Council-Manager Plan E

The recommendation by the Charter Study Commission that Springfield should be governed by the "Council-Manager Plan E" has been received in the Township with mixed and somewhat confused feelings.

"The township committee form of government," says the official release by the Charter Commission, "is no longer suitable for our growing modern community."

According to information received from members of the Charter Commission, 1500 copies of the complete report are being printed to be made available to those who are interested in getting all the facts.

Questions being asked include the very important topic of politics. How will Council-Manager Plan E eliminate politics?

Another question is—"why the elections every second year, to serve staggered terms of 4 years? Why not enable the voters to make a complete change during any election year?"

There are many other questions: Where would Springfield obtain a township manager qualified by training and experience to serve for an indefinite term?

NEWARK NEWS EDITORIAL

The Newark Evening News, in an editorial published Monday, July

14, pointed out the problem of politics in considering the change in Springfield's form of government. Under the heading of "Springfield Charter," the editorial stated:

"An opportunity is at hand in Springfield for an intelligent inquiry into the efficiency and economy of the township form of government, and for a decision by the voters on whether a change is needed."

The evidence is clear that the township wanted a chance to make this decision. First, a citizens committee succeeded in placing a charter study question on the ballot last November. Then the voters authorized the study and elected a charter commission by a 3-to-1 margin.

After eight months' study, the five charter commissions now urge abandoning the Township Committee setup in favor of a council-manager plan with a paid administrator.

The ultimate success of this charter movement does not necessarily lie in success at the polls this fall for the commission's recommendation. What matters is that citizens and the leaders of both political parties confine themselves to the key question: Would the proposed change benefit Springfield?

To adopt a council-manager structure just for the sake of change would be as foolish as rejecting the advice of the commission without proper study.

Guiding debate on the question between these extremes is now the first duty of Springfield officials. They should encourage constructive discussion. They should take stands on the issue divorced from personal or party considerations.

Unless political leaders and voters draw a firm line between the charter issue and politics, the charter movement will be a failure regardless of the vote on the question, and a notable opportunity for self-appraisal, and perhaps improvement, will be lost.

shine under the rigorous strains of contour chaises, or the golf and tennis facilities which frequently tempt the tortured. To make things even worse, one is forced to endure the presence of full-time help and a round-the-clock live-in baby-sitter! And, of course, it goes without saying that one's already miserable state is greatly worsened by the proximity of fabulous, incomparable hotels, night clubs, and restaurants in Caracas, where by reputation many are said to be among the world's most glamorous. And yet, in spite of all these terrifying experiences in Caracas, we have managed somehow to live through them without so much as a scratch!

In closing, I would like to add that in all experiences with the true Venezuelans here, we have found them to be extremely hospitable, kind, sympathetic, cooperative, and overwhelmingly friendly.

Our greatest wish is that all of our fellow countrymen in the good old U.S.A. could have the wonderful opportunity we have had to understand and appreciate these wonderful people and their problems. It is true that their highly emotional temperament in these first few months of their political freedom has certainly caused much criticism in the States, and justifiably; however, we shall do all in our power on our return, to carry home their message, as they begged us to do.

Most sincerely, Irene D. Konrad.

Springfield residents spending the summer months in town may take comfort from the following letter from a resident vacationing in Vermont.

Dear Sirs: The other day I received by the post (The Rutland Post) an invitation to a sojourn soiree to be held at The Brick Church in Clarendon, Vt. It was, of course, one of the rituals that these superstition-ridden people observe at various times throughout the year; this time they were to worship the strawberry god. By the time we arrived, a good deal of worshipping had been already accomplished, due to the fact that we rode through the village three

