Berkeley Heights secession moves forward

By Cheryl Hehl
Staff Writer

BERKELEY HEIGHTS — The governing body took yet another step towards withdrawing from the county last week when they unanimously passed a resolution asking the county clerk to add the question to the ballot so voters can provide input.

At the meeting held last week, Mayor Joseph Bruno explained why the township considered the move that could save Berkeley Heights $7 million a year in taxes. This year alone, he said, the township saw a hike in county taxes of $1.2 million, forcing reduced services for residents.

"There has to be a way to make New Jersey affordable," the mayor said, adding "this is my attempt to say enough is enough."

Bruno pointed out that since 1789 the township had been doing things the same way, explaining the state was suffering from overload of local, county and state government. The mayor also stressed the move towards secession was not political but rather frustration over a continued duplication of services.

Councilman Robert Woodruff was more blunt about the impact county taxes had on the township. He noted that of the $3.4 million the county set aside for special services and improvements throughout the county this year, the township will receive just $14,200. Bruno said this represented .31 percent of the total amount, with the majority of the money going "to towns that are friendly to the county."

In the past Bruno has openly chastised the freeholder board for financial mismanagement, which, he said, led directly to the township carrying a heavy county tax load. His accusations were not unfounded, according to information obtained by LocalSource.

For example, the average homeowner with a house appraised at $307,000 in 2012 paid $3,100 in county taxes. In fact, last year Berkeley Heights taxpayers shelled out a whopping $14.5 million to the county alone.

According to township estimates, if Berkeley Heights indeed managed to withdraw to Morris County, the savings would be significant. For instance, the average homeowner with the same house assessed at $307,000 would only be paying $1,662 in taxes in Morris County, or 46 percent less.

Last fall Woodruff told fellow governing body members it was imperative they do something for residents because the Union County freeholders come from six of the 21 municipalities with 51 percent of the population, but they make decisions for every property owner in the county.

"Are those freeholders acting in the best interest of this town?" he asked. Although that answer is ultimately up to

City's appeal on BOE budget denied by commissioner

By Cheryl Hehl

ELIZABETH — If the city was hoping the state commissioner of education would side with them and agree the school board could not be allowed to increase school taxes $3.6 million, they put their hopes in the wrong place.

Last week the New Jersey Department of Education responded back to Chief Financial Officer Tony Zengaro about his recent letter asking New Jersey commissioner of Education Chris Cerf to do something about the 7.5 percent increase, which was considerably above the 2 percent state-mandated cap.

The city chief financial officer explained the socio-economic profile of the city's population "is weak as reflected by the high poverty rate, persistently high unemployment and family income significantly below the state and national level." He did not include that the city council was so taken back by the increase that one member said it was "unconscionable" on the part of the school board and everyone agreed.

Zengaro did point out to Cerf the board of education's spending habits were less than stellar, though. He mentioned, for example, the district wasted money on "self serving pictorial banners and brochures," while the city maintained excellent services and stayed below the 2-percent cap. He also stressed that should this increase be allowed, the city would be forced to lay off 30 public safety employees in the police and fire departments.

But while Assistant Commissioner David Corso was sympathetic to the city's concerns about the financially overburdened taxpayers of Elizabeth, especially lower income taxpayers, he felt the school board was within their right to increase the school tax. In fact, he took the school board's side, saying things are not exactly the same for school districts when it comes to the 2-percent state-imposed cap.

"The tax levy for school districts is not a

Family, Fun and Flix is back for summer 2013

The Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders and the Department of Parks and Community Renewal are happy to announce the schedule of "Family Fun and Flix" – the free summer entertainment and film series on Tuesday evenings that gives families a chance to enjoy an outdoor activity and catch a movie under the stars in a Union County park.

"Family Fun and Flix begins at dusk, but come early to the park to enjoy interesting preview activities at 7:30 p.m. that are fun for the whole family," said Freeholder Chairman Linda Carter. "Bring a blanket or beach chair to claim your spot on the lawn or save a seat in the bleachers – either way, the early birds are sure to like the preview activity before each movie."

Come to Warinanco Park, on the border of Elizabeth and Roselle, Tuesday, July 9 at 7:30 p.m. when naturalists from Trailside Nature and Science Center will be on hand with the Ecovan to explain what makes a mammal a mammal. Get a close-up look at skulls, pelts and animal tracks to identify some local species. Then sit back at dusk and enjoy the story of a boy who tries to win the heart of his dream girl while learning about trees from a charming grump known as the Lorax in the 2012 animated musical comedy, "Dr. Seuss' The Lorax," featuring the voices of Zac Efron, Taylor Swift, Betty White, and Danny DeVito.

The other dates and locations for this summer's Family Fun and Flix are:

- Tuesday, July 16 at Warinanco Park: The Trailside Ecovan will feature a display about local birds before the showing of the animated monster comedy, "Hotel Transylvania."

- Tuesday, July 23 at Warinanco Park: The Trailside Ecovan will feature a display about turtles, snakes and other local reptiles before the animated fantasy comedy, "Brave."

