

Board Reserves Decision On Motel Variance Plea

Springfield Board of Adjustment Monday night at an executive session rendered decision of a number of the cases which came before it at its regular meeting May 21st in Municipal Building.

Decision was reserved in the case of Mrs. Helen Seitz seeking a variance for a motel on property bounded by Route 22, and Farm and Dunder Roads.

Application of Mrs. Dorothy W. Tallau, seeking a variance for a substandard lot at 231 South Springfield Avenue was approved. Also approved was the application of Albert D. Evans for a variance for a substandard lot at 6 Diven Street.

Application of the Mastern Corporation seeking a variance from a side line restriction at 124 Route 22 so that an addition could be constructed onto the Chu Dynasty restaurant was denied as submitted.

Application of Anetta Tabatchnick for a special exception for a coin operated laundry and dry cleaning at 765-755 Mountain Avenue was approved.

The remand of Springfield Township Committee on the case of United Singers of Newark in connection for an addition to Evergreen Lodge was accepted along with the board's original stipulations and it was agreed that a sprinkler system should be installed throughout the building as part of the recommendations. The Evergreen case will be returned to the Township Committee for further consideration.

An application by Houdaille Construction Co. for permission to build on its property to replace structures that will be taken by the State Highway Department was approved.

The public hearing on application of 514 Corporation seeking a variance which would permit Crestmont Savings and Loan Association to have a branch at 762 Mountain Avenue is to be continued at the June 18th meeting at 8 p.m. in Municipal Building.

Application of Mrs. Antoinette Miele seeking a variance from a side yard requirement for a portable swim pool was denied. Requirement is for 15 feet and she had three feet in connection with the proposal. The location was 57 Redwood Road.

Copenhagen's Lord Mayor Honored On Visit To Springfield

On Tuesday, May 21, the Honorable Urban Hanse, Lord Mayor of Copenhagen, Denmark paid a visit to Springfield at the invitation of Springfield Township Mayor Arthur M. Falkin. Lord Mayor Hansen was accorded honors at the Town Green by numerous dignitaries on both the local and county level and received gifts on behalf of the Township, the Chamber of Commerce and the Mayor and Township Committee.

Mayor Hansen, who visited Springfield on behalf of the new Plumrose, Inc. plant recently located in Springfield, the first Danish Food plant of its kind in the U.S., and in conjunction with a $15 million dollar external loan bond issue for Copenhagen, was met at the Lincoln Tunnel by Saul Freeman, representing the Township and C of C, and a Springfield Police car. The car escorted the Lord Mayor of Springfield where he arrived at approximately 3 p.m.

Ceremonies were begun promptly at 3:15 at which time Mayor Falkin presented the visiting Mayor with a "Key to the City", the first ever given in this township. The Lord Mayor also received a plaque from Will Salesky on behalf of the Chamber and was given a set of commemorative plates by Mayor Falkin in honor of New Jersey's Tercentenary Year. A special gift of a set of cuff links and tie clasp, specially made for Mayor Hansen, was given him by Mayor Falkin on behalf of the Mayor and Township Committee.

Following brief introduction ceremonies, Mayor Hansen addressed an assemblage of local residents and told them how "happy I am to be here in Springfield and to meet so many nice people". He said he has been a resident of a large city (Copenhagen) and had visited New York City on Monday, and was very pleased to "have the opportunity to see a smaller city for a change". The Dane complimented the people of Springfield on the appearance of their community and apologized "for not having more time to spend with you in this wonderful city

State Senator Nelson J. Stampler welcomed Mayor Hansen on behalf of the State of New Jersey, and Governor Richard J. Hughes and told the Lord Mayor, "you've seen some of Springfield and we sincerely hope that on your next visit you will be able to see more of our wonderful state of which we are so proud".

Mayor Falkin expressed his "pleasure that you were able to accept my invitation and I am glad that we people of Springfield have the honor of the presence of so notable a dignitary as yourself". He told Mayor Hansen that "Springfield is proud to have been chosen as the lone U.S. site for the new Plumrose, Inc. plant and we hope this will be the start of many more pleasurable and friendly ties between our country and yours".

The entourage, which included numerous officials of Denmark, then made an inspection of the Plumrose site in the Union County Industrial Park where Mayor Hansen chatted briefly with the job foreman, and returned to the offices of the Springfield Sun for a tour of the plant and a press conference.

During the press conference, conducted by Kent Goodman of Crestwood Advertising in New York City, Mayor Hansen told of the reasons for the $15 million dollar bond issue, the first in the U.S. by Denmark since 1929. He said the money would be used for improvements and for solving many of the problems which face his government, many of which are the same as those faced by our own communities.

Lord Mayor Hansen commended Plumrose, Inc. and said the company contributes about $6 million to the economy of Denmark and employs about 2,000 people in Denmark alone. Plumrose has plants in 140 countries. He said the people of Denmark and especially Copenhagen, are very excited about Plumrose coming to the U.S. He said he thought Springfield was a "beautiful town and I like Springfield very well because I like the green between your lovely houses and not the stone" as is marked in Copenhagen and the large cities.

Mayor Hansen said he is called Lord Mayor because there are five mayors and five deputy mayors in Copenhagen and 55 council members over whom he is "Lord Mayors". Mayors in Copenhagen are elected for eight year terms.

Following the press conference, Mayor Hansen was fêted at a reception in the home of Mayor Falkin. Approximately 80 guests attended the reception

The meeting, scheduled for June 4th at 8 p.m. in the Gaudineer auditorium, will give the school board the opportunity to reevaluate the needed facilities.

The architects have also been asked by the board to review the plans with an eye towards decreasing costs without seriously affecting the educational program.

Letters to the Editor

Sir:

One of the reasons why Springfield is justly famous as a desirable Town to reside in, is the quality of its residents. It is not merely that we have many lovely homes, or that our streets are lined with trees, or that the services with which our Township provides us are so good, but the fact that though we are inundated with requests for donations from every conceivable quarter, to the point of saturation, The Girl Scouts of Springfield were able to conduct a Fund Drive with unqualified success, simply because we do have people living in this Town whose hearts are as big as the Town is beautiful.

