Editorial...

The April primary battle is looming large on present fronts and a multitude of prepared statements charges and counter-charges are being presented to newspaper offices for publication. Many statements are simply based on platform issues, candidates backgrounds or "records" of candidates, HOWEVER, many others come into the newspaper offices which "charge" opposing candidates with one thing or the other.

This newspaper, in keeping within the bounds of objective reporting, is intent upon giving each and every candidate his or her say without endorsing any specific candidate, whether on the local or county level. Every candidate has an equal opportunity to have their releases appear in this newspaper, providing that the candidate himself or the campaign chairman submits these articles to this newspaper. Photos are used accordingly, space permitting.

We wish to make it absolutely clear to the candidates, the voters and anyone else concerned that WE DO NOT ENDORSE ANY CANDIDATE and further, THE OPINIONS EXPRESSED BY CANDIDATES DOES NOT NECESSARILY REFLECT THE OPINIONS OF THIS NEWSPAPER.

We strongly urge all eligible voters to exercise their privilege to vote. Vote for the candidate of your choice, but vote. The only way to insure the representation which you desire is to cast a ballot for your candidate. April 16 is Primary day. Now is the time to weigh the qualifications of the candidates and April 16 is the time to choose your candidate.

Letters To Editor

To the Editor:

Well, Springfield has had its third 'SALES DAYS' promotion, conceived and promoted by the merchants' division of the Springfield Chamber of Commerce. 'Shop in Springfield Week' has become an accepted merchandising effort in our business community.

While the final results have not as yet been tabulated and analyzed, one thing is clear. An alerted progressive business community is awakening to take arms in a struggle for survival. 'Springfield Shoppers are but a phase of an ever increasing awareness that the business growth of our town is inexorably tied to a strong progressive Chamber of Commerce.

Yet there is still a long way to go. Although this Shopper was the largest so far in terms of advertising space committed, it by far does not yet represent the combined efforts of our entire business community. I urge all merchants in Springfield to re-examine their advertising promotions and allowances with a view toward expanding other budgets for future Springfield Shoppers. With the combined effort of all of us, Springfield Sales Days can gain even more momentum and strength.

The business communities of every small township throughout the nation are facing tremendous competitive forces in terms of ever growing giant retail outlets with vast resources and abundant parking facilities. While your Chamber of Commerce is working toward better parking facilities in Springfield our 'Shoppers' are the short term answer to this competition. We want more ads, bigger giveaways, and an awareness that our greatest strength is in our own co-operation and unity.

The residents of Springfield have a take in all of this also. As business growth increases, business rates increase. A strong business community can actually, therefore, lead to lower residential taxes or conversely to expanded residential facilities. I therefore urge all residents of Springfield to support participating merchants in future 'Springfield Shoppers' and also to urge all merchants throughout town to become a part of this ever growing combined effort.

I would like, at this time also to publicly express my gratitude to those who have worked so hard and diligently to help the business community of our township in this expanded sales day program. To Mr. James Haggerty, Manager of Newberry's for his support and co-operation; to Mr. Joe Talamini, Editor of the Springfield Sun, for giving our merchants much needed publicity in the face of other, perhaps even more pressing, newsworthy events; to Mr. Joe Merrill of Jo-Jan Studios for his fine photographs of our business community which he freely donated to the Springfield Chamber of Commerce; and to the many mer-

Commissioner Approves Crestmont Application

State Banking and Insurance Commissioner Charles R. Howell today approved a two-part application which will result in an extension of services for one North Jersey savings and loan association and the absorption of another.

Being absorbed is the 37 year old Buildmore Building and Loan Association of 79 Halsey St., Newark, after its only office is moved to a store in the Echo Plaza Shopping Center, Route 22, Springfield Township. The Buildmore's $90,000 in assets in turn are being sold to the Crestmont Savings and Loan Association of Maplewood, which will be operating the relocated Buildmore office as the second Crestmont branch in Springfield.

The Crestmont, with $43 million in assets, provides members with insurance of accounts through the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation. The Buildmore did not offer such insurance protection.

In approving the bulk sale of assets, Commissioner Howell noted that the Crestmont has been operating a branch at 175 Morris chants who participated in our last Shoppers, our thanks and gratitude for your progressive aid and co-operation.

A special thank you to Saul Freeman, executive Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and publicity Chairman of the Springfield Shopper who worked so hard to make this latest Springfield Shopper the best we have had to date.

I would also like to thank Mayor Arthur Falkin for his "Shop in Springfield" Proclamation and for the many long hours he and his committee have been working in attempting to secure for our merchants expanded parking facilities.

Most of all a word of thanks to Jack Stifelman, President of the Springfield Chamber of Commerce, for a tremendous year in overseeing the many and varied activities of the entire Chamber and without whose guidance and effort and good words none of this would have ever been.

Lastly, thank you, residents of Springfield for your wonderful response, your many good wishes and your loyal belief in the growth of Springfield.

Yours truly,

Will Salesky
 Vice President
 Springfield Chamber of Commerce
 Chairman, Merchants Division

Ave., Springfield, since 1954. This branch resulted from a merger with the Springfield Savings and Loan Association and during the eight years that Crestmont has operated its Springfield branch, "savings accounts have increased from $200,000 to the present $15 million," the Commissioner said.

Crestmont also has a branch in Maplewood, where it is domiciled.

The only objection to the new branch was registered by the First State Bank of Union, which maintained at a public hearing on March 5 that the grant would harm the bank and be against the public interest. A spokesman for the bank also expressed doubt about the new branch's prospects of success.

After giving the bank's objection "most careful consideration," Commissioner Howell said, "there is no question in our mind of the ability of the Crestmont to carry the branch here proposed." While operations of the new branch probably would have some effect on the bank, "we have concluded under the particular facts and circumstances herein involved that the objector bank will not be 'unduly' injured by the grant."

The Springfield Township population, now estimated at 16,000, has more than doubled since 1950.

Because customers have confidence in the high quality of our work, our business is constantly increasing.

To the Editor:
 I have read with much interest your Editorial (3/7/63) of the need for a larger Library in a more centralized location. The reasons you listed were numerous and were clearly detailed, but if there were no other reason except to make it more accessible to our school children, that should be sufficient. The many Springfield Library readers are aware that a new Library doesn't "just happen" so lets start the "Library Band Wagon" rolling, and all of us get on it.

Deadline Nears For Swim Pool Membership

The Springfield Swim Pool Committee announced this week that applications for charter membership in the Springfield Swim-Pool will be accepted through April 15, 1963.

The Committee urges all Springfield residents who have not as yet returned their membership applications to do so immediately. This notice will give the townspeople ten more days to forward their applications, thus insuring themselves and their families of many enjoyable moments during the hot summer months ahead.

The members of the Swim Pool Committee expressed great satisfaction with the progress now being made by the contractors in erecting the pool and bath house facilities. Not only is construction well in advance of expectations, but the many clerical details which are involved are also being worked out in a most desirable fashion.

Marvin Strauss and Mrs. Lee Beno, leaders of the membership drive, Mrs. Shirley Goldhammer, chief bookkeeper, are most appreciative of the cooperation their committee has received to date. At present, there are in excess of 1,000 applications for Charter membership. The people of Springfield have clearly demonstrated their desire to take part in the Community's newest recreational facility. This overwhelming interest has been most gratifying to the members of the various committees who have given many hours of their time in making the swim pool a reality.

Ed Schwartz, Chairman of the Swim Pool Committee, wants to remind the local residents once again that there are still ten days remaining in which to forward applications for Charter Membership. Be sure your application is in no later than April 15th, so that you and your family will be Charter Members.

Applications are available at the Municipal Building, the Springfield Sun Office, the Springfield Post Office and the National State Bank of Elizabeth, Springfield Branch. Forward your application today, and BE IN THE SWIM-FOR 63.

Growing Support For Springfield "Lady" Freeholder Bid Is Noted

A political phenomenon may be in the making in the candidacy of Lorrie Lewis, a Springfield resident, whose rapidly growing army of supporters feels confident she will be selected as one of the Democratic nominees to the Union County Board of Freeholders in the coming primaries, April 16.

Current member of the Freeholders, Mary Kanane, the only female member of the important county board, is not seeking reelection this year, preferring to run for the office of Surrogate instead. Because of the excellent work accomplished by Freeholder Kanane and the importance of having a woman on that county's department, many voters are expected to rally to the support of Mrs. Lewis, since she is the only female running for a place on the Freeholder board. This is the first time that any female member of the Democratic party in Springfield has been a candidate for Freeholder and voters in all parts of Union County, are expected to ignore all party lines and cast their ballots for Mrs. Lewis "so that a woman freeholder may be retained for the many important duties best served by women."

