Lorrie Lewis States Questions Frequently Asked; Explains Them

At a tea held on April 7 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Katz of 86 Redwood Road, Springfield, Mrs. Lorraine Lewis, "Wilson Line" Democratic candidate for Freeholder, stated that the four questions most frequently asked her are:

1. What are the duties of a Freeholder?
2. What are your qualifications for Freeholder?
3. What is an open primary?
4. Why are you in favor of an open primary?

Mrs. Lewis explained that the Board of Chosen Freeholders is the "governing body" of the county and their responsibilities include, among other things, the maintenance of county roads and bridges, operation or criminal and civil courts, conduct of elections, Park and Mosquito Commissions, the John-Runnells Hospital, and health, education, and welfare services, etc.

"The area in which I feel particularly qualified to serve," said Mrs. Lewis, "is in the field of health, education, and welfare. My educational background is in sociology. I was a county committee woman from Springfield for six years and was appointed by the Board of Freeholders to a three year term on the Union County Mental Health Board. Since the present woman freeholder is seeking another office, there will be no woman's voice in the important affairs of the county."

"Any individual who feels he is qualified and receives the signatures of the proper number of petitioners is legally entitled to appear on the primary ballot. In an open primary, all candidates are shown side by side, and the voters within the party make their choice of a nominee. This is the system presently used by the Republican Party."

"However, our Democratic organization in Union County has selected a slate and refuses to permit any other candidates to appear on their line. Any candidate not so picked must therefore appear on a separate line. I believe all Democratic candidates who are qualified should have an equal opportunity to present themselves to the voters."

"Wilson Line" Freeholder Calls Slate For Hearings On Council

The "Wilson Line" Freeholder slate of Thomas O'Brien, Lorraine Lewis, and Nicholas Soriano today called upon the Board of Freeholders to conduct a series of public hearings on the Metropolitan Regional Council. Mrs. Lewis, spokesman for the trio said, "Obviously the appearance at a meeting of the Board of Freeholders by experts representing the affirmative and negative sides of this all important issue proved interesting and constructive."

"However, a new council such as this must eventually be paid for by the taxpayers and it is

Confab Delegates Chosen By League

Mrs. Stephen Beno and Mrs. I. S. Yablonsky have been chosen as delegates to represent the Springfield League of Women Voters when the League meets for its 35th Convention at the Claridge Hotel in Atlantic City on April 23. The three day biennial meeting will include over 500 representatives from 87 local Leagues throughout the state. These delegates will select the governmental issues on which they will concentrate their study and action activities for the next two years.

The items proposed by the Board of Directors of the State League are based on suggestions sent in by local Leagues during the past few months. These include Regional Planning, State taxes, which includes work for a broad base tax, and opposition of dedication of specific taxes for specific purposes. The proposed program also includes a study of revision of state laws concerning county and municipal government; continued support for state financial measures to improve and equalize opportunities for public elementary and secondary education and the establishment of a citizens' commission to study the needs, organization and administration of public higher education in New Jersey.

Mrs. John K. de Vries of Essex Fells, president of the League of Women Voters of New Jersey has announced that "work for a personal net income tax for New Jersey will be continued" at the convention.

The Freeholders responsibility to make sure that the public is fully informed as to the total cost of the program.

Man Fatally Injured In Car-Truck Crash; First Death In Year

A 62 year-old Summit man, Randolph J. Miles of 406 Morris Avenue was killed instantly early Tuesday morning when his 1962 Plymouth station wagon crashed into the rear of a garbage truck on Springfield Avenue near Maple Avenue.

The crash, which occurred at 5:17 a.m., was the first fatal accident in Springfield since March, 1962 when a Springfield police officer, Ptl. Joseph Roessner was killed while in pursuit of a speeding motorist.

Police said Miles was driving south on Springfield Avenue when his car crashed into the rear of the garbage truck, driven by William Crenshaw, 33, of Newark, which was stopped while loading garbage.

William M. Yancey, 26, of Orange and Elliott Evans, 29, of Newark were loading the garbage truck, owned by the Petrozello-Maplewood Disposal Co. of East Orange when the accident occurred.

Crenshaw said Evans was loading the vehicle when he saw the Miles car bearing down on him and jumped out of the way, yelling a warning as the car crashed.

Police said Miles was pinned in the wreckage and it was almost an hour before Springfield firemen could remove the body after using torches and cutting equipment. The car was "stretched" more than two feet to aid in removing Miles from the vehicle.

Miles was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. Harold Goldblum of Millburn shortly after the crash.

The body was removed to the Smith and Smith Suburban Home at 415 Morris Avenue by the Springfield First Aid Squad.

Police theorize that Miles may have fallen asleep at the wheel. Investigating officers included Sgt. Daniel Maidling, Patrolmen Daniel Halsey and Ralph Merucci and Detective Leslie Bell.

Miles, a native of Chester, S.C. had lived in Summit for 35 years and was employed as a mason.

He is survived by his wife, Eldora, listed as the car owner, and four sons, John at home, Robert of Summit, Thomas of Union, and George of East Orange. Also surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Dorothea Sykes of Summit; two brothers, William and Thomas, both of Summit and seven grandchildren.

Funeral services are in charge of the Judkins Colonial Home, 428 West 4th Street, Plainfield. Services will be held from Fountain Baptist Church on Friday with Rev. Leon Riddick officiating. Interment will be in Fairview Cemetery, Westfield.

have presented their qualifications, an interview schedule will be set up. An application form will be supplied by Ruby upon request.

Basic requirements for the lifeguards include being age 18 or older and having recently passed the American Red Cross approved Senior Life Saving course.

Anyone under eighteen years of age need not apply as this age limit is provided for by law.

Early applicants will be given early consideration and interview appointments will be set up on a "first come - first served" basis.

Although previous pool work experience will be a help to applicants, it is not necessary to qualify. This applies to Red Cross instructors as well as Senior Life Savers.

Residents of Springfield are asked to recognize the fact that the cut-off date for Charter Membership in the Pool is Monday, April 15th which is only four days hence. This is the third and final notice.

Springfield Former Mayor Seeking NJ Assembly Seat

As Campaigning in the Union County Democratic Primary enters its final week, Springfield voters are focusing their interest and attention on the candidacy of former Mayor Vincent J. Bonadies for the State Assembly mayor has vigorously presented his views on issues throughout the county in an intensive drive for votes during the last four weeks.

Kesselhaut Urges Voter Support Of Vincent Bonadies

Addressing a group of workers last evening, Arthur Kesselhaut, coordinator for the Assembly Candidacy of former Mayor Vincent J. Bonadies urged all to bring out a strong Democratic vote in Springfield on April 16 for Row C in support of Vince Bonadies.

Kesselhaut declared that, "Vince Bonadies certainly has the know how and the tools with which to properly serve the people of Union County and give Springfield its first State Legislator."

