Building a 'command structure'

By Cheryl Hehl
Staff Writer

SPRINGFIELD — The Union County Prosecutors Office stepped in to oversee the township police department last week after the municipality asked for help with restructuring efforts.

Union County Prosecutor Theodore J. Romankow appointed Captain Carl Riley as acting officer in charge of the Springfield Police Department, but it was not a takeover of the department.

"This will ensure the cohesiveness and stability in the Police Department to ensure public safety," the prosecutor said, stressing their goal is to begin a search for new leadership in the department.

According to Township Administrator Anthony Cancro, he made the call June 23 after the governing body decided not to appoint Capt. Peter Davis, the officer in charge since April 1, as acting chief.

"This was not a takeover, but an assumption of authority," Cancro said, explaining that without a leadership structure in place, the Prosecutor's Office can provide the most independent evaluation of the department.

Cancro believes the evaluation process will take months rather than weeks, but in the end the township will have a solid leadership base in place.

Mayor Ziad Shehady said late last week that he had been in touch with the Prosecutor's Office for months about the lack of leadership in the department and how it could best be resolved.

The mayor and majority of the Township Committee still believe the answer to all of the HILLSIDE — Changes to the township's budget calendar have sparked disagreement among local officials. Preparations are underway to shift operations from a fiscal year to a calendar year, a move opposed by Mayor Joseph Menza and a portion of the Township Council.

The change is intended to stabilize collection of taxes and the distribution of tax bills, which have been late consistently in Hillside for several years.

Councilman John Kulish said a calendar year budget allows residents and officials to better anticipate budget needs and help eliminate the need to send out estimated and late bills.

"It gives us a smoother quarterly send out," said Kulish. "It's fiscally more responsible."

Councilwoman Shelley Bates does not support the change to the schedule, which she said was not adequately discussed.

DERMATOLOGY & LASER CENTER

A RASH OF CONCERN

The painful skin rash known as "shingles" is caused by the varicella zoster virus (VZV), the same virus that causes chickenpox. After recovery from chickenpox, the VZV remains in the body and may return years later to cause shingles. When it does return, there may be pain, itching, or tingling where the rash will develop, followed by the rash on one side of the face or body. The rash, which begins as blisters that scab after three to five days, will clear within two to four weeks. One in five people experiences severe pain that can continue even after the rash clears.

The medications acyclovir, valacyclovir, and famciclovir can be used to treat shingles as soon as the rash appears.

At our practice, we provide evaluation and treatment for a variety of conditions affecting the skin, hair, and nails. We offer a full range of dermatology services from general to specialized care. Whether you have questions about your skin's health or are looking for a new way to improve your appearance.

Call 908-925-8877. I am conveniently located at 822 North Wood Ave, Linden. New patients welcome.

P.S. Usually a person will only get shingles once in his or her lifetime, if at all. Or rare occasions, however, a second or third round of shingles can occur.

COAH may soon be a thing of the past

By Cheryl Hehl
Staff Writer

The following is the first in a series of articles examining COAH.

Just the mention of the Council on Affordable Housing may cause residents of some towns to cringe. However, if Gov. Chris Christie has his way, that type of reaction could eventually be just a memory.

When Christie recommended eliminating COAH and repealing the Fair Housing Act in early May, there was a collective sigh of relief in many Union County towns from both taxpayers and elected officials.

"This is about getting Trenton...out of the business of telling people how many units they're supposed to have — some arbitrary, ridiculous formula that nobody could ever explain," Christie said in early May.

The proposed legislation immediately was hailed by municipal officials but ridiculed by affordable housing advocates. The advocates feared the state would return to practices occurring before the Supreme Court's Mount Laurel decision, which determined that poor residents in a town should be given an opportunity to live in an affordable home. Earlier in the year Christie signed an executive order freezing enforcement of COAH's affordable housing regulations for 90 days.

"The message to municipalities is that their COAH nightmare is over and we're going to move towards making sure that development gets in the hands of local municipalities to make these kinds of decisions," Christie said when he announced the order Feb. 9.

The full New Jersey Senate passed a bill 28-3 last week that will completely change how the state provides affordable housing. Now, the measure goes on to the assembly for its approval. Bill sponsor Sen. Raymond Lesniak, D-Union, said if the bill passes the full assembly, it moves to Christie, who has said publicly he will sign it.

The bill will affect towns like Cranford, which not only has struggled with trying to fulfill their obligation in a town with little or no vacant land but faced the scourge of developers and COAH because they were not meeting their obligation under the law.

Under COAH, each municipality must offer a specific amount of housing for low and moderate income people. That formula is based on the land available, the land that is able to be developed and the number of housing units already in the community.

Cranford, in the past, did not agree with COAH requirements because it included property along the Garden State Parkway, railroad and athletic fields. This ultimately led to lawsuits by developers who felt affordable housing was lacking or missing entirely.

Currently, the township is facing two "builder's remedy" lawsuits by developers, S. Hekemian Group and Lehigh Acquisitions. Both maintain the township failed to meet the affordable housing requirements and are challenging the township in court.

Should either developer be successful in their lawsuits, the township planning and zoning restrictions already in place would be suspended and they would be able to move forward with their development projects.

As the lead agency that has guided housing development across the state for the past 25 years, COAH has been the dominant force statewide in mandating exactly what a town's affordable housing obligation should be, regardless of whether they have the land to build affordable housing units or not.

One provision in Lesniak's bill uses architecture as a means of determining a town's affordable housing obligation. This would allow a town like Cranford or Summit to use their town's percentage of single-family, attached homes as a factor in determining the town's affordable housing obligation.

The bill also would give municipalities more control over meeting their affordable housing obligations, and end COAH.

Four schools among 'most challenging' Newsweek rates schools based on different criteria

By Cheryl Hehl
Staff Writer

Cranford, Clark, Springfield and Summit high schools have been named in Newsweek Magazine's "Most Challenging High Schools in the United States."

Only 67 schools in New Jersey out of a total of 1,623, or 6 percent of the nation's schools, actually met Newsweek's unusual criteria that is not based on the usual test scores but how hard school staff work to challenge students with Advanced Placement college level courses and tests.

However, while test scores do not enter into the picture, the number of students taking advanced placement tests does figure significantly. Newsweek decided not to include passing rates because they found most American high schools "kept those rates artificially high by allowing only top students to take the courses," or in some instances, opened the courses to all but encouraged only the best students to take the tests.

Summit ranked 500 on the list and first in the county, which came as a surprise to Superintendent of Schools Nathan Parker who was not even aware that Summit high school had received the ranking by Newsweek. However, he did feel that the staff's efforts to go beyond the call of duty to help students was an important factor.

"They go way beyond before and after school," he said, adding that the high school staff is also diligent and engaged with students and present a rigorous curriculum that is challenging to students.

Cranford came in second in the county, ranking 534 on the national list, which is higher than last year when they were 568th on the list. Superintendent of schools Gayle Carrick was honored that Cranford High School was on the list again this year, pointing out some of the challenging programs that set this school apart from others.

"We make great efforts to personalize the education of individual students," she said, citing particularly the University program, which is a school within a school.

The four-year program allows students to pursue their own academic interests, including music, dancing, medical and environmental programs. Last year, students involved in the University program actually observed a kidney transplant, were involved in an aquatic workshop in South Jersey and met with United Kingdom's Prime Minister Tony Blair.

Newsweek mentions that studies by the United States Department of Education in 1999 and 2005 showed that the best predictors of college graduation were not good high school grades or test scores but whether or not a student had an intense academic experience in high school.

In fact, in the latest study, even low-performing, low-income students who received a score of two on an AP test, did significantly better in college than similar students who did not take AP in high school.

Springfield placed 934th on the list nationwide or fourth in Union

Mountainside school officials in search of new board member

By Paul Greulich
Staff Writer

MOUNTAINSIDE — School officials are on the hunt for a new board member following the unexpected resignation of Jorge Batista in the middle of his first term.

District Superintendent Jeanette Baubles said she understands Batista's June 9 resignation was a result of his impending move out of the borough.

Vice President Cathy Jakositz said Batista will be missed by his colleagues on the board.

Jakositz said she hopes a new member can be secured in a timely manner, as an empty seat on the board could prove a hindrance to making decisions.

"It was recent so at this point it hasn't created any negative impact on the board and the decisions we had to make," Jakositz said.

Persons interested in the position must mail a letter of interest to the board offices by July 15. Letters will be reviewed and 30-minute public interviews will be scheduled for July 20. Baubles said she was not aware of any interest in the position yet, but noted the opening was only announced recently.

"I haven't seen anything come in yet in the way of letters of interest, but since it was the last week of school people have probably been tied up with other things," Baubles said.

More details on the application process can be found at www.mountainsideschools.org.

UCPO to oversee Springfield PD

Springfield Police Department's woes is the hiring of a public safety director who would oversee police, fire and emergency management.