Santa Rosa" on January 3rd. of this year, that we were to be living in Venezuela during such an important period of this country's history! Some weeks after the Revolution here on January 23rd, friends in Springfield mailed us clippings from "The Springfield Sun" showing your kind concern for our safety during our six month stay in Caracas. As I recall, the headline read "Friends Fear for Lives of Local Couple, and the article described our possible besieged state. The purpose of my letter is to thank you for your genuine concern for our safety, and to report that my husband Bill, my 3 year old son, Scott and I will no longer be in a besieged state after this evening, for we board a plane at 8:30 tonight - here, headed indirectly for the States. We'll spend three days each in Trinidad, Tobago (Robinson Crusoe's Island) and Barbados, then a four day stay at the Caribe Hilton in San Juan, Puerto Rico, and a five day stopover at Elbow Beach in Bermuda, before reaching Idlewild Airport on July 20th. We are eagerly looking forward to returning to our Springfield home at 210 Hawthorn Avenue, and to seeing our friends again! I never realized that six months could pass so quickly. We now know the real meaning of the word "besieged." It is a state during which one's on a whirling social merry-go-round of "coffee" luncheons, brunch - bridges, luncheons, dinner parties, cocktail parties, barbecues, dances and suppers (send off parties) - On "off days" during a besieged state, one is forced to spend the entire day at one's Club, enduring the strenuous tortures of balmy tropical breezes and warm sun-

(Continued from page 2) spagging quarters had lent a hand with the meal. Cold hand is really tasty, though some were rather warm; it must have been the sun. All this was washed down with large, steaming cups of instant coffee, or, if you preferred, sour milk. And then dessert. At that moment the large farmer nudged me in the ribs (I have recovered quite well, thank you) and told me that a lot of people came only for the dessert; and I said that I could understand that. Well, imagine my surprise when he said that so many people who had eaten the main course were being asked to leave, so that all might share in God's great bounty. He said, "I don't want to rush you city-slickers, but there are a mighty lot of good plain Vermont folks out there, who haven't had a meal in three weeks, outside of greens, grits and maple syrup, and I can't be responsible for what they might do if they were held up from eating much longer..."

Springfield is well represented in all corners of the world, these days. The tropics, especially, seem to beckon to some of our neighbors looking for relief from our history balmy breezes.

Mr. and Mrs. David Strunin, of 84 Archbridge Lane, spent a thrilling 5 days at the Caribe Hilton and several days Volkswagen-ing around the Virgin Islands. (On the land, that is.)

While daughters, Judy and Sydney are away at Camp Pine Grove in Jamesburg, N. J., their parents, Dr. and Mrs. Donald Stevens of 164 Hillside Ave. have been enjoying a week's sojourn in the Caribbean. Their itinerary included Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Way down south, but not quite in the Caribbean, was Donna Dell Lindauer, who resides at 74 Wentz Ave. She soaked up the sunshine while visiting friends and relatives in Palmetto, Florida.

Friends of Stanley and Joan Vogel of 28 Archbridge Lane are being regaled with stories of the three week trip they've just taken with their parents, Dr. and Mrs. N. Vogel. Among the highlights of the trip were stops at San Francisco, where Dad attended a Medical Convention and Los Angeles, where they all oggled the movie stars.

A warm welcome to Springfield is extended to: Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Zarrelli of 52 Rose Ave., recently moved from Berkeley. Highlights with daughters Dawn, 5 and Cindy, 2. Mr. Zarrelli is a draftsman with the Hammond Map Co. in Maplewood.

TAKING CARE OF YOUR GARDEN

By Edward A. Cardini
Chairman, Springfield Shade Tree Commission

For the past several weeks I have been plagued by phone calls and letters calling my attention to the sudden drying up of the leaves on trees. Many calls concern trees on the town main right of way, but many also concern trees on private property. Some trees have been recently planted, yet others are mature trees that have been growing vigorously for many years.

Although there are many types of diseases affecting shade trees, including leaf diseases, wilts, cankers, wood rots, and root rots, I sincerely believe that 98% of the damage is caused by the over-abundance of rainfall this past spring. A recent visit by the county agent and a specialist from Rutgers seems to bear out my findings. Unfortunately, little can be done to help these plants except pruning and fertilizing.

Q: My Japanese Red Maple tree was growing well and two days ago it suddenly turned brown, although the twigs seem green and healthy. What is wrong?

A: All maples seem subject to leaf scorch, which usually happens following hot, drying winds and bright sunshine after a period of wet weather. Sometimes the leaves become bronzed in irregular areas, usually from the margin inward, although the entire leaf can also scorch to a crisp. It is probably caused by inability of damaged roots, or dry soil to supply enough water to keep pace with rapid transpiration. This condition is sometimes caused by excessive moisture rotting the root system.

