

Start Small, But Think Big Is Lefty Wright's eory

BY GEORGE SHERIDAN—
Staff Writer

At least three men have announced themselves as available for the Republican presidential nomination. The most recent is Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona. The others are Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York and Henry S. Wright of Springfield.

While Wright is not an active candidate for this year's nomination, he would accept the presidential aspiration is long-range, however, and this has immediate political goal in election to the Union County Board of Freeholders.

Wright was the first candidate to file for a freeholder post this year. He has 125 names representing 11 municipalities on his petition.

Attaining the freeholder post, Wright feels, is the first step in a 20-year plan for nomination to the presidency. Subsequent steps include election as assemblyman, state senator and governor. This means that he would become president in a year that author George Orwell deemed critical, 1984.

Since he is available for the current year's nomination, however, some vital bits of information may be considered concerning him.

If elected President, Wright would be the first native New-Jerseyan to be elected while living in his home state. Grover Cleveland, a native, was elected from Ohio. Woodrow Wilson was governor of New Jersey when he was elected, but was a native of Virginia.

If elected this November, Wright would be the first resident of Springfield or any part of Union County voted into office. He would also be the youngest president in history.

He will only be 38 at the time of election, and 19 at the time of inauguration.

Theodore Roosevelt was 42 at the time of his ascension to the presidency upon the death of William McKinley, and President Kennedy was 41 when he was elected in 1960.

Another first, if Wright was elected, would concern the manner in which he announced his availability for the post. He was attending the township's Board of Education meeting on Nov. 19, which happened to be his birthday.

In the school board's public hearing, Wright took the opportunity to make a criticism of the conflict of meeting nights with the Regional Board of Education. Dr. Benjamin Josephson asked Wright why he didn't run for the school board himself, to put some of his ideas into action. Wright replied by reading a letter he had written that day to Webster B. Todd, state Republican chairman, accepting an offer for exposure for any aspirant to the presidential under the GOP banner.

Wright has been active in Republican affairs since he lived in Essex County ten years ago. He helped organize the Springfield Young Republican Chapter in 1960 and the local Teenage Republicans last year. He is in his second term as a delegate to the Union County Republican Committee, and is former chairman of the board of trustees of the Springfield Republican Club.

In 1960, Wright served as campaign secretary in Paul Murphy's unsuccessful bid for a Township Committee seat.

Wright is familiar to many Springfield residents as "Lefty," but he has chosen to conduct his presidential campaign with the punny handle of "Lefty" Wright. Wright intends to spearhead his presidential campaign with a call for united political strength to "fight the bloody threat of the Chinese Reds who are now held from dropping a bomb upon the United States by the Soviet Union."

The aspirant seeks to enlist volunteer aid in his campaign in order to display a "ground-swell at the grass roots of Springfield." He has no organizational backing as yet.

Wright said that he thinks the government at all levels can be aided by his background in industrial administration. He said that he is not "a fashion showplate, just a rough rider."

Wright has not selected a running mate, but feels that the vice presidential candidate should be selected by the GOP.

One of Wright's primary concerns is

LAUDS ACTIVITIES

Mayor Recalls Success Of Committee In 1963

In his New Year's Day address, Mayor Robert D. Hardgrove recalled as successful 1963 activities: the municipal pool and senior citizens group and hailed the modernized accounting system underway for the township. He said the pool was both a recreational and financial success.

Some of the many things he promised for the future were: increased and improved recreational facilities at the pool, installation of a more economic and diversified fire call system, initiation of a street improvement plan, finalization of police and fire rules, completion of plans and construction of a shift from Baltusrol Top to Springfield proper, and fostering of industrial and small service industries.

The mayor's message follows: "Ladies and gentlemen, on behalf of the Township Committee I bid you welcome to the 1964 Annual meeting of the Governing Body of Springfield. We are gratified to see so many of you here so early in the afternoon on New Year's Day.

Former Members Have Till Feb. 29 To Renew Standing

The Springfield Recreation Department announces that those persons who were members of the Municipal Swim Pool for 1963, will have until noon on Feb. 29, to renew their membership for the coming season. After this date any resident of the Township of Springfield will be able to join the Springfield municipal pool if there are openings available. It has been determined that in order to meet fully this promise to 1963 members, a member of the Recreation Department will be in the Recreation Office at Town Hall on Sat., Feb. 9, from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. to accept membership renewals.

Deborah Girls Hold Membership Tea

Girls from the Springfield, Millburn, Short-Hills, So. Orange, area gathered at a Membership Tea, sponsored today by Suburban Deborah, at the home of Mrs. and Mrs. Donald Kirschner, 62 Glenview Drive, So. Orange. An overwhelming number of girls spent a Cinderella afternoon listening to Mrs. Clara E. Franks, Administrative Asst. to the President and Regional Director of the New Jersey Womens Chapters tell the complete and fascinating history and work of the hospital, located in Browns Mills, N.J., dedicated to Heart Surgery, Tuberculosis, Operable Lung Cancer, and all Disease of the Chest. Chairman of the afternoon, along with Mrs. Kirschner, were Mrs. Alvin Schneider and Mrs. Milton Friedman.

MAYOR HARDGROVE

assured you that the Township Committee is dedicated to this task and will exert every effort toward a continually-improved Springfield.

"However, members of this community must not abdicate their rights completely. We have always expressed the desire to be responsible, but constructive criticism, comment and individual ideas must be made known to us so that consideration can be given to them. There is always extended to every member of the community an open invitation to attend the regular Township Committee meetings on the second and fourth Tuesdays of every month. We would certainly be pleased to have each of you in attendance as often as possible.

"In a rapid backward glance at the now historic year of 1963, Springfield had many successes of which she could be justly proud. The achievement that is by far the most outstanding and spectacular was the opening of the Community Swimming Pool that was enjoyed by so many last summer. It is well to note that besides the anticipated fund and fellowship, over 1,000 children either learned to swim or improved their techniques. Many adults took advantage of swim classes designed specifically for their needs. The highest order of praise should be extended to the Swim Pool Committee, the Recreation Department, the Paid Swim Pool Staff, and the Township Committee for their cooperation.

Bd. Of Ed. Incumbents Run Without Opposition

John C. Gacos, Joseph A. Bender, and Robert T. Southward, Springfield Board of Education incumbents whose terms are expiring, are unopposed in their bid for re-election Feb. 11.

Petitions on behalf of the three school board aspirants were the only ones received by Board of Education Secretary A. B. Anderson on the deadline for filing, 4 p.m. Thurs., Jan. 2, in his office in Caldwell School.

Position on the ballot, drawn in the secretary's office 8 p.m. Fri., Jan. 3, will be: Bender, first; Gacos, second, and Southward, third.

as Springfield continues its growth as a well-planned residential community. Our forefathers, the founders of Springfield have left us a heritage of courage, pride, strength and a well established Township whose development is now in our hands.

"Springfield's finest citizens, those in the Golden Age group, enjoyed the meetings of the Springfield Senior Citizens Club. The success of this endeavor was tremendous. All of Springfield's residents who are 65 years young can qualify for this special group and are welcome to the semi-monthly meetings. The Springfield Recreation Department should be commended for its work with this age group as well as the planning and execution of the many activities for our young citizens.

"In the Finance Department, the latest machine accounting equipment is presently being installed. This equipment will facilitate the bookkeeping and accounting procedures required by our municipal functions. This modernization, in a short time, will mean that pay for its installation cost.

"Advancements in every department of the Township have all been directed toward the elimination of waste in both time and effort which in effect is a saving of dollars. Stress has been placed on more value for every dollar that must be spent. Personally I would like to thank all of the Township employees for their diligence and loyalty as well as their dedication and hard work that has been directed toward the goal of economy. To support this statement, I can report that the budget operation results for the year of 1963 have been fully realized and budget expenditures have been less than the amounts appropriated.

"The Surplus Account, therefore, at the close of 1963, will be in excess of the surplus on hand at the close of 1962. These results have been obtained despite the losses sustained in 1963 on taxes levied which could not be collected once the State Highway Department took title to many properties.

