Fruited Pork and Beans
1 cup chopped dried apricots and prunes
1/2 cup water
2 cans (1-pound each) pork and beans with tomato sauce
Cook dried fruit in water to cover. Drain. Add to beans. Heat. Makes 4 generous servings.

Pork and Beans With Orange Topping
2 cans (1-pound each) pork and beans with tomato sauce
1 orange, peeled and cut into sections
Whole cloves (2 per orange section)
2 tablespoons brown sugar
Four beans into a shallow pan or casserole. Stick cloves into orange sections; arrange on top of beans; sprinkle with brown sugar. Bake in a hot oven (400°F.) about 20 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Ham or Lamb Is Basis for Recipes
HAM AND RICE CUSTARD
1 cup ground cooked ham
1 cup cooked rice
1 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon grated onion
salt and pepper
2 eggs
Mix the ham, rice, milk and onion. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Add slightly beaten eggs and pour into a buttered baking dish. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 deg. F., for 40 to 50 minutes, or until set. Serves 4.

HAM, NOODLES, MUSHROOMS
2 cups cooked ham, cubed

Breeding grounds of the now scarce trumpeter swan once ranged from Alaska to Nebraska and Missouri, and the birds migrated in winter as far south as the Gulf Coast and Southern California.

Switzerland and England, with annual per capita consumption of 13.2 pounds, lead the world in chocolate consumption. Germany's consumption averages 8.1 pounds.

Galilee, where Jesus spent his boyhood, is one of the most productive areas in Israel. It has plentiful rainfall and fertile volcanic soil.

The dormouse, the tiny animal at the Alice-in-Wonderland tea party, still exists in real life. Hibernating in winter, the dormouse sleeps as much as six months at a time, waking up and then to eat a bit of stored food.

What To Look For

in a slow oven from the very beginning. It is probably safer to start with a slow oven (325 degrees F.) and continue with that temperature right through. It is important to know your oven. Some of the modern, well-insulated ovens cannot easily be brought down to 325 degrees once you have started your meat at 450 or 500 degrees.

improved by the judicious use of garlic. It may either be chopped into very tiny pieces and spread over the meat or the meat may simply be rubbed well with the cut end of a clove of garlic before salting. The use of monosodium glutamate is highly recommended.

Meat should be roasted with the fat side up so the fat may seep through the meat as it melts. If the meat does not have much fat, extra pieces may be laid across the top. Flavor can be improved by basting every 15 minutes after the first three-quarters of an hour. If there is insufficient juice in the pan, use two tablespoons of cooking oil. Avoid using butter or olive oil. Butter burns too easily and olive oil has too strong a flavor.

Boneless roasts will take longer to cook. Any good cook book will give a chart of suggested roasting time to guide you; experience will teach you.

The term "barbecue" has been bandied about rather badly in this country during the past few years. Everyone with an outdoor fireplace and a chef's hat has become an "expert". There are many meats which lend themselves well to charcoal cooking, however. Steak, of course, is a prime favorite. Don't have the flame so high you burn it to a crisp on the outside and be sure to trim off all the fat you possibly can, otherwise it will drip into the flame and burn and "spoil" the flavor of the meat. "Charcoal" cooking, incidentally, can be done very well in an electric broiler. Charcoal is used, not because it gives any particular flavor, but because it gives high heat and the same effect can be obtained from an electric broiler by placing the meat as close as possible to the coils.

Instead of steak, try a shoulder of lamb. Have it boned and then remove every bit of fat that you can. Cut the meat in pieces. They will be uneven in thickness and some pieces will be less well cooked than others but every piece will be delectable cooked over charcoal or in the electric broiler.

Fresh Pineapple Is Refreshing

"Welcome as a breath of spring" says Mary W. Armstrong, Home Agent, is the fresh pineapple that's in our markets. April and May are busy times for this fragrant tropical fruit during these two months, about 40 per cent of the year's supply comes to this area.

When you select a fresh pineapple, look for one that is unblemished and heavy for its size. Hollow "eyes" and a fragrant odor are also signs of good eating. But the color depends on the variety, and a ripe pineapple may be yellow, yellow-orange, or bronze.

Pineapple is easy to prepare for snacks, salads, and desserts. Place the whole pineapple on a cutting board and slice it with a heavy-duty knife. Then remove the peel and "eyes" with a paring knife. Cut the slices into wedges, strips or chunks.