Lorrie Lewis, graduated of Hunter College in New York City and holder of B. A. degree, class of 1946, has been a student of government since moving to Springfield and is one of the recognized leaders of the Democratic organization. She has not only "worked in the vineyards" for the Democrats in Springfield but her efforts in behalf of county, state and national campaigns have attracted the attention of the top leaders of the organization.

A political observer who has watched the present campaign gather steam stated that "Lorrie Lewis" is giving the voters of Union County something that spells victory. She is very personable, articulate, talented and can emphasize her qualifications every time she is permitted to speak.

"There appears to be a groundswell of support wherever Lorrie Lewis appears. She knows her subject, is sincere in her promises of service and is more interested in dedicating herself to the many problems of welfare and county institutions than just to triumph in an election," this same observer concluded.

Volunteer groups are organizing in all sections of Union County to "bring out the vote for Lorrie Lewis" and Springfield, especially, is crossing political party lines to give her full support in the April 16 primaries.

CHECK TERMITE DAMAGE

Every year at this time, homeowners find winged insects that suddenly fly out and then drop their wings and crawl all around. These insects are termites and indicate that there are thousands of other termites still eating the house causing further destruction to the wood of the house. The cost of repairs far exceeds the cost of treatment and goes higher with delay.

Call us for free inspection of your home by experienced personnel. Our work, which we guarantee for TEN years is engineered to exceed all existing specifications making us the leaders in the field.

Letters To The Editor...

Dear Friends,
On behalf of the Township of Springfield who will benefit, The Springfield Chapter of the American Red Cross, The Red Cross Blood Bank, and the Blood Program Committee I wish to thank publicly all volunteer workers, donors, and groups who contributed to the success of the March 18th Bloodmobile visit and the Springfield Blood Program.

In addition to thanking all those in the community who helped especially the efforts of the Presbyterian Church and the Reverend Mr. Bruce Evans; the Woman's Club; Murray Construction Company, and the League of Women Voters; and the participating groups with their own banks, we wish to acknowledge the following:

Rabbi Reuben Levine and Rabbi Israel Dressner who as leaders of their groups were also donors. To those who donated at the same bloodmobile as couples - Arthur and Claire Falkin, Harvey and Anita Elliotts, Milton and Jean Billets, and Dom and Florence LaMorgese.

To Leo Newman and Dot Danziger of Sharey Shalom for developing over 30 donors. Mr. Newman was a donor also. Mrs. Danziger a volunteer nurse, and her husband Charles A. Danziger a donor.

To Sue Kalem who as a member of the Gaudineer P.T.A. served as a donor recruiter, was herself a donor, served as a volunteer nurse, and still had time to serve as a Motor Corp driver.

To the volunteer medical staff and to Dr. Gabriel Lull who served as chairman and maintained two shifts in the roving coverage.

To Mrs. Jose De-Segredo for being a secretary to the Blood Program, and to Claramae Sasse for maintaining the telephone during the entire day.

To John Gacos and Sue Kalem for recruiting the year round for new donors, working all day at the Bloodmobile visit, and being regular donors at every visit of the Bloodmobile to Springfield.

To the participating groups maintaining group banks - Fire Department Council of P.T.A. for the Springfield Schools; Temple Beth Ahm, Temple Sharey Shalom, Saks Fifth Avenue, and the Community Group participant.

To the SPRINGFIELD SUN for its excellent coverage of the Blood Program, education regarding the Blood Bank, the individual Bloodmobile visits, and donor recruitment.

The more than fifteen families and their friends who have been helped by blood credits authorized from the Springfield Bank in the past year will continue to join with us in appreciation of the more than 400 individuals in Springfield and surrounding communities of Mountainside, Westfield, Plainfield, Summit, Cranford, and Millburn who have helped the Springfield Red Cross Blood Program grow so successfully. Those who benefit from the Blood Bank will be welcome in the future of the Program to help inform others of its presence, to help recruit other donors, work on the Bloodmobile day, and to be donors when possible.

It is difficult to give personal thanks to everyone when the success of the Blood Program has resulted from the contributions of so many, but our appreciation is extended to all who have through their support given the vital life blood to the township... Blood That Buys Time To Save Lives.

Sincerely,
Henry S. Wright
Chairman,
Red Cross Blood Program

Name "One-Man" Jonathan Dayton High Screening Comm. Asks Bonadies

Former Springfield Mayor, Vincent J. Bonadies candidate for State Assembly on the Regular Democratic Organization ticket today hurled a challenge to the insurgent candidates to reveal the name of their "one man screening committee."

Bonadies declared "The organization candidates on Row C led by the able candidate for State Senator, Assemblyman Jim McGowan are opposed in the coming primary by a full slate of candidates unquestionably exercising their rights to enter a primary. However, in so doing they must support and prove charges they have made regarding the selection of the organization candidates who were selected by representatives of every community in Union County. This screening committee was composed of the ten Democratic Mayors of the county as well as the municipal chairman of those communities without a Democratic Mayor. Truly this committee represented all people of Union County."

"I challenge anyone on the insurgent slate to reveal the name of the one man who selected their slate. The one man who telephoned until he found those who were willing to run. The one man who publicly has declared he will take over the County Democratic Party if victorious on April 16."

"The public is entitled to know from the insurgents how they were selected!"

Industrial Fair Site

The Mayor's Industrial Committee is fortunate to have the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in which to hold their Industrial Fair on the 6th, 7th, 8th, of June. As of this date the committee has received exceptionally gratifying cooperation from the following Industrial Companies who have signed up:

Richard Best Pencil Company; Bundy Electronics, Celantano Brothers, Crestmont Savings, Daggett-Pfeil Company, Elkay Products Company, Fravessi-Lamont, Friden, Inc., General Electric Company, Jersey Central Power & Light Company, Lu-Max Manufacturing Company and A.R. Meeker Company.

Also Murray Construction Company, National State Bank of Elizabeth, New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, Powers Regulator Company, Public Service Electric & Gas Company, R & M Pattern Works, E.H. Sargent and Company, Springfield Took and Die Company, United States Department of Agriculture, Universal Cyclops Steel Corp. and Victory Engineering Corp.

More are arriving daily and a final count of at least 30 is expected. Plans are now being finalized on space requirements and other details.

Pingry Alumni Dinner At Winfield Scott Hotel

Hans H. Angermueller, '42, dinners chairman, has announced that the Annual Dinner of the Pingry Alumni Association will take place this year on Friday, April 5 at 7 p.m. at the Winfield Scott Hotel, Elizabeth. A dutch treat social hour will precede the affair.

Springfield Teachers Invite Guest Speaker

Miss Rita Jacoby, the leader of this nation's classroom teachers will be guest speaker at the April 8 meeting of the Springfield Teachers' Association to be held at the Sandmeier School at 3:15 p.m.

Miss Jacoby became the president of the National Education Association's Department of Classroom Teachers in July, 1962. As president-elect, she had visited West Berlin, Germany in May, 1962 to study the effects of the Wall upon education and the teachers in West Berlin.

RITA JACOBY

The Die Berliner Lehrerorganisationen (West Berlin Teachers' Association) of West Germany invited her and paid part of her expenses as their guest for the month of May. Miss Jacoby has chosen as her topic for the Springfield meeting of April 8: "The Classroom Teacher Looks at Berlin".

Miss Jacoby's background of varied experiences as a teacher, her recent month's visit to West Germany, and her very interesting itinerary of travels to teachers' associations all over the nation offer a rich source of ideas and information to share with local teachers and citizens who are interested in education and the schools.

The Springfield Teachers' Association is extending invitations to the members of the local Board of Education, the members of the Parent-Teacher Associations, Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Teachers' Association, the local school administrators, and the retired teachers to attend this "Open House" meeting of the association on April 8.

Bonadies Names Kesselhaut As Springfield Coordinator

Township Committeeman Vincent J. Bonadies, Regular Democratic Organization candidate for the nomination of State Assemblyman today announced the appointment of Arthur N. Kesselhaut of 6 Mohawk Drive, Springfield as local coordinator for the April 16th, primary.

Before moving to Springfield Kesselhaut was active in the Hillside Democratic circles and served as Chairman of the Hillside Recreation Commission and as a member of the Hillside Board of Local Assessment. Kesselhaut presently serves as third vice-president of the Springfield B'Nai Brith.

Kesselhaut in accepting the appointment said: "I am happy to be given the opportunity to help send Vince Bonadies to the State Legislature. During Mr. Bonadies' nine years of dedicated service to the people of Springfield as a Township Committeeman and Mayor, he gained tremendous experience as an able administrator and legislator."