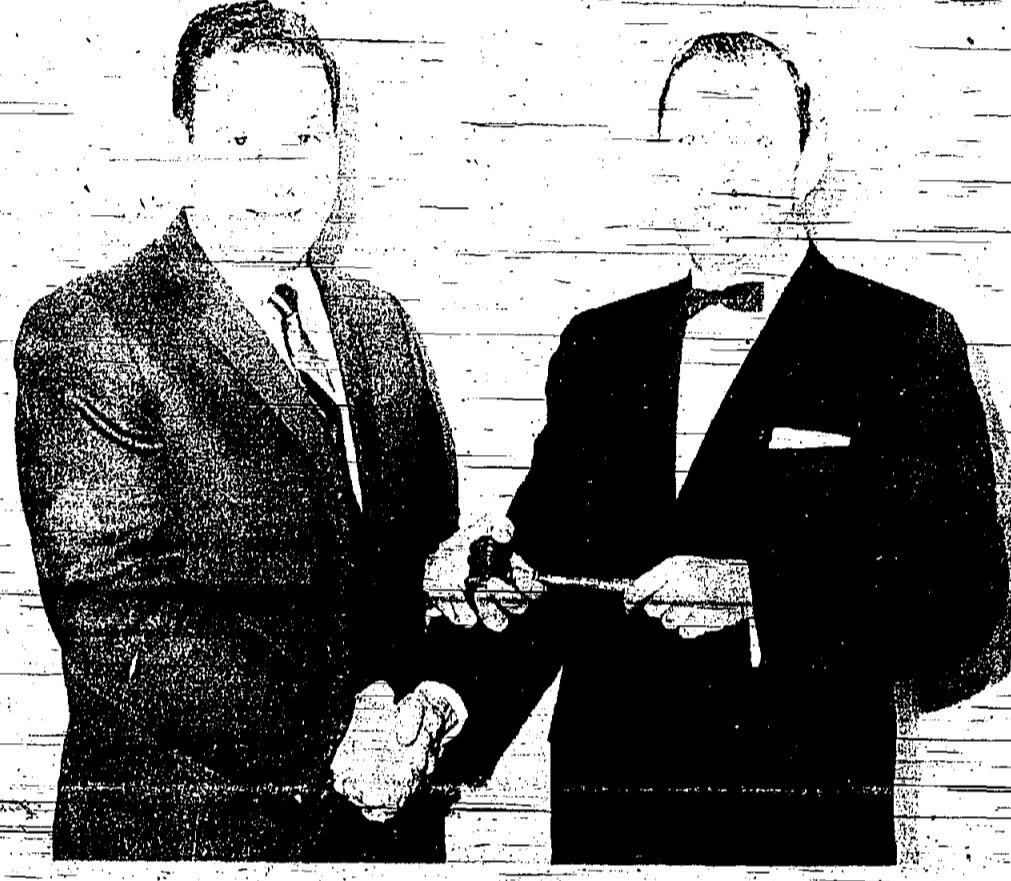

"While still on the subject of finances, the Swim Pool was not only a recreational success, but its operations were successfully financed by membership fees. These 1963 financial results indicate that the future operating costs of the pool, and payment of bonds and interest will be made from membership fees and revenues. The self-supporting status of the swim pool is thus assured.

The 1964 aim of the Township Committee will be to continually

Republican Unanimity Holds At Organization

Annual organization meeting of Springfield Township Committee New Year's Day was "short and sweet" with complete unanimity prevailing among the five-man Republican body.

Despite ice and rain, some 100 loyal friends, relatives, and township officials and employees packed the Municipal Building chambers and corridor and remained until the conclusion of the Board of Health session, which immediately followed.

A reception was held at American Legion Hall nearby. With proceedings going according to plan, only about one hour was needed to administer the oath of office to Committee members.

Committee members, William F. Koonz, chair; Robert D. Hardgrove, as chairman of Township Committee, deliver the mayor's message, announce 1964 working committees, designate some 25 municipal officials and indicate the 1964 Assessment Commission, Industrial Committee, Insurance Committee, and Swim Pool Committee.

A number of other items on the agenda were also handled smoothly.

Committee member Koonz assumed the seat vacated by the lone Democrat on Township Committee in 1963 - Vincent J. Ronadies, who served the township 10 years.

Majority of appointees were reappointments, with many already announced two weeks previous.

Fred L. Braun was given the positions of treasurer and tax search official for 1964. (He is also tax collector.) Eugene Donnelly had been acting as treasurer since the death of Benedict A. Harter in 1963.

Mrs. Betty Heller, who has worked at town hall 10 years, was delegated to two newly created positions: deputy violations clerk and deputy treasurer. A resident of Springfield, she resides at 99 Remer Ave. Last year, she was employed as payroll clerk.

Reappointed to their third terms were Eugene P. Donnelly as court clerk, Otto E. Fessler as building inspector, James M. Cawley as township attorney, and Frederick J. Steiny as auditor.

Walter Kozub was renamed as township engineer with his term to expire Dec. 31, 1966.

Other reappointments included Mrs. Marie A. Smith, who is violations clerk and deputy tax collector. Also Mrs. Eleonore H. Worthington as searcher for uncollected assessments.

Joseph Seidel was continued for another year as prosecutor in Municipal Court.

Edward J. Ruby was continued as recreation director as expected and his assistant, John Scott Donnington was also reappointed. Enley R. Bennett, Jr. was renamed traffic consultant.

A change was made in the police and fire surgeon, Dr. Ralph I. Mond of Springfield was appointed in place of Dr. Michael Bernstein of Millburn.

Donald Rotwein was renamed to a six-year term on the Planning Board and Richard Colandrea was tagged to complete the four-year unexpired term of Wilbert Binder on the same board. Township Engineer Kozub and Arthur M. Falkin, as a representative of Township Committee, were appointed to Planning Board for 1964.

Chosen as lay members to the newly created Board of Review were John Griffio and Leonard Garner.

Carmen S. Catepiano was named as Township Committee representative to the Local Assistance Board for one year but was temporarily withheld.

Richard Stockinger, Elmer E. Andrew, and Fred W. Compton were all returned to the Assessment Commission for 1964. They have served in this capacity several years.

Committees for 1964 were announced as follows:

Industrial Committee - Walter Kozub, Otto E. Fessler, Frank Gilbert, Dominick LaMorgese, Max Weiss, Leslie Rosenbaum, Signe Higgins, Arthur W. Lyons, Sidney Elmer, Seymour Cohen, Harvey Scherman, Harold Ziehl, chairman of the Planning Board and Board of Adjustment and president of Chamber of Commerce.

Insurance Committee - Eugene Wuertz, Richard E. Moore, John Sheenan, Daniel D. Kalem, Francis E. Shinshock, Louis J. Spigel.

Swim Pool Committee - Edward Schwartz, Mrs. Alice Lorimer, C. Russell Boetger, Martin Bachrach, Walter Harn, Stanley Kroeger, Fred Brown, Philip Goldhammer, Mrs. Elizabeth Beno, William Carr, Bon Yarrow and John Fecko.

National State Bank of Elizabeth, Springfield office, was named official depository of township funds. Eight per cent was set as interest rate for delinquent taxes for 1964. Second and fourth Tuesday of each month at 8:30 was designated as official meeting nights.

Mrs. Eleonore H. Worthington, township clerk, administered the oath of public office to the newly appointed officials.

The program was opened with a salute to the flag with a color guard formed by Continental Post 228, American Legion. Invocation was delivered by Rev. Bruce W. Evans of First Presbyterian Church and Rev. Francis X. Boyle of St. James Church gave the benediction.

Rotwein Reelected Planning Board Head

Donald S. Rotwein of 25 Sycamore Terr., just appointed to a six-year term on Springfield Planning Board, was re-elected as that board's chairman at its annual organization meeting last Thursday, Jan. 2, in Municipal Building.

Rotwein, first appointed to the board Feb. 14, 1961, has already served as chairman two years. An architect with offices in Union known as Rotwein & Blake, he has lived in Springfield six years.

Francis J. Keane of 33 Henshaw Ave. was re-elected as vice chairman of the board. Keane has served in this capacity a number of years.

Azeglio Pancani of Briar Hills Circle, an architect associated with Erwin Gerber of Newark, was elected as secretary. Pancani, who has formerly served as chairman and was reappointed to a six-year term on the board in 1963, will fill the secretarial post vacated by resigned member Wilbert Binder. Binder recently moved from the township. The latter served as board secretary many years. Four years of his current term remain.

Richard Colandrea, 33, of 61 Rose Ave. was seated as a new member, to fill the unexpired term of Binder. A lifelong resident of Springfield, he has his own mason contracting business. He was graduated from Regional High School with the class of 1948. He is a member of the board of directors of the Springfield Lions Club. He is married to the former, Millicent Hofmann, of Springfield. They have one son, Richard Jr.

David Zurav of Archbridge Ln. was renamed as attorney for the board. He has served in this capacity since 1962.

Kenneth Young, Walter Kozub, and Keane were appointed to the minor subdivision committee.

In a business session following, the board considered the application of Baltusrol Top, Inc. for the preliminary subdivision of 41 lots on Baltusrol Top. The application has been under discussion for several months and involves provision for access to Board of Education property in the area. Richard Mixer, civil engineer representing the applicant, told the board the revised map excludes the division of Block 184 on the north side of Skyline Rd., which is adjacent to the school board property. He indicated that Skyline Rd. would be completed with improvements, but no lot subdivision would be immediately undertaken on the north side. He added that two nearby property owners, William Gural and Westmark Builders Inc., consulted in connection with the school access, would prefer to delay action until the matter of proposed Route 78, slated to go through the area is "fully resolved."

The board agreed to approve the preliminary subdivision subject to the applicant providing a paved access road along the west side of block 184. The Board of Education property, rd. built at the expense of the applicant and to conform to road size and specifications of the township and meet the school board property as trade. The application for the preliminary subdivision is a major subdivision, requiring action by Springfield Township Committee. The board will refer to Township Committee in the form of a recommendation for approval. The applicant was also represented at the meeting by Alfred Sauer, Elizabeth attorney.

Mr. Sauer reported on another matter before the board, concerning landlocked property of Allyn Fairout in the area. The lawyer indicated that his client has agreed to negotiate with Fairout to provide access to the latter's property. Max Sherman, Springfield attorney, has come before the board on behalf of Fairout.

Joseph Casternovia appeared concerning an application involving the assembling of other property with that he already owns at 266 and 268 Morris Avenue. Map dimensions are missing and the applicant was advised the maps must be drawn by licensed surveyor and engineer whose seal must be included on the map. Also required to be filed. Casternovia is seeking to add to his portion rear property of Dr. Henry Mulhauser and Ernest Nagel, civil engineer representing the applicant, told the board the revised map excludes Florida. He is a veteran of the Navy, has lived in Springfield about eight years, is a former president of the Chamber of Commerce and has been a director of the Springfield Lions Club and a member of the Industrial Committee. He has also participated in numerous other civic endeavors. He and his wife Barbara, have three children, Andrew, Jr., eight; Holly, six, and Heather, two.

Regional Receives 2nd Bomb Scare

A bomb scare stemming from an anonymous telephone call necessitated the evacuation of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, about one half hour before the conclusion of the afternoon school session Thurs., Jan. 2. Pupils living in Springfield were instructed to go home.