Earlier this year, the governing body passed a resolution to hire such a director, and had five candidates vying for the position. However, in the end they decided not to move forward with the change because of mounting problems with the police department's leadership.

Deputy Mayor Bart Fraenkel, in favor of appointing Davis acting chief, was not happy with the outcome of the meeting during which Davis' appointment was rejected.

"I don't understand why he was not appointed, he was doing everything a chief does for the last several months," the deputy mayor said.

The mayor, though, felt that Davis had only been the officer in charge since April 1 and that was just not enough time to ensure stability in the department.

The following morning, Davis resigned from the force, confused that he did not receive the support of the committee.

This left the department on very shaky ground since there was not one officer on the 38-man force above the rank of sergeant to assume the role of officer in charge.

The lack of senior officers seems to have occurred for several reasons, including the fact Chisholm did not make any promotions during the last months of his tenure and the township opted to eliminate the rank of police lieutenant in 2006 to cut costs.

Shehady said the decision reached by the governing body was based on doing what is best for the entire department.

"I did not want us to rush to judgement on this," the mayor said, pointing out that there were several officers who expressed interest in the acting chief position.

"If we don't do things fairly and go through the right channels, then we are wrong," Shehady said.

The mayor also noted that Davis received a rice notice, which is legally required if the governing body is going to discuss an employee's position.

"He had an opportunity to come to that meeting and he chose not to do that," the mayor said.

Davis said he felt the committee was retaliating against him because he gave deposition for former police officer, Walter Brooks, who brought a discrimination lawsuit against the township.

Shehady flatly denied the allegation.

"Nothing could be further from the truth," the mayor said. "The truth is we just were not ready to make the decision."

"This is not a bad thing, it's what we need right now," he said.

The problems go back several years to when the department no longer had confidence in former longtime chief William Chisholm, who retired the end of March. The former chief, who served as the department leader since 1986, lost the support of the ranks due to lack of leadership, communication and support.

The Police Benevolent Association eventually passed an official vote of no confidence in Chisholm last fall, citing in a press release that "the chief has been unresponsive or flat-out dismissive of our concerns."

By April 1, Chisholm had retired along with his deputy. Davis stepped into the officer in charge position with the hope that he would be named acting chief in the near future. Although Davis put his resignation in last week, he later decided to stay until the department is on sure footing.

"I'm not going to abandon the town like the former chief and deputy chief did," Davis said, adding that he took over the position of officer in charge without any help or instruction.

Meanwhile, Romankow assures that the township police force is adequate.

"We did not take over the police department because of the lack of ability with its police officers," the prosecutor said, pointing out that the problem remains a lack of "command structure."

Debate continues over decision to change budget calendar

"It seems to me there was a rush to go from a fiscal to calendar year without the necessary due diligence to determine the pros and cons of doing so," Bates said.

Menza initially vetoed the plan, which he said was actually intended to hide a $926,000 emergency appropriation passed on June 22 to make up for budget shortfalls.

"The game was to hide those costs with the surplus they would generate in the next six months from state aid," Menza said. "All it does is put a Band-Aid on a hemorrhage."

A vote taken by the council at a special meeting last week passed by a 4-2 vote in favor of overturning the veto, with Councilman Gerald Freedman absent. Bates has doubts about the legitimacy of this vote. According to Bates, communications from the state Department of Community Affairs indicates five votes are required to override the veto.

Lisa Ryan, a spokeswoman for the DCA, said a two-thirds majority of the full governing body is required to override a mayor's veto.

Bates said the outcome of the vote remains in question pending a legal opinion from Township Attorney Christine Burgess.

Burgess did not return repeated calls for comment. Kulish was confident they don't need the full council's vote on the subject, an opinion he said the state seems to support, having accepted a transitional budget prepared by CFO Marie Pardo and the Finance Committee.

"So far the state has accepted it," Kulish said.

This budget will see the township through its final six months as a fiscal-year town until the change takes effect. However, there is also disagreement about this issue.

Menza said the preparation of the budget is the duty of the mayor, not the CFO or council. Kulish said Menza had the opportunity to review the budget, but Menza denies involvement in the process.

"I had no part in it, I had no knowledge of it and my name had better not be on it," said Menza of the transitional budget.

He is in the process of producing a fiscal year budget for the township.

Bates said the change in fiscal schedule may have repercussions the public is not adequately aware of. She said she was informed a change in the calendar year will have an impact on the taxes of property owners, but the CFO and Finance Committee would not disclose the specifics.

"It was just put on the agenda and it was voted on," she said.

The budget is expected to be discussed at the township reorganization meeting tonight at 6 p.m.

Town votes down helipad proposal

By Paul Greulich
Staff Writer

SUMMIT — After almost a year of contentious meetings, a proposal to construct a helicopter landing pad atop Overlook Hospital has been voted down by the city's Zoning Board.

The June 21 vote was 6-1 against the project. Board Chairman George MacLean declined to comment on the subject.

The addition of a helipad at the facility was primarily intended to aid in the timely treatment of stroke victims by reducing transport time as well as the need for ground ambulance services.

Medical Director of Neuroscience at Overlook John Halperin, who stressed that time is of the essence when treating strokes, said he was disappointed with the outcome though he appreciates all the time, energy and effort the board put into the process over the past year and understands the concerns of the residents.

"We think it's disappointing with respect to the patients for whom we're trying to get the best treatment possible," Halperin said.

Resistance to the proposal came from citizens concerned about the impact of the helipad on their lives, particularly their property values and the noise disturbances associated with the aircraft.

Area resident Andy Gottesman said the board took note of "overwhelming evidence" that the helipad would negatively affect the safety and quality of life of the old, sensitive neighborhood that is densely packed around the hospital.

"We are happy the Zoning Board saw this was a detriment to the community and decided our community was important enough to protect," Gottesman said.

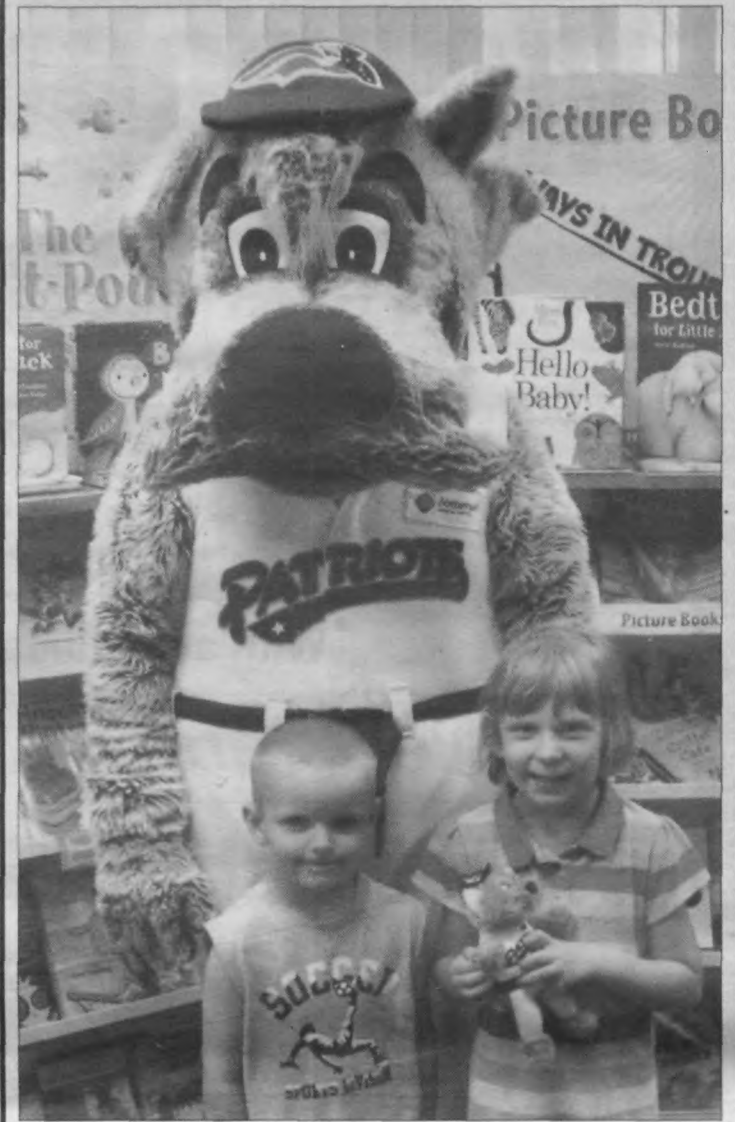

At present, helicopters bearing patients bound for the hospital are forced to use such improvised landing sites as Memorial Field or the parking lot of the municipal pool, where local police and fire personnel must work to safely clear the area. A report from City Planner Eileen Banyra indicated a minimum of two variances would be required if the application was approved — one for the proposed structure's height and a second for a conditional use as the application did not meet all of the conditional use requirements reflected in city ordinance.