"During his nine years of dedicated service as a member of the governing body and three years as Mayor, Vince has demonstrated a vigor and determination to do a job for the people. His record as an administrator and his ability as a legislator is known to all of us."

"Very early during his career as a Township Committeeman, Vince introduced an ordinance in Springfield prohibiting the possession of alcoholic beverages by minors in public which was adopted by the State Assembly and the Senate and is now a State law. A vivid demonstration of his vision and dedication to serving the people of his community, and the state."

Kesselhaut further stated: "We in the Democratic party fully know his service and energy contributed to the well being of the Democratic Party in Springfield and Union County. Vince Bonadies needs our help now and I urge you to vote Row C on April 16."

Bargain Rates After Nine PM

The "After 9 P.M." bargain telephone rates which have been in effect since October 1 within New Jersey will be applied to interstate calls beginning Thursday (April 4) according to the New Jersey Bell Telephone Co.

Under the lower rates, New Jersey residents will be able to make a three-minute, station-to-station call anywhere in the continental United States for a maximum of $1.00 plus a 10 percent excise tax. The "After 9 P.M." calls within New Jersey are 35 cents maximum for 3 minutes, station to station. Both reduced rates apply between 9 P.M. and 4:30 A.M.

Coincident with the reduction of interstate calls, there will be a five to 10-cent increase in interstate person-to-person calls placed up to a distance of 800 miles. The increase is being made so that person-to-person calls of short distance will produce a proportionate share of revenue for telephone service, the company said.

Europe Just A Dial Away

New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. customers are only a dial tone away from telephones in Great Britain and West Germany with the Bell System introduction of operator dialing on transatlantic calls.

The new service, a milestone in world communications, will be extended to France in July and to Italy and Switzerland in the fall. It's a major step toward overseas dialing by the caller himself, the company said.

New Jersey Bell calls to England, Scotland, Northern Ireland and Wales are being handled by operators in the Bell System's Long Lines center in White Plains, N.Y. Calls from the Garden State to West Germany go through overseas operators in New York City.

In the past, overseas calling required operators here to connect with foreign operators to relay the calls. The new service permits New York and White Plains operators to dial directly to the desired number in Europe.

THE MEANING OF EASTER

by Lester P. Messerschmidt, Pastor Holy Cross Lutheran Church

Symptoms An old saying goes, "Where there's life, there's hope". Perhaps it is more true to say, "Where there's hope, there's life".

Life is rich and beautiful when it is filled with hope—a young girl anticipating her wedding day, a couple about to have their first long-awaited child, a man about to receive an important promotion. Hope brings a joy and zest to living.

On the other hand, it is very sad to see a person without real hope for the future — an aged person with nothing to look forward to, a youth who feels that life is empty and not at all worth living, the dying who see nothing but darkness ahead.

But the hopes that brighten our lives are so very temporary and unsure. Disease, war, depression, fears, and insecurity rob us of our hope. Events that we anticipate hopefully often disappoint. Finally life becomes dull and routine because we do not have a big enough hope. And the little hopes we have change and decay with the world around us.

Diagnosis Like Thomas in our Scripture, our world follows the old saw, "Seeing is believing". We set our hopes on things we can see, touch, and taste. We measure the full life by the size of our house, the quality and quantity of our automobiles, the food we eat, and the clothes we wear.

Hope in these things is always futile. We are never really satisfied. If we do not achieve our hopes, we are frustrated. If we do, we are still not content. In the end, death comes to remind us that you "can't take it with you" anyway.

All hope is empty that is not hope in God. Dante has these words written on the gate of hell. "Abandon all hope, all ye who enter". Modern man puts his hope in a decaying world, and dies without any hope left. We need a hope that is bigger than death itself.

Prescription When Jesus Christ died in disgrace, there seemed to be no hope left for Himself or His cause. But His hope was in God. And God turned defeat of Good Friday into the victory and joy of Easter morning.

Jesus Christ turns the futile hopes and dreams of our lives into living hope in God. He gives new hope to emptiness, sickness, property, and death. Now we have a hope that cannot disappoint us.

Our prescription for today and every day: With Jesus Christ die to sin and self and futile,

Assemblyman Krueger Introduces HEA Bill

Assemblyman Jerome Krueger (D) introduced an Assembly bill which would raise the maximum amounts that students may borrow under the Higher Education Assistance Authority Act of 1959. The loans guaranteed by the state are granted to qualified students who have demonstrated high moral character, good citizenship and dedication to American ideals. The students must attend an institution accredited by the National Commission on Accrediting or approved by the New Jersey State Board of Education. Financial need for such loans must be demonstrated.

The new schedule would provide for freshmen to borrow $750.00; sophomores, $1,000.00; juniors, $1,000.00; seniors, $1,500.00. Interest on the loans will be 6%. The loans are made directly between the students and the banks participating in the work and to schools abroad that are accredited.

Mr. Krueger said that a study is being made of loan programs in other states. "I would like to have the state pay all or part of the interest that a deserving student pays. This would be a small investment for the dividends that would be returned to our state in preparing for our future leaders."

Deserving students should have the opportunity to further their education." He added, "This is an opportunity for the commercial world to serve in the field of higher education beyond just mere lip service."

Assemblyman Krueger urged the commercial banks in Union County and in the state to "open their doors to this program. The 6% interest should make these loans attractive to banks."

Farmer Baker, Departing, Talks About Hog-Holding

"That greased pig went through like lightning!"

This was Springfield and an old man was talking. It was Claudius Baker, 86, who has lived in town at 339 Mountain Avenue for many years where modern houses now dot the 75-acre farm land that was once his way of life at the turn of the century. Now he and his wife are departing from Springfield as of May and will move to their summer home in West Milford, N.J., there to stay throughout the years.

Reminiscing with ex-farmer Baker afforded a pulling back of the curtain on what life was like in the Township's early days. For instance there was the spectacle of Mr. Baker driving a pair of oxen hitched to his milk wagon. (A picture showing this appeared in The SUN January 24, 1963). Often he did it just for "kicks" as he had a stable full of horses, but perhaps he had a special love of the huge draft animals.

"Once broken in--you had to make them steers as soon as they were shipped to you--they were gentle, did a fine job of pulling and if treated right would serve you for years. Matter of fact if you bought a pair of oxen and wanted to get rid of them when winter came, you could get your full money back on them even realize a profit. With horses, selling them after the season was a different matter. Maybe you took a whopping loss, or practically gave them away."

We started to ask about the greased pig, when Mr. Baker told of the time (and this goes way back) when drovers used to herd as many as 1500 head of cattle from Wyoming to New York City and their chores took them over what is now South Orange Avenue.