- Tuesday, Aug. 6 at Meisel Park, Springfield: Be part of National Night Out, starting at 6 p.m., before viewing the animated family comedy, "Cloudy with a Chance of Meatballs."

- Tuesday, Aug. 13 at Conant Park, in Hillside: The Trailside Ecovan will feature a display about reptiles, before the animated comedy, "Madagascar 3: Europe's Most Wanted."

All movies start at dusk, weather permitting. For more information, call the Union County Department of Parks and Community Renewal at 908-527-4900 or visit the Union County website at www.ucnj.org. For program and rain information call 908-558-4079 after 3 p.m. on the day of the show.

'Sounds of Summer' at Arboretum

ART in the Garden, the trademarked initiative of Reeves-Reed Arboretum, will broaden its scope to include a comprehensive visual and performing arts program this year. The annual gala, being held on Saturday evening, June 1, will launch Sounds of a Summer Night, a summer long series of concerts-in-the-garden that will compliment the installation and wall-hung art exhibit of sculptor Tom Holmes.

The concert series will begin and end with performances by alumni artists from NJPAC's Wells Fargo Jazz for Teens program under the direction of legendary jazz artist Don Braden; a concert specifically crafted for botanic gardens by Rose & the Nightingale called "The Spirit of the Garden;" a kicking and stomping music fest featuring Adam Gussow and his one-man blues band; musical theater highlights featuring cabaret artists from NJPAC's Summer Youth Performance Workshop; and the sweet, cool sounds of jazz from Stefan Teti and his combo.

Sounds of a Summer Night began on Wednesday evening, June 26, corresponding with the Discover Summit Arts Program, and will end on Wednesday evening, September 11, with a special jazz concert commemorating 9/11.

Linden continues to win 'battle' with ShopRite

By Cheryl Hehl
Staff Writer

LINDEN — The highest court in New Jersey may have said the latest appeal brought against the city by ShopRite lacked merit and denied it, but the mayor has no doubt they have not heard the last from this supermarket when it comes to legal battles.

The store owners, Rockaway ShopRite Associates, has kept developer Duke Realty in court for years in an effort to stop construction of a large mall moving forward on the 108-acre former General Motors site fronting Routes 1 and 9.

The mall will be anchored by mega-store, Super Walmart, on one end and perhaps a home improvement store like Lowes. Duke Realty is still negotiating with this national chain store with the hope they will decide to come aboard as an anchor to 10 smaller retail stores planned for the mall. When that will be, though, is anyone's guess, according to Mayor Rich Gerbounka.

"I have no doubt that just before the 44-day period is up ShopRite will appeal to the Supreme Court," he said, but admitted he has not lost hope that ShopRite will back off and let the project move ahead.

"I'm happy about the latest court decision but this was just another frivolous lawsuit so they can stall Super Walmart," the mayor said.

On June 11 the New Jersey Superior Court Appellate Division not only denied ShopRite's petition, but found their arguments against the retail development "unconvincing," and "lacking in validity." The appeals court also said they found further discussion in an opinion from them was not warranted because the matter had previously been discussed at a lower court level.

"The issue of substantive validity having already been litigated once in the trial court and resolved on appeal, there is no reason to address it again. Rockaway ShopRite has not raised any new substantive issues that have not already been considered and resolved in our opinion. We find its efforts to convince us that there are additional issues warranting additional discovery to be unconvincing," the appellate court decision read.

Since 2011, ShopRite's lawsuits have been argued at the trial court level and resolved on appeal multiple times in the city's favor. Although there was a legal issue involving the way the city adopted the ordinance changing the zoning of the former GM site from industrial to retail commercial, this was resolved.

At this point the city and developer thought the project would move forward, but at the 11th hour Rockaway ShopRite Associates appealed the latest court decision, bringing the project once again to a halt. That was no surprise to the mayor.

"Their strategy is to delay, delay, delay," Mayor Rich Gerbounka said last week in an interview. He is convinced the privately owned Aviation Plaza supermarket's only purpose in continuing to drag the developer through the courts is so the owners of Super Walmart grow tired of waiting and decide to build elsewhere. The mayor chuckled at that thought.

"Walmart is used to harassment lawsuits that try to stop them from coming into an area," the mayor said, noting the national chain "signed on the dotted line and is ready to go."

Gerbounka also questioned the reasoning behind these continual lawsuits by Rockaway ShopRite Associates.

"Why are they so worried about Super Walmart coming in near them?" he asked, adding that if this supermarket "operates a quality business they should have nothing to worry about, right?"

"That's what America is all about: competition," Gerbounka added, pointing out that Home Depot and Lowes, McDonalds and Burger King all manage to co-exist in a competitive manner without lawsuits involved.

These court battles, the mayor said, have kept $5.2 million in annual revenue from the city and 2,500 people from obtaining jobs at the proposed mall and other warehouse developments that will be built on the large parcel of land.

