Cites Free Spirit of America In 4th Talk

Mayor Vincent J. Bonadies of Springfield discussed vividly the manner in which the American people celebrate holidays as contrasted to the type of celebrations held in other countries at the annual Fourth of July festivities in Springfield. "Here in the United States we can do as we please. We are filled with the holiday spirit. We pack the highways to travel to beaches and mountains. We can and do enjoy ourselves," cited the mayor. "But in other countries celebrations consist of military might displays, political orations, and student rioting depicting negative political spirit, Mayor Bonadies continued. Displaying the "New Frontier" spirit, Mayor Bonadies told the large crowd gathered at the Jonathan Dayton grounds that the American people are filled with the carefree spirit which comes from living in a free land where fun and revelry is enjoyed by all. Winners in the annual Fourth of July baby parade have been announced by the Fourth of July Committee. Over 70 children entered the competition which saw 14 youngsters emerge victorious. ## Mosquito Count Shows Increase

The Union County Mosquito Extermination Commission announced this week that the mosquito count for the last seven days has shown increases in most counties. The Commission reports that in most instances, however, the increases can be attributed to rainy weather combined with mosquito breeding areas discovered on private properties. Inspectors have found prolific domestic breeding in all areas of Union County. This breeding has been found in old tires, paint pails, garbage can covers, and old wash basins, a discarded flower box in a cemetery, a mortar box, an old hub cap, a 55 gal. drum, an old truck dump body, a discarded wooden vat and other similar containers. The Commission cannot find all these places every time they inspect. These situations must be watched carefully by everyone, especially in rainy weather. They ask individual cooperation for the comfort and good health of all citizens.

From The SUN FIELD by Dick Schwartz

When an associate asked this column to record its views on the Little League side of the baseball world, we hedged, hawed, and generally tried to evade the invitation. We buried ourselves in the White Sox phenomenal winning skien, searched for the most feminine of feminine golfers at Baltusrol, and pondered what type of ballplayer Albie Pearson of the Angels would be if he were stretched.

But then we heard the shouts of kids down the street and we found ourselves thinking of the little tykes and the Little League. We reconsidered and decided to try our hand at something we know absolutely nothing about. This writer has never played in a Little League game (too tall), never rooted a wee-one around third (no children), and never umpired behind the iron mask of authority (faultry voice box). In fact, this writer has never witnessed any Little League competition first hand. But he does read. He has read of heated debates between those who favor Little League play as a boon to the youngsters, and those who regard the mid-gem diamond people's recreation as an awesome deterrent to their future psychological well-beings.

This corner sides with the former of the two groups, and we maintain our stand not so much on the athletic ramifications of Little League baseball, as we do on the hard-realities of growing-up.

If someone would call our attention to any phase of a child's life that doesn't have permanent psychological repercussions, (be they healthy or otherwise), this column will be immediately make the necessary apologies and honestly wish that we had never embarked upon this rolling sea of controversy.

But in the meantime..... If those who down-rate the existence of Little League on the assumption that "outside elements are causing too much tension," or, "the game has become more than a game, it has become a social battle with far-reaching implications," then it must go without saying that these same people are wary of their children's playmates, teachers, crossing guards and relatives as well. All are similar in that each, in some way, takes his place in the child's over-all makeup. Isn't there competition in the schools, the play group, and the family itself, baseball or no baseball?

What a parent must do to thwart harmful influences and "anxieties" is lock the impressionable within the confines of a murky closet and refuse to open up until the child passes adolescence.

We feel that the entire argument of the "tension, friction, over-emphasis, strained nervous system, no arch support, chills," group, is uncalled for and highly unrealistic when connected with Little League baseball. This is an era of "tensions, frictions, strained nervous systems, no arch supports, and chills."

If Junior doesn't develop symptoms of his generation on the ball-field, he'll only develop them elsewhere, and at least on the ball field he'll be getting some exercise which is more than can be said for young full-time readers of "impressionable literature."

There was a good deal of merriment at Spring Country Club last Saturday night when Table #2 won the drawing for a bottle of champagne. The occupants, all residents of Springfield were residents of Springfield were Florence and Richie Rosenberg Herman and Harriet Schwartz, Manny and Edna Salzman, Nate and Thelma Spector, Sunny and Larry Dorsky, Ruth and Dave Wasserman and Arthur and Lucille Weiss.