"The election of Vince Bonadies to the State Assembly will give Springfield greater ability to meet the challenge of a new highway construction and the ever expanding burdens of increased needs for school aid and the increasing burden of taxes to the home owner."

"We shall call upon all Democrats and Independents to vote on Primary day April 16th to help Vince Bonadies attain the nomination of the Democratic Party so that if elected in the November General Election, Springfield may for the first time have direct representation in the State Legislature."

Kesselhaut further pointed out that although Bonadies was selected as the Democratic Organization Candidate by a screening Committee that included the 10 Democratic mayors of Union County, he faces opposition from an insurgent group for the Democratic nomination for State Assemblyman.

"Hence," Kesselhaut continued, "it is urgent that all in Springfield who are eligible to vote in the Democratic Primary do so to insure Springfield representation on the Assembly ballot next fall."

Cancer Society Drive

Lorrie Lewis, Candidate, Chmn. Blackman Clash At Dem Gathering

LORRIE LEWIS, Springfield's "Lady" Freeholder Candidate, addresses the gathering at Monday night's Democratic Club Meeting in the Legion Hall. Mrs. Lewis and other "Wilson Line" Democrats were the "uninvited" guests of the organization. (photo by Mickey Fox)

The Springfield Democratic Club met Monday night at the Legion Hall and in the true spirit of the Primary Election Law the committee did not support any candidate.

Organization Democrats who had been invited to appear at the meeting were conspicuous by their absence with Eugene S. Kirk, candidate for Surrogate, Vincent J. Bonadies, Assembly candidate and Louis F. Ceithaml, Township Committee candidate were the only ones there.

Highlights of the meeting were the appearance of "uninvited" guests Lorrie Lewis, candidate for Freeholder; John T. Soja, Surrogate candidate and Leslie J. Cunningham, Jr., candidate for Register.

Mrs. Lewis requested permission from Chairman Alex Blackman to speak but was told she would have to wait until the question and answer period, according to reports.

"I realize that we (referring to the "Wilson Line" Democrats) are not invited to speak, but may I have the privilege of at least introducing the candidates on our slate who are present tonight", she asked. Blackman agreed to let them speak.

When queried as to why the "Wilson Line" had not been invited, Blackman said, I personally support the Organization candidates and therefore I personally took the liberty of inviting only them". He added, "If this is dictatorial, then I am".

Mrs. Lewis said, "I know I've been accused of being a Pollyanna but if that means being honest, then I accept the title".

"However", she added, "I am not a Casper Milquetoast and I intend to speak the truth, here and always".

"It has always been my belief", she continued, "that the Democratic party should be broad based enough to permit candidates of ability, direction and purpose to contribute something and to advance from within the party. I am disappointed to find that the County Organization is not run along Democratic lines".

Mrs. Lewis continued, "Did you know that we have been referred to as 'insurgents' but we consider ourselves loyal and dedicated democrats and our slate includes a member of the New Jersey State Assembly, a former director of the Board of Chosen Freeholders, the president of the Union County Young Democrat Club, the president of the Summit Democratic Club and myself, a former vice-chairlady of the Union County Democratic Executive Committee and a person who has always been active in Springfield and County democratic politics.

"I am not only disappointed in the county organization but in our own Democratic Club to find that not a single candidate in our line was invited. I specifically called the president of the local club to ask for an invitation to this meeting, but I had to learn about this meeting through the newspapers", Mrs. Lewis concluded.

Mrs. Lewis is the "Wilson Line" candidate for Freeholder and is a Springfield resident.

Lu Max Manufacturing Company Increasing its Plant Space

Max Weiss, President of Lu-Max Manufacturing Company at 44 Brown Avenue, Springfield just announced that his plant area is being increased to 150% of its present size to accommodate his expanding business. The new floor space will also permit a more efficient production layout which Mr. Weiss has had prepared by an industrial engineer. Max Weiss is a member of the Springfield Industrial Committee and is chairman of the Industrial Division of the Springfield Chamber of Commerce. At the same time, an additional 6,000 square feet is being constructed for lease to Grassmann-Blake, Inc. of Newark, N. J. The contract for construction has been awarded to E. A. Coronis Associates and Manary Concrete Construction Co., Inc.

The lease, financing, and planning were arranged through the services of Charles A. Remlinger, one of Springfield's most progressive real estate brokers.

Grassman Blake Inc. Establishing New Home for Plant in Springfield

Edward C. Grassmann, Sr., president of Grassmann-Blake, Inc., announced today the establishment of their new home in Springfield to be effective July 1st. At ground breaking ceremonies at 44 Brown Avenue, at which Springfield's Mayor Arthur Falkin officiated, Mr. Grassmann expressed his pleasure with the very fine cooperation extended to them by the Township of Springfield and its Industrial Committee. He discussed the strides their company has made since its formation in 1949. "We are bursting at the seams in our present location and have more room to house our expanding business."

Dick Blake, vice-president of Grassmann-Blake, Inc. stated that their products are sold in every "FREE" country in the world. Sales offices are located in Chicago, Los Angeles, Puerto Rico, Hong Kong and England.

A new office will soon be opened in Germany. Blake emphasized that "our product, bracelet and necklace clasps of precious metals, is used by every cultured pearl importer in the United States." Our success we credit to our 75 years combined experience in this field."

Max Weiss, who is the owner and landlord for the new building, and who is an active member of the Springfield Industrial Committee, mentioned that "faith in Springfield is exemplified by the fact that both Mr. Grassmann and Mr. Blake, who are long time residents of Springfield, have chosen this spot for the home of their business; by the fact that he, himself, has prospered in town and is now expanding; and the broker, Charles A. Remlinger, has long cast his lot with the proper development of his hometown."

"Rebirth of a Nation" Lecture Topic by Lark

"Israel - Rebirth of a Nation" is the subject of an all color motion picture to be presented by top ranking photographer and lecturer Ed Lark on Wednesday, April 10 at 8:15 p.m. at the Union High School auditorium. Tickets may be purchased at the door or at the main office of Union Center National Bank.

Ed Lark will take his audience on a tour through 3000 years. He portrays all of Israel in his personally narrated film presentation complete with the new shopping center in Tel Aviv, modern industry at Haifa, Mt. Zion, King David's tomb, Church of Dormition, life in an agricultural outpost, Bedouin market day in Beersheba, the River Jordan, and King Solomon's Mines.

For centuries the Holy Land lay buried under piles of shifting sands and crumbling terraces, awaiting the magic touch of her returning children. Regaining their independence, the people of this country have turned towards its reconstruction with energy and vision. Desert dunes have sprouted towns and villages. Swampy wastelands have been transformed into fertile valleys. What were stony hillsides now blossom with orange groves. Newly constructed factories produce all the amenities of modern civilization. Perhaps even more significant are the new patterns of living that are emerging and which have aroused interest the world over.

Ed Lark has appeared on most of the lecture platforms in the United States, and has received wide acclaim for his excellence as a speaker and his brilliance as a motion picture photographer. Mr. Lark graduated from the University of California in engineering but his greater interest in people, places, and photography led him to become a film lecturer. He has traveled to many countries of the world and has become noted as a "perfectionist with a camera." Although young in years, his warm and friendly manner on the platform has made him popular with all ages.

RE-VIEWING THE PAST

By Don Palmer

The story of Baltus Roll, whose murder, in 1831, was reported in newspapers throughout the country, has appeared in print several times during recent years. The best of these articles was this one, written by Elizabeth Van Loan for the April 1962 issue of "proceedings of the New Jersey Historical Society." It is reprinted here by permission of the Editor of that publication. Mrs. Van Loan was a member of the Springfield Historical Society and was in charge of historical research for the society, prior to her removal to Birmingham, Michigan, about three years ago.

THE HOME of Baltus Roll, on the mountain, adjacent to the present "Sky Top" section of Springfield, as it appeared prior to restoration and remodeling by Amos G. Bachelder, sometime in the 1930's. It is believed that part of the house was built by Johannes Roll, grandfather of Baltus.

man returned to the house and Susannah to light a candle and set it on the stove. She did so, ran up the stairs, and hid. When he went out again, she crept downstairs and peered out the door. There she saw Baltus lying in the gateway, being choked by the large man who "looked red, mad and queer", as she later testified. He was saying: "Lay still and we will not hurt you." Baltus called out twice. A large white rope lay on the ground and the men presently tied him up with it and threw him in an icy puddle.

Susannah ran out the door and off in the opposite direction. All through that rainy night she wandered aimlessly and fearfully in the woods. When dawn broke, she returned to the house, where she found the trussed and lifeless body of her husband, lying in a snow bank.