To say this angers Gerbounka is an understatement. He has even gone as far as to tell Linden residents not to shop at the supermarket because the continual legal battles have kept much needed revenue from city coffers. That cuts to the core for this mayor. Especially this year when Gerbounka and the council had to cut $5.2 million from the budget to stay under the state-mandated 2-percent cap.

"Imagine the city having $5.2 million a year in revenue on top of $2.5 million from Spectra Energy, that would give us enough to dig ourselves out of the financial hole we are in and get back on our feet," the mayor said.

Rockaway ShopRite Associates were contacted multiple times for comment on the latest court decision but did not return calls to LocalSource.

Union County preps for gun buy back program, July 12

By Cheryl Hehl
Staff Writer

Next week anyone who owns a gun legally or illegally in Union County will have the opportunity to anonymously turn in their weapons in a “no questions asked” buy back that will pay them $250 per gun.

So far a statewide gun buy back program has resulted in 12,500 firearms being taken out of circulation. The program has been so successful it is being brought to Union and Hudson counties next week by Acting Attorney General John Hoffman.

“It is truly sobering to view the array of lethal weapons collected in front of us,” Hoffman said at a press conference held June 27 at the Union County Prosecutor’s office. “A gun that is no longer in circulation — a gun that no longer exists — cannot be used to commit a crime.”

The acting attorney general said the majority of weapons obtained through the gun buy back in other parts of the state have been operable and capable of either maiming someone or killing them.

“As we all recognize there are far too many guns on the street and far too many people dying as a result of gun violence,” Hoffman added. “I look forward to the day when gun violence is not as pervasive in our society, and we can direct our attention to other critical public safety issues. But we aren’t there yet and our campaign to stop the needless bloodshed goes on full force.”

Acting Union County Prosecutor Grace H. Park agreed, giving her full support to the program locally.

“Many firearms are purchased legally and used properly but now, for any number of reasons, owners may wish to discard them,” said Park. “A buy back program is a valuable resource for those owners wishing to properly dispose of unwanted guns to prevent them from winding up in the wrong hands and potentially cause harm to others.”

Hoffman said it was “truly sobering” to see the array of weapons that have been collected in other locations in the state, noting, for example, the recent gun buy back in Cumberland County. More than 2,509 firearms were turned in during a two-day buy back event held at several churches in this county. Other buy back programs in the state netted approximately 6,000 handguns that were subsequently destroyed.

“It is troubling to contemplate how much deadly firepower is out there in our communities on any given day just waiting to fall into the wrong hands,” Hoffman said. “That is why these gun buy backs are important. The weapons we buy back are taken off the street, once and for all, and melted down. They can never be stolen and used in a street crime. They can never kill a curious child. They can never turn a domestic argument into a tragedy. And they can never claim a life of one of our brave police officers.”

The attorney general’s office is paying the buy back with forfeiture funds obtained by its division of criminal justice. The Union and Hudson county prosecutor’s offices are also contributing forfeiture monies, as are the Union County Police Department and Sheriff’s offices.

The Union-Hudson gun buy back event is a cooperative effort involving the Union and Hudson prosecutor’s offices, the Union County Department of Public Safety, the Union County Police Department, the State Division of Criminal Justice, the Hudson and Union county sheriff’s offices, the New Jersey State Police, the Elizabeth, Linden and Plainfield police departments and the faith based communities in Union and Hudson counties.

The buy back in Union County will take place July 12 and 13 from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. at Morning Star Christian, 1009 Chandler Ave., Linden; New Zion Baptist Church, 800 Flora St., Elizabeth; and Shiloh Baptist Church Annex, 525 West Fourth St., Plainfield.

Elizabeth BOE follows the rules; tax increase stays hard 2-percent cap," Corso said, explaining that actually the school cap is calculated "as the sum of the current tax levy plus an adjustment for increases in enrollment multiplied by two percent."

From that point, Corso's explanation became even more technical. For instance, the cap, he said, can be increased by adjustments for hikes in health care costs, deferred pension contributions and increases or decreases for transferred responsibility from another school district or government entity.

"The current year cap may also be increased by unused cap amounts from previous years which may be 'banked' and utilized in the three following years," the assistant commissioner said, pointing out this was all clearly stated in state law, statute NJSA 18A:7F-39.

Corso's explanation was in line with what School District Board Secretary Don Goncalves said two weeks ago when the city requested the state commissioner of education to request the board to cut expenses. At that time, Goncalves said the school district had not raised taxes in several years and was allowed to bank unused cap.

He also explained that while the city had increased their tax levy $85 million over the last 16 years, by comparison the school district had only gone up $10 million during the same period of time. But while the tax levy may have remained stable, the budget itself did not.

In fact, since the 2010-2011 school budget year, the budget increased by close to $90 million, bringing the spending plan to $500.1 million. Of that amount, though, $417.1 million was funded by federal and state aid because it is an Abbott school district. The board secretary also said the board did not arbitrarily increase its levy, but prepared its budget according to the guidelines put out by the New Jersey Department of Education Office of School Finance. Goncalves further noted that increasing enrollment, longer school days and the cost of health benefits were to blame for the 7.5 percent increase in the 2013 school budget.