As Chairman of the Springfield Girl Scouts Fund Drive, may I say that I am proud to live amongst such wonderfully generous people, to know that regardless of the demands on their pocket books, they still have not let our girl scouts down, that through their generosity the programs that have been initiated for our girls will be enacted, so that we may teach them the fundamentals of good citizenship, that they may grow to be as good and faithful to Springfield as those who give so much to it now.

My deep and sincere thanks to all those dedicated women who have spent so much time to ensure the success of the drive, and my deep appreciation to the Springfield Sun for their fine publicity, which helped considerably towards our success.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Philip DelVecchio

A former airline stewardess, tired of pedestrian greeting cards, bucks the trend by introducing droll scrolls. The parchment rolled greetings go to great lengths — 22 inches — to say bon voyage, happy birthday and happy anniversary. Marcia Key, who invented the roller greetings, said each costs $1, and includes a roller mailing tube. (Droll Scrolls, P.O. Box 3810, New York 17, N.Y.).

Now donning "gingham" are coffee mugs, tumblers, party coolers, pitchers, ice buckets and serving trays. All are available in a new decorator-designed line of plastic drinkware. (Mallory Randall Products Inc., 100 Morgan Ave., New York, N.Y.).

Zip and it's gone. An "invisible" zipper that eliminates the need for a cover-up flap resembles a closed seam when zipped. The manufacturer says it is impossible for the zipper to snag. There are no slits in the slider for material to catch in. (Fastline, Inc., 8 Washington Place, New York, N.Y.).

A versatile drying "caddy" has enough space to hang an entire machine load of wet ware. The tubular steel frame stands nearly 6 feet high and has 25-inch parallel bars. (Cal-Dak Co., 1150 Broadway, New York, N.Y.).

Shackamaxon Club Has New Name, New Pro and New Superintendent

The Shackamaxon Golf and Country Club, in Scotch Plains, bidding to regain its former status as one of the outstanding golf facilities in the metropolitan area, has acquired a new name, a new professional and a new green superintendent.

But even more important, it has a new owner who is putting on the line his bankroll, his reputation as a successful businessman, and his prestige as one of New Jersey's leading citizens, in the belief that the restoration of the club is a project worthy of his effort.

Philip J. Levin, of Mount Bethel the new proprietor, is an attorney, financier, realty executive and shopping center developer. An energetic 54-year old man, with offices on Route 22, North Plainfield, Levin is president of 21 different corporations, a board member of half a dozen others, and chairman of the board of Bloomfield. In this area, he is best known for his development of gigantic shopping centers, principally for the E. J. Korvette concern.

A golfer when business permits, Levin has been a member of Green Brook Country Club, North Caldwell, New Jersey, for 14 years. His introduction to the press as a club owner was made at a golf outing yesterday (April 24) at Shackamaxon, during which he outlined his plans, present and future, for the club.

Over the years, the club has had various names — Shackamaxon Country Club, The New Shackamaxon, The Royal Shackamaxon, and most recently, The Scotch Plains Country Club. "The original name of the club was changed only slightly," Levin explained, "because no matter what we named it, it would always be Shackamaxon to the golfers."

As his first significant move toward bringing back the club, Levin hired Jimmy Thomson as golf professional. "I wanted a pro with a name, one who could help put Shackamaxon back in the golfing picture. Jimmy Thomson was that man," Levin declared.

The famed, original "Longest Hitter in Golf", returning to the game at the country club level for the first time in nearly 30 years, has assured Shackamaxon of a professional of established reputation. Also, his past record reveals him as one of the greatest players ever to successfully follow the tournament trail. Jimmy thus adds his name to the list of golf greats who have occupied the pro shop at Shackamaxon: Cyril Walker, Peter J. O'Hara, Bobby Cruickshank and Danny Williams, Sr.

Levin was equally successful in his acquisition of a man to direct the reclamation of the golf course. As green superintendent, he has installed Alex Reid, Scotland-born golf course maintenance expert. Alex returns to Shackamaxon after an absence of 4 years. In the interim he was at the Cedar Hill Country Club, Livingston, New Jersey. Prior to 1956, he was head green superintendent at Echo Lake Country Club in nearby Westfield for 11 years.

When he acquired the club in February, and announced his personal direction of the rehabilitation program, Levin said he was prepared to spend $250,000 initially for improvements to the clubhouse and to the golf course. Since then he has been working overtime signing checks to underwrite that pledge.

Workmen have been kept busy around the clock laying new carpeting throughout the entire clubhouse, installing a new men's shower and a men's steam room, redecorating and refurbishing the main dining room, remodeling and redesigning the grill rooms and bar facilities and painting the clubhouse exterior to give the overall clubhouse area the "new look" so desired by Levin. Future improvements include complete air-conditioning of the building and the construction of an outdoor pool for the exclusive use of club members.

"But the money being spent on the golf course will not be as apparent," Levin pointed out. "It takes time and the cooperation of the weatherman to grow grass. Twenty years of neglect have taken their toll on the course, and we do not expect to bring it back overnight."

"I can assure you that anything that can be done with money in regard to course improvement will be accomplished. Anything Alex Reid needs in the way of seed, fertilizer or equipment is his for the asking. I can promise you, the course will be as good as it is possible to make it on such short notice."

For the time being, Levin continued, considerable effort is being made to improve the appearance of the course; its many bridges are being rebuilt, its water hazards cleared of debris, and the sheds and shelters either removed or rebuilt.

Future plans listed by Levin with top priority include the completion of the fairway water ring system which now services 14 holes, the possible redesigning of some holes, and the relocation of bunkers and other hazards "to make the course more interesting."

Since the club will be operated on a strictly private basis, Levin has installed a rigid control of membership. The ultimate objective of this policy is the development of Shackamaxon for use primarily by members with families. He said he envisioned a membership of no more than 150 this year, to assure "a private club atmosphere, with players on the course limited to those persons who are members or guests."

"By 1964, under our planned membership control policy," Levin added, "we hope to create an atmosphere which will pay off in a large family membership, which will be limited to approximately 250." A few single memberships will be available on a highly selective basis.

A group of members, Levin related, had already formed a non-profit organization and had made application to the United States Golf Association, the Metropolitan Golf Association, and the New Jersey State Golf Association for sanction as a private club, to permit members to compete in tournaments conducted by those golf agencies.