Q: My maple tree has small round spots all over the leaf. Is this serious?

A: This is probably a disease called PHYLLLOSTICTA MINIMA. The spots are round, about the size of a pea, reddish brown at the center, and surrounded by a pronounced purple border. This occurs frequently, but does not warrant spraying.

Q: My dogwood was planted a year ago, and has now developed a scar at the base and the leaves are stunted. Is this disease?

A: This could be crown canker which attacks dogwood in this area. The fungus causing this canker lives in the soil and usually only affects newly planted, or injured trees. Dogwood should not be planted in wet ground, and any injury to the bark, such as caused by a lawn mower, or feeding rabbits should be coated immediately with a good tree wound dressing.

Q: What do you mean by a good tree wound dressing?

A: When I attended a course on shade trees at the Agricultural Experiment station a few years ago, slides were shown proving that many tree paints actually help diseases multiply, and the tree would have been better off unpainted. Tree wound paint is used for four reasons: 1—To eliminate a potential site of infection. 2—To promote rapid and healthy healing of the wound. 3—To minimize surface checking in the raw wood surface. 4—To re-establish a closed circulatory system in the wound area. It is very important to use a high grade tree paint, preferably one containing a disinfectant.

'New' Bathrooms Give Decorative Lift to Home

If your living room and bedroom feature a definite theme, carry the same idea into the bathroom.

Homes with Early American decoration offer endless design possibilities. To create the calm beauty of colonial times, use polished red bricks on the wall above the bathtub and on the floor. On the other walls, try unpainted knotty pine paneling.

Hurricane lamps on the vanity countertop lavatory will add to the atmosphere. Straight-legged stools, plain wooden cabinets and other accessories will help, too.

If your home has an Old English flavor, red is an ideal central color. Install flagstone flooring. For the walls, try bright wallpaper showing an outdoor scene. Deep red, pink, white or cream-plumbing fixtures, shower curtains and accessories are made even more attractive by Old English lamps and chairs.

Chandeliers, marbleized wallpaper, and a Victorian dressing table set are important in homes with a Gay Nineties theme. The floor tile might be large black and white blocks. A square bathtub and deep lavatories will blend with the rest of the room.

Southern charm also can enter a bathroom. Light blue or gray fixtures might be the predominant color here. A vanity countertop lavatory with a petticoat skirt would be lovely. Lots of drapes and curtains to match lattice work around the walls would help carry through this idea.

If you should discover a fire in your house, get everyone out first and call the fire department as fast as possible. Give your exact address and tell what's burning. Be on hand to meet the firemen to direct them to the fire and to the water supply.

If you wish to use lettuce or tomato slices in a packed lunch, wrap them separately.

Minutemen Win 3-1 After 1-0 Defeat

The Springfield Recreation Minutemen dropped a 1-0 decision to Livingston last Wednesday then triumphed Thursday on their day.

Livingston came up with an airtight defense, plus stellar pitching to stop Springfield, with the Minutemen getting but two hits. Norm Lawn pitched creditable ball after allowing a single tally in the bottom half of the first inning. Baron tripled to score Dunne with the only score of the pitcher's battle. Springfield did not threaten in this game as Baron struck out eleven, getting at least one strike-out in every inning.

Thursday night the locals, although out-hit 7-5, had the defense to stop the hard-hitting Chatham Okies. Selander's triple with two aboard in the sixth was the payoff wallop, scoring Gerber and Ehrhardt. Ronnie DeSantis was on the hill for the Minutemen and received the honor of pitching the first victory for the Springfield entry in the fast Suburban Recreation Baseball League. Norm Lawn had two hits, with Berghouse of the visitors the stickout as he came through with three straight hits.

Playground Activities

Riverside Playground has increased now to 150. The youngsters are all busy playing tether ball, baseball, checkers, chess, and pick-up-sticks.