Attorney John DeLaney, who represented several objecting residents during the application, was pleased with the outcome of the long-running application.

"It was an exciting night," DeLaney said. "It was a long road. The board is to be commended for the tremendous patience they exercised."

DeLaney praised the board for keeping the proceedings organized, and weighing both sides equally. "It really shows the beauty of democracy," he said.

A 'spark' of knowledge

Somerset Patriots mascot, Sparky, recently visited Cranford Public Library to help kick off the library's children's summer reading program, which is open to children who live or attend school full-time in Cranford. The program, which includes weekly prizes and a carnival, runs through Aug. 11. The deadline to register is July 17.

KEEP HOT DOGS COOL

The dog days of summer have a different meaning for pet owners. Take some precautions to keep dogs from becoming overheated, dehydrated, and sunburned. Dogs aren't as efficient at regulating their heat as humans are, and despite their fur, they are susceptible to skin cancer. Owners of double-coated dogs such as the chow chow can have their pet's fur trimmed down to a comfortable summer coat. (Never shave a dog down to the skin as this leaves little protection from the sun.) Since dogs cool themselves by panting, be sure plenty of fresh, cool drinking water is available, and on extra hot days, try setting up a small pool for the dog to wade in.

Heat stroke is a dangerous condition that takes the lives of many animals every year. Dogs are no exception. There are steps you can take to monitor any possible condition and prevent it from occurring. Overheating often leads to heat stroke. As a pet owner, you should know the dangers of overheating and what to do to prevent it. At T.L.C. PET DOCTOR, we have the experience and the knowledge to treat your pet. Come to 1326 Stuyvesant Ave., Union, or call 908.686.7080 with any questions or to schedule an appointment. We will always do our best to keep your pet healthy with the most up to date care. Hillside business pleads guilty to theft

A Hillside business pleaded guilty June 16 to a theft charge after it overbilled Union County by nearly $60,000, First Assistant Prosecutor Al Cernadas said.

Michael Serillo, president of New Jersey Door Works entered the plea on behalf of the company Cernadas said. New Jersey Door Works admitted that between April 2005 and December 2007 it overbilled the county for work and materials in the amount of $59,695.41.

The company pled guilty to a 3rd degree theft by deception charge and under the agreement will be prohibited from conducting business with the county in the future, said Cernadas.

The Prosecutor's Office launched an investigation after a former employee of New Jersey Door Works who alleged improprieties on the billing practices of the company.

The plea and sentencing were held simultaneously before Union County Superior Court Judge Stuart Peim.

During sentencing, New Jersey Door Works paid full restitution to the county, Cernadas added.

Assistant Prosecutor William Kolano handled the case. Cernadas thanked Prosecutor's Office Detective Cassie Kim for her diligent and hard work on this case over the last several months.

County and 27th in the state.

None of this is a surprise to Springfield Superintendent of Schools Michael A. Davino, who knows firsthand that challenging a student beyond what they believe they can achieve is critical.

"Parents and students need to understand that going to our high school is not going to be a walkover but rather that they will be challenged to reach for the highest goals and beyond," he said.

Davino also knows that teenagers do not always push themselves beyond what they believe they can achieve and that is where this superintendent believes staff can, and do, make a difference.

"When former students return and tell me they are succeeding in college because of the education they received here in Springfield, that is what it's all about," Davino said.

This is not the first time a school Davino has been associated with has been on the list. When he was principal of a Port Richmond, Staten Island high school it was ranked 75th in the entire country by Newsweek.

Springfield Board of Education President Irwin Sablosky was very proud of the honor, especially when much of the news about education has been limited to dollars and cents in recent months.

"It is refreshing to be able to take a step back and recognize the commitment of our students in taking these difficult courses and the dedication of our teachers in continuing to provide a challenging learning environment for our kids," he said.

Davino also believes that the opening of the Dayton Collegiate Academy for the 2010-11 school year, builds on the solid educational foundation that has been established in the Springfield school district.

"Our students are challenged in every way by their teachers and the result is they achieve beyond their expectations," the superintendent said. Clark's Arthur L. Johnson High School came in at 1,507 on Newsweek's list, but the superintendent did not return calls by presstime.

Celebrate independence

On Sunday, towns will be busy with festivities in celebration of Independence Day. Families and friends will gather for picnics and barbecues at parks, fairgrounds or town squares. Finally, in the evening, the skies will be filled with fancy fireworks as we celebrate our independence.

This holiday recognizes the day our nation officially declared its independence from Great Britain. Although it is generally believed the delegates of the Second Continental Congress signed the Declaration of Independence on July 4, 1776, the majority didn't do so until Aug. 2, 1776.

In fact, one delegate, Thomas McKean of Delaware, didn't sign the document until 1781. After it had been signed, the Declaration of Independence was officially read in Philadelphia's Independence Hall on July 8, 1776, as well as in Trenton and Easton, Pa.

On Independence Day each year, we celebrate the freedoms for which our ancestors fought and died. In the words of that famous document, "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." As our armed forces fight to preserve that freedom in nations around the world, we are reminded each day how precious are these truths.

Last week, a pamphlet that listed what local towns have planned to celebrate the Fourth of July was included inside each of our newspapers. If fireworks are being offered, a map on the pamphlet depicted where these would be taking place. We encourage residents to join with their neighbors in celebrating Independence Day by taking part in whatever festivities their community has to offer. For more information, contact your local clerk's office, town hall or recreation department.

And finally, remember that fireworks are for your viewing pleasure, but they can still be quite dangerous. Always keep a safe distance from fireworks displays and leave their lighting and handling to professionals.

Fly the flag and have a happy Independence Day.

Taking a slightly different route

Mike Dantuono has probably appeared in more performances of "42nd Street" than any other actor. The Fanwood resident was there for the original production as well as the revival.

Over a 10-year period, on and off, he has performed the two key parts of Pat Danning and Julian Marsh on stages from New York to Japan and a lot of places in between.

Sitting over coffee last week with Dantuono in Westfield, you quickly appreciate the deep voice from a guy who looks about 20 years younger than his bio indicates. He should be teaching a course for young actors about casting calls, agents and as he calls it, "the different routes people take to Broadway."

The actual route he takes includes leaving Union County around 5:30 p.m. most evenings to make the half-hour call required of all performances before each show.

Dantuono has made the half-hour calls in his performances in plays including "Three Musketeers," "Zorba," "Can-Can," "Caesar and Cleopatra" and of course, "42nd Street."

He was raised in Providence, Rhode Island and his family was in the contracting business. He was an engineering student at the University of Rhode Island who said, "I found out I could sing while waiting on tables, working my way through college." His route included a stint in the Navy and the usual time at open calls, casting calls and calls set up by aggressive agents.

The guy's perspective on the world of Broadway is amazing. He has ventured into an interesting sideline combining his love for the theater and his considerable skills as a photographer. At the upscale shop that surrounds the theatre district the "MD" logo on postcards of marquees of the hit plays reflect his skills. The shots are sought from everyone from play-backers to tourists.

The broad smile appears on his face, when told about this corner's enthusiasm for the revival of "Promises Promises." He quips "I worked with Kristin Chenowich before she was Kristin Chenowich"

The verse from that play "No one can tell what the future may bring" applies to Dantuono. He talks about a fellow actor who just got a choice role in a new production because he looked "just right for the part." Considering the talent and just plain nice guy that Dantuono is, you have to believe like the song in the revival says "happiness is just around the corner way waiting" for him.

Census numbers — not too good

Quietly last week, with little fanfare, the U.S. Census Bureau released its 2009 "estimates." Their figures represent the final population counts before the 2010 Census are released which is used to allocate seats in Congress and distribute an array of government funding.

To their credit, the county has been closely following the numbers. Secondly, our local communities are not doing enough to get the accurate count.

The population estimates reveal an interesting profile on the County. Our county growth pegged at 0.74 percent is significantly less than the state's increase number of 3.5 percent. Yet the percentage of county people younger than 5 years old and female residents are actually higher than state averages. Our growth in Hispanic population at 26 percent far outpaces the state average of 16.3 percent. The black and Hispanic population together makes up a projected 49 percent of Union County's population.

The numbers can be fun. In the last year, the Clark population has increased by 117 people. Hillside is up 136. Rahway has seen a lot of action, jumping 417. Union, despite its size, is up a dinky 335.

What isn't fun is the belief of most experts of gross undercounts in our urban areas. There is still time left, but the fear is that for yet another decade we will be grossly undercounted. That's a route we should avoid taking.

An attorney, Frank Capece is a resident of Cranford.

Celebrate Fourth of July in safety

Fireworks are a spectacularly beautiful way to celebrate America's Independence. They can be exciting, festive and fun but it is important to remember that fireworks are also dangerous.