There one day came four Revolutionary soldiers and asked Meeker for water. This they were directed to, and after drinking their fill and replenishing their canteens and watering their mounts, prepared to move on toward Morristown. It being noon day, Farmer Meeker suggested that the militiamen tarry and stay for dinner. "If I knew you were coming I'd have killed a couple of chickens," said Mrs. Meeker, but her husband told the visitors they would enjoy themselves on what was in the larder. When the repast was finished, one of the officers offered to pay. A high denomination gold coin was presented to the farmer and he looked at it for a moment (not having recognized his guests) and said "Couldn't be better if this was from President Washington." There was pause and one of the men motioned toward a member of the quartet, saying "That IS President Washington!"

Jersey Grocers Endorse Mrs. Lubman for Assembly

The Jersey Grocer's Association consisting of independent food stores located in Union, Essex, Middlesex and Passaic Counties have endorsed the candidacy of Mrs. Grace J. Lubman for the State Assembly and her issue of a State Conducted Lottery. Several newspapers were brought to the meeting this month and the editorials of Mrs. Lubman on the subject of a State Lottery were read to the membership.

A delegation was appointed and met with Mayor Addonizio of Newark recently to discuss ways to raise new revenues for the state without added taxes. All turned out to be small amounts that would not make a dent toward solving the over all problem. It is the feeling of our membership that an honestly run state conducted lottery, on a referendum as Mrs. Lubman explains in her articles would have almost unanimous support if the public could voice its opinion on

Boy's Neighborhood Backyard Carnival Benefits Red Cross

A neighborhood backyard carnival at 100 Evergreen Terrace held on March 31 netted $30.00 for the Springfield Red Cross Fund Drive announced Robert Laurencelle Fund Chairman. The receipts were presented by Ronald Krowne, to the local Red Cross Chapter at the Cannon Ball House on Monday evening.

The idea of the Carnival was conceived and organized by Ronald Krowne, 10 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan P. Krowne, 100 Evergreen Terrace. Young Ronald had recently received a cotton candy machine as a gift and from this point came the inspiration for a carnival which chose to support the local Red Cross Drive. Ronald typed and duplicated circulars which he distributed throughout

Tercentenary Tales SHINGLE MINERS OF DENNIS CREEK

By John T. Cunningham

It takes only modest imagination to seek out gold in the hills or iron in the mountains, but a sensitive-nosed group of Cape May "miners" proved during the 19th century that mining can be matter of making a dollar from whatever the earth might yield. Calling themselves "shingle miners," Dennis Creek prospectors found fortunes of a sort by hewing shingles out of submerged cedar logs that they dug in the swamps of northwestern Cape May County.

His sensitive nose told an experienced cedar log digger in one sniff whether the chip came from a real "windfall" or only a poor "breakdown".

"Windfalls" were trees blown down in a long-forgotten gale, and therefore in prime condition when they fell. "Breakdowns", on the other hand, probably had been rotten before they broke off and collapsed into the mud.

If the miner's nose foretold piece of buoyant wood. The cut surface had the aroma and oiliness of freshly-cut cedar, and the bark on the underside of logs looked alive, as if the tree had been down for days rather than centuries.

Each log was cut to shingle lengths, 18 or 36 inches long. These lengths were split into small blocks, each to be sliced into shingles about six inches wide and a half inch thick.

Charles Robart, called the CUTTING "mined" cedar logs near Dennisville, Cape May County, in woodcut from 1855 report of State Geologist.

Dennis Creek shingles went far and wide — to roof in the hotels of Cape May town and to provide siding for homes as far away as Delaware or Pennsylvania. Once, to the everlasting pride of the miners, Dennis Creek shingles went to cover the roof of Independence Hall in Philadelphia.

CEDAR LOGS PRESERVED

Cedar logs had been preserved in the muck for centuries before Dennis Creek diggers found them in about 1800. Often the logs lay in jumbled piles, one atop the other at depths of three to 10 feet below the surface.

The miners found their treasure by jabbing iron rods into the mud until they struck a likely log. Then they dug down until they could slice off a chip for a nose test — the cedar miner's counterpart of the gold miner's assay.

success, he removed the surface peat, the tangled roots and the mud from atop the full length of a log. Water filled the hole, but the miner cut the hidden log into shingle lengths, using a long saw that sliced through log, mud and peat alike.

Some miners preferred to pry a log loose for its entire length, easing it to the surface with long poles. Whether he preferred sawing under water or sawing what he could see, the miner knew that he must sweat, for the average log was 18 inches to 36 inches in diameter — and an occasional find — measured as much as seven feet through.

GIANTS PRESERVED

In every case, however, miners never ceased to wonder how perfectly the mud and water had preserved these felled giants. Pieces of log cut under water would pop to the surface like a

"last of Cape May's shingle miners," remembered 60 years of shingling before he died in 1907. He had begun carrying shingles out of Hawk Swamp near Dennis Creek in the 1830's, when he was a boy able to carry only a dozen of the solid slabs.

Mr. Robart's father, a master among shinglers, could mine, saw, split and shave a thousand shingles a week, worth $16 in good times.

Mr. Robart recollected that each year "hundreds of thousands of shingles were taken out." His estimate, based perhaps on how his young back had felt, proved correct; in 1856 a survey by the State Geologist revealed 610,000 shingles made that year near Dennis Creek.

PROUDEST RECOLLECTION
The proudest recollection of Mr. Robart was the time a man named John Anneley and Mr.

Robart's father won the contract to supply 25,000 shingles for renewing the roof on Independence Hall. "He and father prepared all those shingles and was paid an extra price for them," said Mr. Robart.

On rare occasions a cedar log rose from its muddy prison in such magnificent shape that miners couldn't bear to hew it into shingles. Such specimens went to dealers "in western states," who used the wood in violins which Mr. Robart claimed "gave forth a better quality of music than those made from any other wood."

Shingle mining inevitably faded. Logs near the surface were mined out by 1900 and tastes changed; people couldn't tell the difference between a freshly-cut shingle and one carved from cedar aged in the mud.

Ironically, the thing which hurt shingle miners most was the quality of their product. "Mined shingles last 80 to 90 years," builders complained — and such longevity ruined repeat business.

RE-VIEWING THE PAST

By Don Palmer

Because of its greater magnitude and importance, the battle of June 23rd, 1780, has so overshadowed preceding events that they have been almost completely ignored, and probably most Springfield residents are unaware that there were three, and perhaps four, other engagements between American and British troops here during the Revolution.

FIRST ENGAGEMENT
The first of these was on December 17th, 1776, shortly after the heartbreaking retreat of Washington's ragged and discouraged army across New Jersey to comparative safety on the other side of the Delaware River, and only a few days before that same half-starved and half-frozen army recrossed the River to make its spectacular capture of Trenton, with most of its Hessian garrison and turn the tide in favor of the American cause.