We had a doll show for the young girls and the winners were: Best Dressed Doll—Mary Ann Campbell with Joyce Martin a close second; Smallest—Marie Rizzo; Most Unusual—Florence Raguel; Cutest—Barbara Frost. The Pet Show that we has the week before was very successful. There were dogs, cats and birds. The most unusual pet was a duck brought by John Shields. The winner for the day was the big white collie, King owned by Wendy and Warren Rebell. The young children build a sandcastle in the sand. They have a special time in the sand. This has proven a lot of fun. Recreations Arts and Craft Leader, Mrs. Brandt has been with us to show the children some special work in this field. The children were very interested and worked quietly with Mrs. Brandt all afternoon.

This week our Park participants will have a chance to compete with one another for the Park Championships in hopscotch, jacks and checkers. We will also have play-offs in chess, horseshoes, and tether ball. The Park Champions will compete for the town championship and the final step is the County Tournament.

The Riverside baseball team has good ball players and lots of spirit so we can count on them winning many games this season. John Shields, Frank Monticello, Bob Ciccone and Ron Faucher have the best batting averages—all over .500. The biggest surprise this year is young Nick Rizzo who at 9 years of age is a regular on the team at second base. This year he has walked home 15 times at bat. Pete Cherchia, our centerfielder has the measles but we hope he's back on the job soon. Gary Bonco fills the first base position and Tom Sincore is the catcher and doing a fine job. The team is expected to do great things this year.

Henshaw Playground—The third week of activities at Henshaw Playground featured various events which included the participation of all the children. Monday the annual Pet Show was held with Tommy Baker's entry taking the first place blue ribbon. A second place tie went to the entrants of Karen-Kauer and Carolyn Bucci, Pierre and Suzette, toy French poodles, while third place was awarded to Eric Weiss for his pet, Smokey. The craft program this week included the making of lanyards, key chains, and bracelets and jersey-loop-pot holders. In addition the artistic abilities of the children were manifested in clay modeling and painting. A few of the more advanced ventured into figure and portrait sketching.

It has been a policy at Henshaw Playground this season to appoint a junior leader each week. The boy or girl is chosen for his or her cooperation and display of leadership. Their duties involve assisting the leaders as well as the other children of the playground. Karen Kauer was appointed the first week, and was succeeded by Alan Greenburg. Pam Hutton will take over for the week of July 14th.

Caldwell Playground—The big event last week at Caldwell Playground was the Hat Show held on Thursday afternoon. Reports Marjorie Bash, leader. Participation was very good, as there were 15 entries. Mr. Ruby with arts and crafts, a baseball team, and other competitive sports. Competition has been keen in checkers, chess, tether ball, and horseshoes. The boys and girls leading in these contests are as follows:

Irwin Playground—Dana Lindauer and Al Hector, leaders at the Irwin Playground, report this summer's program starting with a bang, with an enrollment of 225. The playground has been busy

Ranny Gargano, tether ball, 325 points; Judy Conover, tether ball, 200 points; Susan Yates, checkers, 255 points; Linda Bartlett, checkers, 88 points; Ronny Puanon, chess, 40 points; Barbara Cannon, chess, 10 points. The Irwin ball team has done fairly well this summer. Irwin lost to Henshaw 12 to 11. They beat Washington 12 to 5, and won the Regional game by forfeit. The youngsters have been busy making lanyards, to which keys and whistles are attached. All ages have been interested in making pinholders for the enjoyment of their moms.

The boys were elated over the idea of painting Indian totem poles with bright colors. Kickball and relay races seem to be popular with the youngsters. On Friday, July 11th, excitement was keen over a crazy hat show. There were a great number of extremely ridiculous looking hats made by the children. First prize went to Bobby Cohen, with an original hat creation of a mop adorned with kitchen utensils.

Dennham Playground

By Ruth Pringle
Since this week is Arts and Crafts Week, special emphasis is being given to the handiwork program at Dennham Playground. Many of the children completed place-mat sets during the first few weeks. These are made by decorating large doilies with an original design. When the child has created one for each member of his family, he may take them home along with a candle to decorate the dinner table.

Also on the agenda one day last week was scrap painting. By dipping clothes pins, bobby pins, checkers, loops, etc. in paint and placing them on paper, we watched many interesting designs emerge. However, we appreciated the shower which came later in the afternoon, for it served to wash the tables, benches, and us. We are also enjoying making recipe holders and wall plaques under the direction of Mrs. Brandt. Of course the traditional lanyards are popular this year as they always have been.