With everything moving toward one objective, Levin said he believed he was entitled to a modest prediction: "Not today, not tomorrow, but not too far in the future, Shackamaxon again will be a club to compare favorably with the finest. It will be a club to which its members will be proud to belong. But, more important, to me, it will be a club in which I personally will be proud to have taken a part in returning to its former glory.

PUC Grants Approval For Elizabethtown Rate Cut

The Elizabethtown Consolidated Gas Company has received approval from the Public Utilities Commission to lower rates for gas air conditioning in the residential and business market, John Kean, Elizabethtown's president, announced today.

Mr. Kean predicted a growing interest in central air conditioning for homeowners and added, "our lower rates put gas air conditioning in a favorable competitive position." He cited the increasing demands for gas air conditioning and improvements in company operations as factors which made the reduction possible.

Today's announcement marks the second gas rate reduction by the gas utility during the past year. Last July, Elizabethtown's home heating rates were cut which resulted in annual savings of more than $320,000.00 to area residents.

In addition to lower rates for gas air conditioning Elizabethtown, at the same time, was granted other revisions reducing the Large Volume Demand rate and changes in their gas light service terms.

Louis J. Rodriguez Will Receive Doctor's Degree

Louis Joseph Rodriguez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rodriguez of 905 Mountain Ave., Springfield, will receive his doctor's degree Saturday, June 8, at Louisiana State University commencement exercises.

A Nicholls State College Thibodaux, La., assistant professor of business administration, Rodriguez will receive his Ph. D. in economics with a minor in business finance. His doctoral dissertation is titled, "A Comparison: United States Economic Relations with Argentina and Brazil, 1947-1960."

Dr. Rodriguez, as he will soon be known, was recipient of the American Legion award and a 1951 honor roll graduate of Springfield Regional High of New Jersey. He attended the Newark branch of Rutgers University on a state scholarship and received his B.A. degree in 1955 with a major in economics and a minor in history. As an undergraduate he was president of the Rutgers Spanish Club.

He entered LSU's graduate school on a teaching assistantship and in 1957 received an MA. degree in international economics; finance was his minor. He did statistical research for U.S. Metals Refining Co. at Carteret, N.J. during the summer of 1956.

After completing work on his master's degree at LSU, he spent 15 months as an executive trainee in Manhattan for the American Metal Climax Corp., a firm that deals in non-ferrous metals.

In the summer of 1959, nine months after arriving at Nicholls as an instructor, Rodriguez formally began work on his doctorate. In 1960-61 he took a nine-month sabbatical leave of absence from Nicholls.

In addition to Pi Gamma Mu, he is a member of the American Economic Association and the Southern Economic Association.

In September, 1956, he married the former Miss Wilma Lou Chollette of Baton Rouge. They are the parents of two children, Susan, 3, and Michael, 18 months.

This summer he won't be busy with graduate studies -- he'll be teaching at Nicholls. During regular semesters at Nicholls, he teaches primarily courses in labor economics.

Four To Be Confirmed At Holy Cross Lutheran

A confirmation class of four teenagers will be received into full adult membership at Holy Cross Lutheran Church by the historic rite of Confirmation this Pentecost Sunday, June 2, at the 10:30 a.m. service. Pastor Lester Messerschmidt will officiate.

Members of the class are Cheryl Gagnon, Kaycee Leopold, Charles Dunleavy, and Paul Ehrenfeld.

While not considered a sacrament in the Lutheran Church, confirmation is considered one of the most important rites, in which the vows taken by the parents and sponsors at baptism are confirmed by the confirmand.

The members of the class have had two years of confirmation instruction in which they have reviewed the basic teachings of the Bible, and the principle teachings of the Christian Church. They have also been instructed in church history and worship customs and practices. Sessions were held once each week during the regular school year for two years. In this way, they have been prepared for their important decision and step in becoming full church members.

The Festival of Pentecost has been selected by the church because it is considered to be the birthday of the Christian Church and represents the first day when the Apostles won converts to the church. Traditionally, the day is known as Whitsunday (White Sunday) for the white apparel worn by early converts when being received into the Church. The class will wear white confirmation robes on this occasion.

The Ladies' Guild of Holy Cross Parish is presenting each confirmand with a copy of "The Lutheran Prayer Book" in commemoration of the occasion.

Birth Announcement

The Pettinicchio Family of 43 Mapes Avenue, Springfield, are proud to announce the birth of the third Michael Joseph born to Mr. and Mrs. Michael Joseph Pettinicchio, Jr.

Michael III arrived on May 7 at Overlook Hospital weighing 5 pounds 12 ounces. The Christening will be held at St. James Church, Sunday, June 2.

Chambers Promoted District Sales Manager

He later transferred to the Springfield office, serving metropolitan N.Y.C., as the district sales manager. As regional manager, Chambers will continue to work out of the Springfield area.

He was awarded a B. S. in chemistry from the University of Rochester in 1956 and is a member of the American Chemical Society, American Vacuum Society, and the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers.

"My Three Angels" Faculty Play Is "Four Star Comedy Hit" Say Observers At Rehearsals In H.S.

"Four star comedy hit!" "Can't Miss!" "A hundred dollars worth of entertainment for a buck!"--these are some of the glowing terms used by observers of the recent rehearsals of "My Three Angels" which will be presented at the Dayton Regional High School at 3:30 p.m. and 8:15 p.m. this Friday, May 31.

Credit for the polish, timing, excellent delivery, and professional touch of each performer goes to the director, Mr. William

A. Herring, Jr. The "Herring Touch" keeps the 3-act comedy, "My Three Angels" moving at a heavenly clip and the laughs roll out like celestial cannons. Mr. Herring graduated from Jersey City State College in 1962 with an English major and has completed 12 hours credit toward his master's degree. He was very active with the school's dramatic club, "The Tower Players"--starring in "12 Angry Men" and "The Crucible". In addition to his rich background in drama, Mr. Herring has done a great deal of writing for his college paper and Yearbook. He teaches English at Dayton and like his idol, Alfred Hitchcock, portrays a brief role in his own production.