Miles and Debra. The family were formerly residents of Forest Hills, N.Y. Dr. Harmon is an optometrist with offices in New Brunswick.

Friends send happy anniversary greetings to Mr. and Mrs. Milton Kapstatter of 39 Glenview Drive. The Kapstatters celebrated more than twenty years of "wedded bliss" on July 1.

Another REALTY CORNER Sale:—Property at 221 Hillside Avenue, Springfield sold for Mr. and Mrs. Milan Uraa of Newark. Mr. Urban is owner of Urban Dairy Company in Newark. This sale was arranged by Margaret Schaubert, an associate of ANNE SYLVESTER'S REALTY CORNER.

In commenting on the record amount of savings, Mr. Gardiner attributes the increase in part to the enlarged and improved facilities available at the new main office building at 1886 Springfield Avenue, Maplewood, which opened last November and which features, among other advantages, walk-up and drive-in windows, as well as a spacious parking lot.

Your Library

The major book exhibit and display in the children's department of the Springfield Public Library for the summer months will feature travel to foreign lands. The caption FAR AWAY PLACES ARE COMING CLOSER TO YOU! in bold white letters is accompanied by exotic posters of such intriguing spots as Japan, Mexico, Canada, Australia and Hawaii.

The posters are accompanied by a wide and colorful selection of books of other countries from South America through Czechoslovakia, Turkey, Israel to Africa.

Among authors writing about foreign countries for the picture book crowd, Miroslav Saseh's books stand out for their informative text and interesting illustrations. A truly delightful series of books, titles are "This is Paris," "This is Rome," "This is London," etc. "Even the parents will enjoy the "The Young Traveller Series" published by Beasford. There are thirty-two books on all the leading countries. "Young Traveller in Turkey" by Irtan Orga is written for the upper grades. In this book, with 23 authentic photographs, the land of mosques, carpets, Istanbul with its minarets and fountains, strange exotic plants and crops, is brought into focus through the wide-open juvenile eyes and experiences of Paul and Caroline, who are twins travelling with their parents. The children are surprised by a dancing bear in the streets of Istanbul and a camel fight in Kayseri.

Even if you are not able to take that jet flight to other countries this year, books can surely bring strange lands and far away places closer to you. A smaller exhibit in the opposite corner of the room features the joys of swimming. The poster has a cooling effect on anyone who gazes at it. Books displayed here are, "The First Book of Swimming," by Don Schiffer, and "Summer Story," by Maxine Kumin, both children's books. For the parents, four other books are in the display borrowed from the adult department: "Teach Your Child to Swim," by Gene Stephens, "Easy Steps to Safe Swimming," by Evelyn McAllister, "Learning to Swim," by Harry Littlewood.

Bonadies Hears Summary On Medical Center Project

Vincent J. Bonadies, mayor of Springfield, was one of twenty mayors, representing communities which will be served by the new Saint Barnabas Medical Center, Livingston, to hear a first-hand report on the hospital last week at the home of Robert Winthrop Kean, Livingston. Mr. Kean, who is Chairman of the Saint Barnabas Board of Trustees, explained that over the past several years, as the new Saint Barnabas project has developed, the official community leaders have been kept abreast of the hospital's progress. "We realize that, as community leaders with a responsibility to your constituents, you will want to know as much as possible about any project that affects your community's health and well-being as much as does the new Saint Barnabas Medical Center," he said. The mayors and their wives heard construction and development progress reports from Anthony M. Meyerstein, Building Committee Chairman; Anthony Seala, Associate General Chairman for Development; and Dr. George C. Schicks, the hospital's executive director. Dr. Lyndon A. Peir, President of the Medical Staff, explained the wide range of opportunities that will exist for area doctors who wish to join the Saint Barnabas staff. He pointed out that the present hospital in Newark now has 240 beds. The new Saint Barnabas Medical Center will be a 600 bed hospital. With the greater capacity for patient care, there will be a corresponding need for many more staff doctors, it was explained. Construction is moving ahead rapidly, with finishing touches now underway on the roof, it was reported. The hospital is expected to be ready for occupancy next year.