Despite the fact that fireworks are illegal in New Jersey and many other states, some people still put themselves and others at risk of using them during private celebrations. These dangerous items involve fire and explosions that can do great damage to people and property.

The most recent statistics from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention show that nearly 10,000 people a year are treated in U.S. emergency rooms for fireworks-related injuries. Between 2000 and 2008 fireworks killed 67 people according to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission.

Most importantly, we need to keep our children safe as we mark our nation's birthday. Almost half of all fireworks-related injuries happened to young people. While firecrackers are associated with the greatest number of injuries even the seemingly harmless sparkler is incredibly dangerous. Sparklers, which burn at more than 1,000 degrees, account for one-third of the injuries to children younger than 5 years old.

Several towns in Union County are hosting fireworks shows this Fourth of July weekend. These community events are the perfect opportunity for you and your family to safely enjoy a spectacular fireworks show celebrating Independence Day. Leave the fireworks to the professionals and enjoy the holiday.

With the arrival of the Fourth of July, summer is in full swing and it is a good time to think about other ways to enjoy the warm months safely.

There is plenty of fun to be had in the sun but remember you have to protect yourself and the kids from harmful rays. The best line of defense against the sun is covering up. Wear a hat, sunglasses and light clothing. And don't forget the sunscreen.

We also need to take it easier on those very hot and humid days. Don't over do it outdoors and drink plenty of water.

And if you are trying to keep cool by the pool remember the possible dangers. Never leave children alone in or near the pool, even for a moment. Also make sure pool gates open out from the pool and self-close and self-latch at a height children can't reach.

When the kids are heading out for a bike ride, check to make sure they will be cycling in a safe area away from traffic. Your child needs to wear a helmet on every bike ride, no matter how short or how close to home. Children learn best by observing you. Set the example: whenever you ride, put on your helmet.

We all need to take a moment now and then and make sure we didn't forget about something important like basic safety. If we all do our part, we can ensure everyone has a fun and safe summer. Happy Independence Day.

Ralph Froehlich is the sheriff of Union County.

Show your patriotic pride

To the Editor:

With the July 4 holiday approaching us, this day represents many things to many people, including family barbecues, picnics, fireworks, the start of a long weekend vacation from work, swimming pools to cool off, a trip perhaps to the Jersey shore or whatever our celebration intentions may be.

July 4 represents the freedom and independence that we, as veterans, have fought for, and ask our fellow Americans to bear in mind the many sacrifices that were made to achieve independence and not take the privileges we share today for granted.

I, as a fellow legionnaire and a VFW member, would like to see every member of your family, your post, your neighbors and all the business establishments in our community hoist the American flag and display its colors during this patriotic holiday to show the world we are proud to be American.

'Uncalled for' behavior

To the Editor:

I believe I was just thrown out of a freeholder meeting for leaving the meeting. I did not attempt to disrupt the proceedings in any way — I simply got up from my seat and quietly exited the meeting. See the video tape. This behavior by a freeholder and the chairman is wrong on so many different levels that I hardly know where to begin in expressing my anger at my elected officials.

I go the Union County freeholder meetings twice a month to speak for the allotted two-to-five-minute portions of the meeting when comments are heard from the audience. I am polite, respectful, and contain my comments to the items on the agenda. This evening, I was verbally assaulted by Freeholder (Bette Jane)

Kowalski for simply leaving the meeting, nothing more. This, after the board was just lectured by a Union County citizen for not affording its citizens the respect they are due. I challenged Freeholder Kowalski and Chairman (Daniel) Sullivan for an immediate apology for behavior unbecoming their positions. I did not receive the requested apology but was instructed by Chairman Sullivan to leave — as he instructed the officer to escort me from the meeting. But I was leaving.

Since when is it a crime to leave a meeting? And why was I singled out? For by the time I decided to leave, a third of the audience had already left. Shame on you both. I believe I am entitled to an apology for behavior unbecoming an elected official. Chairman Sullivan, Freeholder Kowalski, you should be better than what I saw tonight. This is not grade school. If I was disruptive, flailing my arms, causing a scene yes I should've been asked to leave. But to be singled out by Freeholder Kowalski for quietly leaving the meeting was uncalled for.

The way I see it, the Freeholders should be grateful for any participation in my government from their constituents. I am one of a half dozen concerned citizens from a population of over 400,000 that faithfully makes the trip to Elizabeth twice a month to participate in my government. Sorry if you don't like it when I question: $600,000 for a dog park, $500,000 to purchase a half acre residential parcel of land in Cranford, a vote to close ORGC for losing $400,000 and then spend ten times that for building an homage to golf at GH, and vote to raise our taxes 4.3 percent, without a single cut to the budget.

My only question this evening was to ask for an explanation of the bidding process. My intent was to question why it is that we spend thousands of dollars on an outside consultant to assess the county's needs on a request for payment, publicly bid it, and then have to come back to the taxpayers for additional monies time and again for items not in the original specifications. The way I see it we had two contracts here. One with the well paid consultant to write the specification and the other with the bidder to provide the items requested. One of the two is short-changing the county. Or is it negligence on the part of the county employee who is responsible for the request for bid to know what should be in or out of the proposal? All reasonable questions. This behavior doesn't fly in the private sector where each is held accountable.

Freeholders, once again, you have slipped below the bar of acceptable behavior warranted by your positions. Your contempt for your electorate is yet again unmasked.

I also suspect that after I left, not a one of the other freeholders on the board showed the backbone to question what just occurred. Shame on you all; for by association and your sin of omission, you all convict yourselves.

An unsafe situation

To the Editor:

I read your recent story about drivers in Springfield having to put on brakes when coming up the pedestrians at intersections. If that was the only fault of local drivers we would be very lucky.

I live on Rose Avenue, Springfield — a usually quiet, one block-long suburban street. However, during events at Jonathan Dayton High School — like the recent graduation — the “overflow” parking from the high school winds up on our street — blocking access to residents’ property in some instances.

The other night, while trying to take my car off the street and put it in my driveway I was almost struck head on by not one — but two motorists in too much of a hurry to even stop — one was chatting his fool head off on a cellphone. I have reported this to Board of Education and township officials, who told me Dayton parents were specifically sent letters telling them parking was available at the Ruby Field lot. They either ignored their letters, did not tell their guests or the guests chose to ignore what they were told.

A warning to parents of 2011 Dayton graduates — around graduation time next year I will be requesting that Springfield police patrol Rose Avenue and ticket anyone who looks like they are blocking driveways and/or driving recklessly.

Summit library sees increase in popularity

“Don’t leave home without it.” Summit residents have been following the advice of the old TV commercial, but the card that they’re carrying isn’t a charge card or credit card — it’s a library card.

According to Library Director Glenn Devitt, 88 percent of Summit residents over the age of five are registered for a card from Summit Free Public Library.

Those library cards aren’t sitting untouched in wallets and purses — they’re being used more than ever before.

DVDs and Young Adult materials have been especially popular, Devitt reported, but the library is seeing increased circulation in every area including magazines, children’s books, adult fiction and nonfiction, large print books, audiobooks, and music compact discs.

The Summit library is located at 75 Maple St. The telephone number is 908-273-0350. The library’s catalog is available online at www.summitlibrary.org.

County police round up deadbeat dads

Officers from the Union County Sheriff's Office and Union County Prosecutor's Office arrested more than three dozen men across Union County on warrants for unpaid child support.

The June 22 arrests involved teams of officers making pre-dawn raids that resulted in a total of 38 arrests, all without incident. The officers cleared 52 warrants totalling just more than $1 million owed in back child support.

"Once again, I am proud of the professionalism of these officers who can safely apprehend these men so they can face their responsibilities," said Union County Sheriff Ralph Froehlich.

The post-Father's Day roundup of deadbeat dads is part of a statewide effort to apprehend those who owe back child support.

Mason to head NJ Police Chiefs Assn.

By Paul Greulich
Staff Writer

CRANFORD — The township's very own police chief, Eric Mason, has stepped into the role of president of the New Jersey State Association of Chiefs of Police, effective last Wednesday.

Mason, who was elected to the association's executive board in 2005, said he pursued the position of leadership out of a desire to contribute.

"I've always felt it was important not just to belong to an organization but to contribute to it," Mason explained. "I felt I could be most effective as a member of the executive committee of the association."

Director of the New Jersey Association of Chiefs of Police Mitchell Sklar did not return calls for comment.

The executive board is comprised of several positions that members work their way through until they qualify as president, a position that carries a one-year term. Chief Robert Coulton of Ewing previously served as president.

Mason will lead the association's efforts to enhance and expand the many training programs it runs for law enforcement professionals.

"One of our most important goals is development not just of chiefs of police but personnel and their departments as a whole," Mason said.

Mason, a native of Cranford who joined the local police force in 1977, previously served as president of the Union County Association of Chiefs of Police.

Linden Police Chief Michael Boyle, who is the treasurer of the Union County Association of Chiefs of Police, is confident the association will be well-served by Mason's leadership.

