

ALTERNATE ROUTE—Above is the alternate route for F.A.I. Route 102 as proposed by the Springfield Township Committee. This map is taken from the one prepared by the engineering consulting firm of T. T. McCrosky, engaged by the town to see if the route is feasible. McCrosky reports that the route is more desirable than the State Route, meets all Federal engineering requirements, and would not cost too much more to build. The Zebra stripes marking the route indicates when the highway goes under or over an existing road. The outside lines are the full 300 foot width of the highway. Note that the route would be depressed until after it passes Millburn High School.

McCrosky Backs Town In Bid For Alternate Route

Breakdown Of Three Routes Under Fire

The three highway proposals currently under debate by Springfield residents are:

STATE ROUTE—An alignment of an eight-lane highway to be known as F.A.I. 102. This is the route printed in the Springfield SUN on April 24 under the headline—BULLDOZERS HO! It was released by the N. J. State Highway Department and has their backing. It would enter Springfield from the west along the Watching ridge, cut through the N. J. Quarry Co. property, swing down beside Troy Village, and come up the Union County Park property along Bryant Avenue. It would cross Morris Avenue at the Post Office and head behind the stores on the north side of Morris Avenue until it cuts between the Presbyterian and Methodist churches on the one side and the Presbyterian cemetery on the other. It would go out of Springfield at the Union border after crossing Springfield Avenue by Cavallo's Turkey Farm. It would be elevated from the Quarry on to a height of 40 feet.

ALTERNATE ROUTE—The Springfield Planning Board and the engineering firm of T. T. McCrosky & Co. have conspired to map out an alternate to the State Route that would take a large segment out of Springfield and into Millburn. It has the support of the Springfield Township Committee. This route would enter Springfield from the West at the same place as the State Route, but instead of curving east at the quarry property would continue straight (and depressed) to cross Morris Avenue.

Hwy. Store Fined For Violations

The Broadway Discount Store on Route 22 was fined $35.00 by Magistrate Henry C. McMullen for non-compliance of numerous sections of both the building and fire codes, last Friday.

The highway store was subpoenaed to appear by the action of Building Inspector Wilbert C. Binder, who had discovered repeated violations.

Some of the specific charges brought against the Route 22 firm included: number of exits to be maintained below the Fire Underwriters requirements; loading platform covered with debris; storage of soft goods in areas not set up for storage purposes.

Elks To Observe Flag Day Sunday

The Springfield Lodge of Elks will observe Flag Day with services this Sunday, June 15 at the American Legion Hall at 2 p.m.

Edward Baldwin, a past district commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will be the principal speaker.

After the services refreshments will be served in the Lodge Club Rooms.

1st Traffic Death Here Since Nov.

Springfield suffered its first traffic fatality Monday since 10-year-old Thomas Peart was found slain along Meisel Avenue on Thanksgiving Day.

Charles C. Roberts, 30, of Fanwood died Monday shortly after the car he was driving apparently skidded on the wet pavement on Route 22, went off the road, snapped off an iron sign and then crashed into a utility pole.

It was only the third traffic fatality in Springfield in over three years. The previous one was the pedestrian death of postman Robert M. Reid on March 12, 1956.

Roberts, who was critically injured, died in Overlook Hospital, Summit, at 8:30 a.m. about an hour and 15 minutes after the accident.

The force of the impact imbedded glass from the car's windshield in the wooden utility pole.

Police said there were no witnesses to the accident, which occurred in the eastbound lane near Dunder Rd. Police believe that the car skidded on to the macadam shoulder from the highway. It then jumped a foot-high ditch embankment and skidded about 30 feet, ramming into a cast iron road marker sign. The sign was thrown 40 feet. The car then hit the pole about five feet from the sign, and spun around—it ended up facing the highway next to the Gem Shoe Store parking lot.

Baby Parade Rules Told For July 4th

The Baby Parade will be held on the grounds directly behind Regional High School on July 4. Registration of the children to be entered in the parade will start at 9 and close at 9:45 and the parade will start at 10:00 A.M.

There will be five divisions. The first division will be for girls from infancy to two years of age. Second division will be for girls from two to five years of age. (Winner of this division will be Queen in 1959.) Third division will be for boys from infancy to two years of age. Fourth division will be for boys from two to five years of age. (Winner of this division will be King in 1959.) Division five will consist of floats, to be judged on their uniqueness, attractiveness and originality.

There will be first and second class winners in all five divisions. First prize will be fifteen dollars and second prize will be ten dollars. Winners in all classes will have their photos taken and will receive a 5 x 7 picture.

Editorial

The time has come for the people of Springfield to unite on one course of action on the alignment of a highway in town. Unless there is substantial agreement among those testifying at the State's Public Hearing on Monday, June 30, there will be no chance of anything being done to help Springfield.

This newspaper feels that the overwhelming weight of evidence points toward support of the alternate route as designed by the engineering firm of T. T. McCrosky. By this it is meant that two proposed courses of action should be scrapped: (1) efforts to promote the scheme to do away with any new highway and widen the existing Route 22; and (2) resignation to the inevitability of the route outlined by the State.

The movement to revitalize Route 22 needlessly splits the home forces. It does not stand any chance of fruition for the following reasons:

a. No responsible official gives it any consideration.

b. The spectre of a 60-mile an hour, 10 lane highway, with two slowdown lanes and continuous merging traffic is not a solution to either traffic or highway business problems.

c. If all the children of Springfield grow up and start driving their own cars there will be an even greater need for a safer limited access highway to serve this area. Which is another way of saying that by 1975 this area will choke in its own traffic without additional highways.

There is no reason to give into the State's proposal without a fight either. Other communities, notably Leonia, N.J. and New Rochelle, N.Y., have persuaded highway officials to spend millions of extra dollars to save them.

Most convincingly, however, the proposal made by the McCrosky firm makes so much sense that its chances of success must be existent.

1. It adds very little mileage into the proposed highway.
 2. Its additional cost of $3½ million is, to a large extent, offset by the savings to be made on the improved location of one of the interchanges. The siphoning off of Morris County traffic at the 5 Points will make it unnecessary to

Opposition Mounts On All Sides To Highway Alignment

Any idea that no one will attend the Public Hearing on the highway on June 30 at Regional High School was squelched this week with reports of opposition to the State route growing on all sides.

The Union County Board of Freeholders, the Union County Park Board (Bonnie Burn Sanatorium), and a citizen's group in Summit determined to protect Watching Reservation all fired salvos at the State Highway Department.

Freeholders

The board of freeholders accused the State Highway Department of divide and conquer methods in dealing with Union County on the proposed new Route 22 (F.A.I. 102).

The board said it "disapproved highly" of the department's announced plans to conduct two hearings on separate sections of the proposed freeway in the county.

Freeholder Ernest S. Hickok spoke for five members of the roads and bridges committee in attacking "this piecemeal approach."

Park Commission

Victor R. King, president of the Union County Park Commission, said the route would cut off the Watching Riding Stables from the rest of the reservation. He added that the stables, destroyed by fire last year, recently had been rebuilt at a cost of $100,000, and that the new Rt. 22 might force the commission to relocate them.