Having chased the Americans across the Delaware, and finding that General Washington had thoughtfully removed all available boats to the other side, Sir William Howe, the supreme British commander, decided to postpone the plan of going on to capture Philadelphia, and he and Lord Cornwallis returned to New York -- Howe with visions of a nice comfortable winter in the City and Cornwallis with a leave of absence to return to England. Before leaving Jersey, however, they set up a line of posts across the State, extending from Newark through Elizabethtown, Amboy, New Brunswick and Princeton to Trenton, and left General Grant in command, with headquarters at New Brunswick. From these towns, raiding and foraging parties made continual sorties into the surrounding country, preying on the inhabitants without mercy and often guided by Tories delighted with a chance to take revenge on former friends and neighbors. Sometimes these raiders came into collision with detachments of American militia, or bands of partisans, like that of Captain Eliakim Littell, of Springfield, and were captured or severely beaten. Word had reached General Howe that there was a concentration of American militia at Chatham and in the Short Hills was posted at Springfield; and the Morris County regiment was stationed about midway between them, among the defiles of the Short Hills."

REPORT OF THE ACTION
The following detailed report of the action is quoted from Hatfield's "History of Elizabeth":

THE HESSIANS MADE OFF WITH EVERYTHING THEY COULD CARRY. (Illustration courtesy Springfield Historical Society)

between there and Springfield, and he ordered an expedition sent out to capture or scatter them. Accordingly, British General Leslie set out from Elizabethtown on the 17th of December, at the head of about 800 men, bound for Chatham. According to Vanderpoel's "History of Chatham," "On that day Colonel Ford's brigade was somewhat scattered. The Sussex Battalion, under Colonel Symmes, lay at Chatham; Major Spencer's Essex Battalion on the approach of General Leslie's troops towards Springfield, they were discovered by Major Spencer's videts, stationed on the main road (about two miles east of Springfield). Major Spencer instantly dispatched a light horseman on full speed four miles to Chatham, to notify the Colonel commandant that the enemy, in considerable force, were within two miles of Springfield. The brigade was already under arms and was ordered instantly to march toward Springfield, to sustain Major Spencer; meantime, the Major prudently abandoned Springfield and retreated towards Chatham. He met the brigade at Briant's Tavern. After Major Spencer had communicated to the Colonel the position of the enemy, then occupying Springfield, the brigade advanced to the attack. Captain Brookfield, who commanded the flanking party on the left, made the first onset, on the right of the enemy, extending from the Church up the Vauxhall road (now Main Street). Captain Seely, who commanded the flanking party on the right, made a warm attack upon the left of the enemy, spread along the Westfield road (now Caldwell Pl.) The centre of the enemy occupied the ground in front of, and the meadow behind, Woodruff's Tavern. The Colonel commandant of the militia, supported by Col. Lindsley on the left and Major Spencer, who now commanded the Essex regiment, on the right, brought the centre of the brigade, retaining their fire until within pistol-shot of the enemy. The conflict continued about an hour, when darkness forbade a longer contest at that time, and the firing seemed mutually to cease on both sides. The brigade fell back that evening only one mile, to Briant's Tavern; struck up fires and lay all night on their arms, intending to make a second attack in the morning. But in the morning the enemy was not to be found; he had withdrawn in the night with all possible silence, taking off his dead and wounded in wagons. The militia pursued him to Westfield, but could not come up with him. This was the first instance in the State of New Jersey when the British troops turned their backs and fled from those they called rebels, and this success, small as the affair was, taught the Jersey militia that the foe was not invincible. Although there is no record of any destruction of property by fire, this small British army evidently was in Springfield long enough for the men to do considerable looting of personal property from the homes of the inhabitants, as among the claims made after the War for damages sustained, the date of December 17th, 1776, is mentioned several times -- one of them being that of Rev. Jacob Van Arsdale, whose parsonage was in the midst of the fighting.

SECOND ENGAGEMENT
The next account of action in this area is contained in a letter sent to Congress, on January 7th, 1777, by General Washington, from Morristown, in which he says: "There have been two or three little skirmishes between their parties and some detachments of the militia, in which the latter have been successful and made a few prisoners. The most considerable was on Sunday morning (January 5th) when eight or ten Waldeckers were killed or wounded and the remainder of the party, thirty-nine or forty, made prisoners, with their officers, by a force not superior in number and without receiving the last damage." Hatfield says, "This was at Springfield. The troops were led by Major Oliver Spencer and for his bravery on this occasion, he was presently after promoted to Colonel."

THIS ONE WAS A DRAW
On February 1, 1777, in another engagement at Springfield, with much larger forces on both sides, the Americans were not so successful, but the enemy finally retreated and evidently the result was more or less a draw. Referring again to Vanderpoel's

"History of Chatham", the following account is quoted, in part, from a letter written by an American officer, from Chatham, on February 3rd, found in the "New Jersey Archives":

"On the first instant, three thousand of the enemy, under command of Sir William Erskine, came out of Brunswick to forage. They had eight pieces of cannon. Several of our scouting parties joined (forces) to the amount of six hundred men, under command of Col. Scott, of the 5th Virginia regiment. A disposition was made to attack the enemy. Col. Scott, with ninety Virginians on the right, attacked two hundred British grenadiers and drove them to their cannon. The other parties (of Americans) not marching so briskly up to the attack, the Colonel (with his men) was engaged ten minutes by himself, and three hundred fresh men being sent against him, he was obliged to give way, but formed again within three hundred yards of the enemy. By this time, two other companies had come up to his aid, but superior numbers at last prevailed. Our troops retreated about a quarter of a mile, formed again, and looked the enemy in the face until they retreated. The enemy had thirty-six killed, and the country people saw, and upwards of one hundred wounded. We lost three officers and twelve privates killed and have about as many more wounded. Lieutenant Gregory, from Virginia, a brave officer, and Adjutant Kelly, of the 5th Virginia regiment, one of the bravest men in the army; he was carried off the field with a flesh wound only, and five more Virginians; but the enemy, coming on that ground, murdered them, by beating out their brains, with a barbarity exceeding that of the savages."

(It is said that it was common practice on the part of the British, and especially of the Hessians, to go over the battlefields, if they had the opportunity, and kill any American wounded they found.)

JERSEY CAMPAIGN ENDS

The foregoing engagements all took place, as stated, during the early part of the winter of 1776-77. Before the end of January, General Maxwell had driven the enemy out of Elizabethtown, taking "thirty Hessians and fifty Highlanders, and about thirty baggage wagons, fully loaded." This left the British troops in possession only of Amboy and Brunswick. Their campaign in New Jersey came to an end on June 30th. They evacuated New Brunswick on June 22nd and concentrated their entire force at Perth Amboy. On June 26th, they made an advance in force, under the command of Howe and Cornwallis, toward Washington's Camp, but got only as far as Westfield. On their return to Amboy, they were followed and attacked all the way by Scott's light horse and Morgan's rangers. On the 30th, they left, a part crossing to Staten Island on a bridge of boats, and the rest embarking on board of transports, which filled the harbor.