Corso agreed with Goncalves, explaining that the cap calculation of the Elizabeth school district for the 2013-2014 budget year included an adjustment for enrollment increases of $1.1 million as well as a $1.7 million increase for health care cost increases.

"These adjustments were reviewed and approved by the executive county superintendent during budget review and bring the total cap amount to $52.6 million," the assistant commissioner said, adding that this "is below the tax levy cap for the school year and is, therefore, within the statutorily permitted limit."

Mayor Chris Bollwage, however, did not see things the same way.

"I'm just worried about the message that comes out of Trenton, the one where Gov. Chris Christie imposes a hard 2-percent cap and we have to stay within it and the schools don't," the mayor said, adding that he was concerned about when the tax bills go out. "Folks are going to see the increase and they are going to be upset. The tax bills will be prepared in July. There is nothing I can do about it now," the mayor said, noting that the only other option was to go to court, but that was something he felt was not a viable option.

"By the time you go through all that, the tax bills are already in the mail, what's the point?" he said.

In June 2010 Bollwage and the city council were in the same position and took their objections to court, appealing a decision by the New Jersey Commissioner of Education, who turned down their request to certify and require the school board to stay within the state-mandated tax levy.

In their complaint, which was not heard in court until more than a year later, with a decision coming down in December of that year, the city contended that the commissioner's decision in favor of the school district was unconstitutional because it ignored voter rights to reject the budget and city council's statutory right to recommend cuts in the school budget. The court decided in favor of the commissioner, pointing out that neither the commissioner nor the school district had violated any constitutional rights of voters or the city council. The court said that generally, when voters reject a school budget, the governing body and board of education work together to make modifications. Despite the city arguing that they were within their right to file the complaint because they were not allowed their statutory right to make cuts in the budget, the court did not agree.

In the end it took a year and a half to wage the legal battle, the cost of which is unknown.

"It's not a road we are going down," Bollwage said.

Even though the state department of education is not going to do anything to help the city, they did end their letter with a parting comment.

"We at the department appreciate your hard work and dedication to the taxpayers of Elizabeth," said Corso, copying this missive not only to the governor, but Democratic State Sen. Ray Lesniak, Assemblyman Joe Cryan, and every member of the city council and board of education.

Berkeley Heights secession takes the next step forward the New Jersey State Legislature, Woodruff felt strongly enough about this issue to say it was worth a shot and the council agreed.

Since then this town has moved steadily on a course toward a non-binding referendum on the ballot, and taking the first major step on June 25 by passing a resolution asking the county clerk to include on the ballot the official question of whether the township should secede from the county or not.

Secession is nothing new, but the last time a New Jersey town was able to successfully secede from one county to another was in 1931, when a section of Gloucester County joined Gloucester Township in Camden County. Several other municipalities have tried since then.

As recent as ten years ago, six towns in Essex County, including Millburn, attempted to secede because of high taxes and a lack of services. Although these towns did not get very far in their quest, they did get the attention of Essex county leaders, resulting in steps being taken to resolve some of their concerns.

Berkeley Heights is following the legal steps required in order to secede to another county by filing a request with the county clerk no later than 74 days before the Nov. 5 election. The result of the election, however, is non-binding, which means a town does not have to do anything about seceding from the county, but merely shows the sentiment of voters.

If the township decides to move forward from there, the final step is the most difficult and crucial: putting the issue before the New Jersey legislature in order to get a two-thirds majority approval vote from both the assembly and senate. County officials, though, were not concerned about the fact that one of the towns in the county was looking into seceding.

"The issue of secession speaks to the kind of silly nature of the whole discussion because at the end of the day no one is going anywhere," said Freeholder Dan Sullivan when the issue surfaced months ago.

Watchung Stables offers summer discount on fun

Summer is here and Union County's Watchung Stable is offering a "Summer Saving Special" for all Union County residents from July 6 through July 28.

For every public trail ride purchased by a Union County resident during the month of July, a second rider will receive a discounted rate on that same day. The cost for the first participant will be $32 and the second participant will receive the discount rate of $20.

"Trail rides in the wooded Watchung Reservation are a great way to enjoy warm summer days," said Freeholder Chairman Linda Carter. "Now families and friends who like to ride can share the fun at a discount during the month of July."

The public trail rides are held every Saturday and Sunday at 1 or 2 p.m., weather permitting. All participants must be nine years of age or older and trail rides are on a first-come first-served basis. A valid form of ID is required to receive a discount.

For those younger riders under nine, Watchung Stable offers lead-lines on Saturdays and Sundays from 9 to 10:45 a.m.

Lead-line rides are available weather permitting and are held on a first-come first-served basis. The cost for a lead-line ride is $18 for Union County residents and $26 for out-of-county participants. Lead-lines are 30-minute rides only.

Special private group rides also are available at Watchung Stable for individuals or groups up to 15 people. These rides need to be set up in advance at a mutually convenient time.

The cost of a private ride is the rental fee (in-county $32; out-of-county $45) plus an additional $32 for the instructor. The summer discount rate does not apply for private trail rides.