The commission estimates that approximately 75 acres of the reservation would be confiscated by the highway department, the highway would run north of Glenside Ave. until it reached the stables, where it would veer south, isolat-

Group Refuses To Back Town Until Proctor Is Heard

The citizen's groups who have formed to fight the highway refused, at least temporarily, to back the Township's alternate route Tuesday night at a stormy meeting in the Municipal Building.

The Mayor's Highway Committee and representatives of various civic associations and clubs postponed for a week deciding between backing the limited damage of the alternate route and the prospects of no damage at all through the plan to "revitalize" the present Route 22.

The 19 citizens present heard arguments for both sides and then voted to have another meeting with J. Robert Proctor for the "no new highway" school and some representative of the T. T. McCrosky firm for the alternate highway" school.

This meeting, open to the public, is slated for Monday evening, June 28, at the James Caldwell School at 8 p.m. Then the next night the group will meet again to vote on which plan to support.

Marvin Strauss of the Mayor's Committee urged that when the group does decide which plan to back that they should then conduct an extensive campaign to build support before the Public Hearing on the highway to be held June 30 at Regional High School.

He asked that the group "load the mails with letters pressuring State and Federal officials."

Nix-Town

Chairman Russell Nixon was unable to get the group to support the alternate route for three reasons:

1. Vigorous support of the J. Robert Proctor proposal by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hardgrove, Mrs. H. Libby and Mrs. V. Bracht. Their feeling that Proctor has the documents to persuade the State to abandon the building of F.A.I. 102 swung the majority toward giving Proctor another hearing.

2. Refusal of many present to "sign a blank check." The feeling was that until the town spelled out the alternate route and the reasons for it, they would not give the town officials a vote of confidence. Yesterday morning the town did release the map showing the alternate route.

3. Ruffled feelings on the part of many of the citizens present that the township officials had not taken them fully into their confidence. Fred Edwards, chairman of the Mayor's Highway Committee, said that these were the reasons for his official trips to Trenton last Wednesday for two weeks.

The sentiment was high for the Proctor plan. Mrs. Libby reported that Proctor had assured her that if all the towns along the proposed 102 could collect a total of 30,000 signatures on petitions that it would stop construction. All that is needed, according to Mrs. Libby is a "massive figure."

Mrs. Hardgrove reported that petitions urging study of the revitalization of the existing Route 22 have been distributed to all but 5 streets in Springfield and that early indications show that the vast majority of persons shown the petitions are signing them.

Henry F. Grabar, chairman of the Planning Commission, presented a rough outline of the town's alternate proposal. He was asked about his support during the political campaign last fall for widening of Route 22. He answered that he didn't wholly support either proposal.

The group turned down suggestions that they back both plans on (Continued on Page 8)

Harry Klopff Is Found Hanged

Harry Klopff, 59, a handyman for the Hilton Dahlia Farm, 870 Mountain Ave., was found hanged Monday in a small room at the farm. Police said Klopff, who lived at the farm, had been hanging two days before his body was discovered. Dr. George W. H. Horre, Union County Physician, listed the death as a suicide.

State Rejects Plan To Widen Present Rt. 22

The State Highway Department has told Mayor Albert G. Binder that they are not giving any serious consideration to the proposal that the present Route 22 be "widened and revitalized" instead of building a parallel superhighway.

Mayor Binder queried Trenton on the feasibility of the plan put forward by three-out-of-town men and backed by members of local civic associations.

O. H. Fritzsche, State Highway Engineer, replied that there are many reasons why his department thinks the widening plan impractical. Among them he lists the prohibitive cost of building over the Lehigh Valley Railroad, the interchange and right-of-way difficulties, and the problem of limited access.

The plan under discussion was designed by Henry Such Smith, president of the Bergen Point Iron Works of Hoboken. It was presented to Springfield by J. Robert Proctor and is also championed by Dr. Charles E. Stomier of Hofstra College.

Following is the State's answer to their proposal:

May 15, 1958
Honorable Albert G. Binder
Mayor, Township of Springfield
Union County,
Springfield, N. J.
Dear Mayor Binder:

It is apparent and natural that the proposal by Henry Such Smith should appeal to you.

I am certain you are sufficiently aware of motorists habits to realize that other traffic, in addition to the Interstate, will use the F.A.I. Route 102 rather than remain on the old Route 22. As an example, Bell Laboratory traffic would find the new route much more desirable.

Undoubtedly Mr. Smith is making suggestions with no consideration of economics. I am unaware of what makes an expert. However, we have in the Highway Department and in the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, men who have made a lifelong study of highway (Continued on Page 8) rebuilt Morris Avenue in Springfield as a major access road. The integrity of both Millburn and Springfield is preserved. Neither town suffers a loss that would change its residential nature or business pattern. Instead of one community bearing the full weight, two communities share the burden.

4. It will be a submerged highway through most of Springfield and Millburn causing much less noise and ugliness than the 40 foot Chinese wall proposed by the State.

5. The grades and curves conform to Federal Highway requirements.

There are three stumbling blocks to overcome: (1) the alternate route would take 50 more homes; (2) the State will defend its own route; and (3) Highway Commissioner Dwight Palmer lives in Millburn Township.

However, we believe that these obstacles can be surmounted if the case for Springfield is stated clearly and has the support of the citizenry.

It boils down to whether the loss of 50 homes and the spending of a relatively small amount of money is more important than the saving of a community. For if the State route prevails, Springfield will cease to exist as the town we know. The loss in value as a desirable place to live will be irreparable.

We strongly urge all residents to attend the Special Highway Meeting next Monday, June 16 at 8 p.m. in the James Caldwell School. J. Robert Proctor will present the case for arguing in favor of revitalizing the present Route 23 and the Springfield Township Committee will outline the reasons for working toward the alternate route. It should be a lively session.

Country Oaks Meet

The Country Oaks held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Valois, on June 10. The proposed new highway through Springfield was discussed at length, also the new schools, which made the meeting very interesting. LETTERS TO EDITOR

Editor: Sun

By the time readers of the Springfield Sun peruse this article's pertinent opening paragraphs concerning the proposed highway for Rte 102 and Rte 107 and supporting a modernization plan for the present Route 23, will be on every street in town.

Every resident is urged to sign this petition which presents a sound plan to keep Springfield intact. The present Highway Department plans for these abominable, mostly elevated, highways will leave Springfield the center of a spore with highways emanating from our pleasant and delightful residential community. Even more so when the new route 24 is considered which is headed to the north of our town.

The preservation of OUR TOWN should be EVERYONE'S object. This is a life and death struggle which must be won! If we lose what will Springfield be like 15 years from now? We must stop the State Highway Department from devouring our town with a few well placed bulldozer bites.

Sign the petitions as your friends and neighbors present them to you. This is our fight — each and every one of us. Let's all write to stop the destruction of Springfield.

Ever since a visit to Haiti in January 1957, my friends have been subjected to my incessant jabber jabber about the country. I must admit that they have been very patient while assuring themselves that this too shall pass.

But last Saturday eve I decided to let some friends find out for themselves why Haitian people and their music were so hard to forget. A group of us attended a dance and folklore show called "A Night in Haiti" sponsored by the Haitian American Artists Society.

We found a tremendous turnout of Haitian people with their "joie de vivre" very much in evidence, many speaking French or French creole, and all dancing, dancing, dancing to the wonderful rhythm of "meringue."