The door of the house stood open, and afraid that the murderers might still be in the house, she went to the home of her nearest neighbor, Jesse Cahoon. After listening to her story, he summoned Brooks Sayre, her husband's nephew, and Joseph Cain, who lived down the road. They returned with her to the house. Inside they found great confusion; the bed was torn open, the clock case and a window pane were broken, and bricks had been removed from the fireplace. The men took a cover from the house and threw it over the body, which was tied at the hands, knees and ankles. Then they went for the authorities. Tracks were found in the snow of a horse-drawn sleigh which had approached within 150 yards of the house.

The crime naturally caused a sensation. The New Jersey Eagle, a Newark weekly, reported under date of February 25:

MURDER AND ROBBERY.

It is several years since the soil of New Jersey has been stained with the blood of a murdered victim; but it is now our painful task to record an awful case of that description within the bounds of our own county.

Rumors were rampant. One of the more colorful stated that a twelve-year-old boy, who had worked for Roll and lived in his house, had received a whipping for circulating the story that there was about $1,500, mostly in gold and silver coins, in the house. After the whipping, the boy had had a dream, so the rumor went, for telling the murder, and in consequence had left Roll's employ.

Suspicion fell, almost immediately, on two ne'er-do-wells who had frequently been seen together in the locality, a Captain Peter B. Davis, and one Lycidias Baldwin.

Davis, a tall, fine-looking man of 48, the father of three children, was keeper of a public house in Camptown, now Irvington. He had also once kept a tavern in Newark. He was known to be in financial difficulties, he was involved in a lawsuit, and people recalled that he had been looking for an accomplice to go with him to a place "where we can get a thousand dollars." He was further quoted as saying, on different occasions, that he understood Baltus Roll was well off, that Roll had a large sum of money hidden under the hearth, and that he had neither "chick nor child to inherit it." Baldwin, from Orange Township, was a single man, 36 years old.

The average golfer tramping the fairways of the Baltusrol Golf Club in Springfield and the average commuter dashing up Baltusrol Way to the Short Hills station of the Lackawanna Railroad may not be aware that 150 years ago a farmer and trader by the name of Baltus Roll was very much alive in this same vicinity; alive, that is, until the night of Washington's Birthday, 1831, when he was dragged from his bed and murdered. Today his body lies in the old Presbyterian Cemetery in the heart of Westfield. His tombstone, with his name misspelled, reads:

WHO
WAS MURDERED FEB. 22
1831
IN THE 62 YEAR OF HIS AGE

Ye friends that weep around my grave
Compose your minds to rest
Prepare with me for sudden death
And live forever blest.

(Baltus was the grandson of Johannes or John Roll, a Dutch pioneer who had settled in Springfield in 1742. He and his wife, Susannah, lived in a little house on a lonely road on First Mountain of the Watchung Range in a section of Springfield that today is part of Mountainside. He was a man in his early sixties, he raised oxen, and from time to time he would make the trip to Westfield and Plainfield to sell firewood and apples. It was generally taken for granted that he was well-to-do, and of course rumor had it that he kept a considerable sum of money hidden in his house.

On the night of February 22, 1831, Baltus and Susannah had gone to bed between eight and nine o'clock. A heavy snow lay on the ground and it was raining. Between eleven and twelve they were awakened by some one pounding on the door, asking directions to a place whose name they could not distinguish. The voice shouted: "Are you not going to get up?" "No," answered Baltus. Thereupon the door was burst open and two men entered. One was small, and the other large with a full, whiskered face and light blue eyes. They dragged Baltus from his bed and started to beat him, throwing him against the wall. Finally, they dragged him out the door.

A short time later the large

On March 1, Davis was arrested on suspicion of murder. At ten o'clock that same night a friend brought the news to Ly-cidias Baldwin. He leaped from his bed, dressed and fled.

The New Jersey Eagle in its March 4 issue offered a $50 re-ward for Baldwin's capture. The description stated that "he took with him a pocket map and gazeteer. He is supposed to have gone northward as he is acquainted at lakes and in Canada. He has a good set of teeth".

Before any one had a chance to claim the reward, however, Baldwin was discovered, in the language of the day, "a corpse in his bed" in a Morristown tavern to which he had fled, and where he had taken a fatal dose of laudanum.

Davis did not come up for trial immediately. His counsel, William Halsey, won a postponement of the case "principally on the ground of an extra degree of excitement pervading the community against the prisoner." On June 28, 1831, however, a special session of the Court of Oyer and Terminer was called in Newark before Chief Justice Ewing. Davis pleaded not guilty. Numerous witnesses, including the widow, were called.

Joseph C. Hornblower, also counsel for the prisoner, delivered a summation to the jury which took two hours and thirty-five minutes. The newspapers which did not print the summation said that it was so eloquent that the prisoner, the jury and the audience were reduced to tears. The jury deliberated for three and one-half hours, and brought in a verdict of "Not guilty". The prisoner was "greatly overjoyed" and "at-tempted to shake hands with sev-eral around him, some of whom declined the offer".

The verdict caused great sur-prise and dissatisfaction. The New Jersey Journal, another weekly, stated that:

"The evidence though cir-cumstantial is said to have been of the most conclusive kind. The jurors were ad-monished that it was better to suffer the guilty to es-cape punishment than to con-demn the innocent, and it was doubtless this consid-eration which led to the acarraigned again on four indict-ments for forgery. To three of these he pleaded guilty, receiv-ing eight years at hard labor for each indictment. He was sent to the state prison in Trenton where he died before the twenty-four sentence elapsed.

The house where Baltus Roll was so brutally murdered still stands in Mountainside, nestled under a large and beautiful elm. It commands a magnificent view across Elizabeth to Staten Is-land and, on a clear day, the New York City skyline. The house is now occupied by a trio of ladies, and though it has been considerably remodeled, no one has ever reported turning up any gold or silver coin.

Although Baltus Roll had no children to carry on his name, his unfortunate demise in an icy puddle of snow bank rather than a bed earned him a certain im-mortality. Today his name is per-petuated by an internationally known golf club, and by streets in Summit, Short Hills and Springfield.

Mary E. Manuel began her association with the Springfield Public Library as a volunteer in 1950. In 1954 she became a full-time member of the library staff, which at that time consist-ed of "the equivalent of about two and a half people". She says she was fortunate in being able to get experience in all phases of the work before the library expanded to its present size and circulation. Of nec-essity, as the duties became more specialized, she concen-trated on cataloging, ordering, and bookkeeping. At present, she is head of the technical services department whose function it is to purchase, catalog, and process all books. She also serves as part-time reference librarian.

Mrs. Manuel attended Millburn and Chatham High Schools, Berkeley School, and New Jersey College for Women (Douglass College), where she majored in psychology. She has also taken library science courses given by the University of Minnesota and by the Rutgers School of Library Service and holds a Pro-fessional Librarian's Certificate from the New Jersey Department of Education.

Letters to The Editor

It is interesting to note that the School Board has commenced a campaign to sell their "operation update" program. It seems to me that they might better spend their efforts giving the people all of the true facts, plainly and simply, instead of organizing house parties (per the political campaigns) and offering their time to any organization willing to listen to them. I think it is time the people of this community forgot their "I don't care" attitude and took a good long look at this proposed expansion. I believe too many things require an explanation.

I DOUBT:

1) the legality of the board hiring an architect at no fee to do preliminary plans with the agreement that he will receive the job if it is approved.

2) the legality of the board commencing on a program without first having public hearings to find out what the people want.

3) the legality of the board holding private meetings, not open to the public, to prepare this program.

4) the legality of the board in not disclosing this program at this year's school budget hearing after being asked a direct question about it. I know, I asked the question and was not given a direct answer.

I QUESTION:

1) the need for a deluxe office building for the board.

2) the economics of tearing down a building and replacing it.

3) where the board is going to get enough children to fill the classrooms they propose. There isn't that much land available in the town, except for the top of the mountain.

4) the need for two gymnasiums at Gaudineer School.

5) the need for doubling the offices at Gaudineer.

6) the need for more than eight classrooms at Gaudineer.

7) the need for more than ten classrooms in the entire town for the next five years or more.

I WOULD LIKE TO KNOW:

1) What the true cost of this program will be? The board can figure out a budget for over a million dollars but can't tell me the cost of staff, supplies and maintenance on the proposed new buildings. Their figure of $16,80 per year in 1965 is more like $50,00 per year, if your home is worth only $20,000. Much more than that if your home is worth more than $20,000, as more than half of the homes in Springfield are today.

2) Should I sell my home because it has a furnace in the basement? Chisholm School is apparently dangerous to our children because the furnace is in the basement. How many furnaces in this town are not in basements?