The trail rides and lead-line rides are held at Watchung Stable, located at 1160 Summit Lane in Mountainside. Office hours are 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. daily.

Watchung Stable is a service of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders. For further information, call 908-789-3665 during normal office hours or email questions to stablequestions@ucnj.org.

Happy Independence Day

EDITORIAL

According to the calendar, summer began almost two weeks ago. Many people, however, consider Memorial Day to be the unofficial beginning of summer. But nothing really puts you in that summer frame of mind quite like Independence Day. Commonly referred to as the "Fourth of July," this holiday is best known for its parades, picnics, carnivals, fairs, family reunions, baseball games, political speeches and, of course, fireworks. But amid all the pomp and pageantry, the food and drink, what does this holiday really celebrate?

For the vast majority of Americans, this is an easy question: We're celebrating our nation's independence, and the freedoms that are guaranteed by our Constitution and the subsequent Bill of Rights, the freedoms that so many other people throughout the world do not have. It's an easy answer, one that has been ingrained in our minds since childhood. But what does it really mean?

The Fourth of July actually celebrates a document that preceded the U.S. Constitution by more than a decade: the Declaration of Independence. An abbreviated version of our nation's history would begin with our forefathers being frustrated by their status as Colonists, subject to the whims and taxations of mighty England. So they sent representatives from each of the 13 colonies to Philadelphia to discuss a plan of action.

On July 2, 1776, the Second Continental Congress voted to approve a resolution of independence that had been proposed in June by Richard Henry Lee of Virginia. That document declared the United States to be independent of Great Britain. This was only the beginning of the "fireworks," as a bloody American Revolution followed, culminating in the capture of the second British Army at Yorktown in 1781. The status of the new nation wasn't confirmed until a peace treaty was signed in 1783.

And the Declaration of Independence? Congress had appointed on June 11, 1776, a "Committee of Five," consisting of John Adams of Massachusetts, Benjamin Franklin of Pennsylvania, Thomas Jefferson of Virginia, Robert R. Livingston of New York and Roger Sherman of Connecticut, to draft a declaration.

Although the committee in general and Jefferson in particular wanted Adams to write it, Adams insisted Jefferson write the first draft. In the next 17 days, he did just that, and, with few alterations, it was presented to Congress. On July 4, 1776, the wording of the Declaration of Independence was approved and it was sent to the printer for publication.

But what does it mean? The Declaration of Independence begins by stating that governments are formed to protect the "life, liberty and pursuit of happiness" of their citizenry. It then states that when a government becomes "destructive of these ends," the people have the right to alter or abolish that government. The document then lists the British king's "repeated injuries and usurpations" of American rights and liberties, followed by a denunciation and further justification of revolution.

The document concludes "That these united colonies are and of right ought to be free and independent states; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connection between them and the state of Great Britain, is and ought to be totally dissolved."

Our fledgling nation had recognized a problem, identified its concerns and, finding no other remedy, had declared independence to secure its freedoms. Each year on this day we celebrate the fortitude and foresight of our Founding Fathers. They gave us the template; it is up to us to ensure that these freedoms remain for as long as we are a "nation under God." It is up to us to never forget.

We wish everyone a happy and safe Independence Day. Fly your American flag!

A sliver of history

BY FRANK CAPECE

brought out a spate of coverage of the event and pictures of the attendees to his funeral. Following the same decision at the time of the death of Whitney Houston, Gov. Chris Christie had state flags flown at half mast. The show and the character had been the subject of some intense criticism for its negative portrayal of Italian Americans and the state of New Jersey. Still there is no denying the interest and popularity of the actor. In a review of Gandolfini, Entertainment Weekly said, "With his intensity, forceful and emotional performance as Tony Soprano, the actor changed TV forever for the good. They rated the show the fifth greatest of all time. Even his less than famous movie after the Sopranos "Down the Shore" was doing a new bang up sale.

For Nancy Mondella, a Hillside Board of Education member, a trip to the local Township Meeting brought her an unusual touch of history. Among the common issues that face municipal government is the awarding of solid waste contracts. Mondella, who speaks occasionally at meetings, questioned the bidding process. Later on she attempted to speak again in her role as Board of Education liaison. When told she would have to wait until all other public speakers had their first time at the microphone she sat down.

After the wait, Mondella, speaking as to the impact on the school kids, was told that she did not have to be afforded a second time to speak. The diminutive Mondella was then escorted out of the meeting by a local police officer at the direction of the Council President. Old timers can't even recall the escorting out of a meeting of an official in past Hillside meetings. Mondella doesn't acknowledge the event as a touch with local history. When asked if she was going back to the next meeting, her one word response was "absolutely."

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Happy Independence Day

To the Editor:

As we look forward to this 4th of July, the family barbecues and the dazzling fireworks displays, we should pause to reflect on that first Independence Day in Philadelphia when these words were spoken.

“When in the Course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another.”

These words plant the seeds of freedom. This declaration further states.

“We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.”