"They couldn't have picked a greater guy for that position," Boyle said.

Boyle attended the Union County Police Academy with Mason and both joined their respective departments in 1977. He spoke highly of his colleague's abilities as a leader.

"He's going to do an outstanding job," Boyle said. "Obviously, he's going to carry on the standards of the association but I think he'll improve it."

Mason said foremost among his goals as president is to help ensure that law enforcement continues to provide quality service despite the financial constraints being experienced in New Jersey.

"We'll be working very hard to maintain professionalism in departments throughout the state," Mason said.

There is a bank which has never changed its name since it was chartered in 1883. A bank which has never missed an interest payment in its 127th - year history. There is a bank whose traditional values have made it one of the safest and strongest banks in the United States - a bank which has withstood the march of time.

That bank is Union County Savings Bank.

Mr. Golub completed his bachelor's and master's degrees in music education at New York University in 1954 and went on to do doctoral work at Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind., in 1963. He served in the Army from 1955 to 1957.

Mr. Golub's teaching career included two years in the West New York public schools, after which he took a job in 1959 at Kawameeh Middle School in Union and remained there until 1963. He and his wife of 48 years, artist Ina Rudman Golub, were members of Temple Emanu-El, Westfield. They both went to Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind., for post graduate work in the fall of 1963, where they studied through the summer of 1965. Mr. Golub studied with pianist Sidney Foster and coached voice students under Metropolitan Opera singer, Margaret Harshaw, while he pursued his doctoral work.

He came to Kean University, then Newark State College, Union, in the fall of 1965 and remained there as one of the university's "most beloved professors" until his retirement in 2004. In 1979, Mr. Golub received the "Teacher of the Year" award and in 1980, the university's yearbook was dedicated in his honor. In his early years, he helped shape the music program and developed the music major. During his tenure as music chair, 1972 to 1981, there were no fewer than 120 music majors, eight full time faculty and many adjunct instructors from major musical organizations in New York and New Jersey, such as the Metropolitan Opera and the New York Philharmonic. Mr. Golub was a brilliant pianist and performed the first classical piano recital in the Wilkins Theater on campus shortly after it opened in 1969. He was instrumental in bringing great classical artists, such as Marilyn Home, Yitzhak Perlman, Jessye Norman and the Juilliard String Quartet, to perform at Kean in a concert series started in 1979. Mr. Golub's Wednesday night class, which met weekly for 25 years, is considered legend. 'Centre of the Labyrinth' is a summer must-read

It is not an easy task for a writer to create a large, lengthy novel and entice a reader to sit back and take the time to tirelessly enjoy every chapter, every incident, every character, every word.

That is exactly what Rosetta J. Jamieson of Roselle has accomplished with "Centre of the Labyrinth." Nevermind that it was published in 1985 and again in 2003 by Writers Club Press, an imprint of iUniverse Inc. of Lincoln, Neb. It is Jamieson's first major novel — she has since written several fine books — and it still makes for a lazy summer relaxation reading.

The Caribbean writer and educator, born on the island of Jamaica, has taught English language and literature in the island's secondary school from 1971 to 1977 and was a professor of English language, literature and linguistic studies at Shortwood Teachers' College from 1978 to 1985. In the book, she focuses on her background and draws from her experiences and knowledge. And as a result, she brings forth a riveting story — or stories, if you will — of what life can be like in a poor, nearly poverty-stricken village surrounded by a multi-million pound estate called Paradise Acres.

On The Shelf

By Bea Smith

The consistent struggle of race, class, slavery, love and hope for a better future in Laetonville is coherently dramatized on every page. The interesting language of the villagers, Jamaican-Creole, is charmingly utilized throughout the book, and it is not necessary to turn to the final pages to learn its meaning.

Throughout the book, there is a deep, disturbing mystery hovering above everything that is happening to the romance of two people: Robert Laeton, an "almost white" heir to the estate and Deita Folkes, a fatherless, dark-skinned daughter of an unstable woman, known to the townsfolk as Miss Gatha.

Deita's beauty also entrances an educated teacher, Lloyd Benjamin, an unrecognized relative of the Laetons. Therefore, there is much conflict throughout the book about who is more deserving of the love of Deita. She strives toward a better education and, fortunately, there is a school which Deita attends and a better life for herself and for her disturbed mother.

Jamieson's many characters are strongly, realistically created and a reader finds a motive to sympathize with and befriend them. For example, in addition to the personable Deita, her mother, Agatha, is so mysteriously formidable, particularly when it comes to her daughter's plans to marry Robert, Fred Laeton's son.

Fred Laeton appears to have a deep secret of his own, and even near death, hesitates to unfold it. Then there is Tata Zekel, Agatha's father, a kind, gentle soul, who cannot make peace in the household whenever Robert's name is mentioned.

There is Deita's school teacher,

Mrs. Watson, who attempts to help Deita and her mother; there is Gertrude Laeton, Robert's half-sister, who is hatefully rude to Deita; Miss Fan, Tata Zekel's longtime fiancée, the mother of Zekel's children, who is always there for everyone; Jo-Jo and Amos are the friendly, boisterous cousins; and Dr. Neil Cornelius is a very close friend of the Laeton family.

All of Jamieson's characters appear to have a stronghold on their readers and, apparently, on the author herself.

Even if the summer isn't as lengthy as "Centre of the Labyrinth," the novel comes highly recommended. The better books on the shelf of this reviewer's library happily have moved over to make a generous space for their newest, rather large, friend.

Staff Writer Bea Smith can be reached at editorial@thelocal-source.com or 908-686-7700, ext. 118.

Premier Stages will present 'The Good Counselor'

Premiere Stages, celebrating its sixth year as the professional theatre in residence at Kean University, has announced the premiere of "The Good Counselor," by Kathryn Grant.

"The Good Counselor" is a new drama about a chosen son's quest for truth. A bright, young public defender, hounded by his community and haunted by his past, struggles to defend two neglectful mothers, one his client, the other his own. A thought-provoking and beautifully written play, "The Good Counselor" literally prompts the audience to serve as the jury in determining what it means to be a good parent. The play opens July 15 in the Zella Fry Theatre and continues through Aug. 1. The richly diverse cast features Edward O'Blenis, Erik LaRay Harvey, Susan Louise O'Connor, Socorro Santiago and Geany Masai.

A jury box has been incorporated into the audience seating and patrons who arrive early have the opportunity to sit as jurors to hear Vincent, the young defender, deliver his opening and closing arguments directly to them. It is a fun way for audiences to feel like they are part of the action while watching and considering the unique events surrounding the case.

"The Good Counselor" is the winner of the 2010 Premiere Stages Play Festival and was selected from more than 300 submissions. The festival features "a uniquely accelerated process" in which the region's most promising new plays are developed and fully produced within a year of submission. Playwrights are also afforded the opportunity to retain the coveted "world premiere" brand.

"In many professional theaters, the time-span between meeting a writer, staging a reading and producing the play can be years," notes artistic director John Wooten. "When we discover a dramatist we believe in, our play festival process allows Premiere Stages to fully commit the time, talent and resources necessary to share that writer's work with a broad regional audience."

For reservations or to receive a brochure, call the Kean University Box Office at 908-737-7469, or visit Premiere Stages online at www.kean.edu/premierestages.

All performances take place on the Kean University campus, located at 1000 Morris Ave., Union, in Kean University's Zella Fry Theatre in the Vaughn Eames Building. Saturday and Sunday matinee performances begin at 3 p.m.; Thursday, Friday and Saturday performances begin at 8 p.m.

Premiere Stages offers affordable prices, air-conditioned facilities and free parking close to the theatres.

Premiere Stages provides free or discounted tickets to patrons with disabilities. All Premiere Stages facilities are fully accessible spaces. Call for a list of sign-interpreted, audio-described or open-captioned performances. Assistive listening devices and large print programs are available on request. Publications are available with advanced notice in alternate formats.

Premiere Stages is made possible in part through funding from The New Jersey State Council on the Arts, The Geraldine R. Dodge Foundation, Kean's Quality First Initiative, The Westfield Foundation, The Gleason Family Foundation, The Provident Bank Foundation, and through the generous support of individual patrons.

Susan Preston of Springfield, an art teacher at Oratory Prep School in Summit, was notified that the artwork of three of her students has been selected for state and county honors.

The students' work was judged at the Teen Arts Festival in Union County College in Cranford this spring and selected to tour throughout the county or the state.

The work of Springfield resident Daniel Canziani, 2010 Oratory graduate, has been selected for state honors and will be on display throughout the entire state. His artwork is an intricate, geometrical piece completed in black and white design with a sharpie pen.

The work of sophomore Tim Kelly of Caldwell and freshman Sean Zimmerman of Gladstone has been selected for county honors and will tour throughout Union County.