Devils Spoil Mat Opener

Powerful Westfield High ruined Springfield grappler-coach Jerry Sachs' debut last Friday night, by crushing the Bulldogs, 35-8, at Westfield. The Blue Devils jumped to an 8-0 advantage in the match on a pin in the 97 pound bout, and a decision at 105.

All Regional could muster were two decisions and a draw. John Cardella, who was a standout for Springfield at 105 pounds last year, gained a 1-0 decision at 115. Steve Arnold, out for wrestling after three years of basketball, was involved in a draw at 122 pounds.

The only other Dayton points were claimed by standout Richie Bittle, who defeated his opponent,

5-2, at 177. Bittle wrestled heavy-weight last season and compiled a 6-3 regular season mark after recovering from an injury. Springfield's only other regulars from last year, Tom Baker and Rich Basta, lost close bouts in their respective weights. Tom was edged, 4-3, at 140 pounds, and Richie lost, 3-2, at 156 lbs.

HEAVY RALLIES

Cagers Continue Pace Of Eleventh Hour Wins

BY ARNOLD MINIMAN Sports Editor

Springfield supporters must be wondering if the Dayton Cagers are a second team. In three consecutive contests, against Westfield, Roselle, and Berkeley Heights, Regional left the court at the half trailing the opposition. But in each contest the Bulldogs rallied heavily in the third period, and held on in the fourth to gain victories. In the more recent win against Gov. Livingston Regional, played before a sellout crowd in the Dayton gym Friday night, Springfield trailed by one at the half, scored only nine points in the third period, but held the sharpshooting Highlanders to three markers, to gain a five point margin.

Frank Monticello took some of the scoring burden off standout Bill Kretzer in the Livingston game. "Cheech" tallied 19 points, high output in the affair, and Monticello's biggest total during his varsity career. Frank shot 8-15 from the floor, and 3-3 from the line, while the older Kretzer was limited to 16 points, his low output of the year. Billy still had a good shooting day, hitting 5-10 from the floor and 6 of 7 foul shots. Billy also grabbed 15 rebounds and held Berkeley center, Bob Heur to only six points. Gov. Livingston took a quick 9-3 lead, as Dave Jubanowski hit three consecutive outside shots for the Highlanders. The lead was increased to 11-5 before three consecutive layups by Bill Kretzer, Bruce Ledig and Monticello tied the score. A layup by Bob Lynch and a foul by Ledig ended the scoring in the period, as Dayton trailed, 13-12.

Both teams scored 14 points in the second period, and the visitors, left the court at the half with a slim lead. A foul shot by John Adamiak and a layup by Jubanowski tallied all of the Highlander points in the third period. The Bulldogs opened the quarter with a jumper by Monticello, and a foul-and-airup by Kretzer, to take the lead for good. After Berkeley's three markers, Jim Lies hit a jumper and two fouls to make it 35-30, Regional going into the final eight minutes, Dayton's seventeen fourth period points were divided among Kretzer, Lies and Monticello, as the victors jumped to a nine-point spread early in the quarter and were never headed, although Berkeley pulled within three before Monticello tallied five consecutive points.

Roselle's scrappy little team managed to gain a 26-22 halftime lead over the taller Springfield five, but the Bulldogs outscored the Rams, 35-23, in the final minutes to gain a victory before the home crowd. Height was a major factor in the victory, as Roselle center Mickey Stradford was unable to come with Bill Kretzer, who stands four inches taller than the speedy Ramace. Kretzer shot 11-17, 1-7 for 23 points, but actually had an off night from the floor, and it took an eleven point outburst by Billy in the third period to pull the game out of the fire. Bill hit all five of his shots in the frame, plus one foul, as Regional turned a four point deficit into a three point advantage.

Bruce Ledig played his best game of the season for Regional hitting 10 points on an outstanding 5-6, 0-0 shooting. Bruce also held his forecourt opponent Ed Esbrandt scoreless. Frank Monticello chipped in with 12 points for Springfield on 5-10, 2-3, as Springfield hit nearly 60 percent of its shots from the floor.

DAYTON DATELINE

Farm Courses Here 14 Yrs.

BY JOHN SWEDISH
RHS Instructor

vocational agriculture in the Union County Regional High School District began in 1939 at the Jonathan Dayton building in Springfield. At that time it consisted of a sequential four-year program covering all phases of agriculture, including farm mechanics, and designed to prepare students for careers as far operators and owners. Adam P. LaSota, of 15 Country Club Lane, Springfield, joined the Dayton faculty in 1945 and took over the direction of this unique course of study which is offered by thirty-two secondary schools in the entire state. Dayton is the only school in the Union, Essex, and Morris County areas to carry this program.

LaSota, who was educated at Paterson Central High School and Rutgers University, pointed out: "The majority of students at this time lived on farms or had sufficient land available to permit them to put into actual practice that which was learned in the classroom and shop. With the passing years, the number of farms and large home plots decreased steadily, requiring gradual changes in the operation of the school agriculture program. At the same time, agriculture itself was changing with increases in scientific knowledge and greater mechanization of the farm. Such change has been constant with more students being employed during the summer in related agricultural occupations and fewer being engaged with their own home projects."

LaSota, advisor to the Future Farmers of America Club (FFA) for the past fifteen years which is an important aspect of the Vocational Agriculture program, said: "Both these changes have brought about revisions in the instructional program as well as in the needs of the students. Now the students are no longer operating projects at home where they can practice the fundamentals taught in school. Instead the 75 or 80 students who are enrolled in the program are being employed by individuals who have also abandoned the old type of agriculture as we knew it fifteen or more years ago. In this area, the present time, the successful agriculturalist is either a propagator of trees, shrubs, or flowers. He may be a landscape gardener who earns his living tending the lawns and gardens of our parks, golf courses and private homes. In addition, we have spread into the technical aspects of agriculture, such as the manufacture and repair of agricultural machinery, the formulation, manufacture, and sales of insecticides and fertilizers. Today more emphasis is being placed on the education of a well-rounded youngster whose practical and technical knowledge will enable him to earn a good living as an agriculturalist, either on the farm or in any of the related fields of agriculture."

The tall, husky, slightly balding Adam has been varsity golf coach for the past five years and has the reputation of being a long ball-hitter. He stated: "In addition to developing successful agriculturalists, the program has enabled the majority of students to compete in various state contests which have given the program a rich history in vocational agriculture on a state wide basis. Camo Casale, John Metz, Donald Springle, Sal Casale, Joe Spang, and Harold Clickenger were awarded State Farm Degrees by the FFA for outstanding project work; high scholastic rating, Camo Casale and John Metz also did outstanding work in the state FFA public speaking contests - both boys earned State Championships. Donald Springle and Harold Clickenger, science teacher at Scotch Plains High School, earned District Championships and state runner-up titles in this event.

"The vocational agriculture students from Dayton dominated the state apple packing championship many years. In fact, they were able to retire the only two trophies ever offered. To retire a trophy a team had to win the contest three times. The following boys helped accomplish this feat: John Metz (now teaching vocational agriculture in Long Island), Ed Straub, Don Springle (Principal of Camden County Vocational School), Joe Spang, Richard Palmquist, and Carl Reinhardt," LaSota fondly recalled.

In 1952 Dayton "Ag" students competed in "State Milk Judging Contest" and Thomas Nolan of Clark was the state champion for two consecutive years. He represented New Jersey in the mid-eastern states championships and placed first in the field from 15 states. Miss Beverly Johnson of Springfield, Dayton's first female "Ag" student, garnered the "Poultry Judging" championship in state competition in 1959 and 1963. She was the individual high scorer in the state contests as well as the contests held in conjunction with the Northeast Poultry Producers Conference which was held in Syracuse (1960) and Harrisburg (1963).

Each year a FFA national convention is held in Kansas City, Kansas. During the convention, an orchestra of FFA members is formed. It is composed of one or two members selected from each state. Dayton has had the following boys participate as band members of this great musical organization: Robert Lindsay of Union (two years), Charles Roll of Berkeley Heights (two years), and Art Briggs of Springfield. The purpose of this band is to entertain convention delegates and to receive visiting dignitaries.

Adam and his tall and lovely wife, Vera, have one son, Larry - a Dayton freshman basketball player at 6'9", and one daughter, Nancy - a seventh grader at Gaulinckr school who plays the mean game of volleyball. He is the past president and secretary of the Springfield Rotary Club, a member of St. James R.C. Church, and Chairman and member of the Springfield Shade Tree Commission. In 1945 Mr. LaSota isolated a group of chickens from which the virus causing a deadly disease in chickens was found. This strain of virus was named "LaSota Strain" and is presently used over the entire world for the control of the deadly poultry disease called "Newcastle." Adam received a gold watch and plaque for this achievement from the Vineland Laboratory which still produces this virus. The Theodor Roserbach Center for Better Living (Marino, Ill.) has awarded him the "C.M.H. State of Merit" for outstanding service in the field of education of farm youth in the modern methods, machines, & ideas that promote better farm living.

The legend of LaSota in the field of vocational agriculture has been completed at Dayton this year. Adam has been assigned to the new course of study called "Diversified Occupations" and DAYTON DATELINE feels the "LaSota Touch" will make this program as practical and effective as the "Ag" program was under his capable direction.

Stichter Graduates From Tech School

Gary C. Stichter, airman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur F. Stichter of 79 Battle Hill Ave., Springfield, was graduated from the Aviation Mechanical Fundamentals School at the Naval Air Technical Training Center, Memphis, Tenn.

During the four-week course he was introduced to mathematics, physics, and the principles of electricity. He received instruction in atomic structure, static and dynamic electricity, magnetic theory, and the theory and construction of aircraft batteries.