Keep these words close to your heart, embrace the American spirit, and may God bless us all.

Police respond to many incidents in Union County

Linden

• June 22: at 6:55 p.m. Linden police received a call that an individual had just pointed a handgun at a group of people in Roselle and fled into Linden.

According to the police report, Officer Rick Bachmann, who was on patrol in the area, soon observed Marquis Davalle Tucker, 25, of Linden, whom he had known from prior interactions, standing at the corner of Chandler and Essex avenues. When he called for backup officers, Tucker reportedly fled on foot toward the nearby railroad tracks. The officer observed Tucker climbing a hill onto the tracks, and could see that he was holding a black handgun in his hand. Several officers responded and set up a perimeter on the 700 block of Carnegie Street. Soon afterward, they observed Tucker hiding in a backyard and placed him under arrest at gunpoint. At this point, Tucker no longer had the handgun, so officers checked the nearby backyards and located a .380-caliber black automatic pistol lying in the grass behind a house on the block. Two residents of that house told officers they were sitting in the backyard when they saw a gun come flying through the air from the wooded area by the tracks. According to police, Tucker was charged with unlawful possession of a handgun, certain persons not to possess weapons, resisting arrest by flight and trespassing on railroad property. He was sent to the Union County Jail in lieu of $100,500 bail with a June 28 court date. The handgun was not loaded.

Clark

• June 19: On Westfield Avenue, police arrested Michael Seltzer, 20, of Clark, for possession of a controlled dangerous substance. He was subsequently released on his own recognizance pending a court date.

POLICE BLOTTER

According to police, Melissa Pietrangelo, 23, of Clark, was also arrested for possession of a CDS. She was detained on outstanding warrants totaling $1,500 from Little Ferry and Linden. She was subsequently turned over to the Linden Police Department. Kenneth Gaulette was the arresting officer.

• June 22: In the vicinity of Central Avenue, police arrested Silvia Nole, 34, of Cranford, for driving while intoxicated. She was subsequently released on her own recognizance pending a court date, police said. Christian Lott was the arresting officer.

• June 23: In the vicinity of Walnut Avenue, police arrested Alanna Jereb, 20, of Union, for DWI. She was subsequently released on her own recognizance pending a court date, according to police. Christian Lott was the arresting officer.

Union

• June 14: In the vicinity of Village Road, Erik Davis was arrested for DWI, aggravated assault, obstructing and resisting during a motor-vehicle stop by Officer Scudieri.

• June 14: A silver Infiniti G37 with license plate L63CUY was stolen from Springfield Avenue, police said. A black male reportedly pulled up in a gray tinted Audi and jumped in the Infiniti and started the vehicle.

• June 14: James B. Harris Jr. was arrested for warrants by Officer Loguidice during a suspicious-persons call on Walker Avenue.

'Foul play'

On June 25, the Linden Recreation Summer Playground Program kicked off its first week by holding their first park event, the Foul Shooting Contest. This year, there were six 1st place winners in various age groups of the annual foul shooting contest. From left: Jowan Dolbrice, Jenaya Hodge, Henry Torres, Brianna Libreros, Gabriel Ramirez, and Tah'-Ky Philippe.

Will this be the year my tomatoes survive?

I grow lots of plants — roses that leap to new altitudes every year and daylilies in ever-expanding clumps. My hellebores regularly give birth to numerous offspring and the hardy geraniums thrive. If I believed in green thumbs, I might justifiably say that I have one.

But no matter what I do, I can't grow tomatoes.

Other people do it with ease. Within a two-block radius of my house I know of many individuals, including a few under 10 and a few more over 80, who grow bumper crops. These people eat tomatoes all summer and the ones who are old enough to reach the stove cook up gallons of sauce for the next winter. Some of them have so many tomatoes that they give them away to friends and family. My neighbors' soil is no better or worse than mine. Our tomato cages are the same design. All of us do battle with the usual array of suburban plant predators. The whole problem is puzzling.

I have tried to grow standard hybrid tomatoes like Big Boy and heirlooms, including Brandywine. As a lover of all things historical I was particularly upset several years ago when my Brandywine plant yielded a total of four tomatoes. The year before last I swore off tomatoes completely, vowing to support local agriculture by buying my weekly quota at the farmers market. I had plenty of tomato sandwiches — the best possible summer food — and tomato salads, quiches and pasta dishes. Still, I felt unsatisfied.

THE GARDENER'S APPRENTICE

BY ELISABETH GINSBERG

This year I renewed my vow to abstain from tomato growing, but a funny thing happened at one of the local plant sales in March. A couple of cherry tomato plants found their way into my basket.

They are not just any cherry tomatoes, but Sunsugar hybrids, which bear golden yellow fruit. The picture by the tomato plant display made them look both gorgeous and delicious. No tomato will ever give me the euphoric rush that I get when I buy a new rosebush, but when I saw the little Sunsugar plants, I couldn't stop myself. I bought them.