"I'm always impressed by the caliber of the art work displayed at Teen Arts," Preston said of the recent honor, "and I am so proud when my students' work is worthy of recognition."

Polish Foundation able to inspire

The Skulski Art Gallery of the Polish Cultural Foundation in Clark recently presented a collective exhibit titled "Inspirations" with artists such as Dana Abel, Joanna Balcerek, Malgorzata Gruszka, Ela Maslowski, Marcin Pisarczyk, Maryanne Tursi and Ewa Zeller.

Abel graduated from Warsaw University and studied mathematics. She works for Medco Health Services as system architect. Abel works in pastels and oils and takes private lessons in pastel with Christina Debarry and studies oil painting with Aleksandra Nowak.

She participated in numerous workshops taught by noted artists. In 2006, her work was accepted to the 34th Annual Exhibition at the Pastel Society of America. Abel won several prizes at the Regional Open Juried Art Shows in Ridge-wood Art Institute. Her works can be found in private collections in the United States, as well as Europe and Australia.

In 2003, soon after her arrival from Poland into the United States, Malgorzata Gruszka started art classes with Druch Studio Gallery in Trenton, where she discovered her passion for painting. Currently, Gruszka studies painting with Aleksandra K. Nowak. She is in her third year of the Architecture Program at Temple University and plans to attend the University of Pennsylvania to complete her master's degree. She exhibited at Druch Studio Gallery in Trenton, Skulski Art Gallery in Clark and at the Sloper Wesley House in Britain, Conn.

Ela Maslowski, currently a student at Rutgers University where she studies psychology. She is taking art lessons at Druch Studio, Trenton, and with Aleksandra K. Nowak. Maslowski hopes to combine her love of psychology and art into one career in the future.

Marcin Pisarczyk, born in Poland in 1975, graduated from New Jersey Institute of Technology and studied in the architectural department. Since 2003, he works in the engineering company, Ferreira Group/Noveda Technologies making buildings greener and designing monitoring equipment for renewable energies.

Painting is his passion and his favorite subject is landscape. Pisarczyk studies painting with Aleksandra Nowak.

Since 2003, Pisarczyk has participated in several collective exhibits in New Jersey and Connecticut.

Maryanne Tursi studied at Parson School of Design. She has a bachelor's degree from Fairleigh Dickenson University and one in Italian from Rutgers University. She is also a gemologist, certified by the Gemological Institute of America.

"My passion for nature and the outdoors has directed my focus to painting landscapes. A walk through the woods or a drive along country road is an occasion to visualize painting. A vista becomes my canvass; a cloud or tree becomes colors of paint and brush strokes," said Tursi.

Ewa Zeller, born in Poland in 1998, graduated from Nicolaus Copernicus University in Torun, Poland with degree in museum science and preservation. She completed the program "Monuments Preservation" at Warsaw Polytechnics at the Department of Architecture. Since 2003, she undertook studies of painting with artist such as Ryszard Druch, Louis Russomanno, Aleksandra Nowak and George Perkel.

To visit the gallery, call 732-382-7197 and ask for Karolina, Exhibit Coordinator. To inquire about the gallery, send an e-mail to Aleksandra K. Nowak at aknowak@verizon.net.

HOROSCOPE

July 4 to 10

ARIES, March 21 to April 20: Patience is a virtue, Aries. The best will be in store for you later in the week. There's not much chance for adventure Monday or Tuesday, but things pick up on Wednesday.

TAURUS, April 21 to May 21: Taurus, a good night is in store this week. The night brings rewards you did not expect. Working hard yields more than financial success.

GEMINI, May 22 to June 21: Trust your instincts, Gemini. Someone who seems like they have your best interests at heart really may have ulterior motives. Heed Capricorn's sage advice.

CANCER, June 22 to July 22: Cancer, you may feel like you're the only one keeping the ship from sinking. However, this is not the case. Behind-the-scenes work is taking place, too.

LEO, July 23 to Aug. 23: Leo, it seems as if drama is always following you. That's because you tend to be the life of the party or prefer all eyes be on you. Think about being less conspicuous.

VIRGO, Aug. 24 to Sept. 22: Virgo, it's hard to keep friends if you are overly critical of the way they live their lives. Remember, no one is perfect — including you. Keep an open mind.

LIBRA, Sept. 23 to Oct. 23: Libra, start thinking about curbing your spending. Your finances are in trouble if you don't make some changes. More is going out than is coming into your accounts.

SCORPIO, Oct. 24 to Nov. 22: Scorpio, there's not much you can do about the current situation. Complaining about things won't solve anything, so why waste the breath? Better news is on the horizon.

SAGITTARIUS, Nov. 23 to Dec. 21: You're in over your head, Sagittarius. Too many projects and not enough helpers can leave you feeling overwhelmed. You may want to tackle one thing at a time.

CAPRICORN, Dec. 22 to Jan. 20: Capricorn, new beginnings have arrived and you're excited about all of the prospects. Others may share your joy but not to the extent that you do.

AQUARIUS, Jan. 21 to Feb. 18: Aquarius, it's alright to be cautious with your decisions, but taking much too long could indicate you're not ready for a change. Soon a spouse or partner will grow impatient.

PISCES, Feb. 19 to March 20: It's hard to accept help sometimes, Pisces. But help is what you need right now. Accept it with open arms.

Also born this week: Geraldo Rivera, Huey Lewis, Geoffrey Rush, Michelle Kwan, Kevin Bacon, Fred Savage and Jessica Simpson.

BOOKS

THE BOOK DISCUSSION GROUP OF THE KENILWORTH PUBLIC LIBRARY will meet on July 13 at 7:15 p.m. to discuss "SNOBS," by Julian Fellowes, a contemporary British writer, actor and film director. A comedy of manners, Snoobs follows the story of Edith Lavery, a daughter of the English middle class, as she accepts the marriage proposal of Charles, the Earl Broughton. Add to the mix Charles' suspicious mother, Lady Uckfield, and stir in a television crew with a handsome leading man who have come to Broughton Hall to film a period drama, and you have the recipe for an astutely observed account of the type of head-on collision that still occurs between the English social classes. The Kenilworth library is located at 548 Blvd. For information, visit www.kenilworthlibrary.org.

AYN RAND'S MAGNUM OPUS "ATLAS SHRUGGED" was published in 1957, but its status as a bestseller is seeing another boost since last year's resurgence.

"Atlas Shrugged" is now on the shelves of 1,100 Target stores, demonstrating impressive marketability for a 53-year-old novel. A segment of a recent Glenn Beck program dedicated to the novel has seen the book leap up the Amazon bestseller list. It is currently ranked in the top 20.

"Atlas Shrugged" is a compelling mystery, but it is also a story with a profound and original philosophy that provides answers to the problems we're facing in our world right now. Many people feel inspired after reading the novel, and that is a major reason why the book is still in such high demand.

KENILWORTH PUBLIC LIBRARY is seeking volunteers for the library's first annual LibraryFest, which is scheduled on Aug. 4, in celebration of the conclusion of the library's summer reading program. Adult volunteers wishing to learn about how they can help at this event are invited to join library staff members for a pizza dinner and informational meeting in the library's activity room at 6 p.m. on Monday. Anyone wishing to sign up for the LibraryFest informational meeting must preregister and can do so at the library or by calling 908-276-2451 during regular library hours. The Kenilworth library is located at 548 Kenilworth Blvd., Kenilworth.

Union County performers lead North to football win

By JR Parachini
Sports Editor

UNION — The stars were out Monday night. Many of them were players from Union County who made their presence felt in a big way.

A number of North defensive players from Union County sparked a solid effort that was guided by two Union County head coaches.

The North took it to the South for the second time in three years, with players from Morris and Essex counties also producing.

The North was more-than-convincing in downing the South 17-3 in the 32nd annual New Jersey North-South All-Star Football Classic at Kean University Alumni Stadium.

The North now trails the series 15-14-2 and can tie it once again next year. The North has never led.

There was no game in 2002 because of extended inclement weather right before kickoff.

This was the second straight year the game was held at Kean, with a crowd of 3,000 in attendance. With so many officials in favor of the game now being played at Kean — especially with the close to full house appearance you get there — it appears that the game will remain at Kean and will not return to being played at Rutgers like it was in the past.

North tackle Willie Johnson (6-1, 250) represented Westfield football well, with the North's defensive performance similar to many posted by the Blue Devils during last season's successful 8-3 campaign.

"This was awesome and just a great feeling that we won," Johnson said.

Johnson was one of five First Team All-County players from Union County that started on defense for the North, with the North defensive coordinator being Union head coach Brian Sheridan.

In the 1993 game at Giants Stadium, Sheridan started at linebacker for the North after earning First Team All-State honors at Union.

New Providence head coach Frank Bottone coached the North defensive linemen. He is very much looking forward to his 46th season as the one and only head coach of the Pioneers.