Bell Schedules Area Code For 3 Million NJ Phones

The New Jersey Bell Telephone Company this month will distribute area code stickers for New Jersey's three million telephones. The stickers, shaped like a "half-moon," are to be affixed by the customer to the upper portion of the number plate of each telephone instrument, just above the individual telephone number listing which appears on each plate. Stickers for customers in Northern New Jersey will carry the area code "201". Those distributed in the southern part of the state will carry the number "609", the area code for that region. Area codes are not required for calls dialed between any two points within New Jersey. The three-digit codes must be used for calls dialed to New Jersey from out of state. The company urged its customers to notify persons who frequently call them from out of state of the area code which should be used to make such calls. The half-moon stickers will be sent to customers along with the bills to be dated on or after July 1. Those bills were scheduled to start reaching customers today (July 6). The last stickers to be distributed are expected to reach their destinations by August 10. Customers who need additional stickers can obtain them through their local business offices. New Jersey Bell customers who have All Number Calling (ANC) service, or are scheduled to receive ANC by the end of this year, will not receive the stickers. Area codes are included on the new number plates provided for telephones which are switched to ANC. Approximately 94 per cent of all New Jersey Bell customers today have direct distance dialing (DDD) service which enables them to directly dial to most of the 76-million telephones in the United States and Canada. Conversely, New Jersey Bell customers can receive calls directly from millions of telephones from out of state when either of these two codes are dialed.

From Senator Harrison A. Williams, Jr.

OPEN SPACE AND MASS TRANSIT BILLS BECOME LAW—President Kennedy signed my open space and mass transit proposals into law last Friday, along with other provisions of the Housing Act of 1961. The White House ceremony was a memorable occasion, a climax to the final few hectic weeks before passage by both Houses last Wednesday.

Only two weeks ago, this newsletter described the difficulties facing the open space amendment. It has been stricken from the Senate Housing Bill in the final hours of debate, but it was held in the House version of the same bill.

Mass transit faced a similar but reverse problem. It was in the Senate bill, but not in the House version.

Faced with the possible loss of both measures, many groups and individuals who were interested in this legislation pitched in with strong, last minute efforts to hold both programs in the final bill.

Editorials helped. So did statements from such groups as the American Municipal Association and many conservation groups. The showdown came in the conference on the Housing Bill, where sixteen Senators and Representatives sat down to iron out the differences in the bills passed by each House. At just the critical moment, the President gave his personal strong support for an emergency mass transportation bill.

After two days of discussion, the Senate-House conferees agreed to accept almost all the provisions of the two bills I introduced earlier this year. I was tremendously pleased by the passage of these two programs.

For mass transportation, the law will:

1. Broaden the 701 urban planning program to authorize the use of those funds for comprehensive mass transportation surveys and planning. (The conferees authorized $55 million for the overall urban planning program.)
2. Authorize $25 million for pilot mass transportation demonstration projects.
3. Provide $50 million for one-year emergency loans, at low cost, for equipment and facilities to help preserve and improve essential mass transportation service.

The final version of the open space bill provides $50 million for grants to state and local governments to acquire and preserve open space land in and around urban areas. Open space in heavily populated areas could thus be saved from the onrush of urban sprawl.

Both the transit and open lands program will be under the direction of the Housing and Home Finance Agency Administrator, Dr. Robert C. Weaver. He has assured me that he will start action immediately to be ready for applications within a few months.

Passage of these two measures should help usher in a new age of urban living and help the metropolitan areas free themselves from strangulation and other pressures in our cities and suburbs. Another step forward has been taken to true national perspective on the many problems facing us in our cities and suburbs. President Kennedy, in his remarks before signing, specifically referred to the open space and transportation provisions. He said that they will eventually be of benefit to all Americans.

A FAR-REACHING BILL As the President also noted, the general housing bill is a "giant step towards better cities and improved housing." It brings to new usefulness many of the tools that have been developed since the historic Housing Act of 1949.

As finally passed, the law includes a four-year program for urban renewal, easier mortgage requirements and a 3 per cent down payment on homes, increases in housing for the elderly and college and hospital housing, and a program to help homeowners improve present dwellings. Many ideas have thus been incorporated into this "giant step" of a bill; I'm proud that two for which I worked have been included.

EDITORIALS, COMMENTS: One of the most heartening occurrences during the final two weeks of the battle was the outpouring of support for open space, in particular, wrote a column a few days before the conference complaining that the cities seemed to be losing out to legislators who represent states with plenty of open space. Other support came from the New York Times, the St. Louis Globe Dispatch, many New Jersey newspapers, and the Philadelphia Bulletin. The Washington Star said on June 27 that the open spaces funds provide very necessary grants to purchase open lands.

Thus, there was a mounting demand for action in the final weeks and days before passage. It's gratifying to me that the demands were made and that they were heeded.