When I got them home, I potted them up in large containers, thinking that I would keep my infant tomatoes safe from raccoons by growing them on the back porch. After a suitable amount of time, they set blossoms. I was elated. Then the blossoms wilted and no tiny fruits appeared in their place. Clearly pollination was an issue, despite the fact that my tomatoes were surrounded by an array of blooming annuals.

There was nothing to do except lug the containers down the back steps and set the pots amid the roses and catmint in the back garden. I thought the catmint might deter the groundhogs, not to mention the nimble raccoons, all of whom are so ingenious that they could easily send their offspring to MIT. I repositioned the jazzy blue tomato cages that I bought to complement the golden fruits, watered faithfully and waited. The plants produced even more blooms and I finally saw my first tiny tomato, round and green and hanging from a branch. It has been followed by a dozen others now, and I am eagerly awaiting the day when the first one will be ready to pick. Maybe this year my wait will be over and I will find myself up to my eyeballs in cherry tomatoes come high summer. Then, like a diehard Boston Red Sox fan, I will know that the curse has finally been lifted from my tomato-growing efforts.

While I wait for the ultimate outcome of this year's tomato adventure, I remind myself that I am perfectly able to grow edible crops. The basil on the porch has already yielded enough leaves to make a small batch of pesto and the blueberry bush is holding fast to a bumper crop of immature fruit. I never harvest leaves from the creeping thyme in the front, but it is creeping in fine fashion and certainly counts in the edible-plant tally.

I suspect that I just don't value tomatoes the way I value roses. At heart I am an ornamental gardener. These days that kind of assertion garners sneers from some of the more smug home-vegetable growers, but it is true. I am sure that if I could find the inclination to wax rhapsodic over tidy vegetable beds and compose odes to 2-pound zucchinis, I would also be able to grow so many tomatoes that I would have extras to lob at Mr. Antlers when he strolls through the garden.

I don't foresee that happening.

Still, perhaps the Sunsugar tomatoes will prove me wrong. I check them and water them every day and throw every bit of available used cat litter down the groundhog hole to thwart any evil designs the groundhog might have on my crop. While I wait, I thumb through the rose catalogs. After all, I have a few sunny spaces left in the garden and they are NOT crying out for pepper plants.

Someone you just met can help you to make the most of a difficult situation, Aries. It shouldn't take too long for you to get back on track and into a groove.

TAURUS, April 21 to May 21.

Taurus, make sure you assert yourself more in an important meeting this week. Asserting yourself can help you get ahead at work. Otherwise, you may get overlooked.

GEMINI, May 22 to June 21.

Negotiations will be especially rewarding this week, Leo. Your suggestions are readily accepted, and you do not have to persuade others much at all.

VIRGO, Aug. 24 to Sept. 22.

SUDOKU

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE TOWNSHIP COMMITTEE OF THE Township of Springfield, County of Union, State of New Jersey, as follows:

SECTION I - AMENDMENT
Section 7-7.3 Temporary Parking Prohibition for Snow Plowing and Removal, shall be amended to read as follows:

As to all streets, roads and highways within the Township, whenever snow or other precipitation has fallen and the accumulation is such that it covers any such street, road or highway, an emergency shall thereby exist, and no vehicle shall be parked on or so as to cover such street, road, or highway, or any portion thereof. An unoccupied vehicle parked or standing in violation hereof shall be deemed a nuisance and a menace to the safe and proper regulation of traffic, and in addition to all other fines and penalties, such vehicle shall be subject to towing, the cost of which to be paid for by the owner or operator of the vehicle before such vehicle shall be released, after reasonable attempts have been made to contact the owner of such vehicle so it may voluntarily be moved.

New Roselle coach Williams eyes great football success

Was assistant coach at East Orange Campus

By JR Parachini
Sports Editor

Unlike the three previous head football coaches at Roselle, James Williams comes in never having coached a game at Arminio Field before.

Williams, officially hired at last Tuesday night's Roselle Board of Education meeting, is coming in as an assistant and will be a head coach for the first time - like his predecessors.

However, his previous coaching experience was not done at Roselle. It was completed on Marion Bell's staff at East Orange Campus.

A big man - well over 6 feet - with a solid football coach presence, Williams is now taking on the challenge of being a head coach for the first time and doing so at a smaller school that's in a different county.

NEW UNION COUNTY FOOTBALL COACHES FOR 2013:

SUMMIT - Kevin Kostibos, was assistant coach at Summit

UNION - Lou Grasso Jr., was head coach at Roselle

GOV. LIVINGSTON - Dan Guyton, was assistant coach at Johnson

ROSELLE - James Williams, was assistant coach at East Orange Campus

"Union County football is good football down there and the conference (Mid-State 38) will be hard," Williams said. "I want to make the kids believe that they can win."

Williams, 42, conducted his first team practice last Wednesday. His offense will be led by three-year starter Tyrone Crutchfield, a senior quarterback who can throw the ball deep.

"Tyrone has a real good arm," Williams said. "We'll try to make him be in more of a leadership role."

Speaking of being a leader, Williams had designs all along of becoming a head coach one day.

"I've had it in the back of my mind the past few years," Williams said.