Cohan Is Elected Republican Prexy

Seymour Cohan was elected president at the annual meeting of the Springfield Republican Club. Other officers are Ben Yarrow, first vice president, Annamay Gleim, second vice president, Mildred Dauser, Corresponding secretary, Claire Danneheimer, recording secretary, and Charles Quinzel who began his 26th year as treasurer.

This year's Republican trustees and their districts are as follows: First, Stuart Douglas; second, John Heimbeck; third, Henry St. Laurent; fourth, Anita Epstein; fifth, Deaa Widmer; sixth, Arthur Dauser; seventh, Walter Baldwin; eighth, Charles Remlinger; ninth, Margaret Bullman; tenth, Ione Kauter; 11th, Harold O'Neill; 12th, Claire Falkner; 13th, Jack Swilwell.

Stanly Zeidner Advanced To Naval Utilities Ranking

On November 16, Stanly M. Zeidner, LTPCN was advanced to the rate of LTPP (Utilities Man Plumbing third class).

Stanly first entered the Naval Service in September, 1961. He went to the Navy's Basic Training Center at Great Lakes, Illinois for his "Boot" training. His first duty station, upon completion of basic, was at Port Huene, California where he entered Class "A" Utilities Man School.

He reported aboard U.S. Naval Mobile Construction Battalion ONE in April, 1962. Two and a half months later the Battalion took a six month deployment to Rota, Spain.

During his tour with MCB ONE he has had a chance to go to Camp Lejeune North Carolina where he, along with the rest of the men, were schooled in the art of Combat, Weapons, Hand to Hand Fighting and all the other things that are necessary to know in case he ever had to fight for his country.

All this training was in prelude to a nine-month deployment to Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

Before he entered the service, he graduated from Johnathon Doyle Regional High School. He also worked for his father who owns and operates the Murray Plumbing Company located at 215 Bergen Street, Newark.

Stanly's future plans are to go to school and major in Sanitation Engineering.

Leader In Culture To Give A Talk

Kenneth Smith, leader of the Philadelphia Ethical Culture Society, will speak to the Society in Maplewood on Jan. 12, at 11:00 a.m. The Society is located at 316 Prospect St., Maplewood.

The topic he has chosen is "Existentialism and Ethical Culture." Mr. Smith completed a 15-month world study tour which took him to all of Asia and practically all of Africa south of the Sahara.

During his three month stay in South Africa he made an intensive study of the Apartheid racial policy, and had secret meetings with native leaders.

On Saturday Evening, at 8:15 Mr. Smith will give an illustrated lecture and commentary on Africa and her problems. The public is invited to attend both lectures.

Plan Tour Along Trail Of Cortez Conquistadores

Miss Carolyn C. Reiter, senior English major at Drew University, is organizing a 24-day summer "Academic Adventure" to follow Cortez's Trail of the Conquistadores through Mexico. The project is designed and priced for high school and college students, and recent graduates, of Morris County and neighboring areas of Somerset, Middlesex and Union Counties.

Miss Reiter's group will leave August 8 and return August 31. Lectures by English-speaking native authorities will be conducted during motorcoach tours to 18 centers of Latin American history, ethnology, archaeology and arts. Vacation fun also will be provided at such places as Mexico City, Tlaxco and Acapulco.

Information on the "Academic Adventure" is available upon request from Miss Reiter, Room 206, New Women's dormitory at Drew, or by phone: FR7-9811.

Miss Reiter's group will join a similar group being organized by Drew graduate David Kinsley, now a senior at Union Theological Seminary, and to whom Miss Reiter will be married in June. The future Mr. and Mrs. Kinsley have traveled extensively - Miss Reiter has studied at the Sorbonne, Mr. Kinsley has worked in Turkey and Puerto Rico, and studied in Mexico in 1959. Travel arrangements are being made by Asti-Vinisa Travel International through their offices in New York and Mexico City.

Information on the "Academic Adventure" is available upon request from Miss Reiter, Room 206, New Women's dormitory at Drew, or by phone: FR7-9811.

Political Twist Enters With 1964

BY HERBERT JAFFE Associate Publisher-Editor

Did you ever stop to wonder how the niceties of life often can be interrupted by the realisms? So it is, and so it will be, so long as the world continues to spin somewhere in the vast complexities of space.

Two developments have spun into focus since we tore open the array of pretty calendars brought by the mailman. First the morning period for President Kennedy ended two days before Christmas. However, political circles held back their charges, innuendos and name calling until the second development — the start of the new year.

Now that 1964 has begun, politics takes on its annual new twist. This year the twist is even more twisted, from the national scene right down to the locals. Both Barry Goldwater and Nelson Rockefeller have declared their philosophical intentions, leaving a lot of room for a lot of Republicans in between.

ON THE DEMOCRATIC side, President Johnson has not and probably will not do anything to jeopardize the sudden popularity thrust on him by a united citizenry between now and convention time. Instead, the big question is more like who will be Johnson's vice presidential running mate?

In Union County, the political season has already generated some dissemination from the men and the boys. Democratic chairman Jim Kinneally, well rested via the Bermuda sun after a turbulent election, is making vigorous plans for a party slate.

Republican chairman Jay Stemmer is also making plans, after scoring well in his debut as GOP county chairman. However, Stemmer's prime concern will be that of the other 20 county leaders, to find a suitable candidate for the U.S. Senate seat that will lead the state ballot.

SEN. HARRISON WILLIAMS is up for re-election, and the importance of the senatorial battle is underlined by the Presidential fight. A strong GOP candidate for the Senate could carry the state into the Republican column for whomever the Presidential candidate may be.

Williams, who is practically a cinch to retain the support of New Jersey's Democrats regardless of the usual echoes of disapproval from various quarters, has the stimulus of the Johnson bandwagon going for him. One longshot being discussed in the smoke-filled rooms is a possible drive that would install Gov. Hughes as a vice-presidential mate for Johnson. However, it isn't certain whether such chatter is being discussed by the Atlantic City convention committee, the New Jersey Ten Century Committee, or just a few press agents hired by the state's Democratic committee to drum up some favorite son talk.

Aside from the usual Republican names mentioned for high office each year, such as Bernard Shanley, Sen. Wayne Dumont, etc., the name of Florence Dwyer seems to be receiving more and more attention these days. The congresswoman was quite emphatic just prior to the November election when she told yours truly she would be unavailable for the Senate seat. "I enjoy being a congresswoman," she remarked. "They couldn't get me to run for the Senate."

ALTHOUGH MRS. DWYER has not agreed to run for the Senate, neither has she made any public statement that would upset a handwagon on her behalf. State chairman Webster Todd and his 21 dwarfs will supposedly choose a candidate acceptable to the entire party behind closed doors, to prevent a primary fight. The last time this happened the Republican Party was nearly torn apart at the seams.

As for a Democratic challenger for Congress, there are no surprising number of names. More specifically, should Mrs. Dwyer not run for the Senate, there are many who are eager, willing and able to be tossed to the wolves on behalf of the Democratic Party.

One thing is certain, on the freeholder-level Messers. Donahue and Dunn, the only two Democrats on the nine-man body, are up for re-election. Tom Dunn looks more intent on wrestling the Elizabeth mayoralty from Steve Berk. Meanwhile, Kinneally is confronted with the headache of comprising a trio that will retain a Democratic voice on the board of freeholders.

The political season has opened and the men are being separated from the boys as the fastball pitchers start to curve. It's time to play ball!

POLITICAL CHATTER

Why Do Court Trials Take A Long Wait?