"Thus, after seven months occupation, and a vast expenditure of resources; after a vain attempt to penetrate to Philadelphia and to bring the war to a speedy end, the great army of invasion was compelled wholly to evacuate the State, to the disgrace and chagrin of their leaders and the bitter disappointment of the whole Tory faction."

Steve Gulick Becomes Troop 177 Life Scout

S.P.L. Steve Gulick Jr., Monday night, April 8, 1963 became the first Scout of Troop 177 sponsored by the Community Presbyterian Church to attain the rank of Life Scout, since the inception of the troop. Requirements for this rank include satisfactory evidence of Scout spirit and participation, completion of a conservation project and the earning of eight required merit badges plus two more of his own choosing. The applying Scout then appears before a Board of Review, composed of adult Scouters who are not of his own troop, with letters of rating from his church, school and home. Gulick is the holder of 16 merit badges, an Ordeal Member of The Order of the Arrow and twice has been recognized for outstanding service to his troop. His hobbies, naturally, are camping, fishing, hunting, marksmanship and baseball. A Freshman at Governor Livingston Regional High School, he was a member of the Freshman football team and plays the saxophone in the school band.

Monday's Court of Honor and Parent's Night was an effective ceremony, produced and directed entirely by the Junior Leaders. Rev. A. Talcott opened with the invocation and flag ceremonies were handled by the Patrol Leaders. This was followed by the impressive investiture of Tenderfoot Richard Blaser, who was presented with his badge and troop neckerchief by Assist.

Scoutmaster Roy Daniels. Then, with lights dimmed, Senior Patrol Leader Steve Gulick Jr., lighted the candle symbolizing the Spirit of Scouting, from which twelve additional candles were lighted by Scouts who recited the main points of the Scout Law. Off stage Charles Layton, Narrator, read the explanatory part of the Law in full. At the conclusion, Richard was congratulated and shook the hand of every Scout in the troop.

Troop Committee Chairman, Kermit Harbaugh, then presented second class awards to Peter Rohr and Ken Keller and First class awards to Charles Layton and Jeff Harbaugh.

Next step on the ladder comes Star Scout. Requirements for this rank are the same as those of Life, with the exception of merit badges. With this rank, only five badges are needed. Paul Dimmick became eligible for this this past week and was duly awarded his badge by Committeeman Harbaugh; who then presented the Life Badge to Scout Gulick. Assist. Senior Patrol Leader Jim Hambacher lead cheers for the honored Scouts.

The Court of Honor was followed by the showing of movies by Scoutmaster Steve Gulick Sr. which included activities of the troop since last spring. There were scenes of their trips to Washington, D. C., Gettysburg, Pa., Valley Forge, Pa. and Phoenecia, N.Y. Snapshots of some of the year's activities were also on display.

Announcements were made of the overnight to Phoenecia, N.Y. scheduled for May and a canoe trip in June.

Springfield Council Of PTA's Recommends BE "Up-Date" Support

The Springfield Council of Parent-Teacher Associations passed a resolution during its April meeting recommending that the individual P.T.A.'s support the Board of Education's proposed referendum to "up-date" the school system facilities. In May, voters will be asked to give approval to the Board's modernization program titled "Operation Up-date."

Members of the council felt that the Board's decision to improve the facilities of the schools was realistic in light of the present and future needs of an expanding curriculum and the anticipated normal increase in school enrollments over the next five years.

The Council is comprised of representatives from each of the individual Parent-Teacher Associations in town, and its object is to work in an advisory capacity for the good of the children in the public schools of Springfield.

Kopel Moves To Bigger Quarters

The opening of new, expanded and more accessible offices and studios at 410 Chestnut Street, Union, was announced today by Kopel Creative Production Services, specialists and consultants in advertising design and art, packaging and print supervision.

Henry Kopel of Troy Drive, Springfield, founder and president of the organization, stated that it had outgrown its previous quarters at 103 Baker St., Maplewood and required greatly expanded space to meet increased demands for service and to accommodate its enlarged staff.

Industrial Fair Interest Rising

The regular monthly meeting of the Springfield Industrial Committee was held on April 3, 1963. The most important spot on the agenda was the forthcoming Industrial Fair. The Committee as a whole is well pleased with the progress and fine support Industry is giving. Now, with more than thirty industries and related activities exhibiting, and with the use of Regional High School for the fair, and then with the enthusiasm being generated by all the persons involved working together, there is no doubt that success is guaranteed even more so than originally anticipated.

Other points on the agenda included a discussion on the advertisement placed in "New Jersey Business". The cut depicts the symbol for our balanced community, it was felt quite adequate by all. A questionnaire has gone out to industry in town asking whether transportation to the industrial areas pose any problems. At this early date no indication of sentiment has been returned.

Abuses expressed by the Welfare Investigating Committee of New Jersey's state legislature would not surprise Thomas Robert Malthus—except he has been dead 129 years—welfare program?

Answers
1. No. He was ordained a priest and held a curacy, but he devoted himself to the study of national economics.

Malthus was primarily concerned with the universal tendency of population to outrun its means of subsistence. But in developing his theory, Malthus condemned England's poor system in that its indiscriminate bounties and doles to large poverty-stricken families aggravated the very evils it aimed to remedy.

2. Quite the contrary, he felt that human misery was due not to unfair distributions of wealth but to man's frivolity and thoughtlessness.

Bitter abuse was heaped upon Malthus for these views. Would the following case history have changed Malthus' outlook?

3. No, there is a real need for them, but there are always those who take advantage of good intentions. Unfortunately, we are breeding relief parasites.

Miss G., aged forty, had 14 illegitimate children by about eight fathers. Her first child was born when she was 12 years. Her daughter living with her also had a child at age 12, and is now pregnant with another child. Miss G. and her illegitimate offspring are on relief as they have been most of their life. From 1943 to 1961 Miss G. had received welfare payments from the state totalling $62,650.50.

4. No, the problem is primarily a moral one. Malthus had the right idea, but was justifiably pessimistic about man's ability to solve the problem.

This is only one case history among many from the files of New Jersey's A.D.C. (Aid to Dependent Children) program. The cost of such aid has leaped from 6.5 million dollars in 1953 to 45 million dollars this year. At this rate it should be 315 million by 1973 and well over a billion by 1983!

In his day Malthus was pessimistic and had scant faith in the capacity of the human race to regulate its members by prudence and restraint. Nor have we cause for optimism when we face the appalling fact that state governments are actually subsidizing the evils of a way of life against which a healthy society should fight tooth and nail.