PLANS FOR A TERCENTENARY: A State Commission has been at work for months on plans for celebration of New Jersey's 300th birthday. Last week, a federal commission went into operation, too. Members of the federal commission, working closely with members of the state group, will take part in much of the preparatory work for the statewide celebration in 1964. Among the projects contemplated are special events at the World's Fair, a Presidential Proclamation, and a Tercentenary Observance on the Isle of Jersey. Senator A. Willis Robertson of Virginia, a member of the Federal Commission, was on hand for the first meeting. He agreed that the Commission should seek a $100,000 appropriation for its first year of work. We also decided to investigate possibilities of creating a park at Sandy Hook, only 16 miles south of Manhattan. I told the group that Secretary Udall had indicated earlier this month, great interest in such a project.

David S. Davies, Executive Director of the State Commission, reported a coincidence to the group. He said he didn't plan it that way, but the address of the hotel in which the meeting was held is 300 New Jersey Avenue.

YOUTH TAKES A LOOK: Three New Jersey High School students came straight from their graduations for two weeks at my office this month. They are this year's winners in my annual Summer Scholarship Competition, and they were chosen from more than 300 students who submitted essays and scholastic records. The youngsters—Nancy Chao of Somerville, Dennis Rondinelli of Trenton, and Salvatore Scialla of Waldwick—had a busy two weeks. They visited the Peace Corps, the President's Press Conference, the F.B.I. and many government agencies. They spent much time in my office and at the Capitol, observing how their Congress works on the many matters that must be considered in legislators' offices.

On a Voice of America broadcast to be heard around the world, the three visitors gave their impressions of what youth should try to do for their nation. They asked every citizen to awaken himself to the issues of the day and to be a participant in community life and not merely a spectator. It was a pleasure to meet these students, even though their visit was much too short.

New Theatre Group Opens in Princeton

A newly organized summer theatre, Princeton Play ers, Incorporated, will open in the Princeton Country Day School here July 3, produced by John Crowther, Joseph Fitchett and Paul Glickler.

The group was formed in New York as a resident company for Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa., but the producers decided to locate in Princeton to keep up a community tradition of producing plays seldom seen in straw-hat theatre. The last active summer theatre group in the area was displaced when the University's Murray Theatre was closed this spring for renovations.

John Crowther, co-producer, has worked with Princeton's Theatre Intime and appeared with the association of Producing Artists in McCarter Theater here. As president of Princeton Triangle Club, he wrote and acted in plays and was instrumental in inaugurating the club's European tour.

Joseph Fitchett, co-producer, is an actor, director, producer and former president of Intime. In that group he produced the world premier of an adaptation of W. H. Auden's Age of Anxiety by John Becker. This fall he will study on a Fulbright Scholarship at Cambridge in England.

Designer, Paul Glickler is currently vice-president of Intime for which he has acted, directed, designed and produced. His design experience encompasses Triangle Club, other local productions and the famous Hedgerow Theatre in Philadelphia, Pa.

The eight-week season will open with two one-actors by George Bernard Shaw, Village Wooing, a comedy-entertainer for two voices, and Great Catherine, which will run Monday thru Sunday, July 3-9, directed by Philip Minor.

Mr. Minor has acted and directed in more than a dozen plays in New York. Among the plays by Shaw he has directed are Heartbreak House, The Philanderer and a recent production of Back to Methuselah for the Shaw Society. This fall he will direct his third off-Broadway production, Misalliance, scheduled to open at the Sheridan Square Playhouse, September 19.

Other plays to be presented are I am a Camera by John Van Druten, directed by Robert Sugarman, July 12-16; Endgame by Samuel Beckett, author of Waiting for Godot, July 19-23; and a musical version by John Becker of Aaron Slick from Punkin Crick by Lt. Beal Cormick, directed by Mr. Becker, July 26-30.

Mr. Becker is the recipient of three Peabody Awards and received Honorable Mention at the Venice Film Festival. He has directed and produced all over the country and will direct his own adaptation of W. H. Auden's Age of Anxiety off-Broadway this fall.

FM Station Inaugurates New Program

The beginning of a new musical program was announced today by station WJHA, New Jersey's new FM radio station located in Dover.