In our party were Mr. and Mrs. Victor Bracht, 1000 Parkside, and Mrs. E. Weiniger.

Mountainside Newcomers

June is—the month for brides, and there were brides aplenty at Bridal Fashion Show and meeting of the Mountainside Newcomers.

On June 9, 1958, at the T. J. C. in Westfield, setting the theme for the program was the Newcomer's Choral Group who sang, "The Girl That I marry", "Daisy", and "Under the Bamboo Tree". The entire club joined to sing, "Let The Rest of The World Go Bye". Adding a realistic touch, was a beautiful wedding cake donated by Mrs. Borge Kristensen. There were nosegays, and bridal dolls on each table. The chairman for the fashion show was Mrs. Russell-Cutter.

Mrs. Robert Spagna modeled a gown belonging to the mother of Mrs. David Levy, which—dated back to 1906. The gown was hand-made of pure Japanese silk. The original prayer book was carried. Mrs. Robert Singer modeled a gown belonging to Mrs. Kenneth Knechtel's mother-in-law, dating back to 1908. It was a two piece lace gown with three-quarter sleeves, worn over a lace petticoat.

Mrs. Leon Anson modeled a 1941 fashion belonging to Mrs. William Boyle.

Modeling their own gowns were: Mrs. Silvio Gallucci, Mrs. Kenneth Knechtel, Mrs. Gene Simpson, Mrs. Herbert Kranich, Mrs. Frank Umber, Mrs. Waldron Holck, and Mrs. Roland Lewand.

Portraying the Mountainside Bride of 1875, was four year old, Miss Valerie Messner, daughter of Mrs. Howard Messner.

Narrator for the show was Mrs. Gordon Green. Mrs. Harry Wiseman provided background music. Hostesses for the day were Mrs. W. M. Bishop, and Mrs. Raymond Pulshur.

Mrs. William Gutman offered a sentence prayer to open the business meeting. Mrs. Nicholas Byron, president, presided.

It was decided that the proceeds from the Crystal Ball to be held on September 26, 1958, at the Elizabeth Carteret Hotel, in Elizabeth, would be donated to "Camp Endeavor", in Scotch Plains, which offers ten day vacations to under privileged children in Union County.

Mrs. Raymond Herrgott, Social Activities Chairman, urged the members to sign up for the Ladies Bridge, Couples Evening Bridge, and the Sewing Groups.

Mrs. Herrgott presented trophies to the first place winning team of the Round Bridge Tournament, proceeds of which will go to the Mountainside Library for children's books. Receiving trophies were Mrs. John Miller, and Mrs. Paul Krystow. Second place winners were Mrs. Henry Douglas, and Mrs. Robert Elliott. Mrs. Hedy Weeks were Mrs. Richard Freeman held third place.

The story of the gift that took a lifetime to make...

Like all grandfathers, he thinks the world of his grandson. Like all grandfathers, he'd give him the world, if he could. And, in a way, that's what he's done during all the rewarding times they have always spent together. He has tried to give his grandson a gift that will last the boy a lifetime, a gift that has been a lifetime in the making.

Faith... Faith that has been the strength and nourishment of his own life... that's what he has tried to show the boy, day by day. Faith in God, in himself, in his parents, in the town they live in, in the people he calls his neighbors. And so, every week, you'll see them, grandfather and grandson, worshipping with the rest of the family, at their church.

If you would like to leave as much to your children and to your children's children... remember this: only if you yourself have Faith, can you hope to give it in any measure. Begin this week to find the Faith for your life. Worship with all the family, at your Church or Synagogue.

FROZEN ASSET: Mrs. Frank R. Reynolds removes from her refrigerator tray of Frozen Lemon Pudding, a dessert which increased her assets by $10 as winner of our Favorite Recipe Contest this week.

$10 For Favorite Recipe

Mrs. Frank R. Reynolds of 8 Florence Dr., Union, is winner of our $10 prize in the Favorite Recipe Contest this week. Her recipe is a delightful dessert for the hot weather we hope to see some time this summer.

Have you entered your favorite recipe in the contest yet? It's easy; simply mail it to this newspaper at the address in the upper right-hand corner of this page. Please include your telephone number. There is no limit to the number of times you may enter recipes in the contest.

FROZEN LEMON PUDDING

Beat:
3 egg yolks
Add:
1/2 cup sugar
Juice and rind of 1 lemon
Fold in:
3 egg whites-beaten until stiff
1/2 pt. heavy cream, whipped
Crust:
20-22 vanilla wafers (approximately 1 1/4 cups) and mix with 2 tablespoons melted butter
Line:
Freezing tray with 3/4 of crumb mixture
Add:
Lemon mixture
Remaining crumb mixture on top. Freeze.
If cooked at too high a temperature, cheese will become rubbery or stringy.

Broilers Are A Good Buy

If there's any food item easy to prepare in a number of ways says Mary W. Armstrong, Home Agent, it's a broiler. This member of the poultry family, sometimes called a fryer-is-a-young, tender, meaty bird, weighing about 1 1/2 to 3 1/2 pounds. The broiler is only about 9 weeks old when it's made ready for market, so that the meat is tender enough to be cooked by broiling or frying or barbecuing. Broilers may also be simmered in a variety of sauces for dishes like Chicken-Cacciatore or Chicken in Mushroom Sauce.

Broiler prices have come down considerably during the last seven or eight years. Better breeding, nutrition, and disease control have brought about increased production of broilers at lower cost to producers. Some of the savings in time and money are passed along to you at the retail level. When you buy ready-to-cook broilers for your family, you can figure on 1/4 to 1/2 bird per serving, or 3/4 to 1 pound for each person. Broilers are usually cooked in quarters or halves, and served that way so you may wish to buy in terms of quarter or half broilers. If all the members of your family prefer the same part of the chicken, you can buy broiler parts, and satisfy everyone's taste preference. If you're interested in getting the most meat for the money you spend on broilers, a recent study showed breasts to yield more edible cooked meat than legs and thighs. If broiler breasts cost 10 cents more a pound than legs and thighs, then these two chicken parts cost about the same for a pound of edible cooked meat. Whole broilers will usually cost at least thirty cents less a pound.

BISCUIT TORTONI

2 egg whites
1/2 cup powdered sugar
1 pint heavy cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
Sherry flavoring
1/2 cup dried macaroons, finely crushed
Beat egg whites until stiff with half the sugar. Whip cream until thick but not stiff with remaining sugar. Add vanilla and sherry flavoring. Fold in whites. Add 1/2 cup dried macaroons. Pack in mold or pack in paper cups, sprinkle with powdered macaroons, and set in tray to freeze.

CHOOSING A LAMP

When choosing table lamps, select a lamp base that measures about one and one-half times longer than the shade. If the shade is 10 inches high, the base should be 15 inches high. This will create the proper lighting and decorative effect.

Thyme Adds Flavor
Sprinkle cooked apple slices with thyme, serve with roast pork.

Serve The Staff Of Life Toasted But Don't Be Chained To Your Pop-Up Toaster

Bread is the staff of life, as everyone knows, particularly if it is made of enriched flour and one of the nicest ways to serve the staff is toasted. If you are accustomed to dropping a couple of slices in your electric toaster and waiting for it to "pop," it might be about time for you to make a change and give your family some variety at breakfast.