Last week's field day revealed that we have some budding athletes in our midst. The winners of the Three-Legged Race were Richard Healey and Paul Savas, first; Michael Callahan and Don Cardone, second; and Matthew Hayes and Bobby Smith, third. Claire Whalen placed first among the girls in the Fifty Yard Dash, and Alan Day was the winner among the boys. Most of the children present participated in the other races, which included relays, tap running, and broad jumping.

Chemist Comes Up With Find

Stanley K. Freeman of 94 Kew Drive is credited with a major role in the development of an insecticide that is so safe it is "less toxic than table salt." Freeman, chief chemist of Benzol Products Co., is working at present at getting the insecticide "Barthin" onto the market.

The story of the gift that took a lifetime to make...

Like all grandfathers, he thinks the world of his grandsons. Like all grandfathers, he'd give him the world, if he could. And in a way, that's what he's done during all the rewarding times they have always spent together. He has tried to give his grandson a gift that will last the boy a lifetime, a gift that has been a lifetime in the making.

Watermelon Serves Many Purposes

A slice of watermelon the shape of a smile and a youngster taking a huge dripping wet bite—what a happy combination! Grownups find it hard to resist the desire to join in the fun and have a grand time in the same manner. And many... The watermelon season's on, and it's the very best of watermelon seasons, according to Mrs. Mary W. Armstrong, Union County Home Agent. The crop is excellent and it's (Continued on Page 3) big, says U. S. Department of Agriculture Marketing Specialists. Heavy shipments are arriving daily at Northeast markets as farmers harvest beautiful supplies of watermelons in Florida and California, the growing areas that produce the most delicious, firm fleshed, rosy red, fine textured melons.

Usually, it would seem, indulgence and economy don't go hand in hand. But this is one occasion the rule won't apply. Watermelon prices are bargain low these days. You can indulge the family to a fault and still deserve a pat on the back as a budget-wise homemaker. And you'll rate still more praise for bringing cooling relief refreshing relief when relief from summer heat and discomfort is called for.

Although watermelon makes such a fine dessert and snack-time pick-me-up, it's appropriate for many other purposes, too. Sliced, cubed or in balls, it's a suitable addition to a fruit and cottage cheese salad, a fruit cup, appetizer, or a tossed salad.

A wedge of watermelon—with or without a slice of lemon for a garnish—will round out your dinner or luncheon menu. For an outdoor barbecue meal, or a picnic or beach meal, it will lend an air of easy informality—and make a perfect first-come-her first. Watermelon is about 92 percent water, delicately sweetened and flavored, and fortified with a good proportion of vitamin A and other nutrients.

But watermelon pickles are a tradition from way back. And this is a very good way to get double value from any watermelon purchase.

Watermelon Pickle
4 pounds prepared thick watermelon rind
Lime-water—made with 2 quarts cold water and 1 tablespoon of lime (calcium oxide, purchased from drug store)
2-tablespoons whole allspice
2-tablespoons whole cloves
10 two-inch pieces stick cinnamon
1 quart vinegar
1 quart water
4 pounds sugar
Select thick rind from a firm, not overripe melon. To prepare, trim off the green skin and pink flesh. Weigh 4 pounds of the remaining portion and cut in inch pieces. Soak for 1 hour in lime-water. Drain, cover with fresh water, and cook for 1 1/2 hours or until tender. Add more water (Continued on Page 3)

Try Some Italian Desserts

But Not Too Soon After A Heavy Dinner!

By AUDREY CHASE WALTERS

The Italians, like the French, would not consider ending the main meal of the day with sweet dessert. They will have cheese and crackers or fresh fruit. That is not to say the Italians do not have excellent recipes for sweets, but these are reserved for the evening when friends are entertained or for ceremonial occasions like weddings or christenings. It might be better for us if we followed this continental style. It is a sad truth that Americans consume too many foods high in calories but low in nutrients. Having made our point, we would like to discuss some of these Italian recipes and trust you to use your own good judgment as to what and how much it is good for you to eat!