The new program spotlights a presentation to be aired on Mondays and Thursdays from 5:30 to 7:00 p.m. The program bows in this Monday, July 3rd. Jerry Shard, nationally known orchestra leader and musician will host this new effort with music of the 30's and 40's in a program called "In the Mood." Jerry, formerly of the WABC Network, will present the finest of stereo recordings from his own private collection of the music that made prohibition and depression days bearable. His knowledge and selections will give the greater metropolitan area something new to listen to. WJHA-FM, 105.5 MC, will begin broadcasting the new stereo-multiple system in a few weeks. This new program will be included in the station's stereo programming schedule.

Brings Irma Meadowbrook Star to Stage

Marie Wilson, star of television's "My Friend Irma" and numerous motion pictures, is Meadowbrook-bound.

Known as the world's smartest dumb blonde, Miss Wilson will open in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" at the Route 23 show palace starting Tuesday evening July 11th. The long-popular musical-comedy hit will occupy the dinner-theatre stage through July 30th.

As Miss Wilson's leading man, Gary Mc Hugh, Meadowbrook producer, who originated the idea of the World's First Dinner Theatre-in-the-round, portrays his first role at his own theatre, since it opened two and one-half years ago.

The appearance of Miss Wilson marks the second major star to play the Meadowbrook under its new policy of "Stars to Brighten Your Summer Nights". Only recently William Bendix, TV's "Riley", concluded a record-breaking performance in "Take Me Along". Miss Wilson will be followed by Dennis Day in "Finian's Rainbow".

"Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" is the story of Lorelei Lee, the legendary lass of the zesty 20's who yearned for a diamond mine.

The selection of Miss Wilson as this convulsing character, is another sheer bit of casting perfection by the Meadowbrook producers. Video's "Irma" has long been one of the greatest dumb blondes. California born, Miss Wilson broke into show business early in life and scored heavily in Warner Brothers pictures. She hails from a studio which once boasted the likes of James Cagney, Humphrey Bogart, Dick Powell and a host of stars.

Like Bill Bendix, Miss Wilson enjoys playing before live audiences. "It's a delightful change of pace after working in front of TV and movie cameras", said Marie.

In "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes", Miss Wilson will have an opportunity to display her dancing and singing talent along with her brilliant acting ability. She will handle such Jule Styne, - Leo Robin tunes as "A Little Girl From Little Rock", the ludicrously seductive "It's Delightful Down in Chile", "Diamonds are a Girl's Best Friend" and the

Molly Picon, Martyn Green Star at Mill

Monday evening, July 10 Leonard Spigelgass' tender comedy about a Brooklyn housewife and a Japanese businessman, "A Majority of One," will open at the Paper Mill Playhouse.

Molly Picon, famous star of the Yiddish theatre and just back from a triumphal 10 week London engagement in "Majority", plays the inimitable Mrs. Jacoby, Brooklyn housewife with an international and very human flair for living. Martyn Green, mainstay of the D'Oyly Carte's Repertory, of Gilbert and Sullivan for twenty-five years and well known in every phase of theatre, portrays the Japanese businessman, Mr. Asano.

"Majority" shows how the contrasting mores and customs of East and West diminish under the impact of a mature relationship between Mrs. Jacoby and Mr. Asano. The distance between two cultures does not seem so great when bridged by individuals, and when Mrs. Jacoby's common sense influences the American State Department, her true value is illustrated to the people she loves most, her daughter and son-in-law.

Jacob Kalish, Miss Picon's husband and theatrical mentor, is the director of "A Majority of One." This marks the most recent of a long list of plays he and Molly Picon have done together.

"A Majority of One" will run July 10 through 22 at Paper Mill Playhouse.

Plains Girl Bridal Shower Traditions

Rules of etiquette on bridal showers may now be given at any convenient hour as the occasion is always regarded as a "surprise" for the bride-to-be. Invitations should go only to her close friends and the gifts should not be expensive since most of those invited will also be sending wedding presents.

Originally an afternoon affair, showers may now be given at any convenient hour as the occasion is always regarded as a "surprise" for the bride-to-be. Invitations should go only to her close friends and the gifts should not be expensive since most of those invited will also be sending wedding presents.

The hosts should indicate whether she is giving a linen, kitchen or personal shower—and the hostess discreetly ascertains color and decorating themes or clothing sizes of the bride-to-be, depending on the choice of shower being planned.

More and more wise hostesses have found a simple solution for party decorating in the Hallmark Plans-a-Party bridal shower set with a honeycomb centerpiece and matching coordinates which include invitations, paper plates, cups, place mats, napkins, inverted umbrella candy cups, and place settings.