"I enjoyed it," said Bottone, 79, who shows no signs of slowing down. "We did a little adjustment of moving the ends out a little wider. Our tackles — we rotated four guys inside — were very tough."

The other four all-county players from Union County on the North defense included end Akmad Abdul-Razzaq (6-3, 230) of Roselle, end Olsen Pierre (6-5, 270) of Rahway, tackle Mike Watts (6-2, 245) of Summit and tackle Terence Gavin (6-0, 250) of Union.

Thanks to a swarming-of-the-ball effort by those linemen, in addition to end Billy Dobbs (6-5, 250) of East Orange Campus — who was selected the North's Defensive Player of the Game — the North prevented the South from reaching the end zone for the first time in seven years.

It was the first time since the South won 3-0 in 2003 that the South was held to zero touchdowns.

The only points the South scored came on a field goal with 8:38 left in the second quarter as the South went up 3-0.

Dobbs and Olsen were menacing tacklers from their end positions, with Dobbs recording a quarter-back sack. Olsen had a tackle for a four-yard loss and did well to block a punt early in the second quarter.

"The South was talking so much stuff when we were practicing, so it was real good to get this win," Pierre said.

"They were talking all the time."

Pierre will continue at Fork Union Military Academy in Fork Union, Va.

"I'm going to go there for six months, do the best I can and hope I get a D-1 scholarship," said Pierre, who anchored one of the top defensive units in all of North Jersey last fall.

All-Stars impress in a big way for North

"My senior year I missed playing with my friends, but it was the best year I ever had," Pierre said. "I know we didn't make the playoffs - we should have - but it was a good year."

Ray Cetrulo of Nutley tied the game for the North at 3-3 with a field goal just 42 seconds away from halftime.

The North scored the game's only touchdowns in the second half, with quarterback Gavin McCarney of Jefferson completing a TD pass to wide open wide receiver Eddie DeMarchi of Butler in the third quarter and running back Kyle Gayle of Montclair scoring on a one-yard run in the fourth.

Cetrulo's extra point kick was blocked after the North's first touchdown, but he made up for that by catching a deflected pass in the end zone that was intended for another receiver for two points following the North's final TD.

The South was limited to very few yards rushing and could not break contain to either side of the field or up the middle all night long against a physical North defense.

"We practiced hard for this game and we were ready to play," Johnson said.

"I thought this was going to be a high-scoring game," Pierre said. "During practice they were doing the spread, but I knew our defense was going to come through."

"This meant a lot to win the game," Abdul-Razzaq said. "Our defense stepped up to help us win."

A player who was all over the field making tackles for the Roselle Rams, Abdul-Razzaq will continue at North Carolina Tech prep school for one year, with the goal of playing Division 1-A ball the next season.

"I could have gone Division 2, but I really want to be a Division 1 player," Abdul-Razzaq said.

With the North ahead 9-3, Johnson made a couple of tackles that prevented the South from moving the ball forward.

Then North defensive back Marcus Hackett of Montclair Immaculate came up with an interception that he returned to the South one-yard line with 2:52 to go. That standout play set up the North's final score and iced the victory.

North defensive back Jahleel McMillan of Weequahic intercepted a pass with 1:21 remaining.

"We had a good group of kids, it was a good game and they played well," Bottone said. "I think we just outmuscled them after awhile."

South defensive back Leon Jones of Lindenwold had two interceptions in the first half and was the South's Defensive Player of the game.

NOTES: Three players from Union County excelled on offense, with Andrew Tullo (5-10, 220) of New Providence at guard, Matt Cardona of Johnson (6-5, 265) at tackle and Max Machado (5-11, 185) of Gov. Livingston at wide receiver. Tullo, also a standout defensive lineman, was a Second Team All-County selection on defense.

Cardona and Machado were First Team All-County on offense. Cardona was a North offensive captain, while Machado came up with a key reception deep in South territory in the second half.

Springfield Roadrunners claim Red Division title

The Springfield Roadrunners 14-and-under traveling boys' soccer team had a most successful Memorial Day Weekend as it captured the title of Red Division champions - which is the highest level - of the 29th Cougar Invitational Soccer Tournament in South Orange.

Springfield opened the tournament on the Friday night of the weekend with a 2-2 tie against the Thistle FC Kearny Dragons, who were the defending champions.

The Dragons struck first with a goal within the first 90 seconds of the match.

Springfield knotted up the game 20 minutes later on a brilliant cross pass from Danny Micolta to Kevin Castebianco.

The Roadrunners took the lead on a blast from Matthew Pacheco halfway through the second half. With five minutes left Thistle scored to knot up the match.

During the game guest goalkeeper Andrew Shanes kept Springfield within striking distance with 10 saves.

On the Saturday of the weekend the Roadrunners faced the Ironbound Mustangs. Springfield took an astonishing 26 shots on goal and managed to put in eight en route to a commanding 8-1 triumph.

Alberto Montalva and Asmar Johnson netted two goals and Noah Guber, Jason Barreira, Andrew Maldonado and Pacheco one.

In its Sunday semifinal vs. the West Orange Vipers, Springfield edged the Essex County squad by a 1-0 score.

Maldonado scored the game's only goal with four minutes remaining.

The defenseman too the ball three-quarters the length of the field for the game-winning tally. Maldonado made the West Orange goalkeeper commit to his left with a brilliant fake, then deposited the ball to his right corner.

Second quest goalkeeper Luke "Skywalker" Blecker amazingly batted a sure goal off the top crossbar with 10 minutes remaining. He finished with 10 saves in much-needed, solid performance because the Roadrunners managed only five shots.

The Roadrunner defense - comprised of Patrick Zahn, Arrington Joyner-Corniffe, Stephano Gonzaga, Maldonado and guest Reese Petersen - held a team that scored 32 goals during an eight-game schedule this past spring to none.

The Vipers had not scored less than three goals in any of those games. In addition, West Orange had been to the finals in 2009.

The final was a rematch of Friday night's game between Springfield and Thistle FK Kearny. The Dragons scored two quick goals, with the Roadrunners trailing at intermission.

With 18 minutes left in the second half, Zahn - filling in at right midfield - scored his first goal of the spring to close the gap. With 15 minutes left, the coach of the Dragons was double red-carded for continuous arguing of a call. That led to a forfeit of the match.

With the tournament win the Roadrunners moved up to 31st place in the state's team tournament rankings.

Captain Tyler Citrin, Johnny Chumbiauca, Yosuf Salomon, Austin Lopes and Kevin Chabla also contributed to the tournament triumph.

SPRINGFIELD

Explanation: This Ordinance supplements and amends Chapter XX entitled "Sewers," by among other things, establishing the Sewerage Utility of the Township of Springfield. Annual service fees collected by the Sewerage Utility will be used to satisfy the Township's annual service charges from the Rahway Valley Sewerage Authority.

TOWNSHIP OF SPRINGFIELD
ORDINANCE NO. 2010-23

AN ORDINANCE SUPPLEMENTING AND AMENDING CHAPTER XX ENTITLED "SEWERS" OF THE REVISED GENERAL ORDINANCES OF THE TOWNSHIP OF SPRINGFIELD AND ESTABLISHING THE SEWERAGE UTILITY OF THE TOWNSHIP OF SPRINGFIELD.

BE IT ORDAINED, by the Township Committee of the Township of Springfield, County of Union, State of New Jersey, as follows:

SECTION I. Chapter XX entitled "Sewers" of the Revised General Ordinances of the Township of Springfield is hereby further supplemented and amended by creating new Section 20-5 (currently identified as "Reserved") entitled "Sewerage Utility of the Township of Springfield" to read as follows:

20-5 SEWERAGE UTILITY OF THE TOWNSHIP OF SPRINGFIELD.

20-5.1 Established.

Pursuant to the "Local Budget Law," N.J.S.A. 40A:4-1, et seq., a sewerage utility is established in the Township of Springfield, to be known and cited as "The Sewerage Utility of the Township of Springfield" or "Sewerage Utility."

20-5.2 Effective Date.

The Sewerage Utility shall commence as of January 1, 2010 and is retroactive to that date. All sewer bills billed and/or payable commencing January 1, 2010 shall be a credit of the Sewerage Utility.

20-5.3 Budget Revenues.

The Sewerage Utility shall set forth the anticipated revenues from the operation which is set forth in a separate section of the Township budget form as promulgated by the Division of Local Government Service within the State of New Jersey Department of Community Affairs. The annual service charges established by this Section 20-5 are intended to be a direct pass-through for each sewer connection within the Township of Springfield pursuant to and in accordance with the Township of Springfield's agreement with the Rahway Valley Sewerage Authority ("RVSA"). Prior to January 1, 2010, the appropriation and comparable costs and charges relating to the RVSA and all related sewer maintenance costs were included in the current budget of the Township of Springfield. Through the implementation of this Ordinance, the appropriation and costs relating to sewer maintenance and sewerage disposal have been removed from the current operating budget commencing with an effective date of January 1, 2010. Revenues collected by the Sewerage Utility will be used to pay those annual service charges imposed upon the Township of Springfield, by the RVSA for the use of their sewerage system and the treatment of sewage flow into the RVSA sewerage system.