3) Why are the people of this community given a program on a take it or leave it basis? This seems to be the policy of the board on everything.

4) Is every member of the board for this program? I doubt it.

5) What would happen to our school system if this program were defeated? Nothing.

6) Why weren't the children at Chisholm who are using a basement room placed elsewhere if it so sub-standard? The board has seen fit to rent space before.

7) Why is the newspaper running an ad setting the referendum for May 14, 1963, when the board hasn't told the people that the date has been set. They had four other releases in the same paper.

8) Why was the executive board of the Sandmeier School PTA on Monday April 1, 1963, forced to take a stand in support of this program? There were only 14 members present and

Passover Holiday Thoughts

By Rabbi Reuben R. Levine

When the Passover Holiday begins on the evening of April 8, Jewish families will gather to observe the festive "Seder" meal together with friends and relatives.

This family approach to the observance of Passover has made it one of the best remembered holidays in the Jewish religious calendar.

The fact that the Seder encourages full participation of children has also served to impress its delights upon young minds.

However, the meal and the special symbolic foods associated with Passover are only an instrument in driving home the deep spiritual message of the holiday. As a remembrance of the Biblical account of the Exodus of Israelites from Egypt where they were enslaved, it speaks to us also in contemporary terms.

The ultimate purpose of the observance is to remind us that as long as man is capable and desirous of inflicting oppression upon his fellow man, we must never cease in our striving to eliminate such evil in the world.

The upsurge of freedom's love which impelled the ancient Israelites to seek release from the Pharaoh's tyranny has been an emotion active in the hearts of many groups of men in many ages of mankind's history. It was present in the hearts of the heroes at Concord and Lexington -- and indeed of colonial Springfield -- no less than in those in antiquity who set forth into the wilderness behind their leader Moses.

Nor was the urge toward human liberty any less in evidence on the beachheads of Normandy or the hills of Korea where American lives were lost in the hope of preserving freedom.

Passover then, in its fully appreciated impact, is much more than a celebration of an ancient event or a time for family gathering and prayer. It is God's way of reminding those who observe it that man's striving to preserve each person's right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness must never cease; that the battle for universal human freedom has yet to be won.

"Peace Race" Topic at League of Women Voters

"The Peace Race - New Answers to Old Questions" was the subject of discussion by Drs. Nathan Weiss and David Frost at last Thursday's public meeting of the League of Women Voters.

Despite the slow pace of negotiation on general and complete disarmament at Geneva, both speakers stressed that a nuclear test ban can and should be negotiated as a first step in confidence building measures.

"A nuclear test ban treaty is closer than it ever has been in the past five years" according to Dr. Frost, who is also Chairman of the New Jersey Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy. Dr. Weiss stressed that improved methods of detection of seismic events (earthquakes and nuclear blasts) have considerably reduced the need for on-site inspection. On site inspection has been the stumbling block to agreement, since the Russians fear espionage. Now the United States is proposing to place primary reliance for detection of events in the Soviet Union upon U.S. national systems located outside the Soviet Union.

President Kennedy's recent statement in which he fully supported the test ban as a means of preventing the uncontrolled spread of nuclear weapons to nations not now possessing them. The so-called "n" power problem was explained. However, it was pointed out that there are voices of opposition within Congress and among sections of the nation to negotiation of a test-ban treaty. Therefore, both speakers called for citizen letters and telegrams to the President, Senators and Congressmen in support of the test-ban proposals.

The League is studying the peace-keeping machinery of the United Nations. The Committee for a test ban is one of the subcommittees of the 18 nation Disarmament Conference at Geneva. This conference is a creation of the United Nations, and therefore falls within the League's area of study.

Dr. Frost pointed out that the principal of complete and general disarmament was accepted by both the Soviet Union and the United States in a joint declaration in 1961.

The detailed U. S. plan for disarmament which was presented before the Conference in Geneva differs from the U.S.S.R.'s plan in that the U.S. calls for a 25% reduction in nuclear weapons systems and their means of de-conventional weapons given the greatest priority. The Russian plans calls for 75% destruction of nuclear weapons and delivery systems in the first stage, the ratios are thus reversed for the first and last stages by both nations.

The differences in the makeup of the latest Geneva Conference were explained. The 10 nation conference held previously gave way to the 18 nation conference (actually 17 nation, since France refused to participate) in which eight of the unaligned or neutral nations have played a larger role.

During the question period the necessity of reaching Congress to support a test-ban was again stressed.

Another question on whether disarmament would bring on widespread unemployment brought out the need for planning conferences and meeting the unmet needs of the country through vast public works and development programs when disarmament is negotiated.

The League is continuing its study of these problems. A study group meets Tuesday mornings, discusses suggested readings and prepares to take action after the consensus of its member's views are taken. Persons interested in the study may contact Mrs. Arnold Harlem at Dr 6-1585.

Running for Re-election

James J. Delaney, County Register of Deeds and Mortgages and currently running for re-election, was the first Democrat to ever hold this office in the history of Union County. Upon being elected, he established business procedures that streamlined the office of the County Register and made it the number one recording office in the state. In addition to giving the public the fastest service in the country, he managed to cut his budget each year for the past four years. He has received editorials from the Elizabeth Daily Journal, Plainfield Courier-News, the Law Journal and taxpayer's groups throughout the county.

JAMES J. DELANEY of the Plainfield Elks #885; member of the Scotch Plains-Fanwood Kiwanis; member of the Elks Crippled Kiddies Committee; member of the County Chamber of Commerce, Plainfield. He was president, operated and owned the Plainfield Recreation of Park Avenue, Plainfield for twenty years; member of the County Officer's Association; chairman of the sub-committee for Uniform Commercial Code; member of the National Association of the County Officers. He was appointed by the former governor, Robert B. Meyner, as a member of the Urban Renewal Committee of Scotch Plains. Was appointed by the mayor and township committeemen of Scotch Plains as a member of the Citizen's Advisory Group. Mr. Delaney was also campaign manager for Senator Harrison A. Williams in his campaign for election to Congress and eventually the Senate.

Mr. Delaney is on the Board of Trustees of the Watchung Branch of Somerset Trust Company; former chairman of the Trustees

Control Center Test Scheduled for April 4

Acting State Director of Civil Defense Thomas S. Dignan has commended Deputy Coordinator Thomas J. Walsh and the Union County Civil Defense Staff for their initiative in setting up a county wide control center exercise to be held on April 4. The Civil Defense and Disaster Control Staffs of the twenty one municipalities of the county CD and DC Staff will participate in the exercise which has been named "Emerald". The exercise will presume that a nuclear bomb has exploded in the vicinity of Morristown and will require appropriate actions by the Radiological, Communications, Medical, Transportation, and other sections of the Municipal and County Staffs.

Anthony Turnello, Training Officer, and Major Kenneth P. La Tourette, Assistant Operations Officer of the State Civil Defense and Disaster Control, will serve as critique officers at the County Control Center, Scotch Plains, New Jersey. Deputy Municipal Directors will serve as critique officers at the Municipal Control Centers. Each Deputy Municipal Director will be assigned to a municipality adjacent to his own.

Deputy Coordinator Walsh stated that the exercise was named "Emerald" because the plan was conceived about the time of St. Patrick's Day and that it seemed most suitable since it is hoped that it will be a jewel, providing a hard problem directed by a green Deputy Coordinator named Walsh.

Sen. Case Reports

Senator Clifford P. Case (R-N.J.) on Monday released the following text of a letter he has written Administrator Najeeb E. Halaby of the Federal Aviation Agency.

The Honorable Najeeb E. Halaby
Administrator
Federal Aviation Agency
Washington 25, D.C.

Dear Mr. Halaby:

This is in further reference to our mutual interest in the studies currently being undertaken by the Federal Aviation Agency with regard to the potential of Burlington County, New Jersey, as the site for a major commercial jet airport.

Your letter of January 18, 1963 was most reassuring, and I will be pleased to receive the final report of the jetport simulation and site survey when completed. I note the Air Traffic Control Simulation Program was completed on schedule, February 21, 1963. I trust the area survey comparative analysis, to which you referred in your letter, is progressing in a satisfactory manner.

On the latter point, however, I should add that I have been made aware of a newspaper account of a meeting in Toms River, New Jersey on February 7, 1963, which indicated that the Federal Aviation Agency had encountered some difficulty in obtaining from the Port of New York Authority certain information deemed essential to the area survey.

I commend the interest of your agency in attempting to obtain from the Port Authority the data necessary to complete the area survey. Your emphasis on economy as evidenced by your request of the Port Authority for a study already made by outside experts for the bi-state agency seems to make good sense. Surely, if made available, it could expedite the site survey which you have been planning. I would appreciate having official word of the present status of this study, and I am hopeful that you will be able to advise me that your plans for the site survey have not been delayed or sidetracked.