The gifts are placed in another room or screened from view until time for the bride-to-be to open and admire them. This is usually done before the refreshments are served.

If you are the recipient of the shower gifts, a polite thank you to all those present is required and it is proper to send a card expressing appreciation to anyone who sent a gift but was unable to attend.

Hans Conried Scores Hit In Millburn

CONRIED IN PERSON EVEN BETTER THAN PAAR

Puns strictly intended, Hans Conried gives an even better than Paar performance at the Paper Mill Playhouse—where the quick witted actor shows that on the little screen or on stage he's one of the top comedy actors. Viewers, who have been dazzled by Conried's repartee and charm in their local Paar-room, are pouring into Paper Mill to see if he's that good in 3-D. Score: A birdie. The hit show, "Pleasure of His Company", co-starring Cornelia Otis Skinner continues at the Paper Mill through Saturday night, July 8. Devotees of the little flicker screen will be happy to hear that Conried will be seen in a spectacular this fall, in 3 more Dany Thomas shows and at the Paper Mill right this minute.

Herschel Bernardi, who plays Lt. Jacoby on "Peter Gunn," made many of his early television appearances on "Matinee Theater." "Things went so fast on that show," Bernardi told TV GUIDE magazine, "that you never knew what time it was and were beyond caring anyway. I remember one actress who thought we were still doing the dress rehearsal when we were actually on the air. She was supposed to open a window but it stuck. She just stopped, turned around and said, 'What kind of a window is this?' Somebody caught her eye and mouthed frantically, 'On the air!' and she just looked at him, raised her voice and said, 'I said what's the matter with this damned window?'"

"Gone With the Wind" Still Makes, Breaks Movie Records

First Opened 21 Years Ago

David O. Selznick's production of "Gone With the Wind," now presented by Metro-Goldwyn Mayer in tribute to the Civil War Centennial, now showing July 28th at Loew's State Theatre, Newark, has broken every box-office record in motion picture history. "Gone With the Wind" has played in practically every city in the world, including those behind the Iron Curtain. Its record-breaking aggregate audience totals more than 120,000,000 people and it has been shown somewhere every day since it first opened 21 years ago. It won 3 then unprecedented 10 Academy Awards, including the Thalberg Award given to Producer Selznick for "most consistent high quality of production." Clark Gable became Hollywood's "King" as a result of his portrayal of Rhett Butler. The picture also proved a turning point in the careers of Vivien Leigh, who won an "Oscar" as best actress of the year for her role as Scarlett, Olivia de Havilland as Melanie and Leslie Howard as Ashley.

Although the Academy Awards are recognized as the final accolade, there were many other honors and tributes tendered the picture. At opposite poles, for example, Winston Churchill sent a personal message of congratulations and Adolf Hitler seized a print and ran it over and over for his personal pleasure. "Gone With the Wind" runs three hours and 40 minutes. The final edited film contains 19,980 feet—just short of four miles long.

Of every dollar received from New Jersey Blue Cross members, more than 95 cents is returned in the form of hospital benefits by the Plan, whose operating expense ratio is among the lowest of any of the nation's 79 Blue Cross plans.

Letters to the Editor

Editor, Sun:
The Officers and Board of Trustees of the Union County Heart Association wish to extend their sincere thanks and appreciation to you and your staff for the wonderful publicity your papers gave our pictures and stories this past year.

Through your cooperation the General Public has become more aware of the condition and the service given by the Heart Association. Our Rheumatic Fever Control Program has also become more widely known.

In closing, I would like to add my personal thanks to you and your staff.

Sincerely,
Henriette E. Froelich

Editorial

I think that your last editorial in the Sun about Americans' attitude toward Nationalism deserves not only praise but attention. Your feelings are the same as mine and many more who cannot make our feelings known due to our inability to reach the public as you have done. On behalf of the true citizens we congratulate you and sincerely hope the spirit of Nationalism will set afire in Springfield.

Yours respectfully,

Motor Vehicle Question Box

Q. For how long a period may a new resident of New Jersey operate his vehicle on an out-of-state registration and driver's license?

A. A person moving from another state and taking up residence in New Jersey is allowed 60 days in which to obtain a registration and driver license, provided he has a valid vehicle registration and driver license from his former home state.