RUM SHORTCAKE

Place an eight-inch shortcake layer on a large cake plate. Sprinkle with two tablespoons rum. Spread with one-half cup strawberry, peach, or any other jam you like. Cover with one and a half cups soft custard. Place second sponge layer on top. Continue as with first layer. Place third layer on top. Soak with remaining rum. Cover top and sides with whipped cream.

On second thought, if this is typical of what would be Italian dessert, there is little wonder that they wait several hours after a big meal before tackling it and then only do so on ceremonial occasions! Incidentally, if it sounds too rich, this makes a delicious confection sprinkled with confectioner's sugar, omitting the whipped cream entirely.

CHRISTMAS COOKIES

These Christmas cookies are good any time of the year.

Thoroughly mix one quart of milk, half pound confectioner's sugar, four tablespoons cornstarch, eight egg yolks, one-teaspoon vanilla and one-teaspoon almond extract. Cook in deep saucepan over high flame stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Place in one-inch deep pan, cool, cut with cookie cutter. Place in baking pan, brush with melted butter and bake until brown in moderate oven.

These should be served hot. Served with vanilla ice cream, they make a nice surprise dessert to a cold-plate supper. (If you insist on remaining American and serving dessert with meals!)

Strawberries are grown the world over and the Italians like theirs with wine. Any other berries may be served with same way and, if you want a real conversation piece, use fresh raspberries and a rose wine.

STRAWBERRIES IN WINE

Wash and drain well one quart of strawberries. Chill berries and one-half cup sweet white wine. Five minutes before serving, pour the wine over the berries. If you like the berries very sweet, they may be sprinkled with sugar just before adding wine.

Pasta in its many forms is widely used by the Italians as we have already discussed in a previous article. Pasta in its noodle form can be used as a dessert in the form of a really delightful pudding.

NOODLE PUDDING

Parboil one pound of noodles and place in baking dish. Cover with half teaspoon cinnamon. Beat four eggs well, add two cups of sugar, one quart of milk and one teaspoon vanilla. Mix together well and pour over noodles. Sprinkle top with nutmeg and bake 20 minutes in 325 degree F. oven. Chill before serving.

No Italian recipe suggests scalding the milk before adding to the egg and sugar mixture, but we do. We also suggest you put the liquid mixture through a strainer when you pour it on the noodles.

The Italians and French, too, are well known for cheese cakes. There are a great many recipes available but here is one you may wish to try. Real cheese cake is never inexpensive to make because it takes real cream and lots of eggs.

REAL CHEESE CAKE

Combine two pounds cottage cheese with half cup heavy cream. Add two cups light cream and one-half cup sugar. Fold in eight well-beaten eggs. Add two-teaspoons vanilla and one tablespoon grated orange peel. Fill pan lined with pastry dough or any crumb mixture you like. Bake at 300 degrees F. one hour. A few raisins may be added to mixture before baking, if desired.

Portable Breakfast Kit

A Breakfast Kit enables motorists to prepare a good breakfast with minimum time, effort, and cost.

The motorist decides the time and place for breakfast when a handy Breakfast Kit is part of his traveling equipment. Experienced travelers know that a good breakfast is the best way to start a long day of driving. The importance of a good breakfast to the well-being of all ages has been demonstrated by research at the State University of Iowa. Young and old alike not only felt better but they performed better, especially in the late morning hours, after a basic breakfast of fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter.

A well-stocked Breakfast Kit contains staple foodstuffs and serving dishes for a basic breakfast. This may include cans of fruit juice, individual packages of breakfast cereals, both pre-sweetened and regular types, instant coffee and cream, sugar, spreads such as jelly, jam, or honey, disposable serving dishes, plates, cups, napkins, and spoons. Fresh foods, such as milk, butter or margarine, can be purchased late the previous day and kept in good condition in an insulated bag.

The next time you and your family are on a trip take along a Breakfast Kit. You will soon join thousands of other motorists who start the day with a good basic breakfast easily prepared at their convenience. In addition to saving time and money, you know your family will have a nutritionally adequate breakfast that will provide quick and lasting energy throughout the morning hours.

Wedges of fresh tomatoes, sprinkled lightly with onion salt and oregano add a cool complement of color to the buffet table.