Science Quiz
1. Was Malthus a scientist?
2. Did Malthus have socialist or communistic leanings?
3. Are relief programs social evils in themselves?
4. Is there a scientific means of mitigating abuses of the social

Holy Week & Easter Rites For St. Stephen's Church

The Celebration of Holy Week and Easter at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Millburn (Main Street, opposite Taylor Park) will include a full schedule of services, beginning with the Maundy Thursday Celebrations.

Maundy Thursdays is remembered as the day in the first Holy Week in which Jesus instituted the Sacrament of the Last Supper, or Holy Communion. On that day it is customary at St. Stephen's Church to celebrate the Holy Communion in a Special Candlelit Evening Service, with the Senior Choir.

On Good Friday, the day in which Christians everently remember the Crucifixion of Christ, there will be a "three-hour service" of hymns and prayers and meditation on the words of Jesus from The Cross. This service begins at twelve noon and extends to 3:00. Participants may enter and leave the Service at intervals throughout. The Three-Hour Service affords an opportunity for all Christians to think seriously about their Lord on the day in which we especially remember His death. The Rector of St. Stephen's, The Rev. James Elliott Lindsley will deliver The Meditation. The parish organist, O. Warren Conner will be at the organ.

Saturday ("Easter Eve") is traditionally set apart for baptisms. The rector of the local church has extended an invitation to all unbaptized persons, and parents of unbaptized children, who wish to take upon themselves the responsibilities of baptism, to arrange to attend the Special Service of Holy Baptism beginning at 4:00 on Saturday afternoon, April 13th.

The Easter Day services begin early on Easter morning with the Celebration of the Holy Communion at 7:00 and 8:00. The Family Service will be at 9:15. All parents and their children are urged to attend this service. The Choral Eucharist, with the Senior Choir, will be held at 11:00. It is customary at all services of the Holy Communion of St. Stephen's for every one in the Church to come to the Altar Rail other emphasizes the family apart of the Christian Church. Little children and those not desiring to make their Communion at that time receive a prayer of blessing. The rector will be assisted at the Easter Service by the Reverend Dr. John C. W. Linsley, Associate Director of the Overseas Department of the National Council of The Episcopal Church. There is child care at the 9:15 and 11:00 Service on Easter Day.

All members of the parish will want to make their Communion in the Easter Season. Those who are shut-in or infirm have been asked to make arrangements for the Rector to bring the Communion to their homes on Easter Monday or Easter Tuesday.

Inquiry Group Sessions At Holy Cross Lutheran

An adult inquiry group, designed to acquaint interested persons with the doctrines and teachings of the Lutheran Church will begin Thursday evening, April 19, at 8:00 p. m., Pastor Lester Messerschmidt of Holy Cross Lutheran Church, Springfield, has announced. All sessions will be held in the Parish House.

Such sessions are held periodically, said Pastor Messerschmidt, to afford all those seeking a church home in the community to make an honest appraisal and evaluation of the Lutheran Church and its teachings. Although completion of the course makes one eligible for church membership, those attending are under no obligation to affiliate with the church if they do not desire to do so, he added.

Further information may be secured by calling the church office, Drexel 9-4525 or CRest-vk.w 7-6958.

Delegates Chosen For DAR Congress

Delegates from the Church and Cannon Chapter, Springfield, to the 72nd Continental Congress of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, which will be held in Constitution Hall, Washington, D.C., next week (April 15-19) will be Mrs. Christian Oehler of Westfield, regent, and Mrs. William H. Baldwin of Troy drive, vice regent.

The Congress will officially open Monday evening at 8:30 p.m. with the entrance of the President General, Mrs. Robert V.H. Duncan and National Officers escorted by pages carrying the American Flag and the flags of the fifty states.

Dean Clarence Manion will be the speaker at the National Defense luncheon which will be held Monday at the Sheraton Park Hotel.

The New Jersey chapters will hold their luncheon on Tuesday at the hotel. The annual banquet will be held Friday evening in the grand Ballroom of the Mayflower Hotel.

Softball League Planning Season

The Springfield Recreation Department will this year again offer an adult summer soft-ball program. The Springfield Adult Soft-Ball League was organized last year and a successful season ensued. As may be recalled the league was composed of the following ten teams: Wesley Jewlers, Davaron Studio, Fisher Brothers, The Springfield Junior Chamber of Commerce, Katz, The American Legion, Meekers, The "Mets", Rnette Youth Center, and The Springfield Sun. The teams throughout the summer months competed in league play and play-off competition. We anticipate another successful season in which the league may be expanded and the caliber of play developed. A regular league meeting has been scheduled for Thursday evening, April 25 at 8:00 p.m. at the Springfield Recreation House, 59 Caldwell Place. Any interested persons seeking further information, please contact Scott Donington at 755-5167

Approval Granted For Referendum

Approval was granted on Monday, April 8 to the Union County Regional High School District to proceed with its plans to submit a referendum to the people of the district. Final approval was given by the New Jersey State Division of Local Government after a short hearing in Trenton.

The site for the new construction is located to the rear of the Harding school property in Kenilworth and is bounded on the west side by Fourteenth Street, on the north by Monroe Street. It comprises an area of more than twenty acres, with the total area of the site readily usable for school purposes.

The Regional Board of Education will now proceed with its plan to submit the proposal to the electorate of the district at an election to be held on May 28, at the various polling places in the district. At stake is a $2,850,000 issue to build and equip a new Regional high school building in Kenilworth. The voters previously approved a request by the Board to purchase the site for the proposed building.

The Regional district has developed an orderly plan for the expansion of its facilities as the population expands. This plan dates from about the time of the close of World War II, and much of it was based on the pioneering population development studies made by former Board member Richard Southgate of Berkeley Heights. The Kenilworth construction represents the fifth step in district expansion.

The high school in Kenilworth is planned to accommodate some nine hundred students and is expandable to fifteen hundred. In common with all of the other regional schools, it is planned to develop a high school of the broadly comprehensive type. Provision for college preparation will be a strong feature, but the needs of those who do not attend college will by no means be neglected. It is planned that this school will also be designed so that it may be readily used by physically handicapped pupils.

Issler Stars For Freshmen, Zeros Roselle

It was all Bobby Issler for the Springfield Freshman Baseball team Monday. Issler pitched a no-hitter against Roselle, at the Ram's field, and drove in the only two runs of the game with a clutch double.

Issler was fantastic, striking out ten batters, and showing flawless control. He walked none, and faced but 24 batters in all. In the top of the fifth, Issler doubled home Pete Caruso, and Leroy Mathis, for the eventual 2-0 margin.

The game was reminiscent of the Frosh game at Roselle two years ago, when Coach John Swedish's boys, behind the hitless pitching of Frank Montirello, downed the Rams 18-0.