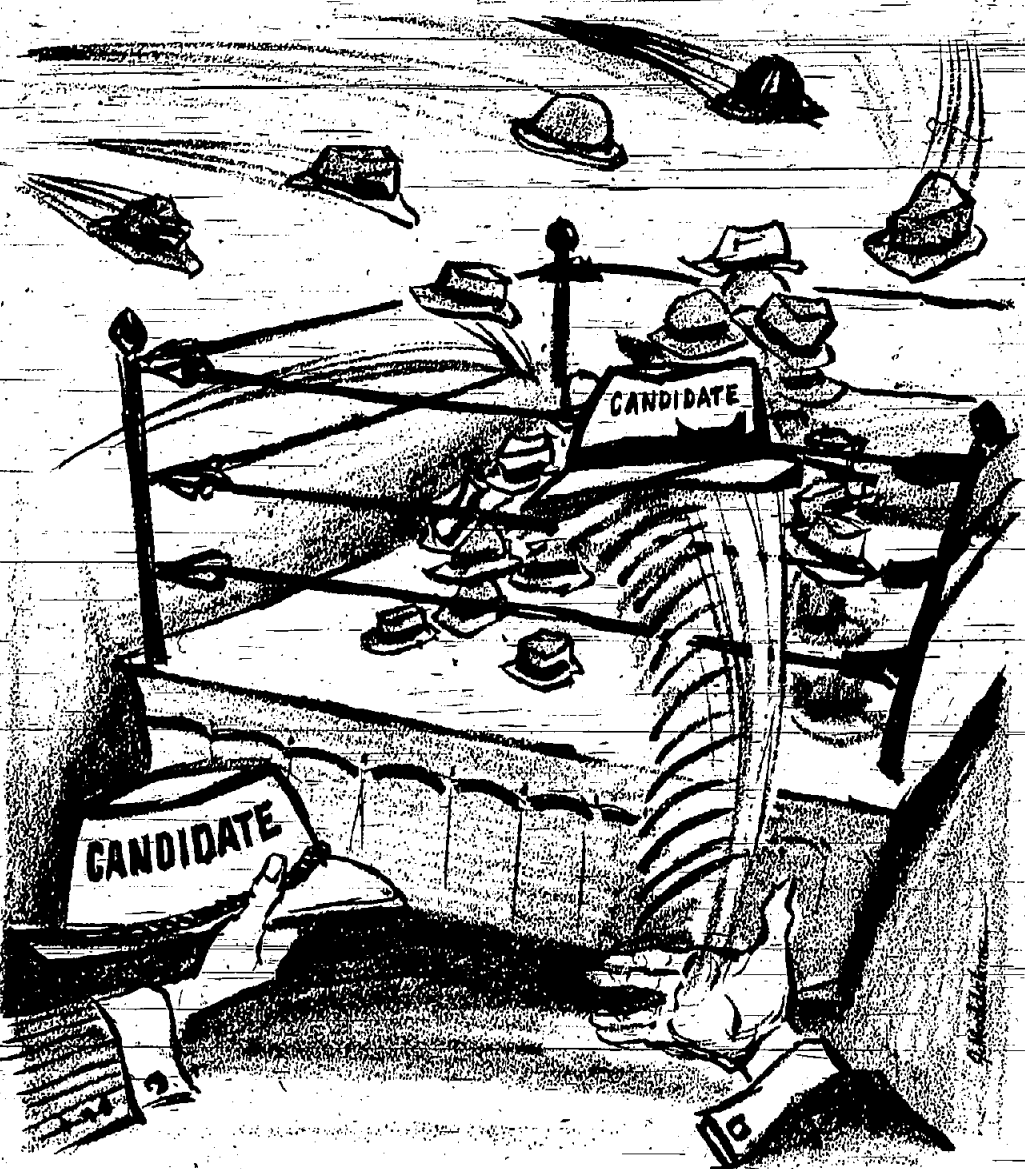

BY DAVID S. KLEIN Executive Editor

A murder in May, 1963, reached Grand Jury action in December. A murder committed in July still has not been tried. A gambling charge of seven months ago is still waiting Grand Jury action.

This is Union County. But the same story — in many cases involving longer delays — takes place all across the nation, as a result of one of the most overburdened facets of our way of life, courts.

It is a case of not enough judges, not enough courtrooms, not enough personnel, not enough funds. It is a case of an overburdening of court schedules to the point of impossibility. A case deemed worthy of Grand Jury proceedings in Union County cannot possibly find its way into court for at least six months. It is no one's immediate fault, simply the fault of a system too loaded down and a system not well enough cared for.

What is a solution? The answer is difficult. It may lie in the need for additional facilities, such as more court buildings. It may lie in the lack of enough judges, such as the possible appointment of an extra dozen. One may lie in many areas, but the truth is that it does exist, and it should be settled, soon.

THE POLITICAL RING!

Foundation's Year

Some interesting facts were revealed in the 1963 report of the Ford Foundation. This is a philanthropy founded in 1936 by Henry and son Edsel Ford. Its goal is service to the public welfare. The foundation's announced intent is to identify "problems of national importance and underwrite efforts toward their solution."

Including fiscal 1963, the Ford Foundation donated nearly two billion dollars to some 5,100 institutions and organizations over the years. Education has been the chief recipient of its funds.

During the first fifteen years of its existence, the Ford Foundation gave mostly to institutions located within the boundaries of the state of Michigan. In the past 43 years, however, it has developed into a national philanthropy.

Education, in the past year, has benefited through the Ford Foundation, in the areas of: special programs, Negro college development, school improvement, vocational education, teacher education, and educational television.

The humanities and arts are also primary recipients of foundation aid. Such aid was received in 1963 in the fields of: artistic institutions and resources, experiments and demonstrations, development of individual talent, and the humanities.

The foundation aided public affairs in: the gray areas, youth development, law and administration of justice, career training for the minorities, and community service and leadership.

In the category of population, the Ford philanthropy aided studies in reproductive biology, research training, administration information, and analysis.

International trade and research gained during the past year due to Ford grants in the areas of: educational and development assistance, foreign and international studies, foreign area research, international legal studies, language and linguistics, foreign student education, and international education exchange.

Ford helped to strengthen engineering activities, and gave major grants in the past year to science education and research facilities, and science and public policy projects.

Economic development and administration was a concern of the Ford Foundation in 1963. It gave to the fields of economic growth and resources, business education, economic education, health economics, and problems of the aging.

A primary category of public welfare is the nation's policies in international affairs. The Ford Foundation gave its funds to promote the Western Pacific, strengthen European institutions, aid the Atlantic Cooperation and Developing Areas, and advance international peace.

Africa, the Middle East, South and Southeast Asia, Latin America, and the Caribbean area were recipients of Ford Foundation funds for overseas development during 1963.

In fiscal 1963, the foundation made program commitments totaling $247.7 million. The foundation purchased property during the year near the United Nations Plaza in New York for the construction of new headquarters.

Monmouth and Dix before his discharge in 1946.

Wright went back to Yale where he changed his major to industrial administration. He graduated in 1948. While at Yale, he helped organize the Society for the Advancement of Management.

Wright served as a technical representative for the airport for four years. Afterward, he served for two years as an engineer in the railroad radio department of the Westinghouse Corp. He has also worked as a field engineer for the Kerite Telephone Co., a sales engineer for the Edison Electric Institute and the Industrial Electrification Council. He is now a dealer for American Graphic, Inc., in Irvington.

Six years ago, Wright was married to the former Marsha Lee Earley of Mansfield, Pa. The couple has three children, Karen, 4, Betsy, 3, and Steven, six months. The family moved to Springfield in 1959.

Hank Wright is a member of the Springfield American Legion, and is editor of its publication, THE HATS. He is a member of the Springfield Optimists, a founding member and past president of the Short Hills Outing Club, and a director of the Springfield Red Cross.

economy in government. On the economic level — too, he wishes to encourage the ownership by employees of voting stock in their companies. This, he feels is the best step toward an improved labor-management relationship. The idea is that every individual should never have to join a trade union as a prerequisite for employment.

Wright said that he thinks Barry Goldwater is a good senator and loyal Republican, but he is concerned about his conservative policy in regard to international affairs. He said that stringency might preclude war. "We must be firm, but encourage peace in our firmness," he concluded.

Wright lives at 53 Colfax Road in Springfield's fourth district. He was born in Orange where his father was a patent engineer for the Bell Telephone Co. Wright senior patented 40 inventions in his 40-year career.

Hank Wright attended Yale University for a year and a half before he was drafted in 1944. He was stationed in Florida for a time before he was sent by the Army to the University of Kentucky in its specialized training program. Wright majored in electrical engineering in the year and a half he was there. He was then shipped to a radio training school in Missouri. He served at Forts

The initiation of a street improvement plan. As you are aware many of our older streets are in need of repair and resurfacing. The finalization of Police and Fire codes and regulations. The completion of plans and perhaps the final construction of the much needed road to the Baltusrol Top to Springfield proper. The fostering of industrial and small service industries. These are some of the goals that are set forth for the Township Committee this year. While it is acknowledged that these plans are ambitious, the progress that Springfield makes must be directed and not occur as a matter of chance. I might also add that this administration shall have as its watch word, progress with economy.

"The budget requests of the various municipal appointments have not been completely reviewed as yet, and at this time no prediction can be made.

IMPULSIVELY...

Shock Treatment A Part Of Switching One's Cave

BY LOUIS S. WARSHAW Associate-Publisher

We are new residents of Springfield! As of this date we will have resided in this pretty little suburb for about two weeks... and we are still in a state of utter shock induced by the ordeal of moving.

What a delight it must have been for Stone-Age man to change his residence. He took his club, his wife, his children (if any)... and simply exchanged one cave for another. Maybe the new cave had a little more light and space. Maybe it was a touch quieter. Maybe it was closer to his favorite hunting spot and he could get home a little earlier.

These, of course, are precisely the same reasons which motivated us Springfielders... certainly lighter and more spacious; it's a lot quieter than New York City... and there's no question about its being closer to our favorite hunting spot, which happens to be the Garden State Weeklies offices.

(we're proud of our library) we examined our raw and bleeding hands. We surveyed the run of our one-time apartment, we walked gingerly past precariously piled cartons, we called the phone company, we made out our "change of address" slips for the post-office, we arranged to shut off our light and power and reopen it in Springfield, we transferred our saving account to the new bank... we arranged for someone to clean the countless things the modern housewife demands in a new apartment, we were shunted hither and yon and, then were told to get going so that we could arrive in Springfield before the moving van did.

WE ARRIVED in Springfield together with a rather respectable-sized snow storm, and we shuddered at the prospect of being blamed for the weather by that hitherto nice young man who had taken our contract but who now appeared to be transformed into a terrifying monster from some other planet. And we waited for the van. And we waited some more... and then when we were surfeited with waiting, we waited some more. The sun was beginning to sink behind our living room windows when at last the van came along.

With the van came a degree of confusion which we will not even attempt to describe. It's apparently easier to move things in than it is to move things out. Before we knew what had assailed us, we were surrounded by a welter of cartons, packing cases, chairs, crates, assorted pieces of furniture, rugs, and heaven knows what else... until we had the positive conviction that this whole thing needed the logistic talents of a General Eisenhower on D-Day.

THEN CAME THAT familiar but not necessarily happy experience with which some of you must be familiar. Our phone rang... and we climbed a mountain of cartons to answer it. Our dearest friends wanted to share our travail... and help us with the furniture arrangement. When could they "just drop by" for a quick drink and lots of work. I appealed dutifully to my wife to help me out of the dilemma... but, she, poor woman, was by now beyond all caring. "Let them come!" she whimped. "They certainly can't add to the carnage that's already been wrought." They came. They discussed theory and the art of filling interiors with furniture. They vetoed every idea we had for where to put our favorite pictures: They sneered at the spot we had chosen for our favorite chair. They were convinced that we would be insane unless we changed every one of the lighting fixtures... and they were overcome with pity for my poor little wife who would have to use the "simply awful" equipment that came with the apartment.