All the jokes about thriftiness are pointed at the Scotch, but you'd have to do a bit of searching to find a Frenchman—or a French housewife—who ever wasted a crumb. One of the most delightful recipes for breakfast (or for luncheon or supper, for that matter) is named as a direct result of French thriftiness:

FRENCH TOAST

Beat two whole eggs. Add one cup milk (half milk and half light cream if you want something extra special), one tablespoon sugar and one-eighth teaspoon salt. Place four slices of stale bread (at least two days' old) in deep bowl. Pour liquid over bread and let soak, turning bread once or twice. Cook bread on medium hot, buttered griddle until golden brown. Spread with butter and confectioner's sugar or serve with warm maple syrup. This is delicious with crisp bacon or ham.

The term "Milk Toast" has become synonymous with "weaking" but it simply isn't so. This is a dish that builds strength and supplies nutrients needed from infancy through Social Security. Not specifically known to be either French or Scotch, it might well be; it also makes good use of stale bread.

MILK TOAST

Toast well two slices of stale bread. Heat one cup of milk in saucepan. Beat lightly one whole egg. Slowly pour hot milk over egg, stirring constantly. Add a dash of salt. Break toast into bite-size pieces, place in serving bowl and pour hot mixture over bread. A dash of nutmeg may be added, if desired.

Here's a toast that takes a few extra minutes to prepare in the morning but surely the family is worth the extra time once in a while. After all, they'll remember you on Mother's Day—probably. Day-old bread is recommended here.

ORANGE TOAST

Toast bread lightly on both sides. While still hot, spread with soft butter. Sprinkle thickly with mixture of one-quarter cup sugar and two teaspoons grated orange rind, then sprinkle each slice with few drops of orange juice. Place toast under broiler until topping bubbles. (A delicious cinnamon toast may be made by substituting cinnamon for the orange rind.)

For something special at dinner time, take a loaf of bread that is not sliced. Slice down close to the bottom crust but not all the way through. Brush each slice with melted butter, place loaf in a casserole that can be carried to the table, and toast in the oven until lightly brown. For some reason, this bread seems particularly good when served with stew or with a cold salad plate.

Next time you are making a tossed green salad or a cold vegetable salad, toast two slices of stale bread. Cut or break into small cubes. Place in bottom of mixing bowl. Pour French dressing over cubes. Stir lightly and let marinate half an hour. Add remaining salad ingredients and toss together lightly.

Toast, of course, is a traditional base for creamed chicken, salmon, tuna, etc. To vary this delightfully, spread the warm toast with soft butter and sprinkle with your favorite herb. (Basil or marjoram are very good.) If you're really "gourmet," use your garlic press and squeeze a drop or two of this herb of the lily family into the softened butter before spreading it on the toast.

Next time you are looking for something just a little different to serve with a salad at bridge or luncheon or Sunday night supper, remember this recipe. It may be prepared ahead of time and kept in the refrigerator until toasting time.

TOASTED CHEESE ROLLS

Cut crust from thin slices of bread. Mix butter, which has been brought to room temperature, with equal amount of grated cheese. Spread on bread slices. Sprinkle each slice with a little salt, pepper and paprika. Roll each slice, jelly-roll fashion, and fasten with toothpicks. When ready to serve toast under broiler until lightly brown on all sides.

Then and Now

Do you wear eyeglasses?

Well, if you do, or even if you don't, you will enjoy Towne Opticians' educational and interesting window display "Then and Now," the history of eyeglasses and eyewear. The collection, arranged by the Busch and Lomb and the Shuron Optical companies, includes all types and styles of eyewear dating from 1700 up to the present day plastic frames. In fact you can see the oldest pair of frames known to be in existence.

This display serves as a progress report of the eyewear profession. As you view such items as the old style hand wrought steel frames, stop and consider how times and methods of production and sale of eyewear has changed—150 years ago people bought hairbrushes and "reading specs" at the local general store.

Today, however, eyewear styling is the business of experts who scientifically design and manufacture your eyeglasses lenses and frames. Towne Opticians is proud to be a member of such a profession, one which safeguards your most treasured gift . . . your sight.

Egg Rice Barbecue Salad

Here is a salad specifically designed to go with barbecue meal. Enhance flavors of this yummy salad by mixing ingredients while rice is still slightly warm. Chill before serving.

Egg Rice Salad
1/2 cup minced green onions
6 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1 cup diced celery
1/2 cup diced cucumber pickles
2 cups cooked rice
1/2 cup mayonnaise
salt to taste

Combine onions, eggs, celery, pickles, rice, mayonnaise, and salt to taste. Chill. Serve on crisp lettuce, garnished with salad greens, tomato wedges, and radish roses. Stuffed olives may be used in place of cucumber pickles, if desired. Serves six.

Fudge Cookies
2 tablespoon butter
1 1/2 cups chocolate chips
1 15-ounce can sweetened condensed milk
1 cup flour
1 cup chopped walnuts
1 teaspoon vanilla

at 325 degrees and light it. Grease cookie sheet with shortening. Pour water into bottom of a double boiler, 1/2 full. Put butter and chocolate bits into top section. When they are melted, take pan off stove. Open milk and stir it into chocolate mixture. Sift flour and add it to chocolate mixture, stirring well. Add chopped nuts and vanilla. Drop spoonfuls of the mixture onto greased cookie sheet, 2 inches apart. Put into oven and bake for 15 minutes. Yield 3 dozen.

Finely chopped walnuts and chopped olives mixed with a little mayonnaise make a good tea sandwich filling.

To Convince A Balky Husband Takes Technique

In the tricky business of trying to convince a balky husband, the all-important thing is the approach. Whether you're trying to wheedle theater tickets, a fur coat or a new range, the approach must be developed to a fine art. The art is in knowing which method will best apply to your particular brand of husband. Take the case of the bolder for range. Approach #1 (recommended in only a few cases where a favorite spouse loves to cook and is half-way convinced to begin with). "This old range is a wreck. Isn't it about time we got a new one?" Approach #2 (positively guaranteed for the gourmet). Some night after a dinner of wieners and beans draw mouth-watering word pictures of a standing rib, roasted to perfection, ducks, capons, barbecued ribs, shish-ka-bob foods you never dared to try. Then deftly slip in the fact that the new range you have your eye on features an automatic rotisserie, an automatic bar-b-que, even an automatic baster which combine to produce unheard-of delicacies. Approach #3 (This is for die-hards who think a wood-burning stove is rather snappy. This method will take a little longer and may be hard on your reputation, but it's worth it). Over a period of time manage to burn a few favorite dishes, jump up and down so your "cake" will certainly fall, see to it that not everything finishes cooking at the same time. When the complaints begin coming in, you have him trapped. Throw yourself on his mercy and mention the new range with the built-in food guide which dials the right time and temperature for 82 main dishes! If none of the above works, try a combination of several. If he continues to be unmoved, either give up, study the approach problem more closely, or be philosophical and congratulate yourself on having a mate who cannot be swayed by fire or food! To go with broiled open face sandwiches for lunch, you might try studding canned peas with the sandwiches until heated and lightly browned.