To register the vehicle, the owner must present to a New Jersey motor vehicle agent the title

"I Am a Camera" Offered By Princeton Player Group

A comedy, I am a Camera, by John Van Druten will be presented by the Princeton Players Incorporated, Wednesday through Sunday, July 12-16. It is the second production in the eight-week season by the group of young professionals located in the Princeton-Gountry Day School, one block from Palmer Stadium.

The Broadway hit is based on a short story, Sally Boyles, by Christopher Isherwood. It is the love story of two young expatriates living in Berlin in the midst of the Nazi regime. Among Van Druten's other comedies are The Voice of the Turtle, I Remember Mama, and Hell-Book and Candle.

William Pierce, who will portray Christopher Isherwood, appeared with the University Players in the Broadway production of Romeo and Juliet, and last summer he designed lighting for the off-Broadway productions of Lulu, which starred Eva Gabor, at the Fourth Street Theater and Bonds of Interest, directed by Philip Minor. He is currently working with the Alvin Epstein Repertory Theatre which will open off-Broadway this fall.

Productions, creators of "Yogi Berra," "The Flintstones," and other TV cartoons believes cartoons on TV are reaching a more mature audience. "Cartoons," he told TV GUIDE, "Have changed. They've grown up... why, we got a letter from scientists working at the White Sands testing center, asking if we could air 'Huckleberry Hound' a little later in the evening so that they wouldn't miss it.

When "Gunslinger" was rushed into production late last year, star Tony Young went to see a gun coach who specializes in teaching fast draws. The teacher asked Tony if he had any special problems, reports TV GUIDE, "Yeah," Tony replied, whipping out a Colt .45, "Teach me how to put this thing back, lean get it out all right, but up to now I've never had to put it back, I've always gotten shot."

Every year since 1942, New Jersey Blue Shield membership and benefits payments have shown a substantial gain.

THAT'S A GOOD REASON

When "Gunslinger" was rushed into production late last year, star Tony Young went to see a gun coach who specializes in teaching fast draws. The teacher asked Tony if he had any special problems, reports TV GUIDE, "Yeah," Tony replied, whipping out a Colt .45, "Teach me how to put this thing back, lean get it out all right, but up to now I've never had to put it back, I've always gotten shot."

The magic of easy music making, heretofore limited to electronic and portable chord organs, is now available for the first time on the piano, thanks to the ingenuity and perseverance of a self-taught inventor, 32-year-old Lee Von Gunten, Engineer and developed by the Wood and Electra-Chord, an electromagnetic device, is being built into pianos produced by major manufacturers.

Pianos equipped with the Electra Chord look and sound exactly like standard instruments, except for a set of buttons located on the left side of the keyboard. When a button is pressed, the proper magnet or magnets are activated, causing the conventional piano action in which the keys move and the hammers strike the strings on the inside.

Anyone who can read numbers or pick out a tune with his right hand can now accompany himself by playing chords with one finger of his left hand. It is intended for those who may lack the time or patience to play the conventional piano. At the same time, the ElectraChord serves as a teaching device, which, because the keys can be seen depressed, automatically shows the player how to form chords.

The ElectraChord in no way alters the dynamics, touch or tone of the piano. There are no tubes, loudspeakers or amplifiers in the device. One selected button, due to the scientifically arranged linkage system, can play any chord in any key desired—major, minor, augmented, diminished or seventh. Another button can play the appropriate bass note to accompany each chord. A player can also mix chords or play tenths in the bass section which the normal person cannot reach with his fingers manually.

The inventor, Lee Von Gunten, a native of Akron, Ohio, is self-educated. He learned the principles of electronics and musical theory in public libraries and spent hours of work, night after night, working on his idea of an invention to simplify piano playing. The ElectraChord took five years of development and thousands of hours of field testing at the Buffalo plant of Wood and Brooks, foremost manufacturer in this country of piano keys and actions. Already Vincent Lopez and Lawrence Welk are so interested in the ElectraChord that they are studying how to feature it on their respective TV shows.

SEE - HEAR: Durward Kirby, Garry Moore's sidkick on CBS, the "Candid Camera" series on CBS-TV Sunday nights this fall when Arthur Godfrey vacates the spot. Ironically enough, the series was launched after a season on Garry's Tuesday night sessions....

Add look-alikes: Sam Peeples, creator of "Tall Man," the Barry Sullivan Saturday nighter on NBC, and Sam Levenson, the comedian. Both have round faces, wear the same-type glasses and are big, amiable fellows. However, Peeples was born in Utah and Levenson in Brooklyn, N.Y., so there's a speech difference....