We crawled wearily into bed that night... and it was then we made our great decision. We had moved for the last time. If the state decided to run a six-lane super highway through our kitchen, they had also better be prepared to send along the militia to evacuate us.

Here we are in Springfield... and here we are to stay! We've unpacked our cartons, we've placed our furniture where we want it... we've got our phone and our light and our heat and our neighbors... and we give our warmest wishes to the State of New Jersey and all its mighty forces that only some great cataclysm of nature can remove us. And if some such thing does happen, we're going to find ourselves a club, grab our women by the hair, and drag her off, screaming, to some cave nearby. We repeat, Stone-Age man had all the answers.

SEN. CASE REPORTS

Improving Of Conduct Timely, Even For Those In Congress

This is the time most of us are thinking about how to improve our conduct in the new year. This seems particularly appropriate for members of Congress, who have marked time for almost twelve full months and left a tremendous amount of unfinished business and unsolved problems behind them as they returned home for the holidays.

The instrument for achieving reform is at hand in the form of a resolution developed by Senator Joseph Clark of Pennsylvania and myself for appointment of a Joint Committee on the Organization of Congress to make a full and complete study of the organization and operation of the Congress of the United States. The Committee shall recommend improvements in such organization and operation with a view toward strengthening the Congress, simplifying and expediting its operations, improving its relationships with other branches of the United States Government, and enabling it better to meet its responsibilities under the Constitution.

This resolution was reported almost unanimously by the Senate Rules Committee last September. An abortive attempt was made by Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield to call it up for a vote in the Senate in the closing days of the past session, but an objection by Senator Richard Russell of Georgia effectively blocked consideration.

I am confident that growing public impatience with the inadequacies of the First Session of the 89th Congress will force action on our resolution. News-paper editorialists and columnists have been almost unanimous in the support for reform. The following comment is typical of the sentiment of the 89th is not its conservatism but its aggressiveness — its refusal to vote yes or not on issues of essential importance.

Americans instinctively want to improve any organization to which they belong. This is no less true of Congress than of a neighborhood civic association. Certainly, among our resolutions for 1964 should be a resolve to make our Congress the effective instrument of government which it can be and the Founding Fathers intended it to be.

There are those who are offended by any word of criticism about the Congress. They feel that if you don't talk about shortcomings, somehow they will not be noticed.

PHOTOGRAPHY

Sue Smith is 5 feet three inches tall and weighs 110 pounds. She has light brunette hair and probably is the most photographed girl in the country.

Twenty-year-old Sue is a model in the film testing division at Kodak Park Works where film is made.

In an average year Sue poses for over 70,000 still pictures and more than 150,000 feet of movie film. She has been facing the camera for more than two years.

Sue is photographed in both indoor and outdoor scenes. In winter and summer under good and poor lighting conditions. She poses on the beach, in parks, in the living room, at the airport, in the backyard, on the front steps of a cathedral as well as the carefully controlled studio conditions at Kodak Park.

Sue is considered an ideal testing model, particularly for color films, because her fresh tones are very close to those of the average person.

The purpose behind all this photographing of "the average girl" is to duplicate many of the typical picture taking scenes faced by amateur photographers.

Studies of the keeping qualities of film under a wide range of temperature and humidity conditions also involve the photogenic Sue. Half a roll of film may be exposed in photographing a particular scene.

The two sections of the Symbol's base represent people and purpose; the tree form, progress and growth. The triangle points to the future.

Symbol OF 300 YEARS OF PROGRESS

New Jersey is truly a great state. Over the period of its 300 years' existence, its people with their God-given advantages have created an industrial, agricultural complex second to none. It is a significant component of our national economy. It has an ever brightening future vested in the rapid growth of its applied and basic research facilities and expansion of its industrial and agricultural operations.

During this year of celebration we urge all the people of the state to reflect upon the history of New Jersey - what made it great; why it is still great; and how it will become even greater. And when at the World's Fair be certain to visit the New Jersey Pavilion. You will learn more about this amazing state.

Library Group Plans Fete For Miss Reyner

Dinner in honor of Miss Helen C. Reyner, retiring director of Springfield Free Public Library, will be held Wed., Jan. 15, at 7 p.m. at Stouter's Restaurant, Short Hills.
 The affair is open to the public. Members of the library Board of Trustees, the staff, and volunteers will participate. Out-of-town friends and other librarians are also planning to attend.
 Mrs. Helen C. Reyner, retiring director, will be the guest of honor.

Arrangements. Reservations must be made in advance.
 James M. Duguid of Mountainside, formerly of Springfield, will be master of ceremonies. Mr. Duguid and his wife, who was once a member of the library board, are long-time friends of the retiring director.
 Miss Reyner, director of the Springfield library the past 10 years, will conclude her duties Jan. 31. During recent months, she has devoted her time to a library survey and the history of the Springfield library during the last 10 years. She was highly praised by Library Board President Kenneth R. Hetzel Jr. and other board members at the December meeting in connection with this survey work.
 Miss Reyner, who resides on Alvin Terrace, came to Springfield in December, 1953, and became director on Jan. 1, 1954. She had been serving at the school of library service, Columbia University, where she received an M.A. degree.

The director has been in library work since she was 18 years old. Upon graduation from Camden High School, she studied library methods at William Penn Adult Evening School in Philadelphia and did volunteer work in the Apprentices' Library on Broad Street.

She joined the Camden Public Library staff as assistant to the children's librarian and during four years there attended the University of Pennsylvania part time. She later left the Camden library and enrolled into the university as a sophomore and was graduated with a B.A. degree. She earned a B.S. degree in library service from the School of Library Service at Drexel Institute in Philadelphia.

Miss Reyner spent eight years as librarian at Camden High School and four years in the Philadelphia school system.

Anxious to return to public library work, she became a cataloger for the Hudsonfield Public Library and then the Atlantic County Library System, centered in Mays Landing. She later worked in the Passaic Public Library for two years while studying at the Columbia Library School. She also holds a professional certificate from the Education Department of New Jersey.

In addition to being a member of many library and university groups, Miss Reyner has also been associated with the League of Women Voters, Springfield Woman's Club, New Jersey Historical Society, and the Springfield Historical Society. She is a native of Camden.

During the years Miss Reyner has been with the Springfield library, the circulation has risen from 38,000 in 1953 to 150,000. In 1957, an addition three times the size of the original library was built on to the premises.

Top Nutrition Available At Varied Costs

"How much should I spend for food?" This is a frequent question from homemakers. Especially, with many families making resolves for a new year, this information is helpful. And it is available on a general or average basis. However, each family situation is influenced by the number of persons, any special food needs of members, the size of the income, and also by an understanding of what items are to be classed as foods.

Because food is bought frequently, usually at least once each week, it seems to run away with a lot of money. And it does take a good slice of the income of most families. However, it may come as a surprise that the percentage is now less than formerly.

Food is still the largest single household expense for middle income brackets. And the actual dollars spent are more rather than less. But the slice of total income has been smaller in the last few years.

The U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics recently announced preliminary findings on the share of average urban family disposable income going for food in 1960. The share is reported as about 24 per cent. This is a drop from nearly 30 per cent for food in 1950, only a decade earlier.

When you consider what your family's food bill is, do you count only foods or do you add in soap and other cleaning products, toilet tissue and other paper supplies, cigarettes, plants, maybe even a coffee-pot or some plastic food containers?

Shoppers in grocery stores, where 90 per cent of retail food sales are made, may not realize that nearly 18 per cent of their money has been spent for non-foods. This is the finding reported for grocery store sales in 1962. Thus, the non-food bill is a fairly substantial part of the grocery bill, a point for families who have a food spending plan to note.

Most of us enjoy eating and are likely to buy taste satisfaction rather than just adequate nourishment. But good nutrition is possible at three levels, called liberal, moderate, and low cost.

Naturally, meals are most attractive at liberal cost and least attractive at low cost. As the cost decreases, the amount of time and energy required for planning, shopping, and preparation increases.

In each of all levels, too, the amount varies according to number of persons in the family. It even varies according to the age of family members.

A family of two can be adequately fed at costs ranging from $12.80 per week to $22.10 per week. And a family of four could manage adequate meals at $21.40 or require $37.90. The moderate cost figures, between the low and liberal cost, are given on the basis of 1963 food prices:

Family of two, 20-34 years - $19.60.

Family of two, 55-74 years - $17.60.

Family of four, two preschool children - $26.50.

Family of four, two school children - $33.30.

The cost of food for one week for boys and girls and men and women of different ages at those different levels, as released in the U.S. Department of Agriculture Home Economics Research Report #20, is available on request from the Home Economics Extension Office, 1106 Elizabeth Avenue, Elizabeth.

Revised Pamphlet Describes Area
A revised pamphlet that includes a pictorial map and general description of the Watching Reservation has been prepared by the Union County Park Commission and is now available for distribution.

This publication has information on the geology of this area, a history of the Watching Reservation, the recreational facilities available, and the various points of interest in the Reservation. Copies are available without charge to residents of Union County and may be had by contacting the Public Information Department, Union County Park Commission, Post Office Box 275, Elizabeth.

Set Buying Plans For Furnishings And Save Money

Sale shoppers, take note: Resolve to fit sales purchases of furnishings into your family spending plan in 1964. To do this, start the New Year by setting up a furnishings buying calendar.

Your household inventory of furnishings can be used as a basis for your buying calendar. From the list of furnishings that you now have, you can write your list of needed furnishings and plan your year's purchases.