Curved Benches For Dining

Casual and beautiful, this ash-blond dining group seats eight comfortably in minimum space. Benches are curved and the table is oval. The serving base, with sliding doors, can stand alone or with the open hutch top. The wood is ash with a clear varnish finish and rattan markings. Ideal for summer homes, this group would also be attractive in an apartment dining area.

Care To Take Your Pick?

Left to right, these are known as the "All-American" Look, the "Sack" Look, and the "Schmoo" Look. It may be all in fun, but it's one male artist's conception of where present fashion trends may go. Nevertheless, the fashion experts claim the new trends are here to stay awhile because they are so comfortable and easy to wear. As for the All-American Look, you can always visit the beach!

Changed Habits Help In Summer

There's been a change in the weather, so why not a change in you?

As summer vacation and play-time rolls around once again, why not take the advice of the Doctors who say nothing is more revivifying than change?

If you always go to and from work via the same shuttles, try a longer cut and see something new.

Here are several conventional habits which, if changed, might give the entire family a new and sunnier outlook on life.

1. Skip conventional bacon-and-eggs breakfasts? Try strawberry or blueberry or peach shortcake a la mode? After all, this is nothing more than hot biscuits plus fresh fruit and a generous dollop of ice cream on top.
2. Keep your favorite after-shave lotion, skin cleanser or face tonic in the refrigerator? Feels twice as luxurious when applied icy-cold.
3. During the hot months, take up the living room and dining room rugs? Substitute cooler inexpensive summer rugs. Also put away the hard-to-keep-clean silver for the remainder of the summer.
4. Fill the empty fireplace with two or more old-fashioned Boston ferns in pots? They look airy and seem to cool and freshen a room.
5. Mow the lawn yourself and let the kids do the marketing (from a prepared list)? It will offer a wonderful opportunity for the children to learn to handle household money and will get you out of a rut and into the sunshine.
6. If there's a beach or swimming pool nearby, pack a breakfast picnic or the makings for a wood fire-cooked morning meal and go for a 7 a. m. outing while the day is still cool?
7. Open windows at the top and turn electric fans toward the ceiling on a scorching day? This cools a room faster as warm air is near the ceiling.

DIM LIGHTS FOR TV
When watching television, it's best to use dimmed lights in the room. A dark area with a single lamp creates a pool of light causing eye distraction and strain.

According to the National Dairy Council, one farm worker feeds about 18 persons, with 1,600 pounds of food a year per person.

Blueberries Are Healthful, And Available All Summer

Blueberries are on the market again and in comparison with other fruit berries they are a vitamin C and important mineral. A half cup of these sweet berries, however, contains only 42 calories, says Mary W. Armstrong, County Home Agent. The wild-fruit, native to this country, was carefully cultivated for 50 years to provide the berries of supreme quality. Cultivated blueberries are known in the southern part of New Jersey, in North Carolina and in Michigan. These areas have the specific soil and climatic conditions required by blueberries. The eastern grown blueberries are marketed generally under the brand name TRU-BLUE, the Michigan blues are known as Great Lakes Blueberries. Depending on the weather, the New Jersey and North Carolina crop season starts the middle of May and extends through Labor Day, with the peak season in July. The Michigan crop starts in early July and goes into September, with the peak about mid-August. Cultivated blueberries are of course, perishable. They should not be washed until just before using. They will keep in the boxes in which they came two days at room temperature or nearly a week in the refrigerator. Cultivated blueberries can come to the table in innumerable forms and combine wonderfully with a multitude of foods. "As-is" with cream, over cereal, in muffins, tarts, pies, shortcakes, in waffles and pancakes, in salads, fruit compotes, and fresh fruit. Blueberries add lively eating pleasure to summer menus. In recent years, they have become one of the most popular of the freeze-it-yourself fruits. A variety of interesting recipes are included in the new

Little Sister Has New Styles, Too

Has little daughter gotten dowdy? Maybe mother hasn't accepted all the new fashions, but chances are that daughter has been putting the pressure on for a while. Extension bulletin Jersey "Blues," free on request to Home Economics Extension Office, Court House Annex, Elizabeth.

keyed to the latest modes. The new Paris trends have reached down to the moppel set. Little girls no longer accept the "same old styles" that were good enough for their older sisters five or ten years ago. Now the toddlers and grammar-school belles want to be "haute couture", too. Sacks for Sister. Soda fountains, merry-go-rounds, and tree houses will be decorated this summer with bright-eyed girls in chemises and trapezes... yes, even sacks. These new shapes are particularly suited to children's clothes. They're free and easy to wear. Witness the dropped waistline and pleated skirt, the tiny neck yoke, the unwaisted tunic, and the trapeze shirt with matching overblouse. Car coats are also a popular item for little girls with a wanderlust. This is especially true for the younger set. Fashion experts have realized (to the happy clang of cash registers) that children are just as style-conscious as their elders, and they're bringing a revolution to the children's fashion industry.

PROPER SHADE HEIGHT. Shade should be 40 to 42 inches from the floor. The lower the table, the longer the lamp base should be and the wider the shade. Net result will be proper lighting and an eye-pleasing decor.

Favorite Foreign Recipe Column

Here is a favorite Cuban recipe we think you will find worth trying. Don't be discouraged by the odd mixture of real taste appeal.

Casserole Cubana
Sauté minced onion, one-half chopped green pepper and half cup chopped celery in four tablespoons olive oil. Add four strips chopped bacon and stir until slightly brown but not crisp. Add salt, pepper dash of tabasco. Mix in 2 pounds peeled fresh shrimp with 1 medium can peeled Italian tomatoes. Pour into greased casserole, cover tightly and cook 30 minutes, stirring only once.

Cook one pound brown rice until done. Drain well, stir in one-half cup butter, one-half cup chopped peanuts, one pint tomato slice, a few capers, some chopped fresh chives and one cup of cooked chicken or veal, cut in thin strips.

Re-heat rice in well-greased ring mold in medium oven for 15 minutes. When ready to

Start Your Day Right With Fruit

The spring and summer fruits make nutritious and attractive breakfast starters. Miss Edith Mae Ingalls, Assistant Home Agent says:

Fast is to provide at least 1/2 of the day's supply of vitamin C needed to ward off diseases.

serve, remove rice ring from mold onto platter, pour shrimp mixture into center.

such as colds and supply vim and vigor for the day's activities.

To retain the valuable vitamins these fresh fruits should be carefully stored and refrigerated. Fruits such as berries start to decay very quickly after they are washed and are cut the vitamin loss begins. Therefore, it is best to cut the fruits right into the dish before serving.

Some of the spring and summer fruits that are highest in vitamin C are strawberries, mush melon or cantaloupe, and all citrus fruits, such as oranges and grapefruits. Tomatoes are also high in vitamin C and are tasty for breakfast. These fruits can be mixed with some of the fruits with less vitamin C or used alone.

Some fruits that are in season now or soon will be but are rhubarb, pineapple, peaches, berries such as blueberries, raspberries, blackberries, etc.

If any of these are used for breakfast fruits, some time during the day you should get an extra serving of high vitamin C food.

New Ideas For Baby's Furniture

All the world loves a baby, but it's up to Mom and Pop to provide for him (or her). American parents, no matter how busy, are more concerned and more attracted to infants' furniture to choose from than most Europeans.

For instance, consider just two modern features of baby's beds... noiseless drop sides to leave parents' nerves and an adjustable spring to raise the mattress height to save mother's back.