For casual eating, fresh pineapple suits the waistline watcher. A serving provides about 35 calories—only around a third as many as the canned or frozen fruit, both of which are packed in syrup. Pineapple contributes some vitamin C—about a fifth of the day's quota.

Fresh pineapple prices are expected to dip as supplies increase, so watch for "specials." Currently, a serving of fresh pineapple costs less than the canned or frozen. To figure which type is the most economical, allow 5 servings from a 1-pound, 4-ounce can, 6 from a medium size pineapple, and 3 from a 13½ ounce can of the frozen fruit.

In only one instance is fresh pineapple less desirable than canned—that is for use with gelatin. The fresh pineapple is highly acid and keeps the gelatin from setting. But, there is no limit to other appealing ways of serving the fresh fruit. It combines well with other fruits for a fruit cocktail or salad. It is delicious cut up and sweetened to serve alone for dessert.

If you have a freezer, this is a chance to put some of the fresh away for out-of-season use. And if you don't have a freezer, you may want to can some. It may prove economical or not, depending on the price you pay.

REPORT TO THE PEOPLE FROM YOUR CONGRESSWOMAN

FLORENCE P. DWYER

The returns are in, the results tabulated, the percentages figured, and the people have spoken, in determined fashion!

I refer not to last week's primary elections but to the 10,000 questionnaires which I mailed to many of you several weeks ago. The response was gratifying—about 10 percent which is considered good for this kind of thing—and I am deeply grateful to all of you who took the time and trouble to reply.

The results were extremely interesting, but first let me explain a little about the procedures used here. The questionnaire was prepared and sent out early in this session of Congress so that replies could be received before the House voted on the issues involved. It seemed to me that if I was sincere about wanting your views then I should have a chance to study them before deciding finally how I should vote. This is true even though, as I mentioned in the questionnaire, I must take final responsibility for voting as I do.

The legislative situation here sometimes changes rapidly. New facts, or legal interpretations which are not widely appreciated, or deceptive amendments, or last-minute procedural moves—any of these may make it necessary at times to vote in a way different from the majority position. But these are matters of judgment which, after all, you expect your representatives to exercise and for which you can hold them responsible at the polls.

Nevertheless, I must say I was delighted to find that on nearly every question there were substantial majorities for the position I myself tended to favor. It is good to have one's judgment confirmed in this way.

I attach great significance to this, too, for those who received the questionnaires and, I believe, a fair cross-section of the people of Union County. This even balance, I hope, means that the results are a more-than-usual reliable indication of what our people are thinking.

The results were determined, you will be interested to know, on an objective, scientific basis. The questionnaires were turned over to the IBM subsidiary here where your replies were punched out on special cards. The cards were then inserted in their electronic tabulating devices and the answers counted and percentages figured automatically.

All of which eliminated questions of judgment and reduced the possibilities of human error.

Here, then, in condensed form are the results:

1. Expansion of U. S. defense effort, especially missiles, satellites, and scientific research, even at cost of no tax or debt reduction?
  - Yes—87.4 per cent; No—6.9 per cent; No Opinion—5.7 per cent.
2. Drastic reorganization of Defense Department toward greater centralization of authority and responsibility?
  - Yes—84.5 per cent; No—10.3 per cent; No Opinion—5.2 per cent.
3. Continuation of Mutual Security-Foreign Aid programs?
  - Yes—91.7 per cent; No—13.6 per cent; No Opinion—4.7 per cent.
3. (a) If so, at what cost level?
  - Present—33 per cent; Reduced—26.2 per cent; Increased—12.5 per cent; No Reply—26.3 per cent.
4. Curtail some domestic spending and return to States some Federal aid programs?
  - Yes—68.3 per cent; No—22.3 per cent; No Opinion—9.4 per cent.
5. Federal tax credit to parents sending children to college?
  - Yes—87.7 per cent; No—26.1 per cent; No Opinion—1.2 per cent.
6. Do you favor Federal aid to education?
  - Yes—68.5 per cent; No—26.1 per cent; No Opinion—5.4 per cent.
6. (a) If so, what kind of program do you favor:
  - Federal aid for school construction 4.7%
  - Federal scientific—engineering scholarships 13.6%
  - Federal grants to colleges 6.8%
  - Federal loans for school construction 12.4%
  - Federal tax allowance for teacher's training 31.5%
  - No opinion 31.5%
7. Establishment of Foreign Service Academy for training career diplomats?
  - Yes—69.5 per cent; No—20.1 per cent; No Opinion—10.4 per cent.
8. Increase postage rates, including 5 cents for 1st class, out-of-town mail?
  - Yes—64.4 per cent; No—26.0 per cent; No Opinion—9.6 per cent.
9. Legislation safeguarding union and corporate welfare funds against abuse?
  - Yes—92.3 per cent; No—2.7 per cent; No Opinion—5.0 per cent.
10. Multi-billion-dollar Federal civil defense and bomb shelter program?
  - Yes—12.0 per cent; No—71.3 per cent; No Opinion—16.7 per cent.