Keep alert all year long for sales of items that you plan to buy—items that you really need. That's where your buying calendar comes in handy, says Miss Genea Thames, extension home furnishing specialist at Rutgers University.

Whenever a sale tempts you to keep your buying calendar firmly in mind.

Sale time are shifting notes Miss Thames. Annual January and August white sales, for instance, and February and August furniture sales periods now are being extended. Some sales are staged more frequently. They vary from store to store.

Some of these revised sale times may fit into your spending plan better than the traditional sale schedules. Watch newspaper advertising and store bulletins for sale announcements.

Seasonal sales may come at end of season, end of month, pre-Inventory and post-Inventory. Others are private, special, closing-out and anniversary sales.

You may not be able to find one furnishing that combines all of the features desired. Stick to your basic requirements, but be willing to compromise on less-important features. This is advisable especially when you want to take advantage of sale offerings.

Union Junior Applications Well Ahead of Last Year

The number of applications for admission to Union Junior College next September is running 28 per cent ahead of a year ago, it was announced today by Dr. Kenneth C. MacKay, president.

Dr. MacKay said the same trend is showing up in the number of applications for the coming spring semester, which are up 17 per cent over a year ago.

A record number of applications was received for the fall semester of 1963, and an even larger number is expected for the coming fall semester, Dr. MacKay said.

"Despite the increased number of applications, we anticipate a freshman class of 440—the same size as this year. As we will have no additional facilities available, we will be unable to accept more freshmen next year. In fact, we expect somewhat more crowded conditions, because we anticipate a larger sophomore class next year," Dr. MacKay said.

"Dr. MacKay said he anticipates no substantial increase in enrollment until additional facilities are provided. He added that a faculty committee is now considering plans for a science building that would be the third step in UJC's long-range development plan. The science building would contain classrooms, laboratories, lecture halls, faculty offices, library space, and other facilities.

Dr. MacKay said he attributes the increased application rate to substantially more interest by high school seniors in New Jersey in the two-year college in general and in Union Junior College in particular. In addition, the class of '64 is considerably larger than the class of '63. In Union County, for example, the size of this year's graduating class will be about 20 per cent larger than last June, increasing from 5,649 to 7,015—an increase of 1,366.

"Under these conditions, it would be advisable for students thinking about attending Union Junior College next fall to file their applications as soon as possible. There is no question that a larger number of applicants will have to be turned away than at any time in our 30-year history," Dr. MacKay explained.

Another factor in the popularity of the two-year college is the cost, Dr. MacKay said. He pointed out that many families with several children of college age find it impossible to send them to colleges away from home.

"It is generally agreed it is more economical for a student to live at home and attend a nearby college," Dr. MacKay said. "Furthermore, many high school students, and their parents, too, have come to realize that they are not being penalized academically by attending long-established, accredited two-year colleges. Indeed, there are some educational advantages available to two-year college students not always available at the four-year institutions," Dr. MacKay added.

2 Retirements Announced By Union County Trust Co.

Raymond W. Bauer, President of Union County Trust Company, today announced the retirements of Arthur L. Wells, Assistant Treasurer-Assistant Secretary, and Anna M. Glatt, as of Dec. 31.

Wells has been manager of the Credit Department at the Main Office for many years. He joined the Elizabeth Trust Company in January, 1933, prior to the merger with Union County Trust Company in January, 1948, and served as Credit Manager at the 113 Broad St. office. He was named Assistant Treasurer-Assistant Secretary in 1948.

Wells is a graduate of the Business College at Middletown, New York, and the American Institute of Banking.

Prior to joining the Elizabeth Trust Company, Wells was employed as Credit Manager of the United States Trust Company in Newark. He was also employed for several years with the National Credit Office in New York.

During the First World War Wells served 15 months with the U.S. Army. His outside activities include 45 years of continuous service in the East Orange American Legion Post.

He has also served as Vice President and Treasurer of the New Jersey Association of Credit Executives. Mr. Wells and his wife, the former Mary Lewis of Goslien, New York, reside at 44 Brighton Avenue, East Orange.

Miss Glatt joined Union County Trust Company as a member of the Main Office staff in 1952. She has worked in the installment Loan Department and as a relief switchboard operator.

Prior to joining the bank, Miss Glatt was employed for 21 years as chief switchboard operator at Essp Standard Oil Company. In 1934 she was also employed for ten years as supervisor with the New Jersey Telephone Company, Elizabeth.

Miss Glatt plans to devote her time to gardening and charity work, and hopes to take a trip to Paris, in the future.

She resides at 228 Springfield Ave., Linden, with her two sisters.

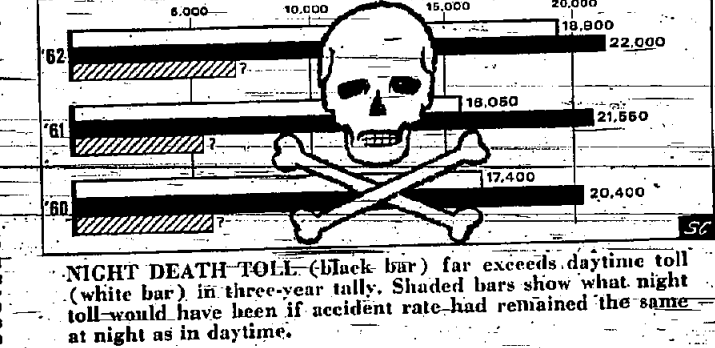

There are many ways of starting the New Year right. One is to plan now to "spend dollars with sense." This is the topic of an Extension Service program scheduled for Thursday, Jan. 9, in the Home Economics Auditorium, 7 Bridge St., Elizabeth, from 1:15 to 2:45 p.m.

Mary W. Armstrong, Union County Home Agent, will conduct this meeting. The information presented will include amounts for various items of Family Living in percentage ranges for different income levels. The emphasis will be on the importance of planning, the mechanics of budgeting and the value of determining family goals, both for the present and the future.

All interested homemakers are welcome. Time during the session will be allotted for questions and answers from the group.

A second meeting relating to Family Financial Planning with emphasis on savings and insurance is scheduled for Jan. 23. Advance registration is helpful but not necessary.

Studies Show Light Saves Lives

NIGHT DEATH TOLL (black bar) far exceeds daytime toll (white bar) in three-year tally. Shaded bars show what night toll would have been if accident rate had remained the same at night as in daytime.

Cleveland, Ohio—The Street and streets and highways. A forerunner in the effort, said the Bureau reports that, during the past three years, more than 54% of all traffic fatalities in the United States occurred after dark. Yet during these hours, said the Bureau, there are only 1/3 as many cars on the road as in daytime.

This is supported by figures from the National Safety Council. The national average during 1962, according to the Council, was 10 deaths per 100,000,000 vehicle miles at night, compared to 4 deaths per 100,000,000 vehicle miles during daylight hours.

These figures, said the Street and Highway Safety Lighting Bureau, are out-of-proportion with the comparative volume of traffic during these two periods. Since there are only 1/3 the number of cars on the road at night, logically he assumed, said the Bureau, that there should correspondingly be about 1/3 the number of traffic fatalities.

Thus, 1/3 of 18,080 (the 1962 daytime fatality figure) would be approximately 6,000. Since the number of night traffic fatalities during 1962 was 22,000, this means that inadequate lighting contributed heavily to the death of 16,000 persons.

The Bureau pointed out, however, that much is being done to reduce the number and severity of traffic accidents. This is "quite conclusive evidence," the Bureau said, that the amount of light directly affects the number and severity of traffic accidents.

P.S. Purchases World's Largest Gas Turbine Unit

The world's largest gas turbine generating unit has been purchased from Pratt and Whitney Aircraft by Public Service Electric and Gas Company to provide electricity to New Jersey homes and industries during periods of peak electrical demand. An announcement of the purchase was made recently by Donald C. Luce, president of the company. The new unit is driven by eight Pratt and Whitney Aircraft J-75 jet engines - some models of Boeing 707 and Douglas DC 8 jet airliners use such engines. The gas turbine unit is scheduled to be operating by the end of 1965.

The new generator will provide a guaranteed capacity of 121,000 kilowatts of electricity, and holds promise of an ultimate capability of as much as 140,000 kilowatts. It will be located at Public Service's steam generating station in Sewaren, ten miles southeast of Newark. Completely automatic, it will be operated by pushbutton from a remote control point. In eight minutes or less after receiving the starting signal, this new machine will deliver full-rated power output into the Public Service electrical system.

In addition to the eight modified Pratt and Whitney Aircraft J-75 turbosets, the unit is comprised of four Worthington Corporation double flow expanders, or free turbines.

The new unit at Sewaren will be the second gas turbine installed by Public Service.

U.S. Reply To Barbary Pirates A Bold, Deadly Stroke Of Fire

BY JOHN T. CUNNINGHAM Master Commandant Richard Somers of Somers Point had none of the traditional look of a hero.

He was short and stout, with a prominent nose, fleshy cheeks and the beginnings of a double chin.

Only one characteristic made the Jerseyman seem eligible for a mantle of enduring honor; he had what his biographer called "singular notions of duty and honor." Duty told Somers in the late summer of 1804 that enemy ships

Straight A's Coming Up

It's homework time again—and Mom was smart enough to set up a homework corner in the kitchen for Junior, complete with portable typewriter and plenty of work space. She knows that her teacher's finger-written assignments, and Junior finds that his little Singer Graduate makes the work go faster. This talented portable even takes care of mathematics and science homework for columnists. He'll go to the head of his class, because Mom will see to it that his homework is done quickly, neatly, and correctly.

Arlene Francis Star Of "Kind Sir" Next At Paper Mill

Arlene Francis will star in the Norman Krassa comedy, "Kind Sir," at the Paper Mill Playhouse in Millburn, for two weeks beginning Tuesday, Jan. 14.