Baby's furniture can match or blend with your own and the design and finish can be as simple as nursery rhyme decorations, as sophisticated as

REPORT TO THE PEOPLE FROM YOUR CONGRESSWOMAN

FLORENCE P. DWYER

Can the American people succeed in balancing the negative requirements of military power with the positive need of real progress toward lasting world peace? This question, lingering sometimes dimly in the background of immediate and dramatic events, frequently needs to be brushed off, stared at, and thought about. In fact, I believe it can be truly said that no genuine peace can be obtained unless our efforts are specifically peaceful activities which match our mighty drive to maintain overwhelming military strength.

It has been a truism of American policy for some years that we must have armed forces sufficiently strong and well-equipped to absorb an aggressive nuclear attack on our country and still be able to retaliate with such a devastating blow that any potential aggressor will not risk the initial aggression.

Effective Deterrence
This, of course, is the definition of "deterrence." And we have spared nothing to equip our armed forces with the nuclear-powered submarines, superatomic bombers, hydrogen bombs, tactical atomic weapons, and missiles of all sizes in order to guarantee our deterrent power will be effective in preventing aggression.

Reflecting on this fact—as, for instance, in connection with passage by the House of a $400-million defense appropriation bill and a sweeping streamlining of our whole defense organization—I sometimes wonder if our pre-occupation with the hard realities of power in the nuclear age has not led to an unconscious downgrading of the factors that encourage positive progress toward peace.

A nuclear stalemate, in which both sides possess unquestioned power to destroy the other, may prevent all-out nuclear war. But this is not necessarily an essentially a negative situation—a delicate balance of power which discourages the use of the world's wealth and resources to build constructively rather than destructively.

Any formula for peace—if there is such a thing—must include both halves of the equation: Prevention of war and the encouragement of the conditions of peace. It works both ways. Developing bigger and more destructive weapons could, in the end, be self-destructive—if this became our chief purpose. Similarly, disarming or stopping tests of nuclear weapons could be a foolhardy and starry-eyed invitation to calamity, what with the Communist's clear record of subversion and aggression—unless these steps were taken carefully and accompanied by an effective system of inspection.

Difficult Middle Course
On this point, it has been all too easy to take an extreme position. It's easy to be absolutely opposed to everything because we can't trust Soviet Russia. It's also easy to be for disarmament and for stopping tests because we can contaminate the earth and blow ourselves to bits.

Both dangers are very real. But neither extremist position will contribute to ultimate peace. The only direction that seems to me to hold any prospect of even a little progress, is the course being followed by our own Government. This is to take small steps—baby steps, if you will, because this is a world in which we've never walked before—and take them on a limited, perhaps temporary basis, with firm insistence at each step upon effective inspection.

In this way we can learn with minimum danger whether Russia is genuinely interested in moving toward an end of the arms race. If not, if her interests are exclusively transactional, if she is still bent single-mindedly on world domination even at the risk of nuclear war, then we would be able quickly to reverse our steps and protect our interests.

This is obviously no field for the naive; it is a difficult and dangerous, but necessary, endeavor to reduce the tensions that could explode the world in a nuclear nightmare. It requires hard-headed practicality and clear-minded idealism, a rare combination of values.

Progress Toward Peace
After this has been said, however—and as a general statement it has received wide agreement—we are faced with this question: are we, in practice, matching our output for military power with equal efforts toward peace? Are we keeping the peaceful equation in balance?

A categorical answer of "yes" or "no" would be, I believe, inaccurate. The truth is probably somewhere in between. But I think the time has come when the Congress, for instance, could afford to concentrate a little more attention on those long-term requirements for progress toward peace.

Two of the many such requirements seem to me worth of special emphasis. They are, first, the need to improve both the quality and quantity of the education we provide our young people as the foundation on which we build our own efforts toward peace; and, second, the need to improve the quality and performance of those who are

Double-Ring June Salad

Here's a little different salad for that buffet supper you're planning during June. Traditionally, June is the month to prepare, delightful to see, delicious to eat—a combination of pineapple, cherries and cottage cheese.

The result is a nutritious attractive salad which will be a favorite with both men and women, says Mrs. Mary W. Armstrong, Union County Home Agent. Incidentally, if you belong to a bridge club whose members are colorists, this is an excellent luncheon salad to serve them. It's easy to make: Just mound cottage cheese on crisp, green lettuce and top with two golden slices of tropical, tangy, pineapple. Cut one slice so that the two can be entwined. Garnish with cherries or ripe olives.

Encourage Education
The Government should not and will not interfere with the books, the courses, the teachers who do the actual work of education. But the Government can and should encourage the States and local communities to provide the facilities and the financial means for improving the quality of education.

Scholarships for deserving students in the humanities and social sciences as well as the physical sciences, loans and grants or a combination of both to enable new schools, classrooms, laboratories and libraries to be built, these things are badly needed—even in a relatively well-off area like Union County—and Congress has an obligation to help.

Here, the House Banking and Currency Committee took a long step backward recently when it excluded schools as among those local facilities eligible for loans under the Senate-passed Community Facilities Act. It is devoutly to be hoped that Congress will remedy this unfortunate discrimination.

Many proposals have been advanced to improve and strengthen our foreign service. A Foreign Service Academy, such as I have suggested, would help; better language training is needed; advanced work for Foreign Service Officers should be expanded; better training for non-State Department personnel overseas is required; and a generally better preparation for the kind of down-to-earth "shirt-sleeves diplomacy" advocated by Vice President Nixon would help gain the respect for our diplomacy we sometimes don't receive.

If prevention of war is worth billions, promotion of peace at a fraction of the price is a good investment.

Linden Lumber Expansion Seen Sign Of Confidence

Confidence and optimism in the economic future are the byword at Linden Lumber, according to Lester Gottdenker, president of the firm, now undergoing new expansion.

"In building new 'Build-o-Mats,' said Gottdenker, 'we are setting out to meet the increased demand for efficient, convenient, complete shopping centers for building materials.' The Build-o-Mats, he explained, are equipped to serve the 'do-it-yourselfer' as well as the professional builder. Extensive libraries of plans, patterns and informative literature are maintained to assist in the planning and completion of any project, from a picnic bench to a complete home.

"In this area—the home construction field—our country is due for considerable expansion in the near future," he stated.

"I am in thorough agreement with President Eisenhower in his statement that hard-headed optimism and confidence are needed for the growth of our economy. And Linden Lumber not only is exhibiting that confidence, but offers the opportunity to countless homeowners to do the same."

The Build-o-Mats—designed for rapid supermarket type shopping for building materials—offer anything needed to build anything. Nationally known brands are featured, and a policy of warranted quality is maintained. In addition, Linden Lumber personnel are trained to assist in selection of materials and to instruct amateur and professional builders in their use.

Oysters Year 'Round

"Oysters R in Season" is a sign frequently displayed in fish markets and restaurants. It simply means that oysters or oyster dishes are available during those months containing the letter "R" . . . September through April. But what of the summer "R-less" months . . . when not a succulent bivalve is to be had anywhere?