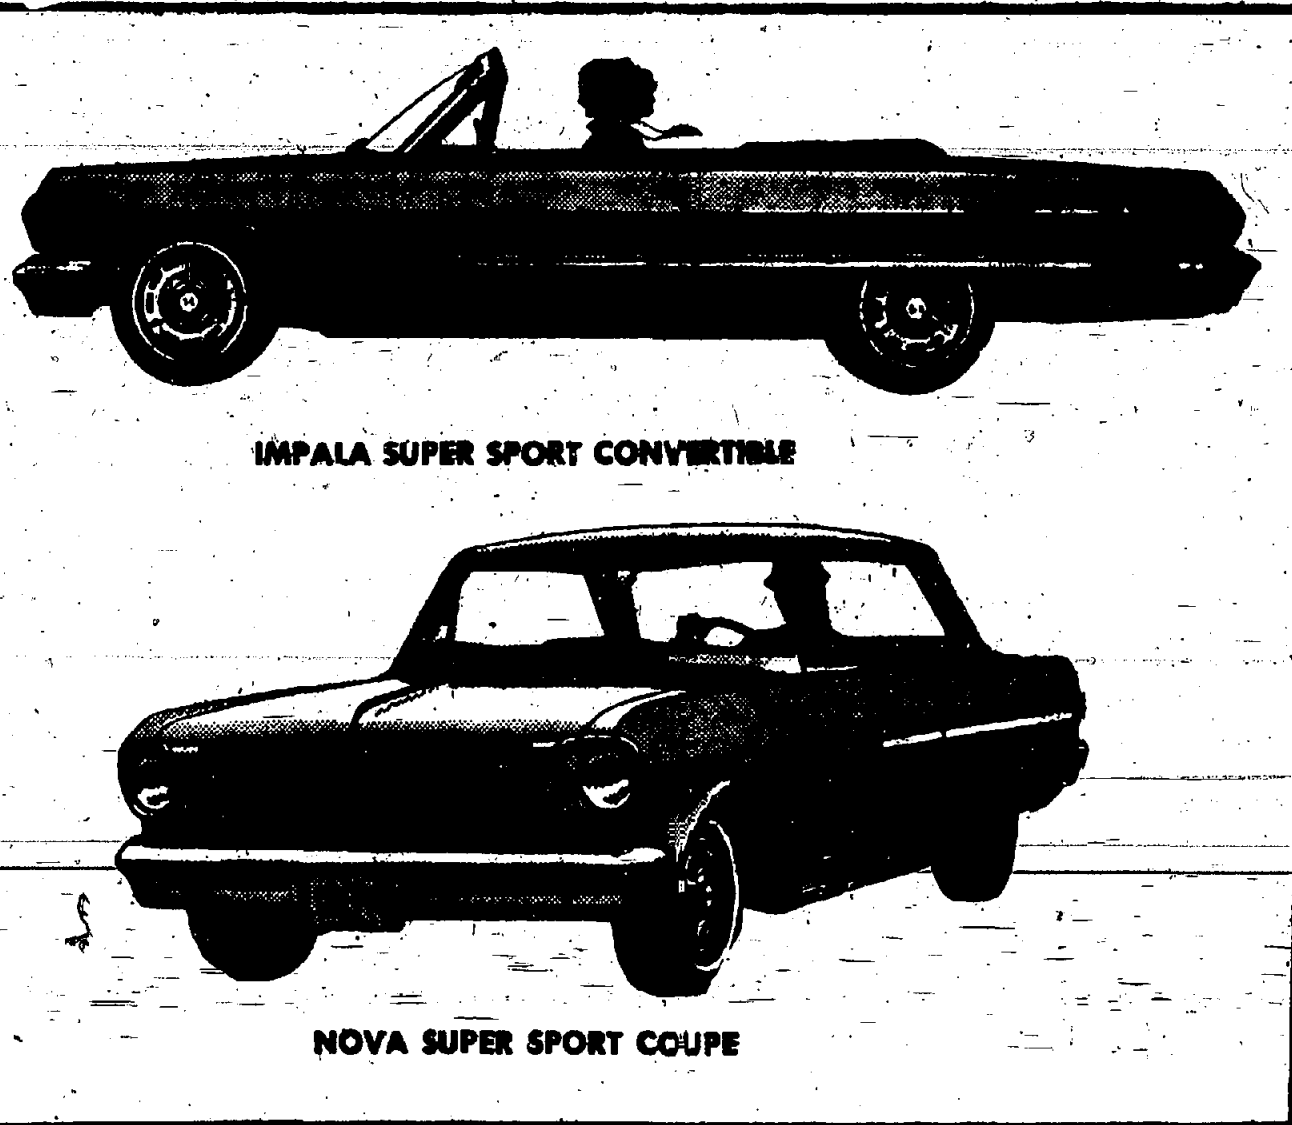

It is planned that this building, in common with other regional buildings, shall have excellent library, laboratory, and shop facilities. Physical education facilities also will be on a par with other such facilities in the district.

The Regional Board will meet with local officials at the Governor Livingston school on April 29 at 7:30 p.m.

How do husband and wife teams affect a theatrical production? Eight Springfield families, congregants of Temple Shalom are currently rehearsing with the large cast of the musical "It's Only Tuesday!" at the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.

For Honey and Jerry Kraemer it is a real fine arrangement. They both have featured parts; they both sing and dance and play the love interest. The kitchen scenes are so realistic, and they have ample opportunity to practice the lines and clinches at home.

Majorie Richman is so busy changing costume and catching her cues for the dance routines, she has not yet had time to react to husband Eddie making out with the ingenue, Elaine Zaralnick, for his jovial role.

Paula and Lou Cash, and Julie and Jerry London have several scenes where they share the same area and activity, and somehow Paula and Julie like to stand in the wings to enjoy the duets that Lou sings with Anita Mulvihill and Jerry does with Marian Splain.

Frank can really take care of the production details backstage. Phil and Irma Ames just go, go, go—speaking roles, blackouts, song, dances, one follows the other in rapid succession.

Saul and Elaine Sengar have separate comedy sequences and each is a hit in his own scene.

How does all this togetherness and separateness work out for the rest of the cast? Director Mollie Jay finds the same healthy spirit of cooperation from all members as she does from her beloved tenor Alvin Jay.

The ultimate test of these spouse teams will be observed by adult audiences at 8:30 Saturday, May 4th and Sunday at 8:00 May 5th. The town children will make their own decision at 2:30 the afternoon of May the fifth. Tickets are available at the Colonial Sweet Shop or by calling Gloria Sherman at DR 9-3132.

READY FOR A BULL FIGHT is Eric Eaton, matador and the bull, Geoffrey Eaton and Todd Healey. The Eatons are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Eaton, Jr. of Sycamore Terrace, Springfield, and Todd is from Upper Montclair. The boys will be among a cast of 200 including World Champions to appear in Funomara on Ice at the South Mountain Arena, West Orange, on April 20 and 21. The show is being presented by the Essex Skating Club of New Jersey for the Hospital Center at Orange. The event is sanctioned by the United States Figure Skating Association.