REPORT TO THE PEOPLE FROM YOUR CONGRESSWOMAN

FLORENCE P. DWYER

The circus-like performance surrounding the investigation of Bernard Goldfine has all but obscured the fundamental issues which this case had earlier raised.

The propaganda, publicity tricks and misleading statements have blurred the fact that the investigation was originally intended to determine whether federal regulatory agencies were truly independent or were being unduly influenced by other government officials. In this respect, it raised the extremely important question of what are proper rules of conduct for government officials.

This is a question that needs concentrated attention and careful study. It cannot get this attention in the thorough confusion which has been purposely aroused.

Add to that the fact that nobody seems to be entirely "clean" - Goldfine and his companies' alleged violations of the law, the questionable judgment of those who have received Goldfine's gifts and hospitality including top Republicans and Democrats in Congress and the executive branch as well as staff members, the disgraceful shenanigans by employees both of Goldfine and the Harris Subcommittee, and the Subcommittee's highly irregular tactics in accepting "hearsay" and irresponsible testimony in open hearings.

CYNICISM DANGEROUS - Such a morally disordered atmosphere, where right and wrong are pretty thoroughly mixed up, tends to produce a reaction of, for instance - "Oh, what difference does it make? Everybody does it!" Or the equally cynical attitude, as sometimes expressed to me, "Why did you get into politics, Flo? Don't you know you can't stay honest?" To which I would give three emphatic answers:

Insistence on the highest moral standards in government is most important, and it makes a great deal of difference when these standards are violated. Everybody is not "doing it."

Despite the temptations in politics, public officials - certainly can - and most do - stay honest!

Unfortunately - cases like the present only serve to heighten the apathy and confirm the cynicism of so many people toward government and politics. And the careless, self-serving statements freely issued from the fringes of the Goldfine investigation confuse the issues even more.

For these reasons, it may be worthwhile to suggest some guidelines which can consistently be applied to the conduct of those in public office. The following are several which should be re-affirmed vigorously:

1) Individual citizens and groups of citizens have a right - both legally and ethically - to petition their government for assistance or to remedy a grievance or simply to express their views on public matters. No-one will deny this.

But it's not enough to say this alone. The means and methods and purposes of those seeking government assistance must be considered. No citizen has a right to expect - and no government official has a right to give - special favor or privileged treatment unavailable to others in the same position. Unjustified prerogatives or immunities for one person means inevitable discrimination against another. And this is completely alien to the American principle of equal treatment under the law.

2) Government officials are paid adequate and sometimes generous salaries for one purpose: to promote and protect the public interest, the welfare of all the people. Their salaries are, therefore, paid by all the people.

assistants or employees of public officials to receive valuable gifts than it is for officials themselves. Their sole responsibility, also, is to the general public through their

Jersey Tomatoes Star In Senatorial Salad

New Jersey played a major role in the preparation of the "Senate Salad of 1958" at the luncheon held in the United States Capitol. At this second annual Senate Salad luncheon Rep. Robert W. Keane (center) is served by Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, Treasurer of the United States from the world's largest salad bowl as Professor L. G. Sherman who developed the Rutgers Tomato, looks on. Rep. Keane (R. 12th Dist.), one of six Senators and eight Congressmen who acted as hosts, provided New Jersey tomatoes. This salad, composed of 15 ingredients from 11 states, was created by General Foods. Kitchens from 35 Members of Congress from 35 states joined Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, Commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration George P. Larrick and other Government officials in sampling this year's Senate Salad from the world's largest salad bowl, three feet wide, 14 inches deep, holding 320 main course servings.

As needed. Drain. Put spices loosely in a clean, thin, white cloth; tie top tightly. Bring to boiling the spices, vinegar, 1 quart water, and sugar. Add watermelon rind and boil gently for 2 hours. Remove spice bag. Pack rind in clean, hot, sterile jars. Fill jars to top with hot sirup. Seal tightly. Makes about 6 pints.