Sincerely,
Clifford P. Case
U. S. Senator

Golf Under Lights Beginning April 6

Golf, under lights, will begin at the nine-hole Galloping Hill Pitch and Putt Golf Course, Kenilworth and Union, on Saturday, April 6, it was recently announced by the Union County Park Commission.

The Pitch and Putt course will then be open daily, including Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays to 10:30 p.m. to the end of November, weather permitting.

Last Spring, thirty floodlights were installed on the Par Three course to enable night activity at this facility and during the season over 46,000 rounds of golf were played with over 15,000 rounds played after 6:00 p.m. in the evening.

The following rates will be in effect at the Pitch and Putt golf course during 1963. On weekdays, Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays, from 9:30 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. a green fee of 50 cents per person will be charged. The green fee also includes the rental of clubs and balls. A special rate of 25 cents per person is offered all women, and those men over 60 years of age, on Mondays from 9:30 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.

The Pitch and Putt course, now in its seventh season, now in a shorter version of golf-playing. The entire course measures 615 yards. The holes range from 44 yards to 83 yards. Each hole calls for a par-three, a pitch shot to the green and two putts. The course was constructed to furnish a facility for people starting to play golf and regular players. It gives both the beginner and the better golfer an opportunity to improve his game and offers the advantage of taking but forty-five minutes to play a round of golf.

Both adults and children can play at the Pitch and Putt course.

Knights of Pythias Start New Chapter

Top officers of the new lodge will be Lawrence Burger, chancellor, Shelley Kaplan, secretary and Mark Krivit, financial secretary.

Ranks of Page and Esquire will be performed by top teams in the Pythian order on Wednesday, April 3, while rank of Knight and installation of officers will take place on April 17.

Any Pythians resident in the State are welcome to attend. Also welcome are men who wish to join this new group. Burger can be reached at 46 Tudor Court, Springfield.

Cooks Rings Around the Rest

The NEW Electric Range

Automatically better because everything's under control

The NEW electric range guarantees precision control of every cooking function—boiling, broiling, baking, braising, frying and roasting—and does it automatically. On the new electric range, you simply set the dials to the right time and temperature and relax knowing that your meal will be done cookbook perfect, on time, just as you planned it.

Automatic control means better food, too, because roasts won't shrink, cakes won't fall and since much less water is needed for surface cooking, vegetables retain their nourishing goodness and appetizing colors.

Check these eight points of superiority with your Reddy Killowatt Dealer during the March and April Range Sale.

Automatic—simply set the automatic timer and forget it—your oven meal will be ready on time as planned.

Controlled—electric cooking provides exact temperature control, from low heat to high, for perfect cooking results time after time.

Modern—beautiful, functional and streamlined in design.

Cool—there's no open flame to heat up your kitchen. Electric cooking puts all the heat where it's needed—into the bottom of pots and pans. Ovens are insulated on all six sides to retain heat.

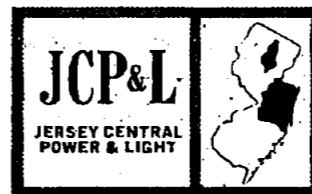

Clean—no soot, grime or fumes to dirty up your kitchen. Pots and pans stay bright and shining; walls stay cleaner.

Fast—surface units heat up instantly—broilers and ovens heat up as fast as you can set the controls.

Flameless—no open flame, no burners to get out of adjustment, no pilot to be blown out.

Economical—cost of cooking electrically is low—the average for a family of four is only $2.00 per month.

There's a big range bargain waiting for you now

 Marshall DeCristofaro
 DR 9-5913

At a recent meeting of the Springfield Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, it has been announced by Marshall De Cristofaro, presiding minister of the plans for celebrating the Lords evening meal. He continued and said, "One date in 1963 the founder of Christianity has instructed all his faithful followers to observe. This is the anniversary of his death, on the fourteenth day of the first month of the Bible's sacred calendar known as Nisan. This year that day begins at sundown of Monday, April 8.

On that night Jesus commanded his followers to hold the sacred evening meal or supper that he then set up, to remind them each year of how he laid down his earthly body and shed his blood for us. (Luke 22; 19) In obedience to this we have arranged to hold a fitting celebration beginning at 7:30 p.m. Monday, April 8, 1963, at Kingdom Hall, 591 South Springfield Avenue, Springfield, N.J.

Funorama On Ice Caps Skating Season

All seats in the arena are reserved and tickets may be obtained from the hospital or the South Mountain Arena. For information and order forms call the hospital, ORange 5-1100, Ext. 472.

"I awoke and the smoke was so thick I couldn't see. I groped for the phone and called the operator. She did a magnificent job. I just gave her the location of the fire and she did the rest. I don't know how to thank her."

Mrs. Robert Mulholland

That's how Mrs. Robert Mulholland, a mother of six, described the way a New Jersey Bell operator in Morristown helped her when Mrs. Mulholland needed help fast. The neighboring Montville Fire Department was on the job in just eight minutes.

Mrs. Mulholland's story isn't unusual. There are usually several emergency calls among the thousands of calls that a telephone operator handles every month.

An operator is especially important in suburban areas like Mrs. Mulholland's, which do not have special fire reporting systems.

The operator is the reporting system. And a mighty good one.

That's why the Montville Fire Department recently presented a citation to the operators of the Morristown Telephone Office who take care of emergency calls like the one from Mrs. Mulholland.

We are proud of these Morristown operators, and of all the other operators in every part of the state who handle emergencies with the same cool efficiency.

In times of emergency the reliable phone service an operator gives is more than valuable.

It is priceless.

Shell Game in Park Ridge

Every time a sea-smelling wagon hove into sight in Bergen County a century or so ago, neighbors of the Campbell family in Park Ridge knew that another big free picnic and clam feast would soon begin in the grove beyond the Campbell factory. The hosts had only one rule: don't break the shells.

Such hospitality had a practical purpose. The Campbells made could be bartered for sugar or molasses.

William Campbell soon controlled the shell handlers in the Pascack Valley. By the time his son John took over, the name Campbell was nearly synonymous with wampum. John, in turn, passed on an even stronger wampum dynasty to his sons, Abraham and William.

Abraham apparently was the through holes drilled in the shell. These brought $3.50, hard American money.

"Pipes" were long bits of shell, much like pipe stems, ranging in length from an inch to six inches. Beads were small rounded bits left over from the making of "moons" and "pipes".

White wampum was valuable, but "black" wampum—made

DRAWING made in 1886 shows interior of Bergen wampum mint with the four Campbell brothers at work. Print is from the files of the Bergen County Historical Society.

wampum—genuine Indian wampum—and clam shells were a basic raw material for their Park Ridge "mint". Thus the hungry clam eaters freely opened the shells that the Campbells would have been forced to pry apart themselves.

Attention to minor details kept five generations of Campbells in the lucrative shell game from 1775 until their mint closed in 1889. Indian markets in New Jersey had collapsed by 1775, but the westward migration of the Indians opened a vast potential far beyond the Kittatinny Mountains.

John Jacob Astor used Park Ridge wampum in his early 19th century fur trades with Indians all the way to Oregon. Indian agents from the U.S. Department of the Interior and agents from as far as Canada beat a path to the Campbell door. Wherever Indians traveled, Campbell wampum would not be far behind.

Others had made wampum in New Jersey before William Campbell arrived from Scotland and began polishing shells at Park Ridge in 1775. The upper Bergen County area already had become a noted center for the Indian baubles, largely because of the Pascack Trading Post in Park Ridge.

Farmers shaped and rubbed shells in their homes and at least one major operator, Johannes Stolz of Goffle (Hawthorne) supplied the Trading Post before Campbell. Nevertheless, it took the Campbell clan to prove that wampum really meant money—to the makers, at least.

Possession of wampum proved social standing among Indians and the value was so well established that early European settlers used wampum in dealings with the Indian as well as among themselves. Fare on the first New Amsterdam to Communipaw (Jersey City) ferry was six stivers of wampum, about 12 cents.

Farmers who made wampum at home could get cash for their product at the Pascack Trading Post or from the Campbells, and since taxes could be paid only in cash, that was a first consideration. Any wampum left over one who made contact with John Jacob Astor, the noted fur trader who ran his wampum into millions of dollars. Astor dealt personally with Abraham until the latter died in 1847.

The Campbells might have been better off trading personally with the Indians, but they did well too. Their "moons", "pipes" and miscellaneous beads were for decades the biggest business in upper Bergen.