The quality of acting by the young lovers in this play is superb. The tenderness of the embrace and the whispered promise of undying affection are true to life. And well might they be because the young lovers of "My 3 Angel's" "Paul" and "Marie Louise" are really Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gallagher--just married. Mr. Gallagher won the Scarlet Masque Award for work in theatre at Glassboro State College from which he was recently graduated. He had one of the leading roles in "Electra", "Antigone", and "Showboat". He worked as a costume designer in "Once Upon a Mattress" at Dayton. He teaches Developmental Reading there.

Mrs. Theodora Gallagher also attended Glassboro and is now teaching at Brookdale School in Bloomfield. She was called in to substitute when the original "Marie Louise" had to drop out. She played the leading role of Miriamme in Maxwell Anderson's "Winterset". She also designed and made the costumes for the women in "My 3 Angels".

Another last minute substitute, Mr. Edward Novak, who portrays "Felix", the store owner, has a most demanding role as the meek and mild husband. His performance is outstanding and when you see the play you'll know why. Mr. Novak attended Alliance College and Fairleigh Dickinson University from which he was graduated with a BS degree in Mathematics. He teaches Math at Dayton. Mr. Novak has a wealth of experience in the theater having been engaged in numerous public speaking activities as well as acting in plays and musicals, which included: "The Man Who Came to Dinner" and "South Pacific". Even though he spent 3 years in the USMC, Mr. Novak found time to sing professionally.

Tickets for this event cost $1.00 and will be on sale at the door. A scholarship for a future teacher will be donated by the Dayton Teachers Association from the play proceeds. It is hoped that the faculty play will become an annual event.

Money Matters

By Donald H. Shafarman

Although it isn't our practice to title these articles, today's column could very easily be in the form of a three act tragedy called, "Inflation--Past, Present, and Future".

The first act of our play finds the hero of the story going out to buy a new car--one of the "low-priced three". The time is 1941, and he has $750 in his pocket which is ample to buy the deluxe model complete with radio and heater. However, our hero is a good citizen and, after passing a poster suggesting the purchase of U.S. Defense Bonds, decides to lend his money to the Government instead of buying the car.

Scene 2 of Act 1 takes place ten years later. The bond has now matured for $1,000, and that new car in the showroom window looks better than ever. Unfortunately, the price tag on it now reads $1,800. Our hero is $800 short but, being a patient man, he decides to wait a while longer until prices can come down. Meanwhile he'll leave his $1,000 in Government Savings Bonds.

Act 2 brings us up to the present, and the underlying tragic theme of the play begins to develop in further detail. The play's hero has just returned from the automobile agency where he discovered that his new car will now cost $2,400. He is understandably morose since his bonds are only worth about $1,500. Matters are not improved when his wife comes in with two small larger household allowance since her money "just doesn't go as far as it used to." The curtain falls on a knock down, drag-out battle.

For Act 3, we are indebted to the author of an article which recently appeared in the Brandentown Florida Herald. The author of that article checked currently advertised prices of everyday products with those of 25 years ago, and then projected those prices, at the identical rate of increase, 25 years into the future.

Act 3 takes place in 1987, and our hero and his wife have apparently patched up their differences because they are shopping together in the supermarket. They bypass the steak, because even round steak is $6.25 a pound. Instead they select port chops--only $3.50 a pound--and a few loaves of bread at 50¢ each. A new tooth brush adds $2.25 to the bill, and they throw 3 bars of face soap in their shopping basket since they're on sale for $1. Before leaving they remember to buy cigarettes. A pack costs 75¢ in the machines, but only 67¢ at the grocery.

Sometime between Acts 2 and 3 our hero bought a new car--he decided the only way he would ever get it was by borrowing the money--however, he has trouble getting it started in the parking lot. An ad in the morning paper pictured a battery on sale for only $45, but at such a low price it's doubtful if they can be any good. Anyway, what he really wants is to buy another new car because the 1987 models just came out, and the new Ford at $8,900 is a real beauty. As the play ends, our hero and his wife chug over the horizon wondering how they will be able to retire next year on their Social Security plus a few thousand dollars in savings when hamburger is $2.15 a pound.

In the future article we'll write a happy sequel to this little play to show how things could have been different with careful financial planning. Alternatively, maybe we'll turn it into a real horror story. Suppose instead of "creeping inflation" such as we've had in the past, and upon which our future figures are based, we have real runaway inflation? On second thought, nobody looking at those figures could believe that such a thing might happen. But it could!

LORD MAYOR URBAN HANSEN OF COPENHAGEN addresses residents of Springfield in ceremonies at Town Green on Tuesday, May 21. Mayor Hansen told the crowd of his pleasure on visiting "a smaller community after being the head of such a large city as Copenhagen and having been greeted in so large a city as New York only one day before". He told the crowd he was "very honored to have been invited to so fine a community as Springfield" and having "been treated so nicely by so many nice people". # Industrial Fair Sparks Mayor's Proclamation

Mayor Arthur M. Patkin of Springfield will issue a special proclamation designating Sunday, June 2nd through Saturday, June 8th as "Springfield Industry Week". The proclamation is being made to highlight the Springfield Industrial Fair in the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School on June 6th, 7th and 8th.

The Fair, sponsored by the Springfield Industrial Committee, is winning increasing support by the public, in the schools and by the many local industries that have indicated their intention to participate. The business community is welcoming the posters advertising the Fair. Teachers are doing a magnificent job in urging students to enter poster and statement contests (deadline for both have been extended to June 1st) and Springfield's many diversified industries are planning colorful, interesting displays and demonstrations to entertain as well as inform everyone who attends.

Responding to the theme of the Fair (Industry in Springfield contributes to a well-balanced community) with appropriate exhibits, will be the Jersey Central Power and Light Co., Elkay Products Co., Bunday Electronics, Victory Engineering, Crestmont Savings, Lu-Max Manufacturing Co., Powers Regulator Co. and many other representatives of the Springfield Industrial complex. A number of companies will distribute free samples of the products they manufacture. The Post Office will also present an interesting exhibit of their many services.

Springfield Town Hall will hold "open house" in conjunction with the Fair. The Fire and Police Departments and First Aid and Civil Defense Squads will have their equipment and special exhibits on display at the Town Hall across the street from the site of the Fair.