Frozen condensed oyster stew is your answer. It's available all year and is as close to you as your shopping list or freezer. This buttery rich stew, with the tenderness of oysters, is excellent when heated plain . . . or varied with green vegetables and mushrooms as in this recipe:

Oyster-Mushroom Stew
1 cup sliced mushrooms (or 4 ounces can sliced mushrooms, drained)
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons chopped scallions
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

1 can (10 ounces) frozen condensed oyster stew
1 soup-can water
1 tablespoon sherry (optional)
In saucepan, cook mushrooms, green pepper, and scallions in butter until tender. Add soup, water, and sherry, if desired; heat, stirring now and then. Makes 3 servings.
Make this a soup and salad supper. With the large variety of fresh fruits now in market, make up a tray of individual salads, Cantaloupe rings, filled with fresh pineapple pieces, honeydew balls, halved seeded red grapes and orange sections . . . make an appetizing array. And what could be more colorful!

Four Domestic Tragedies And How To Meet Them

Spring cleaning isn't what it used to be. Carpets were yanked up, Papa — so the comic strips said — was yanked from his favorite chair, and even the dog slunk out of the house to wait for quieter times.

Today it's different. The house is mechanized and the homemaker can do a more thorough job more frequently than her mother could—with brush and broom.

Still there are household difficulties which can't be handled in day-to-day or weekly cleaning. Repair takes a concentrated effort and know-how. Here are four common domestic tragedies and ways to deal with them:

Varnish turned white by hot water or hot dishes—Rub lightly with flannel dampened with spirits of camphor or essence of peppermint. Varnish will be temporarily softened. Let it dry, then rub it smooth. Apply wax furniture polish.

White spots on wax finish. Remove by sponging with turpentine. Apply fresh wax when fumes evaporate.

Dents in furniture. Wet with warm water. Roll brown paper, soak in warm water and lay upon dent. Apply a warm (not hot) iron until moisture evaporates. Repeat if dents do not disappear.

Deep furniture scratches. Remove loose splinters. Work stain into crack with fine brush. Stain darkens with time so use a stain slightly lighter than surrounding wood. With a fine brush fill the scratch with white shellac, being careful not to allow shellac to overlap edges of scratch.

Pineapple Sundae Sauce

Here's a sundae sauce that can be served to the family as a special treat or to guests any day in the week. Excellent as a topping for ice cream, it is equally delicious over cake or cottage pudding.

The sauce is simple to prepare because its base is a no-cook instant pudding. The silky-smooth texture comes from the use of rich evaporated milk in the blending.

parties, this sauce is excellent over store-bought ice cream for that "extra special" touch.

PINEAPPLE SUNDAE SAUCE
1 package vanilla instant pudding
½ cup evaporated milk
¾ cup pineapple juice
¾ cup light corn syrup
¼ teaspoon salt

Combine the pudding mix and syrup in a bowl. Mix until smooth. Gradually add evaporated milk, pineapple juice and salt, and stir until blended. Allow to stand about 10 minutes to thicken sauce. Serve on ice cream, cake, or other desserts. Makes 1½ cups of sauce.

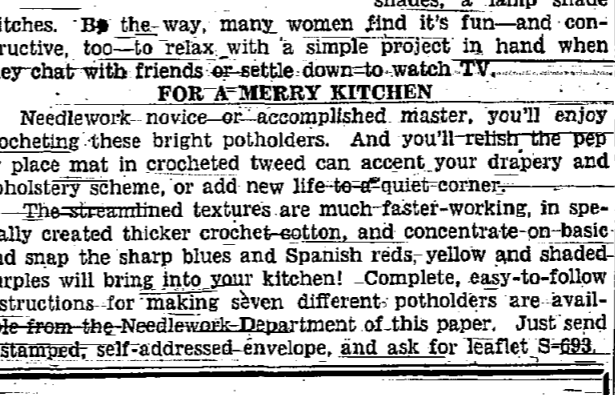

"New-Look" Crochet

Nowadays, more and more women are wearing the chemise, as they discover it's not just a fad but a new line in fashion. From here, it looks as though the same thing is happening in interior decorating. The new look in crochet has taken a permanent place alongside the traditional lacy designs.

WHAT CHARACTERIZES THE NEW CROCHET?
New solid textures, geometric block designs, sharp angles and straight lines. Many patterns call for weaving with thick rug yarn through a crocheted base, giving a sturdy plaid look. Rugs and pillows, bath mats and chair seats in modern crochet fit beautifully into any setting, from colonial to contemporary. And color has become more important. Worked in startling shades, a lamp shade crocheted these bright potholders. And you'll relish the pep or place mat in crocheted tweed can accent your drapery and upholstery scheme, or add new life to a quiet corner.

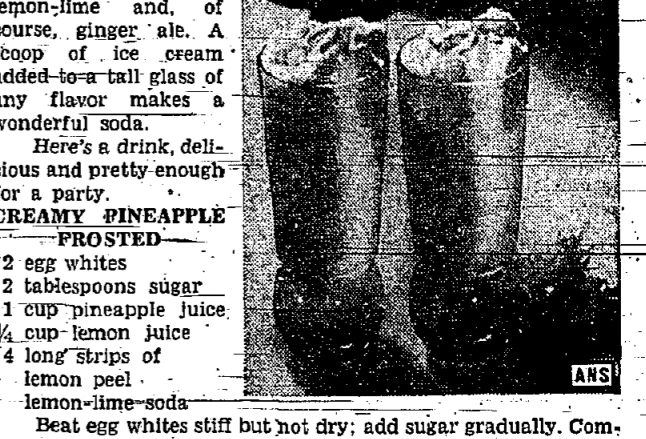

The streamlined textures are much faster-working, in specially created thicker crochets—cotton, and concentrate on basic and snap the sharp blues and Spanish reds, yellow and shaded purples will bring into your kitchen! Complete, easy-to-follow instructions for making seven different potholders are available from the Needlework Department of this paper. Just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and ask for leaflet S-689.

Tall, Cool For Summer

The tall drink season is here! There are always occasions when there's nothing as good as a fine tasting three-ingredient drink. When the youngsters raid the refrigerator, when the teenagers gather at your afternoon parties and when the family watches TV programs—these are a few of the countless times when drinks are in order.

To be prepared for all these demands, it is well to have an carbonated beverages chilling in the refrigerator. Everyone's favorite flavor should be included. Small sizes take care of the quick pick-up drink for a member of the family, and the large size bottles are best for making drinks for a crowd. Popular flavors are black cherry, grape, orange and lemon-lime and, of course, ginger ale. A scoop of ice cream added to a tall glass of any flavor makes a wonderful soda.

Here's a drink, delicious and pretty enough for a party:

CREAMY PINEAPPLE FROSTED
2 egg whites
2 tablespoons sugar
1 cup pineapple juice
¼ cup lemon juice
4 long strips of lemon peel
lemon-lime-soda

Beat egg whites stiff but not dry; add sugar gradually. Combine pineapple juice and lemon juice; pour slowly into egg whites while beating constantly. Divide among 4 small glasses. Fill glasses ice cold lemon-lime soda. Stir gently to mix. Garnish with a strip of lemon peel.

The Story Of Design

Furniture designers often go back a very long time for furniture design ideas. The "Linen Fold" shown on the doors of this recently created chest, for instance, goes back to the 15th Century. About that time, carvers took inspiration from the folds of the Chalice and used it for the back of altars and as the drawing indicates, for the lower backs of high chests.