"Moons" were circular bits of white shells, chopped out of conch shells and polished wafer thin. Ranging in size up to six inches, five of the "moons" would be fastened together by a strand of red worsted threadstrung from the purple hearts of clam shells—brought twice as much. That was fortunate: clam shells were much harder to shape and drill.

Abraham Campbell fathered four sons, James, John, Abram, and David. With all those mouths to feed, the Park Ridge "mint" picked up pace. The Campbells contracted to buy the clam shells from the Fulton Fish Market in New York, bought the pink-white conch shells that West Indian ships brought into New York as ballast, and started the free clam-opening feasts when they began to import shells from Rockaway (N.Y.) beach.

No Campbell laid down on the job simply because his forebears already had made plenty of wampum. Indeed, James of the fourth generation truly revolutionized the business by inventing a water cooled machine capable of drilling six "pipes" at once—and more than 400 a day.

Park Ridge fortunes rose and fell on peace and war. War meant no need for wampum; when the tomahawks flew the Campbells closed shop. The Campbells became fervent peace-mongers, for peace brought Indian dealers swarming through the valley—from Washington, Canada, Texas, Chicago, New York and Philadelphia. Often a storekeeper would get $500 for wampum accumulated during one of the Indian wars.

The Campbell "mint" hummed in post-war prosperity. The four Campbell "boys" worked long days in the factory, and in two other locations—fifth generation children worked the carefully-guarded wampum machines. Shell fragments flew through the air, covering the walls and ceilings until they looked whitewashed.

Discarded conch and clam shells piled up beside the little pot stove that glowed red in a corner. Peace: ah, it was wonderful.

Sadly, the Vanishing Americans became less and less valuable as wampum users. Even the small numbers left turned to solid United States cash. Hemmed in on reservations, they no longer had furs to trade. The Campbell mint closed in 1889. The original Americans receded into legend, and the Scotch-American who made their wampum in Park Ridge went with them.

Ed. Note: Science Notebook will again be a weekly feature in this newspaper. It is sincerely hoped that anyone having any questions or suggestions will write to Hans Klein in care of this paper, 200 Morris Ave., Springfield. Responses are encouraged by interested readers.

One might say that mathematics could be the universal language of science. However, only the physical sciences have developed enough to use mathematics extensively, and even here, mathematics alone is not sufficient.

In the distant past educated scientists in different countries used Latin as a common language. Today, Latin is not quite so useful for this purpose, but its former use in scientific works has left an impression that technical terminology is basically Latin. There are indeed numerous Latin terms used in science but there are far more of Greek origin. The letters of the Greek words are of course latinized, but they are definitely Greek despite their being classified as New Latin.

Scientific terminology is certainly difficult, but much of it has the virtue of being international as the few words shown above indicate. Even the Greek words have more similarity than is apparent unless you are acquainted with Greek letters. In fact these words are similar in all European languages, even in languages using the Cyrillic alphabet such as Russian and Bulgarian. SCIENCE QUIZ

1. What kind of word is alcohol?
2. Were Greek scientific terms used by the Greeks?
3. Are some scientific terms really universal?
4. Why is psychology spelled with a "p" which is not pronounced?

ANSWERS

1. Arabic. Originally it meant a fine, black powder for painting the eyelids.
2. Most Greek terms used in science were introduced by European scholars of Greek and not by the Greeks themselves.
3. The latinized names of animals such as Felis leo (lion) and Canis familiaris (dog) are the same in all languages.
4. It is pronounced in Greek, and in many other languages. Note the last Greek word in the list above, the odd letter which looks like a pitchfork is a single letter pronounced "psee."

TEEN TALK

by Edie Bell

On Friday night, March 29, Ann Kameen of Springfield threw an "open house" party at her home. Several students from Regional attended, and many others roamed in throughout a night of music, singing, dancing, food, and fun for all. This kind of party is catching on fast among Regionalites and I'm sure the trend will continue

Well, tomorrow is the big night for the Seniors of Regional--their Senior Ball will be held at the Martinsville Inn at Martinsville, N.J., tomorrow night from 9:00 to 2:00. Everything is ready for this social highlight of the year--the decorations are in order, the candidates for Queen have been chosen, and the theme, "Moonlight and Roses" has been neatly worked into the entire affair--now all that's left is one long, long day of school and one all-too-short "evening to remember".

Open note to Bev. Marter: Hurry up and mend that broken anklet--all your friends miss you at Regional (even the teachers!), so "Get well soon!"

"Cumberland Trio" Now a Quartet

This is the brief but lively story of the "Cumberland Trio" which has been entertaining ever since it got its start at a Talent Show at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School. It consists of Alan Yablonsky of 315 Hillside Ave., Springfield, a senior (Banjo and Guitar); Steve Hart of 122 Remer Ave., (Guitar and Bongos); Jim Seale of Lincoln Dr., Kenilworth, (Guitar) and Ira Auerbach of 159 Linden Ave., a bass player. The latter three are all players. They have played for many school dances and performed at the Spring and Christmas concerts at Jonathan Dayton last year. Also on the record for the Trio are appearances at the Chanticleer and for a Saks Fifth Avenue employees party.

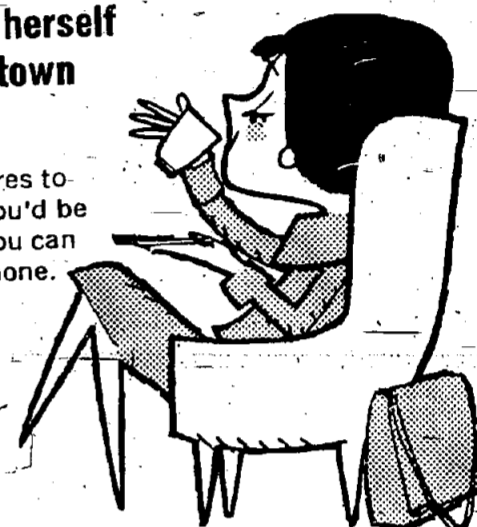

from the desire of the group to be associated with a synonym for things bucolic. They thought of the meandering Cumberland River and that was it.

They first got together in September 1961. The Regional High "Talent Show" held the following month gave them their first opportunity, and they were very favorably received. Their next stop was a performance at Union High School and then a bit of country folk singing at the Millburn Masonic Lodge. A Kiwanis Club dinner in Springfield was next. They have played for many school dances and performed at the Spring and Christmas concerts at Jonathan Dayton last year. Also on the record for the Trio are appearances at the Chanticleer and for a Saks Fifth Avenue employees party.

The Springfield Jaycees have made the first donation to the Pool & Recreation area in the form of a bicycle rack. This was an unsolicited donation made at the Club's own volition. Should other organizations in Springfield wish to make a special grant, the proper procedure is as follows:

1 - CONTACT Springfield Recreation Director, Edward Ruby at Town Hall to find out what is needed and specifications set up by the Recreation Department. (Some of the typical items needed are as follows: A pair of basketball backstop assemblies, a set of shuffleboard equipment, a set of volleyball equipment, sets of badminton equipment, sets of horseshoes for pitching, 3 diving boards.)

2 - CONFIRM willingness of your organization to make this contribution.

3 - Find out the SCHEDULE for the particular equipment you want to donate so there will be sufficient interval to provide for it on time.

4 - Make your Group's INTENTIONS known, in writing, to the Recreation Department so that proper RECOGNITION can be forthcoming immediately.

Taking Care of Your Garden

By Ed Cardinal

This past winter was one of the worst in many years. Azaleas, Japanese holly and other broad leaved evergreens suffered severe winter damage. Most plants will recover when new growth sprouts this spring, but some will require considerable pruning. A liberal feeding will also help them put on new growth.

Some lawns show considerable damage from snow mould, and are probably browner than usual, but liming and fertilizing will soon bring them around to normal.

Question: My home is only a few months old, and the lawn is the one put in by the builder. What can I do to thicken it a bit?

ANSWER: The best thing to do is apply lime at the rate of 20 lbs. per thousand sq. feet, fertilizer, at the manufacturers recommended feeding rate, and then overseed with a good bluegrass - fescue mixture. An application of agricultural gypsum will also help loosen the hard, clayey soils usually found in the new lawn. This will produce a fair lawn that can be improved at the proper time in late summer.

QUESTION: Do you recommend using spring crabgrass controls on a new lawn?

ANSWER: No. Many of these materials will injure the newly sprouting seed. If you have a crabgrass problem next summer, use the post-emergent materials to eradicate it. Pre-emergence materials should only be used on established lawns.

QUESTION: Are the new crabgrass controls really effective?