The Fair will also mark the first time window decals saying "I am proud to live in Springfield" will be offered for sale. Springfield residents will be urged to display them prominently on car windows, store windows, etc. Many other special events are being planned including appearances and speeches by officials high in County and State governments.

Out-of-town industrialists will be particularly welcome at the Fair. Special booths manned by members of the Industrial Committee will provide full facts on available sites in the community suitable for industry.

Admission to the Springfield Industrial Fair is free for both adults and children. The Fair will provide additional reasons why Springfield residents can be proud of their community and, equally important, will show citizens the great degree to which Springfield industry contributes to a well-balanced community.

The C.Y.O. members will present a skit "Wildcat Willie Has Girl Trouble".

THURSDAY, MAY 30, 1963

"I like to see a man proud of the place in which he lives; and so live, that the place will be proud of him."
.... Abraham Lincoln

Wouldn't it be wonderful if everyone in Springfield would show their nation's colors every weekend or every day if possible? It could be the start of a nationwide re-awakening of patriotism.

It would certainly show everyone who works in or just passes through our town that we haven't forgotten the sacrifices that have been made for those things we too often take for granted.

Vocational Scholarship Program Is Announced

A new first vocational scholarship program - is being established by the First Presbyterian Church of Springfield.

The program, to be in effect this September, was just inaugurated by the Session of the church on the recommendation of the Christian Education Committee.

A $500 scholarship will be awarded annually to aid those preparing for a full-time Christian vocation.

The idea of the program is to help support, when needed, those who are dedicating themselves to religious work.

Candidates would include those preparing themselves for the following positions: minister, director of Christian Education, assistant director of Christian Education, and teachers in church related institutions.

Funds for assistant director or teacher would be given in junior and senior years of college and for minister or director during the seminary years.

Scholarships would be available as the need arises.

Prerequisites before a scholarship award would be membership in the Springfield church, mittee has made the scholarship fund the beneficiary of its annual outing.

The scholarship fund was organized under the auspices of the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School PTA. Because of the rising cost of a college education some students who are otherwise exceptionally qualified and deserving are unable to go on to college for financial reasons. The fund assists graduates of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School who are in such a position to pursue a college career.

The annual Golf Outing of the Mayor's Day Committee will be held again this year at Baltusrol Golf Club. The date will be July 25.

A donation of $2,000 was also received from the Veterans of Foreign Wars of Kenilworth according to an announcement by Robert Krueger, co-chairman of the Scholarship Fund there.

filing of an application, an interview by the church minister, and appearance before the Session.

The Christian Education Committee, headed by Warren W. Halsey, has had the scholarship proposal under consideration several months. Its members include Harold Jones, Jack Cowles, Mrs. Howard Heerwagen, Miss Carol Rutz, Miss Irma Scherer, Mrs. Walter Taylor, Mrs. Salvatore Cirillo, Miss Virginia Stackfleth, Robert Bevan, and Herbert Kern. The Rev. Donald C. Weber is adviser to the committee.

Miss Phoebe M. Briggs

Miss Phoebe M. Briggs, the well-loved librarian of the Free Public Library, was the second person chosen by the Springfield Chapter of UNICO as Springfield's citizen of the year for "I am an American Day". This well-deserved honor was bestowed upon her in recognition of her high ideals and service to the community. She was tireless in her efforts to secure information requested by the library readers.

Miss Briggs spent her childhood in and around Springfield where her grandfather had a farm at the present location of Saks store. Her first school was the old Academy on Academy Green, and one of her vivid early memories is the fire which destroyed the school, part of which was the town hall. In her teens she left Springfield to live in Brooklyn for five years. Here she took care of her younger brothers and sister after her mother's death. While in Brooklyn she taught elocution and gave readings to social groups and organizations. Because of her talent and experience as a speaker, she was selected to recite the poem "Caldwell at Springfield" by Bret Harte at the Town Hall on the hundred and twenty-fifth anniversary of the Battle and also at the dedication of the original part of the present Town Hall.

While in Brooklyn, Miss Briggs studied sewing at the Bon Ton Dressmaking School and became associated with the Effie Fisher establishment. Her summer vacations gave her a chance to visit her family in Springfield and to travel. When she was no longer needed to care for her younger brothers and sisters, she came back to make her home with her aunt, Mrs. John S. Quick on Morris Avenue.

Miss Briggs has visited parts of the West at various times and spent a happy summer in Europe.

Mrs. Esther Woodruff, the first librarian to be paid, was in charge of the one-room Library on Morris Avenue when Miss Briggs joined her. The Library was located in part of the building which now houses the National State Bank of Elizabeth.

In October 1943 the Library was moved to the Sarah Bailey Home on Main Street. Mrs. Woodruff very shortly retired and Miss Briggs became the librarian. Miss Briggs took a number of short courses offered by the New Jersey State Library and Education Dept. which were designed to improve library service. She also attended library conferences and workshops.

Miss Briggs comments that "There have been many changes in Miss Bailey's old home. Two bedrooms were made into one room for the first Children's Room which is our present Museum. The Museum and genealogical and old history books were in a hall bedroom which is now the Children's Librarian's office. We soon outgrew the parlours and dining room for the Adult and Youth Collections; so, tore out the kitchen partition and chimney, and had cases built for the hall. Then we had the tubs removed from the laundry to make a magazine room. Finally, the rapid growth of the town and a fine collection of both reference and circulating books made by Miss Helen Reyner made a larger building necessary. The three story addition was added to our beautiful colonial library building in 1957".

Many of Miss Briggs' recollections of the town are equally interesting. She knew Miss Sarah Bailey who was friendly with her Aunt; and recalls that a reading club and the early suffragettes met in Miss Bailey's home which is now the Library. Miss Briggs herself took an active part in the movement to secure votes for women.

Miss Briggs health suffered in 1953, which made it necessary to hire another librarian to relieve her of the heavy administrative duties.

Miss Briggs, in addition to her library work, has taken part in many town affairs. At the present time, besides working part time in the Library, she takes care of the Cannon Ball House and its Historical Library on Sunday afternoons between 3:00 and 5:00 p.m. There she has helped a great many young people write papers on historical subjects for school, and adults with historical and genealogical problems. Miss Briggs knows her town history and has made a study of genealogy.