Her leading man will be Michael Allison, who played Professor Henry Higgins in "My Fair Lady" during its last two years on Broadway.

"Kind Sir," which became the successful Ingrid Bergman-Cary Grant movie "Indiscreet," is Krassa's light-hearted treatment of a glamorous stage star to romance with a banker. In addition to giving Miss Francis and Allison some brittle lines to flip off, it gives the TV star an opportunity to wear the fabulous wardrobe and furs that are her trademark.

Medical Progress and Your Health

The average American family may be playing "ping-pong" with its health and never know it. According to experts on communicable diseases, staphylococcal infections, a growing threat to public health, can be passed back and forth between family members for years before anyone realizes that recurring family illnesses have a common source.

Bacteria causing a baby's impetigo may return to Demitrios weeks later as a boll on Father's arm. Abscesses on Mother's skin may be connected with sister and brother's eye infections. Even osteomyelitis and pneumonia can occur while the world's population in nasal passages and on skin. The bacteria's growing resistance to antibiotics and their easy dissemination by dust and air, contaminating everything they touch, contribute further to the extensive harm of staphylococci. Family protection against "staph" infections and general daily resistance to skin bacteria are most easily accomplished by frequent washing of the hands with a germicidal soap that contains hexachlorones. This chemical, extremely effective in inhibiting the growth of certain bacteria, continues to reduce the number of microorganisms with repeated use.

To specifically explore family staphylococcal infections, the John Glaser Ely Center for Health Education Research, a non-profit organization in New Haven, Conn., studied families whose recurring health problems were due to "staph."

Try New Canned Condensed Cream Of Potato Soup

Did you know you eat about 103 pounds of potatoes a year? That's the national average according to a recent report from the U.S.D.A.

And now you can have some of your share of potatoes in a delicious new soup - canned condensed cream of potato.

From the soup kettles of a large soup manufacturer comes a velvety-smooth puree of tender diced potatoes and rich country cream and butter. It's delicately and superbly seasoned with onions and spices.

A great soup for lunch or supper with a favorite sandwich or salad. Try it, too, as a tempting dinner appetizer. It combines with vegetables, meats, poultry and/or seafood 3 servings.

N.J. Hospital Volunteers Contribute 1,836,142 Hrs.

New Jersey hospital volunteers contributed over 1 million hours to 78 hospitals in a one-year period, the New Jersey Hospital Association announced today.

Stated another way, New Jersey hospital volunteers contributed over 45,000 40-hour work weeks to 78 hospitals in one year.

The New Jersey Hospital Association conducted a volunteer survey to determine the work contributions and to compare the New Jersey figures with the rest of the nation.

Throughout the nation, hospital auxiliaries and volunteers contributed over 32 million hours in one year. The exact figures are 32,761,478. On the basis of a 40-hour work week, these hospital volunteers contributed 820,000 work weeks across the country.

Here in New Jersey, with 78 hospitals reporting, volunteers contributed an impressive 1,836,142 hours. This is 5.6% of the national total as determined by the American Hospital Association.

P.S. Report

Output of electricity by Public Service Electric and Gas Company for the week ended Dec. 26, was 317,633,800 kilowatt-hours compared with 291,861,600 kilowatt-hours in the corresponding week a year ago, an increase of 25,772,200 or 8.8 per cent.

WARREN C. BAIRD, President of the New Jersey Hospital Association and Director of the Mountainside Hospital, Montclair, pointed out that large corps of unskilled workers have been performing valuable services in New Jersey hospitals for many years. He said an Association survey was necessary to determine the extent of the volunteers' important assistance to our hospitals. "We can be proud of our New Jersey volunteers who perform a wide variety of hospital functions." Baird continued, "tasks that add materially to the comfort and well-being of patients and the improved operation of our hospitals."

Baird explained that in 1962 the American Hospital Association conducted the first national statistical survey ever made of the over-all contributions made by volunteers. The national survey totaled 32 million volunteer hours.

"New Jersey's 1,836,142 volunteer-hospital hours is a proud achievement," Baird stated, "and the New Jersey Hospital Association, in behalf of its member hospitals, publicly expresses its appreciation."

The New Jersey Hospital Association has official liaison with the New Jersey Association of Hospital Auxiliaries through its Council on Hospital Auxiliaries. This 6-member council has three representatives from each Association and considers all matters affecting hospital auxiliary relationships.

ACTIVE PROGRAM

Rights Group Initiates Plans

After its open membership meeting held in December, the Springfield Human Rights Committee For Fair Housing has initiated an active program including the formation of committees for realtor relations, membership, education, research and legal information, finance, and public information. Several Board of Directors and committee meetings have been held.

The next open membership meeting will be held in late February, at which time the various committees will make their reports.

According to Irving W. Samuels, chairman of the Committee, two primary considerations of the group at this time are to broaden community support and to impress upon fellow residents the main goal of the committee which is to promote within the community a climate where everyone regardless of race, religion, or national origin is welcome.

The purposes of the Fair Housing Committee were set forth in the constitution adopted at the last open membership meeting:

1. To further the cause of brotherhood among men of all colors, religious and ethnic groups by cooperating with our religious organizations, the President of the United States, the Federal,

State and local governments and other groups working to eliminate discriminatory practices from our midst.

2. To impress upon our fellow Springfield citizens the moral and religious evil of racial, religious and ethnic discrimination in the area of housing and in all facets of our community life.

3. To bring about a Springfield wherein open occupancy is the rule in the sale and lease of homes and apartments by:

- (a) preparing our township morally and psychologically for the acceptance of members of racial, religious and ethnic minorities who may move into our community.

- (b) encouraging, primarily through educational means, a wholesome attitude on the part of both the citizenry and the realtors, toward the achievement of open housing.

4. To create a truly integrated Springfield in housing, employment, education and the like, where everyone is judged on the basis of his ability and moral character and not on the basis of race, religion or national origin.

Mr. Samuels stressed that the committee is extremely interested in new members. Residents of Springfield wishing to join should contact members or send a note with their name.

Salesman Returns After Conference

Caspar G. Bellitti, 41 Country Club Lane, Springfield, has returned from North Chicago, Illinois, where he took part in the fall conference of Abbott Laboratories Management Advisory Council.

Bellitti is one of 15 outstanding sales representatives throughout the country who make up the Council. Council members meet regularly to advise Abbott sales and marketing management.

Edyth Schweitzer Dies

Mrs. Edyth Schweitzer, 64 Linden Ave., died Sun., Dec. 29, at Moss Hospital in Philadelphia after a long illness.

Born in Gloversville, N.Y., Mrs. Schweitzer lived in Westfield 15 years before coming to Springfield in 1956.

Mrs. Schweitzer worked for many years in Reinhardt's Women's Apparel Shop in Westfield. In recent years she has served as bookkeeper for the Blanche Haber Dress Shop in Millburn. She was a member of the Deborah Suburban League. Mrs. Schweitzer leaves a daughter, Mrs. George Hopkins of Newfoundland, N.J., her mother, Mrs. Leonard Haber of Springfield, three sisters, Mrs. Samuel Weintraub of Mountain Side, Miss Blanche Haber of Springfield, and Mrs. Dorothy Baumgarten of Jamaica, N.Y., and one grandchild.

Funeral services were conducted Tues., Dec. 31, at Gray's Funeral Home, 318 East Broad St., Westfield.

MR. AND MRS. HERBERT GINTER and their children Wayne and Bonnie of 33 Warwick Circle are pictured aboard the Furness liner S.S. Ocean Monarch before sailing on a holiday cruise to the coral isles of Bermuda.

Springfield's UNICO Ladies Feted By Area Hospital

A luncheon was held at the John E. Runnels Hospital for Chest Diseases, Berkeley Heights, by Dr. Eugene Nargiello, Superintendent and Medical Director, for the ladies of UNICO of Springfield.

The group presented Dr. Nargiello with a check for $1,000. The Doctor expressed his gratitude to the organization through Mrs. Azeglio Pancani, President. The Superintendent and Medical Director also commended the ladies for granting the hospital proceeds of their Annual Charity Ball for the second year in succession. Mrs. Anthony Zarelio, Charity Chairman, announced that the funds were given to the hospital for the purchase of a Portable Electrocardiograph Machine. Dr. Nargiello stated the machine will be most important in conjunction with the opening of the hospital's new Mary A. Connolly Nursing Home.

Mrs. Dorothy Walton, Director of Volunteer Services at John E. Runnels Hospital for Chest Diseases, conducted the arrangements for the luncheon and was in attendance were Mrs. Dominic LaMorgese, Vice-President; Mrs. Michael Passero, Chairman of the Ball; and Mrs. William Royal, Ticket Chairman.

A/3c Bruce Miller Arrives For Duty

Airman Third Class Bruce E. Miller of Springfield, has arrived here for duty with a Military Air Transport Service unit.

Airman Miller, a special vehicle repairman, came here from an assignment at Seymour-Johnson AFB, N.C. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Miller of 13 Hemlock Terr.

Library Trustees Make Appointment

Springfield Library Board of Trustees announces the appointment of Mrs. Helen J. Zwigard, to be in charge of the circulation desk. The new library employee began her duties Mon., Jan. 6.

Mrs. Zwigard is a graduate of St. Elizabeth's College and has done graduate work in history at Columbia University. She has a background of teaching experience, acquired at West Side High School, Newark, and of community service in Millburn. She was assistant girl scout leader for several years, served on the Organization Committee for recruiting scout leaders, and worked with a church group.

A resident of Short Hills 13 years, Mrs. Zwigard lives with her husband, Rudolph, at 25 Baltusol Way there. They have two daughters, one married and the other a student in nursing.