20-5.4 Budget - Appropriations.

The Sewerage Utility budget shall set forth the appropriations in the form and detail prescribed by the regulations of the Division of Local Government Services and shall include, at least:

- Operations;
- Interest and debt requirement; and
- Deferred charges and statutory expenditures.

20-5.5 Accounting Procedures.

The Chief Financial Officer shall be directed and empowered to adopt accounting procedures consistent with this Chapter and the aforesaid statutes relative to the creation of the Sewerage Utility.

20-5.6 Existing Ordinances, regulations and rules.

All currently existing ordinances, regulations and rules relating to sewerage fees, bills and/or other sewerage matters remain in effect until modified by appropriate action of the Township Committee.

20-5.7 Governed by Township Committee.

The Sewerage Utility shall be governed by the Township Committee of the Township of Springfield.

20-5.8 Operation and Conduct of Sewerage Utility.

All matters with respect to the operation and conduct of the Sewerage Utility not determined by this Chapter shall be determined by resolutions or by amendments to this Chapter to be hereafter adopted.

SECTION II: Chapter XX entitled "Sewers" of the Revised General Ordinances of the Township of Springfield is hereby further supplemented and amended by creating a new Section 20-6 (currently identified as "Reserved") entitled "Service Charges" to read as follows:

20-6 SERVICE CHARGES

20-6.1 Annual Service Charge. Except as otherwise exempted as set forth in this Section 20-6, there shall be an annual service charge for each sewer connection based on the uses of the property in accordance with the following schedule:

a. Residential uses - Class "R." Residential units shall consist of single family and multi-family residential units, including condominiums and townhouses; all class 4C apartment complexes, and all Class 15D Parsonages.

b. Residential Rate - the annual service charge for Class "R" residential units (except for residential properties on septic) shall be calculated as follows:
(i) two hundred fifty ($250) dollars per annum for 48,000 gallons or less of water consumed per annum; and
(ii) the per gallon rate adopted annually by Resolution of the Township Committee for each gallon of water consumed in excess of 48,000 gallons per annum.

c. All Class 4C apartment complexes shall be billed at the Residential Rate structure set forth in Section 20-6.1b, above, as follows:
(i) the annualized average flow for each apartment unit will be calculated by dividing the annualized total flow for the entire apartment complex situated on the same lot by the total number of apartment units within that apartment complex; then
(ii) the Residential Rate structure set forth in Section 20-6.1b shall be applied to determine the "per apartment unit cost"; then
(iii) the sewer bill for said apartment complex shall equal the sum of the "per apartment unit cost" multiplied by the number of units within said apartment complex situated on the same lot.

d. The Class 4C apartment complexes in existence within the Township as of the adoption of this Ordinance are identified on Schedule A hereto. Any future Class 4C apartment complexes may be added to said list by Resolution of the Township Committee.

e. All Class 15D "Parsonages" shall be billed at the Residential Rate set forth in Section 20-6.1b, above. The Parsonages in existence as of the adoption of this Ordinance are identified on Schedule "B" hereto. Any future Parsonages may be added to said list by Resolution of the Township Committee.

f. Exempt properties. Specifically exempt from annual sewer service charges are all township-owned properties - Class "15C", including the following:

1. Town Hall and other Township-owned premises of similar use;
2. Rescue squad, fire department, and police department facilities;
3. Department of Public Works facilities;
4. Library; and
5. Parks, public recreational facilities.

g. Business, non-profit, commercial, miscellaneous and industrial uses - Classes 3A/3B, 4A, 4B, 15C (except for Township owned properties), 15D (except Parsonages), 15E and 15F shall be billed at the Non-Residential Rate set forth in subsection 20-6.1j, below.

h. Private educational uses - Class "15B". The annual sewer service charge for property used for private educational purposes shall be the same as Class 3A/3B, 4A, 4B, 15D, 15E and 15F uses and shall be billed at the Non-Residential Rate set forth in subsection 20-6.1j, below.

i. Public educational uses - Class "15A". The annual sewer service charge for property used for public educational purposes shall be the same as Class 3A/3B, 4A, 4B, 15D, 15E and 15F uses and shall be billed at the Non-Residential Rate set forth in subsection 20-6.1j, below.

j. Non-Residential Rate - the annual sewer service charge for all non-residential uses described and detailed in Section 20-6.1f, (except for non-residential properties on septic) shall be calculated as follows:
(i) two hundred fifty ($250) dollars per annum for 48,000 gallons or less of water consumed per annum; and
(ii) the per gallon rate adopted annually by Resolution of the Township Committee for each gallon of water consumed in excess of 48,000 gallons per annum.

k. Where a property is occupied by a combination of types of occupancy, the total sewer service charge shall be determined by applying the usage classification assigned to the property by the Tax Assessor.

l. The Township reserves the right where a private well of water supply is involved, if in its opinion it is deemed desirable, to require the owner to install facilities, at the owners expense, for measuring or determining the volume of sewage discharges into the sanitary sewerage system. The volume thus metered or measured shall be the basis for sewer service charges in accordance with provisions stated elsewhere herein.

m. If there exists no known data available to the Township to ascertain the amount of water consumed by the property owner, there shall be imposed a maximum annual service charge to said property of $25,000, which sum shall take priority over the other charges set forth in this subsection 20-6.1.

n. If a property owner has installed a separate water meter for a pool not flowing into the sewer system and/or a sprinkler system, the water flow from such separate water meter(s) shall not be included in the calculation of the annual sewer service charge; provided, however, that the property owner affords the appropriate Township officials reasonable access to the property to confirm the existence of such separate water meter(s).

o. The Plumbing Sub-Code Official, Assistant Township Engineer, Health Officer, Building Sub-Code Official and other duly authorized employees of the Township bearing proper credentials and identification shall be permitted to enter upon all properties within the Township for the purpose of inspection, observation, measurement, sampling and testing, in accordance with the provisions of this Chapter and in accordance with N.J.S.A. 40A:26A-19.

p. If the Sewerage Utility of the Township of Springfield is charged additional fees by the RVSA, pursuant to its existing agreement, based upon the quality and/or quantity of flow, the Sewerage Utility reserves the right to pass those charges on to those industrial users of the sewerage system to whom such additional fees are attributable. It is the intent of this subsection that these additional fees shall be in addition to the annual sewer charge computed in accordance with subsection 20-6.1j, above.

It is the intent of this subsection that these additional penalties or charges imposed upon the Sewerage Utility or the Township of Springfield by the RVSA be added to the sewer service charges which have been computed in accordance with Sections 20-6.1b and 20-6.1j, hereunder.

u. Discounted Rates. The following property owners shall be entitled to a discount of ten (10%) percent off the annual service charge for Class "R" residential units (except for residential properties on septic) set forth in subsection 20-6.1b, above:

The bill will be forwarded by the Tax Collector to the property owner and shall be issued as one (1) bill with two (2) payment stubs. The first payment (which shall be not less than fifty (50%) percent of the total annual sewer service charge) shall be due on April 1 of each year and the second payment shall be due on October 1 of each year. There shall be a ten (10) day grace period from each due date, after which interest on the overdue amount shall begin to accrue. If the designated representative determines that there has been an error in the calculation of water flow or that the rate was calculated incorrectly, a revised bill will be promptly issued by the Township. If the designated representative finds that the bill is accurate, he or she shall so notify the property owner in writing within fifteen (15) days from receipt of the bill from the property owner.

b. If the property owner is not satisfied with the response from the designated representative, he, she or it may make a further written appeal to the Sewerage Utility Advisory Board ("SUAB") comprised of the following Township officials:

- (i) The Tax Collector;
- (ii) The CFO;
- (iii) A representative of the Engineering Department;

The SUAB shall conduct an informal investigation of the property owner's concerns and may take such testimony from the property owner, and his, her or its experts as it deems necessary. A formal decision shall be issued by the SUAB within thirty (30) days of the property owner's appeal to the SUAB, unless the SUAB obtains an extension from the property owner.

d. c. The decision of the SUAB shall be final and binding upon the Township and the property owner.

e. Notwithstanding the foregoing, under all circumstances, in order to take advantage of any of the appeal/procedures set forth above (a or b.), all sewer bills must first be paid in full. The building coverage will remain well below the allowable and the proposed side yard will meet the 17 ft requirement while the other side yard exceeds the minimum required by 5.7 ft. The existing lot coverage exceeds the allowance of 30% due to the unusual driveway from a right-of-way at the rear property line that also services adjacent homes. The proposed design will add only 136 square feet of coverage or .6 of one percent. The proposed improvements will not impair the intent and purpose of the zoning ordinance and will not be detrimental to the adjacent properties.