A: Most popular brands will give control up to 99%. Dacthal, Zytren, Calicium Arsenate and Chlordane are the most effective, in that order.

Q: I am new at this gardening game, but want to learn. What can you suggest?

A: All good garden centers have many free bulletins on gardening. Most of them carry good gardening books for a dollar or two. I highly recommend watching "The Complete Gardener" with Raymond P. Korbob, every Friday at 7:30 P.M. on Channel 13.

Regional Board Seeks $ Increase For New High School

A $2,850,000 referendum for a new 900-pupil capacity regional high school will be held by the Union County Regional Board of Education May 28, with voting from 3 to 9 P.M. in the six participating municipalities.

The board, meeting March 26 in the Governor Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights, will attend a public hearing Monday (April 8) at 10:30 A.M. in Trenton, on its application to the Division of Local Government for permission to exceed its debt limit.

The proposed school would be built on a 20-acre board owned tract on the southerly side of Monroe Ave., between N. 14th and N. 17th Sts., Kenilworth. The school would be located within two blocks of the Union County park system, where play areas would be made available.

Balloting is scheduled to be held in the following schools: Berkeley Heights, Columbia and Berkeley; Mountainside, Deerfield; Springfield, James Caldwell and Florence Gardiner; Clark, Arthur L. Johnson Regional H. S.; Garwood, Washington and Franklin, and Kenilworth, Harding.

In other action March 26, the board approved a request by Warren M. Davis, school superintendent, to pay $100 to Dr. Harry C. Schwartz, Soviet expert of the New York Times, to address a teachers' meeting May 6 on methods of combating Communism through classroom instruction.

The board also approved a request by the Education Testing

Winter Season Proves Success for Paper Mill

Producers Frank Carrington and Laurence Feldman of the Paper Mill Playhouse in Millburn announced today that, because of the great success of the first winter season at the theatre in 10 years, they will continue to operate year round. The winter season opened the day after Christmas with Betsy Palmer in "South Pacific", began with an impressive advance with the show building to a sellout. Among the Paper Mill firsts during the season were (although there have been tryouts there before) the first concerted effort of the producers to contribute help to the economic plight of Broadway by trying out two new shows on the way to New York. Bypassing New Haven, Philadelphia, etc., "The Heroine" and "The Gift Horse" tried out at

Paper Mill at considerably less than the usual out-of-town costs. "Heroine" went on to Broadway and received mixed notices (as it did in New Jersey) and closed in three weeks. "A Gift Horse" is being revised as a result of analysis of audience reaction while at Paper Mill. It is slated for Broadway in the fall season.

Another first of the winter season was the formation of a new Martyn Green Gilbert & Sullivan Company, which will begin its national tour in Philadelphia April 15, stop next in St. Louis and circle the country. The company was formed by Mr. Feldman, co-producer of the Paper Mill with Frank Carrington, founder of the theatre, and Mr. Green. "It will be," said Mr. Feldman, "Gilbert & Sullivan revitalized."

The season will draw to a close on April 14 when "Come Blow Your Horn", starring Menasha Skulnik, first announced for two weeks, then extended to four, and then, because of ticket demand, to five, will finally close on Easter Sunday, April 14.

Bulldog Barks By Arnold Miniman

Both the track and baseball teams of Jonathan Dayton Regional are busting with potential. The question is simply how well the boys can do the job once they get into actual competition. The track team under Coaches Bob Lummer and Martin Taglienti have a long road ahead. The squad has a rigorous schedule to go through as it attempts to better the poor 2-8 mark compiled last year. Coach Ed Jasinski has ten returning lettermen from a team that was 12-10 in competition last season.

The Cindermen weren't hurt much by graduation, and the competition that the team partook in during the Indoor Season helped develop the Dayton runners. Springfield has speed. Hank Sobolak, Mike Tabokan, Pete Castanza, and Bob Haas can give Dayton medals in the 100, 220 and 440 yard dashes. Veterans Marc Binstock and Pete Coan can hold their own in the pole vault, and Les Davis is a fine running broad jumper. Charlie Roll is developing into an expert shot putter, and he will join Haas and Drew Wuestman in the discus. Jack Moore, Gary Wood, Glen Thomas, and Jack Everett are the candidates for long distance honors.

The general opinion in Union County circles is that the Springfield baseball team, contending for the Watchung title for the first time, will give defending champion Cranford and the other Conference teams a good battle for the top honors. Pitching is the big question mark in the Dayton campaign. Three juniors, all returning lettermen, are slated for the major front-line duty. Bill Kretzer, Frank Monticello, and southpaw Richie Bittle had a combined 12-9 mark last year. Other mound prospects are Richie Freedman and Jack Kulaga.

Only two regulars graduated from last season's squad, outfielders Frank Perelli and Tony Fevola. Three left-handed juniors, Bob Rahnenfuhrer, Larry Bellon, and Jeff Anderson, along with right handed senior Ronnie Urquhart are fighting for the two positions.

On Friday afternoon Dayton plays Westfield at home. (hint)

Those of you who were fortunate enough to see the Student Faculty Basketball game last month probably were stunned by the amazing abilities displayed by one of the smallest teachers on the court, Coach Tom Santaguia. Santaguia, who has recently been appointed junior varsity basketball coach, had a colorful career in a game that is usually reserved for athletes six feet tall and above. A Group IV first team selection in his senior year at high school, Coach Santaguia starred on the Plainfield High and Colgate University varsity five before coming to Regional.

Only Three Games Separate Pin Leaders

With only 3 weeks left to bowl in the Springfield leagues, there are only 3 games separating the first four teams.

V.F.W. won all three games from Sams to remain in a good position for first place, only 2 games behind the leaders.

Bond won all three from Miltons. Bond Electronics is 3 games behind the leading Conte's team.

Carols Stamping with an opportunity to go into 1st place won only 1 game from the P.B.A. Carols 1/2 game in second.

Colantone's won 2 from the Contes Deli team to make it a real tight race among the top four teams.

Scores of 200 and over: R. Giannattasio - 211; A. Eicholz - 210; M. Conte - 201; B. Bevan - 203; A. Mutschler - 270.

Rosenthal's Team Moves to 2nd Place

Danny Rosenthal's team won three games this week at the Hi Way Bowl to go into second place, only a half game out of first, held by Jerry Title's team, to put the Temple Beth Ahm's Bowling league into a tighter race. Milton Billett came up with a 601 series (233-219) to take top honors.

Kretzer Opening Pitcher Tomorrow

At about 3:30 p.m., tomorrow afternoon, on the Meisel Avenue field, Bill Kretzer will throw the first pitch of the 1963 varsity baseball season against a batter from Westfield High. Jonathan Dayton Regional and Westfield are co-favorites in the battle for the Watchung Conference title, so the game will be a crucial one. Last year the Bulldogs, behind the clutch pitching of Frank Monticello, downed the Blue Devils 2-1, and 7-2.

Although the Springfield lineup for the game is not definite, the starting positions are finally set, and it should go something like this: Bob Rahnenfuhrer, center field, Jack Apgar, shortstop; Danny Mascara, left field; Joe DiMario, catcher; Butch Bell, third base; Danny Francis, first base; Steve Berger, second base;

Larry Bellon, right field and Bill Kretzer, pitcher.

The Bulldogs will have no rest after the Westfield event. On Monday the varsity will host defending Watchung champs Cranford. The probable starting pitcher for the game is Monticello, although Richie Bittle may get the call.

The Dayton junior varsity, under Coach Joe Mills, will begin its season against Westfield tomorrow also. Three of last year's j.v. starters are back for the game. They are Ray Figuroa, Arnold Miniman, and Bob Robe. Others who will probably see action are Richie Basta, Tom Chambers, Bob Blythe, Ted Levitt, and Keith Neigel. The probable starting pitcher is either Rich Freedman or Butch Lyon.

"Utah" Captures State Cage League Title from "California"

A well balanced Utah quintet is the 1963 King of the Springfield Recreation Commission "State" Basketball League by virtue of its convincing victory over a courageous California five last Thursday night at the Raymond Chisholm gymnasium. The score of the showdown game in the double elimination event was 29-21, with Utah dominating play throughout the entire contest. The score was 21-17 after three quarters of play, with California edging to within 2 points at the start of the final period, only to have the Utah dribblers finish strong to capture the all-important contest.

Lester, Schwartz, and Edelstein were the standouts for the champions, with Richmond and Zabetski playing exceptionally well for the losing Californians. Director of Leagues Edward Ruby presented the Championship trophies to each member of the Utah champions, also Coach Billy Frank. The handsome trophies were donated by the Springfield Veteran's of Foreign Wars, and should be commended for their interest in the youth of Springfield.