Don Ameche, panelist on "To Tell The Truth," is already in Paris to start work on his new series, "International Showtime." First of the programs, due for a fall debut, will be filmed in Germany. Don acts as host and narrator on the show which will bring circuses, water shows and other events to viewers....

"MR. ED," a fanciful and amusing TV series based on Walter Brook's delightful talking horse stories, and starring comedian Alan Young, will make its CBS-TV network debut next fall. It will mark Alan's first regular network series in several years. He appears as Wilbur Post, a young architect, who, with his wife Carol, played by Connie Hines, purchases a palatial country home and discovers that a most remarkable horse, Mr. Ed, has been left on the grounds by the previous owner. The palomino talks, not horse talk, but highly literate, articulate English....

Ronald Reagan, host, program supervisor and frequent star of CBS-TV's GE Theatre, has been presented a George Washington Award by the Freedoms Foundation.

RADIO-TV NEWSRELL: After the great success of "Der Fuehrer's Face" in 1942, the Spike Jones Band drew such large crowds that in one city the theatre manager, in order to get the audiences in and out, kept shortening the movie. He finally took so many scenes out of it, Jones recalled during a rehearsal of his new summer series on CBS-TV (Mondays, starting July 17), that "they hanged one of the actors in the picture—and he hadn't even done anything wrong."....

Academy Award-winning composer Johnny Burke, creator of the score of "Donnybrook!," the musical at the 46th Street Theatre, in New York, is creating an LP album for Nat King Cole to record which will have in addition to words and music by Burke, running dialogue between songs....

While Arthur Godfrey makes a brief flying tour through the western and southwestern part of the country, Richard Haynes, a former "Talent Scouts" winner, will sit in for him until he returns on Monday, July 10, on his CBS-Radio shows....

The way things are shaping up, it looks like plenty of reruns of wintertime shows this season on your TV schedules.... That's all for now. Recipe for a longer life—Never exceed the feed limit!

During 1960, New Jersey Blue Cross and Blue Shield subscribers were hospitalized at a rate of more than 1,000 a day, or one every minute and a half.

Adjournment

Ranger Camp, as Camp Mindowaskin, is a day camp program but stresses the teaching of basic camping skills and includes a 2-day overnight camping experience in either the Pocono Mts. of Pa., or in the Palisades of New York State. More detailed information on either of the programs can be obtained by phoning the YMCA at AD 3-2700. Application for registration can be secured at the YMCA, which is located at 136 Ferris Place.

"Y" Day Camp Has Room For Young Boys

Mr. Walsh, Director of Youth Activities at the Westfield YMCA reports that registrations are being accepted for all periods in each of the YMCA's Summer Camping programs. The enrollment of Camp Mindowaskin, which is the Westfield YMCA Day Camp Program for boys completing grades 1-6, is at near capacity with 120 campers, registered for the second period, with the opening of the 2nd period of day camp less than 4 days away, only 20 more campers can be accommodated in the program at this time. Periods 3 and 4 of day camp, however, are at 50% capacity and there is still ample opportunity for boys to register for either of these periods. Ranger Camp enrollment has also reached near capacity for the 2nd period. There is space for 5 additional campers for that period. As in the past, boys who have completed 4-6th grades in school or boys of this same age category who have previously participated in the YMCA Day Camp Program are urged to register for Ranger Camp as the next camping program in the progression for the youngster as he prepares for his first Resident Camp experience away from home.

Jehovah Group Plans Confab

It was officially announced this week by Marshall De Cristofaro, presiding minister of the Springfield congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, that their semi-annual Bible convention, sponsored by the Watchtower Bible & Tract Society, will be held for the three-day week end of July 21 to 23. The Academy Arena in Plainfield is to be used for the assembly and over 1600 are expected to attend from 17 congregations. The delegates will represent Union County and seven other central New Jersey counties. Mr. De Cristofaro said, "Although we have recently returned from our New York district assembly in Yankee Stadium which had a peak attendance of over 92,000, we look forward to this local convention as an added opportunity to improve our Bible knowledge and receive advanced training in the ministry." James A. Hinderer, district minister of the Watchtower Society, will be chairman and featured speaker. The program highlight will be the free Bible lecture by Mr. Hinderer to be given the final day. His subject is, "The Twentieth Century in Bible Prophecy."