Baha'i Message Call For Unity

"The Baha'i message is a call to religious unity, and not an invitation to a new religion, not a new path to immortality, God forbid! It is the ancient path cleared of the debris of imaginations and superstitions of men, of the debris of strife and misunderstanding, and is again made a clear path to the sincere seeker, that he may enter therein in assurance, and find that the word of God is one word, though the speakers were many."

Genevieve In "Irma La Douce" Opens Spring Musical Season

Genevieve, who skyrocketed to fame on the Jack Paar show, and went on to prove her talent as a musical performer, opens at the Paper Mill Playhouse on Tuesday, April 16, in "Irma La Douce".

Genevieve, whose charm, singing voice and affection for the world in general have made her loved in return, has retained just enough of her French accent to be charming, but has lost (with study and effort) the incredible, and sometimes incomprehensible French accent she had six years ago when she used to knock them dead with her Gallic malapropisms on the Paar show.

Smith Holding Theater Party

The Smith College Club of Watchung Hills will sponsor a benefit performance of "Irma La Douce," starring Genevieve, at the Paper Mill Playhouse in Millburn on Saturday, May 4 at 6 P.M. Proceeds from the sale of tickets will go to the club's scholarship fund.

Area residents on the benefit committee are Mrs. John Keim, Jr., of Stirling; Mrs. Richard Martin and Mrs. Peper Neumann of Berkeley Heights; and Mrs. M. Howard Mettee of New Providence.

Weequahic Reunion Plans

Weequahic High School Class of June 1938 is planning its 25th reunion, it was announced by Emanuel Yeskel, and Bess Lakoff Hantz, Co-Chairmen. The affair will be held on Friday, June 7th at the Florham Park Country Club, Florham Park. All members of the class are requested to contact:

Lary Max, 40 Glenview Dr., Springfield.

The musical in which she'll star could have been made to order for her. It is "Irma La Douce", which ran for four years in Paris before being translated into English for a two year run in London, and a subsequent three year run in the United States (including 524 performances on Broadway.)

"Irma La Douce" is set in the backstreets of Pigalle in Paris, where Irma (Genevieve) falls madly in love with a law student without a soul. They keep house together (Our Language of Love, a haunting and beautiful love song comes at this point) and Irma supports him (in a not quite respectable way). Her jealous suitor (and complications) enter the picture.

In spite of the milieu, and the collection of Pigalle characters rarely encountered on stage, "Irma" is a tender love story which endeared itself to international audiences for many years.

Rahway in Golf

The Springfield High Bulldogs used four freshmen and two juniors to defeat Rahway, 13 1/2-4 1/2, for their first win in two outings at Baltusrol Golf Club, Springfield, Monday.

Freshman Jim Belliveau, Springfield's No. 1 performer, carded a 41 for a 3-0 win. Charlie Lester, Bill Hrank and Mike Zidonik are the other fresh regulars while juniors Rick Humphrey and Bruce Silverman were the Nos. 4 and 5 men yesterday.

Woodbridge won its opener by a 10-8 score over East Brunswick at Forsgate Country Club, Jamesburg, while Union bowed to East Brunswick by the same count in its first match of the season. The Farmers and Barons meet Thursday at Colonia.

Berkely Heights dropped a 17-1 session to South Plainfield and St. Peter's of New Brunswick topped Plainfield, 10 1/2-7 1/2, at the Plainfield West course.

The summaries: Springfield 13.5 Rahway 4.5 Jim Belliveau, Springfield (41) defeated Cliff Ginfreda (47), 3-0; Charlie Lester, Springfield (50) defeated Dick Rowland (49), 2-1; Bill Hrank, Springfield (48) defeated Greg Sutcliff (47), 2-1; Ricky Humphrey, Springfield (48) halved with Tippy Smith (49); Bruce Silverman, Springfield (44) defeated John Pohl (44), 3-0; Mike Zidonik, Springfield (48) defeated Jim Quick (52), 2-1.

Regional Beats Union 2-0 For 3rd Win In Row

The Dayton Regional baseball team captured its third win of the season Tuesday, defeating powerful Union at home by a 2-0 score. Richard Freedman and Richie Bittle combined to shut out the Farmers on four hits, as Dayton extended its record to 3-0.

Once again Springfield scored in the initial inning, claiming an unearned run off Union hurler Bill Haag. Bob Rahnenfuhere reached first on an error, went to second as Haag's attempted pickoff went astray, and scored after the Union receiver dropped the relay to home after Denny Francis' single.

The final Bulldog run came in the third frame. Ronnie Urquhart singled, went to second on another wild pickoff attempt, got to third on Freedman's sacrifice bunt, and scored on a double by Jack Apgar.

Freedman had a little control problem in the game, and Coach Ed Jasinski decided to go with Richie Bittle after a single and walk put two men on against Freedman in the fourth with no out. Bittle got the next batter to force a man at second, and with men on first and third the next Farmer hit into a double-play.

The Dayton Regional baseball team gained an early edge in the race for Watchung Conference honors by downing Westfield by a 4-3 margin, and crushing defending champion Cranford, 9-1. Bill Kretzer pitched the home opener against the Blue Devils on Thursday, in a game marked by 13 errors, and Frank Monticello silenced the bats of the Cougars at the Meisel Field on Monday.

The Westfield game was played in treacherous winds, causing all, but one of the seven runs scored to be unearned. The earned tally proved to be the decisive one though, as Dan Mascaro raced all the way home on a single by Steve Berger in the sixth inning, to give the Bulldogs their 4-3 edge.

Springfield jumped to a 2-0 lead in the bottom of the first, when, with two out, Denny Francis lashed a triple to left, Mascaro walked, and both scored on a pair of Westfield errors. Butch Bell scored the other Regional run. Once again errors helped the run around after he had singled.

Kretzer pitched a sparkling game in the coarse conditions, allowing but four hits, fanning seven and walking only one.

The Bulldogs unleashed a tremendous attack against the Cougars, scoring twice in the first and second innings to jump to an advantage that was not threatened. Cranford had men on second and third against Monticello in the first inning with one out, but the Cougar cleanup hitter skyed out to Ron Urquhart, and good throws by Urquhart and Francis, plus a firm defense by Joe DiMario, the catcher, cut the run off at the plate.

With runners on second and third for Dayton in the bottom of the first, Danny Mascaro lashed a single up the middle to break the ice in the scoring column. The Bulldogs poured it on as their first four batters, Bobby Rahnenfuher, Jack Apgar, Francis and Mascaro, allowed the Cranford pitching no rest, and Bell and DiMario added timely hits in the victory.

Monticello was superb after a shakey start, striking out six and walking but two in going the distance. The lone Cougar run was unearned.

The next Conference game for Regional is at Hillside today.