Miss Briggs is a member and historian of the Springfield Methodist Church, the Newark Conference Historical Society, the New Jersey Historical Society, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of New Jersey and Continental Chapter of the Eastern Star. She is a member of Church and Cannon Chapter, National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, of which she was also an organizing member. Miss Briggs' hobby is genealogy, working on her own family tree and helping others with their lineage.

Were you disappointed last year, when your child could not be entered into the parade? If you were, then don't make the same mistake and not send in your application blank before the 30th of June. As in the past there will be no registration on the 4th. The application blank will be found in the Springfield Sun, and if you need any help in registering your youngster, please contact Mrs. Robert Hargrove at Dr. 6-3348 for additional blanks or additional help.

General Electric's traveling display of latest central air conditioning and heating equipment for the home will visit Springfield next Wednesday, June 5th, 1963.

Homeowners visiting the Comfort Caravan will be able to better judge for themselves the quality of heating and air conditioning installations, according to Rite Temp Engineering Company, 1196 Liberty Avenue, Hillside, N.J. whose firm is sponsoring the local visit of the show.

On display in the 47-foot Comfort Caravan will be panels explaining air conditioning, examples of proper and improper equipment, and cutaways showing and explaining compressors and other components. The displays are illuminated and many of them operate.

The spectacular show is touring the nation. All the General Electric equipment on display is made by GE's Central Air Conditioner Product Section at Tyler, Texas.

MEMORIAL DAY

It may be surprising to some people to learn that Memorial Day, or Decoration Day, as it was originally called, is NOT a national holiday. However, it is a legal holiday in all states excepting nine in the South, where "Confederate Memorial Day", sponsored by the Daughters of the Confederacy, is observed on various dates.

In Alabama, Florida, Georgia and Mississippi the date is April 26th; in North Carolina and South Carolina it is May 10th; in Louisiana and Tennessee June 3rd, and Virginia alone has the same date as the North - May 30th.

Decoration Day was initiated by an order issued by General John A. Logan, National Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, in 1868, to all G.A.R. Posts, to arrange for the decoration of the graves of Civil War soldiers, and the first formal observance was held at the National Cemetery in Arlington on May 30th of that year. General James A. Garfield, then a member of the House of Representatives and later President of the United States, was the principal orator.

The annual observance of the ceremony of paying special honor to the deceased veterans of the Civil War was gradually approved by the Northern States, and the 30th day of May became a legal holiday in New York in 1873, in Rhode Island in 1874, in New Jersey and Vermont in 1876, and the others soon followed suit.

SPRINGFIELD STARTED IN 1885 Among the historic documents in the Museum Department of the Springfield Public Library, is a manuscript record of the minutes of a meeting held here on May 25th, 1885, "to arrange for the observance of Decoration Day". It was carefully preserved by Reuben G. Marsh, Secretary of the meeting and a Civil War veteran, and was presented to the Library by the late Reuben H. Marsh, his grandson. Committees were appointed "to procure funds", "to put up tables", "on wagons", "to mark graves", etc. This evidently was the first time Springfield residents held an official observance of Decoration Day, although it had been made a legal holiday in New Jersey nine years before. No doubt this was partly due to the fact that a G.A.R. post had not yet been organized here.

No detailed record of the celebration of 1885 has come to light so far, but obviously there must have been a delegation here from G.A.R. Post #520, Department of New York, as evidenced by the tree and tablet to the memory of Captain Edward H. Wade which they placed in Academy Green on that day. In fact, it may have been an advance notice of their intended visit to Springfield for that purpose which sparked the aforesaid public meeting. assistance with the project. EXTENDED TO ALL WARS With the advent of the Spanish-American War, Decoration Day services were extended to include veterans of that conflict; the Sons and Daughters of the American Revolution and of 1812 added their heroes; then came World Wars I and II, with the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars taking over the conduct of ceremonies from the last faltering G.A.R. men. Now, Decoration Day has become the occasion for the reverent remembrance of all military and naval dead. And in spite of all efforts to change its name to the more dignified "Memorial Day", the old name still persists.

"What's My Line?" panelist Arlene Francis was born in Boston, the daughter of American portrait photographer Aram Kazanjian.

ZUCKER'S RESTAURANT TO OPEN ON MONDAY

Irving Zucker, who recently was granted approval to open his new restaurant at 244 Mountain Avenue, Springfield, has announced that the new eatery will be opened on Monday, June 3.

The opening of "Irv's Char-Kol Kitchen" culminates a lengthy battle with the local Board of Adjustment which was overruled by Judge Milton A. Feller of the Superior Court who called Springfield's restaurant ordinance "unconstitutional".

Zucker announced that an "Open House" will be held at the new restaurant on Sunday, June 2, from 7:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. He invited everyone to attend the open house between those hours.

CHECK TERMITE DAMAGE

Every year at this time, homeowners find winged insects that suddenly fly out and then drop their wings and crawl all around. These insects are termites and indicate that there are thousands of other termites still eating the house causing further destruction to the wood of the house. The cost of repairs far exceeds the cost of treatment and goes higher with delay.

Call us for free inspection of your home by experienced personnel. Our work, which we guarantee for TEN years is engineered to exceed all existing specifications making us the leaders in the field.

Darrin McGavin To Try Out New Comedy During Paper Mill Summer; Hans Conreid Returns In "Take Her, She's Mine" Soon

Darren McGavin, who won fame on TV as Casey the Photographer, Mike Hammer, and on Broadway in "The Rainmaker", will play a two week engagement at the Paper Mill Playhouse this summer.

Mr. McGavin has chosen a new comedy by Susan Slade, intriguingly named "100% Annie" for his July 8 through July 20 engagement.

Opening the season on June 25 will be Arlene Frances, in "Tchin-Tchin", which just ended its Broadway run, with Paper Mill favorite, Hans Conreid, who has made Paper Mill his home during recent summers, following in the Broadway hit comedy "Take Her, She's Mine", based on the problems of a father raising a Teen-age daughter. Mr. Conreid will play the role Art Carney played on Broadway. "Take Her" will play from July 22 through August 6.