The Linen Fold is a particularly good choice for ornamentation of modern furniture because of its simple vertical lines and gentle curves. On this piece, the folds are wide and beautifully detailed. No modern housewife would say this carving was a dust catcher, yet it does add a note of interest to what might otherwise be a starkly modern chest. Incidentally, it contains ample storage space behind its three doors.

store. Then it would destroy the Chanticleer and cut through the vacant lots behind that until it joins the State's proposed route behind the Morris Avenue stores. It would cost an estimated $3 1/2 million more and take an estimated $0 more homes, but has the advantage of not bisecting the town with

WIDENING PRESENT ROUTE 22

This plan is backed by many citizens on the Mayor's Committee and in various civic associations. Its feasibility is held by three out-of-town lobbyists who are fighting freeway construction throughout New York and New Jersey. They maintain that Route 22 can be "revitalized" by the addition of four more lanes of traffic in Springfield and the construction of a viaduct over the Lehigh Valley Railroad into Newark. They realize that they wouldn't get as much Federal money for this project, but feel they would save the State money because the whole plan would cost an estimated $50 million rather than the new highway's mountain, cutting the hospital property approximately in half and passing within 100 to 200 feet of the hospital buildings. It was understood that the original course of the highway was placed north of the mountain which lies behind the hospital.

The Board further expressed its objections on the basis of the disturbance and possible hazard an eight-lane freeway, with its noise and polluted atmosphere, could be so close to a hospital for chest diseases and chronic illness. A super highway constructed through the hospital grounds south of the mountain would be catastrophic for many of the present and future generations of Union County residents as far as their health and welfare is concerned.
It was also pointed out that the County is planning for expansion of the hospital facilities and that the proposed location of the freeway would cut through the only site that was found to be suitable for expansion.

Involved is less than a dollar for each homeowner's $1,000 of valuation. It is felt that the small figure will not prove the extreme hardship of the highway to Springfield.
Still the McCrosky findings are reported to back up the Township Committee's contention that the State route causes an unreasonable amount of permanent damage to Springfield. It bisects the town and deals a severe blow to future development here, Forbes declares.
Forbes would be much less expensive if the Town will present the alternate route backed up by the McCrosky rethe grounds that unity will be needed at the Public Hearing.

Pro-Town

The most vigorous support of the alternate route came from real estate man Frank Cardinal who asked the group to urge the Township officials to order McCrosky to study the costs and flow of traffic situation of an interchange at the 5 Points by Terry Dempsey's. Former Township Committee member Charles A. Renlinger concurred and recommended that McCrosky finish the work on the alternate route by studying the interchanges.

Cardinal's main point was that the State would have to rebuild Morris Avenue right through Springfield if the interchange is in the middle of town. But if the traffic from Morris County is siphoned off onto the freeway at the 5 Points, then extensive reconstruction of Morris Avenue in Springfield will be eliminated.

The group concluded by passing Mrs. Libby's suggestion that telegrams be sent to officials urging that the time of the Public Meeting be changed from 10:30 Monday morning to sometime after six when working men can be present.

location—Mr. Smith's experience in this science is unknown to us. We can, however, tell you that in addition to costing over fifteen million dollars per mile for an eight-lane highway over the Lehigh Valley Railroad tracks, such an alignment would create interchange and right-of-way difficulties.

Route 22 as it is now constituted does not conform to the standards required for Interstate and Defense Routes. It is not limited access, its design would have to be re-engineered and its capacity increased by the same number of lanes as are now planned for the new route.

There are many reasons why we think Mr. Smith's ideas impractical. In his release the quotation from the 1958 Act tells the story. It provides for the incorporation of existing routes to the extent they are practical, suitable and feasible. From your own knowledge of existing Route 22 you can answer those particulars.

Very truly yours,

I call your attention to the last paragraph of the release, wherein it states that the Highway Act affords a means of improving existing roads where it is "practical, suitable and feasible" and surely such is the case to a large degree of the existing Route 22.
I would appreciate your comments and any help you can give in forming an official reply to the many inquiries we receive daily.

This development, called stereophonic sound, is available for home listeners as well as the Radio City Music Hall. This firm can set you up with either dual recorded tape sound systems or AM-FM, radio or musical sound.

HOME IMPROVEMENTS

BUNNELL BROS. - (8 Framer Ave., Springfield, DRexel 9-3490) Springfield without the Bunbells would be like Boston without the Cabots. Robert and Richard Bunnell have been writing insurances of all kinds in town since 1914. Their big friendly office is in the bank building near all the big money. Their advice on insurance matters, though it is a good deal more than friendly, is their years of experience show in the soundness of their advice.

RESTAURANTS

CHINA SKY - (Springfield Shopping Center, DRexel 9-5010) Here's a random sampling from the menu showing that there's practically everything under the China Sky. SAM GOP TAI - sliced lobster meat, white meat of chicken, Chinese roast pork prepared with imported Chinese mushrooms, snow peas, water chestnuts, bamboo shoots and hearts of bok choy; All this for $2.75 in Jack Chan's cheerful dining room.

RESTAURANTS

MOUNTAIN AVENUE LUNCHEONETTE - (540 Mountain Avenue, Springfield, next to Walton School) There is only one thing better than good German cooking and that is Mrs. Germain's German cooking. She is running the luscious breakfast, lunch and snack headquarters in town. The GUY recommends trying any of her homemade delicacies.

5th & 5th DRIVE-IN RESTAURANT

- (Corner of Morris Avenue and Springfield Avenue, Springfield, DRexel 6-2000) If you're one of a vanishing race of restaurant-goers who will still tatter out of your car and eat indoors, Jack Bullock's colonial-modern dining place offers a big new dining room. However, you'll get the same good food by simply staying in your car and let the girls run the food out to you. Either way the food is what makes us enjoy here so great.

TONY'S PIZZERIA

- (Mountain and Framer Avenues, opposite Regional High School, Springfield, DRexel 6-9732) There's an old saying that a pizza pie is what you make it. Tony Della certainly makes them more than usually good. His hand with the slices is sure and his experience with many pizzas is common. If you want to take one home, call in advance and pick it up hot. Better order several while you're at it.

WALTER'S INN

- (595 Morris Ave., opposite Millburn Ave., Springfield) The oft heard comment about the pizza pie being too big to eat must have originated here where the pizzas come king size in both diameter and seasoning. We like splitting a pizza among everybody at the table and ordering individual portions of their delicious Lasagna, Ravioli, and veal and peppers. You sure know you've dined out after that.

TV SERVICE

A & A TV - (3708 Morris Ave., Union, 1/2 mile from Springfield, MUdock 6-5900) A home has been in TV since 1938 when it was considered a laugh. John kept a straight face, though, and by seriously keeping abreast of the electronic world has made available to Springfield a shop that is tops in its field. Fixed charges, same day service, and guarantees on all work are the other reasons why people phone A & A.

SPRINGFIELD RADIO & TELEVISION CENTER

- (173 Mountain Ave., Springfield, DRexel 9-4543) Five mobile repair trucks, six mobile repair men, and enough testing equipment to make the CBS master control room, make this a logical choice when Lawrence Wik gets busy. The service is quick and all work is guaranteed. The proof of the pudding is the rate this firm has expanded in recent years.