August is Sandwich Time—time to free Mom from kitchen duties and let her join in summer fun. Sandwich-meals promise both good eating and leisure time. The beefsteak sandwich offers proof. Mix 1/2 cup mayonnaise and 2 teaspoons prepared horseradish. Split 6 enriched French rolls and spread bottom halves with squares, dissolve a package of mayonnaise. For 6 sandwiches, you will need 12 slices corned beef, lettuce leaves, 12 thin slices tomato, 12 slices roast beef and 12 thin onion slices. Now build each sandwich by placing 2 slices corned beef on the bottom half of each roll. Cover with lettuce, 2 tomato slices, 2 slices roast beef and 2 slices onion. Spread cut surface of roll tops with butter or margarine and cover onion slices to close sandwiches. Makes 6 Beefsteak Sandwiches.

Report To The People

and accept campaign contributions. But even this unobjectionable situation must be carefully qualified. Contributions must not be solicited or accepted with any conditions or "quid pro quo" attached which could influence the candidate's action or vote as an office-holder.

Some people have questioned whether these and other ethical standards should be made a matter of law. I think they should — even though I agree that you can't successfully legislate morality. What is really involved here is a sincere effort to face the facts of human nature, to recognize the existence of weakness, temptation and evil, as well as good; and to try to compensate for human limitations and strengthen the forces of good.

TIME FOR ACTION

This is not a matter of questioning the integrity of public officials, but of taking effective steps to bolster that integrity and protect the public against official lapses from the high standards the people have a right to expect.

Many such proposals, thoroughly studied and obviously sound, are today languishing here in Washington and in State Capitols like Trenton. They comprise the real challenge facing citizens and politicians who are genuinely concerned about ethics in government, who are not shouting "ethics" and "morality" as political diversion or as weapons with which to club people they dislike.

Among these proposals are: a requirement that all inquiries directed to regulatory agencies be made a matter of public record in the case at issue; a "Clean Elections Bill" now in the Senate which would tighten up many existing loopholes and inconsistencies; the requirement that all public officials reveal the sources of all their income; the enforcement of practical limitations on the value of gifts to officials and their staffs; an enforceable limit on the amount and source of political campaign contributions as a means of encouraging recourse to more and smaller contributions.

In Trenton, approval of Assemblyman Franklin's "Ethical Standards Act" would have meant substantial progress toward higher standards of public service. By killing it, that progress has been unnecessarily delayed.

In the final analysis, however, any such action will come only when the American people demonstrate they are concerned and insist that action be taken.

Don Ameche Is Featured At Grist Mill

Don Ameche will be the star of the fifth attraction at the Grist Mill Playhouse in Anderson, opening Monday, in his original Broadway role in the comedy, "Holiday for Lovers," also starring Irene Manning.

A veteran of countless Hollywood films, and one of the top radio and television personalities in the entertainment field, Ameche returned to Broadway three seasons ago and won rave notices as the star of the Cole Porter musical, "Silk Stockings." After more than a year's run on Broadway in this production, he returned the following season to star in his current vehicle, "Holiday for Lovers," with which he is touring the top summer theaters in the east.

Equally at home in both musical and light comedy roles, Ameche has also achieved dramatic fame, perhaps the most noteworthy of these being his performance as Alexander Graham Bell which was so widely acclaimed and remembered that even today on television and radio shows a telephone is often referred to as the "Ameche."

Irene Manning, who will play opposite Ameche, is also well known both as a singer and as an actress, having co-starred with Dennis Morgan in the film version of "The Desert Song" and many other hits. Ameche and Miss Manning will bring their entire supporting cast with them to the Grist Mill Playhouse.

Performances will be every evening from July 21 through July 26, with a matinee on Wednesday, July 23, and two performances Saturday evening, one at 6 and the other at 9.

Giving its final performances this Saturday, July 19, at the Grist Mill will be the record breaking engagement of Margaret Sullivan and Joseph Cotten in their original role in the comedy hit, "Sabrina Fair," with Cathleen Nesbitt, Luella Gear, Russell Collins and other members of the original Broadway company.

Buttercups demonstrate a new way to toast bread for a "new look" in open-face sandwiches. Trim crusts from slices of fresh enriched bread. Brush lightly with melted butter or margarine. Press into muffin cups. Place in moderately hot oven (375° F.) until lightly toasted, 10 to 15 minutes. Fill with poultry, meat or seafood salad.