On August 5, Carol Channing will rock the walls as "The Millionairess" through August 17, when the pace will change with suave Walter Pidgeon taking over where Charles Boyer left off in the recent hit "Lord Pengo", based on the life of the great Art dealer, Duval. The September 2 to 14 two week slot has not yet been signed but Sam Levene will close the summer on a riotous note when he does "Seidman and Son" from September 16 through the 28.

With the beginning of the summer season, the Paper Mill will return to its regular summer performance schedule of Monday through Saturday so that on Sundays everyone can get into the pool.

Mighty Hadrosaurus stalked the land, rising majestically on his great hind limbs to snip foliage from limbs 30 feet above the ground. He gazed serenely across the steaming swamplands, serene except for the ever-present possibility that the mean-tempered meat eater named Laelaps might be near.

Theirs was the land that millions of years later puny men would call New Jersey, and theirs was the time of the dinosaur—literally the "terrible lizards," for the word comes from the Greek "deinos" (terrible) and "sauros" (lizard).

Sinosaurus rose some 200 million years ago and disappeared about 65 million years ago. Only their fossilized bones remained when man came to inherit the Earth, regardless of how beautifully TV's Fred Flintstone and Dino seem to get along.

New Jersey had its share of terrible lizards. At least four distinct types of dinosaur inhabited the land and many other varieties of huge reptiles swam in the seas that lapped against the shores. Indeed, the first major dinosaur discovery in North America was the finding of Hadrosaurus in Camden County in 1858.

Old Hadrosaurus first showed his bones shortly before 1858 on the farm of John E. Hopkins near Haddonfield. Curious visitors gathered to see the sight and Hopkins cheerfully gave them huge bones as souvenirs.

That monster of ancient times would have crumbled to pieces as decorations on New Jersey mantelpieces or as doorsteps in Pennsylvania—except that W. Parker Foulke of Philadelphia heard about the find, hastened across to Haddonfield and took up the digging in 1858. He found the rest of Hadrosaurus at a depth of nine feet, exhumed the heavy, ebony-black bones and hauled them away to the Academy of Natural Sciences in Philadelphia.

Eventually some of the "souvenirs" joined the other bones and Dr. Foulke and others reconstructed the beast they called "Hadrosaurus," a duck-billed dinosaur. The skeleton still stands in the Academy of Sciences Museum in Philadelphia and a reproduction is in the New Jersey State Museum.

Hadrosaurus towered 28 to 30 feet tall, his great body supported on long, heavy hind limbs. Rising on those back legs and balancing on bulky tail, the "lizard" ate leaves and twigs in giant bulps, using his stunted fore limbs to pull branches toward his long snout.

Edward Drinker Cope in 1868 described Hadrosaurus as having "a somewhat grinning physiognomy" because of the shiny teeth that extended from his jaws. Adding to his ludicrous appearance was "a small head and an unwieldy belly."

Yet, except for Laelaps, the Hadrosaurus was king.

Laelaps probably didn't grow as tall as Hadrosaurus—possible not more than 24 feet high—but he was carnivorous and he was fierce. The ferns and leaves that satisfied Hadrosaurus were not even salad greens to Laelaps; he wanted proteins, preferably meat.

Immensely powerful—and destructive, Laelaps leaped on his hind feet like a kangaroo. As he vaulted across the muddy flats, he left prints of feet shaped like those of a bird of prey.

Laelaps according to Cope, had "flattened hooked claws, 10 inches to a foot in length, adapted like the eagles' for grabbing and tearing prey." His teeth were "curved, knife-shaped and crimped or serrated on the edges." His long, round tail was used to strike savage blows at an enemy.

Cope called Laelaps "the most formidable land carnivore of this continent and second to none in the Old World." Remains of this fearsome old buccaneer were found years ago near Barnsboro.

A battle between Hadrosaurus and Laelaps would have been worth seeing, although Laelaps certainly would have won unless Hadrosaurus escaped temporarily into the water. The duck-billed dinosaur couldn't live in the water but he could take refuge there and Laelaps could only squat and wait.

While Hadrosaurus and Laelaps were the giants, Cope and others have pointed out that New Jersey had two smaller dinosaurs and many other species of tremendous reptiles in the fresh waters or the adjacent ocean.

Monster-sized crocodiles, 20 feet and more long, swarmed in what would now be the riverfront near Camden. There were so many that Cope wondered how they could find enough food. He felt that Thoracosaurus, one of the overgrown crocodiles, probably battled and devoured some of the giant turtles in the same water.

One of those turtles—Euclastes—measured up to six feet across and had a head a foot long. Elsewhere in the waters there were other monsters: Cimoliasaurus, "25 feet or more in length with a body as large as an ox"; Mososaurus, "with rows of great conic teeth supported on swollen roots"; and Clidastes, "probably similar to popular ideas of the 'sea serpent'."

The skeletons of all of these have been found in southern New Jersey marl pits or swamps. They flourished for more than 125 million years, yet about 65 million years ago they perished. The Earth had changed; climates differed, food was altered and time ran out on the "Terrible Lizards".

Bulldogs Edge Heights, Crush Edison Tech 9

Baseball is a strange game. The Dayton Regional nine, just recovering from the slim margin of victory over Somerville in the Greater Newark Tourney, was supposed to have a field day against Berkeley Heights on Friday. The Bulldogs just managed to gain their 18th victory, 9-8, behind the clutch hurling of Jack Kulaga. Kulaga also joined Dick Freedman in holding lowly Edison Tech Wednesday, as the Dayton sluggers smashed out a 16-1 triumph.

Lulaga, making his first two varsity appearances of the year, picked up the Berkeley win, in relief of Frank Monticello, while Freedman got his first triumph against Edison. Regional had crushed the Highlanders 11-4 in an earlier meeting, and seemed as though it would repeat this when the team scored four big runs in the top of the first off George Bubrick. An error, two fielder's choices, a walk and Denny Francis' single and Dan Mascaro's triple accounted for the runs.

Berkeley scored three in the first off Monticello, and three more in the third, before Kulaga was brought on, to pull ahead, 6-5. But Regional scored two in the fourth and twice in the sixth on only a pair of hits, to regain the lead at 9-6.