There is much in these results that deserves comment. But nothing more than the obviously deep concern felt by most of you about the adequacy and readiness of our national defense.

It is especially significant, I think, that more than 80 percent of those who answered the questionnaire saw the question of nat-ly appreciated this strong vote as an indication of approval of my vote last year against unwise but successful efforts to cut the Administration's defense budget.

But more important was the concept of strength displayed in the answers. Rather than something simple and attractive like a crash weapons program, the answers implied to me that Union County citizens recognized that we must depend upon and assist our allies in the free world; that we must think of the future and stress the scientific research that will bring improved performance later; and that no defense effort is better than the organization that directs it.

This latter point, of course, can be interpreted as strong support for President Eisenhower's proposal to reorganize the defense establishment and prepare our forces for their most effective use in every possible military emergency, under more responsible civilian control.

This, I am convinced, is the key to the maintenance of peace—to keep our military potential both strong and flexible enough that we can defeat any kind of aggression anywhere in the world.

The almost unanimous vote approving legislation to safeguard union and corporate welfare funds was gratifying. It was very surprising. The financial security of millions of working people depends on these welfare funds. We have seen shocking examples of the systematic looting of these funds by unscrupulous administrators or trustees.

To protect these funds is the most constructive kind of pro-labor legislation. It warrants the overwhelming support it has received. I welcomed, also, the almost 3/4 to 1 vote backing my Foreign Service Academy bill. Whether or not this bill is ever passed in its present form, I feel strongly that many foreign service officers are inefficiently trained. Better training of some kind is a must if our diplomatic efforts are to be improved. And I shall continue to seek this goal, with your support, in the most practicable way possible.

Space doesn't permit much comment on other of the results. Your approval of increased postage rates and the one-sided vote against a massive bomb shelter program—massive for bombshelters—As for Federal grant-in-aid programs, my position on the Intergovernmental Relations Subcommittee—here has made my views rather well known. And sometime soon I hope to discuss in detail the whole question of Federal aid to education.

Coincidentally, however, you may be aware that even while so much support was being shown for the teachers' fight to win Federal advanced training, the Treasury Department ruled administrative in their favor.

It was a well earned and long overdue victory. And it was in a sense the final justification for the support many of us here in the Congress have given to legislation to accomplish the same purpose.

For those of you who may have noticed that the questionnaire contained nothing regarding the present business recession, I should explain that the questionnaire was prepared early in January, before the recession had become an important issue with many people.

Finally, I want to emphasize this fact. To me, the most impressive single thing about this questionnaire was the fact that so many people believe in the wisdom of informing their representatives about their views. More than 50 percent of the replies included additional comments, many of them detailed and lengthy.

Thoughtful, constructive letters were attached. Furthermore, virtually everyone signed their names.

I have read all of them carefully. And I want you to know how genuinely grateful I have been to receive them. I wish I could answer each one personally, but instead I must rely on this method of expressing my appreciation.

Please keep up this exchange of ideas. You may not realize how valuable and important your views are to me—and even when I must respectfully disagree. So, thank you very much.

Roses for Ground Covers

Suitable round covers for sunny locations are often as hard to find as those involving heavy shade. If one wants something different than vinca minor, or pachysandra, try the dainty memorial rose, Rosa Wichurana. It will clothe banks, slopes or flat areas with glossy foliage, and, in June, will present a mass of single white flowers, two inches in diameter.