Kulaga looked strong in relief, but a never-say-die Highlander team came up with two in the bottom of the seventh, and had the bases loaded when pinch hitter Jack Grodell stepped up. Grodell worked the count to three and two before fanning to end the contest.

Freedman struck out seven of twelve, Kulaga seven of nine, and Dayton exploded for 15 hits to crush Edison Tech. Harold "Butch" Bell had a home run for Springfield, while Steve Berger had three singles to pace the hitting barrage. Bell, Dan Mascaro, and Ronnie Urquhart each had two base knocks. Tech managed just two hits off the junior right-handers.

Fischer Bros. Tops Jaycees In League Opener On Sunday

In the first official game of the 1963 Adult Softball League season, Fischer Brothers Travel Bureau overpowered their opponents, the Springfield Jaycees by a score of 14 to 7. Extra base hits by Fischer Brothers included a triple by Rich Agne and doubles by Len Seroff and Carmen Pecoraro. The Jaycees, although they got as many hits as

Fischer Bros., could not seem to bunch them together and they fell in defeat at the hands of Bill Savarin and a very powerful

Fischer Bros. Team.
Box Scores
Fischer: 10 hits, 14 runs, 2 errors, 7 left on base
Jaycees: 10 hits, 7 runs, 2 errors, 6 left on base

Dayton (20-0) Wins Watchung BB Crown

Two consecutive shutout efforts by Richie Bittle and Frank Monticello enabled Springfield to clinch its first Watchung Conference baseball crown. The Bulldogs, 11-0 in Conference play and 20-0 overall, stopped Scotch Plains 7-0 Saturday, and Roselle, 5-0 on Monday.

Bittle pitched his second consecutive scoreless effort, allowing the Raiders but three hits. Springfield scored the winning run in the top of the first, when Jack Apgar led off the game with a walk, was sacrificed to second and scored on Danny Mascaro's single.

Bittle helped his own cause in the second frame. Joe DiMario walked, Steve Berger reached base on an error, and both runners scored on Bittle's first hit of the year, a triple to right-center field.

J.V.'s Top Roselle 7-1

The Springfield junior varsity baseball team avenged an earlier 6-2 loss to the Roselle, j.v., by crushed the Rams 7-1 on Monday. Four hit pitching by Butch Lyon, and two homers by Rich Basta paced the Dayton attack.

Basta, who caught his first game of the year, belted his first round tripped in the second frame to give the Bulldogs a lead that was never lost. Richie also threw out two would-be stealers during the contest. Basta normally plays outfield for the junior teams.

Bob Robe and Ted Levitt also starred at bat for Springfield. Robe had four hits in five at bats, while Levitt was 3-5. The Junior varsity is now 9-3 on the season.

The Raiders threatened to score in the fifth, when, with one out, Tom Frusco lashed a triple to left. Frusco was then thrown out at the plate while trying to score on a grounder to Apgar.

Bittle fanned 10 and walked three in upping his record to 4-0. Mascaro and Ronnie Urquhart each had two hits for Regional.

Monticello was just as sharp Monday, when he blanked the Rams to gain Dayton's first Watchung Crown. The two teams were engaged in a tight pitchers' battle, until Springfield erupted for five runs in the fifth inning to clinch its 20th consecutive win of the season.

Five singles by Berger, Monticello, Mascaro, Urquhart, and DiMario, plus a sacrifice and hit batter accounted for the runs.

Monticello allowed three hits, two in the seventh inning, and retired 15 batters in a row during one stretch. Frank whiffed eight and walked one in gaining his fifth triumph. Berger and Mascaro paced the powerful Bulldogs with three hits apiece.

Bulldog Bits
Dayton is scheduled for another rough week. After today's Greater Newark Tournament affair against Livingston in East Orange today, the team will play Union tomorrow in the State Tournament, Cranford-Friday in the Watchung Conference, and Westfield at Rahway on Saturday in the Union County Tournament finals. The Bulldogs will also meet Rahway again on Monday at home. The Dayton outfield is continuing its remarkable hitting. Mascaro is now up to 398, Urquhart is slugging at a .444 pace, and Rahmenfuhrer is 'low' man at .333. Fastball pitcher Jack Kulaga has been a most pleasant surprise to Coach Ed Jasinski. In 7 1/2 innings Jack has fanned 13 batters.

Dayton Stops Somerville 6-4 In GNT On DiMario's Two Run Hit In Eleventh

A bases loaded single by Joe DiMario in the top of the 11th inning, enabled top seeded Springfield to clip a strong Somerville nine, 6-4, and gain the right to meet eighth seeded Livingston in the second round of the Greater Newark Tournament today. DiMario's winning hit climaxed a game in which Regional had been all but out of in the sixth inning when the team trailed by a 4-1 score.

Somerville scored first off Bill Kretzer in the bottom of the third, but the Bulldogs tied the count in the top of the next frame. Bobby Rahmenfuhrer singled, Denny Francis walked, and Rahmenfuhrer came home on Ronnie Urquhart's first of four hits.

The home side scored twice more in the fourth, and once in the fifth, to go ahead 4-1, but in the seventh frame, Springfield erupted for three runs to knot the count. Big Bill helped his own cause with a walk, but Jack Apgar forced him at second. Rahmenfuhrer walked, and was forced at second by Francis while Apgar moved to third. Danny Mascaro singled Apgar in, and both he and Francis scored on Urquhart's double.

The score remained 4-4 as the teams went into extra innings, and Kretzer seemed stronger as the teams batted in the ninth and tenth. In the eleventh, Somerville hurler John Gara made the fatal mistake of walking the first batter, Rahmenfuhrer, Mascaro and Urquhart singled to fill the bases, and DiMario delivered the runs with a sharp single to center. Kretzer retired the side in order in the bottom of the eleventh, and Dayton had won its first GNT game.

Kretzer was not at his best, but gained good control as the innings rolled on. He allowed only two hits in the last five innings, struck out 10 and walked but one. Last year Kretzer lost to top seeded Montclair in the opening round of the GNT, and the Bulldogs will meet the second seeded Mounties in the Tourney final, provided the favorites go all the way. Kretzer is now 9-0, and is scheduled to face Livingston at East Orange today.