Williams spent the past 19 seasons (1994-2012) as an assistant coach, including 1994-2001 at his high school alma mater, Clifford Scott, and then at East Orange Campus since 2002, the year the two East Orange schools merged. He goes from being the defensive coordinator at East Orange Campus to the head coach at Roselle, succeeding Lou Grasso Jr., who in April was named the new head coach at Union.

The three previous head coaches at Roselle who succeeded Lou Grasso Sr. - Chris Satterfield, Kenneth Wiggins and Grasso Jr. - were all previously assistant coaches at Roselle who then became head coaches for the first time.

Satterfield, Wiggins and Grasso Jr. each served three-season terms. Now Williams gets an opportunity to make his presence felt. The Rams are seeking to win their first playoff game in 15 years.

"I felt this was the right situation for me," said Williams, who is a 1989 Clifford Scott graduate who played for Bill Norwood as a Scottie.

Williams, who played offensive and defensive tackle at Clifford Scott and on the offense line in college, served as the head coach of the East team in this year's 19th annual Robeson Classic at East Orange's Robeson Stadium. He was also involved with the North team in last week's 35th annual North-South All-Star Football Game at Kean.

"I learned a lot as an assistant coach," Williams said. "You learn to deal with kids and different personalities."

Williams also served as an assistant coach under Norwood and then the late Larry Schumacher before Bell became the head coach at East Orange Campus in 2004.

"I also learned a lot playing for Coach Norwood," Williams said. "The one thing about him was that he was always organized."

"You have to be organized in order to have a good practice and a good game."

On Bell's staff at East Orange Campus, Williams was a part of the program's only playoff-era state championship when the Jaguars captured the North 1, Group 4 crown in 2007, beating Montclair 31-13 at the old Giants Stadium to complete an 11-1 campaign.

"Coach Bell means a lot, not only on the football side, but on a personal side," Williams said. "He taught me a lot about football and about life."

ROSELLE FOOTBALL COACHES SINCE LOU GRASSO SR. (1979-2003)

2012: (2-8) Lou Grasso Jr.

2011: (6-4) Lou Grasso Jr. - made N2, G2 playoffs

2010: (7-3) Lou Grasso Jr., was assistant at Union - made CJ, G2 playoffs

Lou Grasso Jr. record (15-15, .500)

2009: (5-5) Kenneth Wiggins

2008: (5-4) Kenneth Wiggins

2007: (3-7) Kenneth Wiggins, moved up from being an assistant

Kenneth Wiggins record (13-16, .448)

2006: (3-7) Chris Satterfield

2005: (3-7) Chris Satterfield

2004: (4-6) Chris Satterfield, moved up from being an assistant

Chris Satterfield's record (10-20, .333)

NOTES: Satterfield, a 1982 Roselle graduate, was 10-20 (.333) in his three seasons (2004-2006) as Roselle's head coach following Lou Grasso Sr.

Satterfield played for and coached under Grasso Sr., who had a record of 124-113-3 (.523) during his 25 seasons (1979-2003) as the head coach.

Grasso Sr. led the Rams to the North Jersey, Section 2, Group 2 crown in 1989 and to the final in North Jersey, Section 2, Group 1 in 1981 and North 2, Group 2 again in 1990.

Elizabeth's Walker excels at quarterback once again

Lifts North to record-setting 54-8 all-star win

By JR Parachini
Sports Editor

UNION — For one player — Elizabeth's Phillip Walker — this was just the beginning.

For another — Bloomfield's Javon Santos — this was the end a stellar high school football career.

Walker, on offense, and Santos, on defense, played integral roles in leading the North to a record-setting 54-8 triumph over the South in last Monday night's 35th annual North-South All-Star Football Game at Kean University's Alumni Stadium.

Walker, The Star-Ledger's 2012 Offensive Player of the Year, will continue on scholarship at Temple.

"It was exciting to hang around with all of these players," Walker said. "We formed a very special bond."

Santos, a key player for Bloomfield in its quest to capture North 1, Group 5 last fall, will attend William Paterson University after playing his final game.

"To go out with a win like this is a great feeling," Santos said. "For this to be my last game is something I will always remember."

Both Walker and Santos played in state championship games last fall, with Walker leading Elizabeth to the first North 2, Group 5 championship and the program to its first state title since 2006.

Santos helped lead Bloomfield to its very first state playoff victory and the program's second state championship game and first in 38 years.

2013 NORTH-SOUTH ALL-STAR GAME MVPs

South defense: 33-Dylan Dobzanski, LB, (6-1, 220), Delsea

South offense: 5-Cameron Nash, RB, (5-8, 180), Piscataway

North defense: 10-Marquise Watson, LB, (6-0, 250), Paramus Catholic

North offense: 21-Akrum Wadley, RB, (5-11, 180), Weequahic

Walker — a finesse dropback quarterback with an accurate, strong throwing arm who can also keep the ball and run east-west or up the middle — threw touchdown passes in the first and second quarters as the North scored on its first five possessions. On the same field last December, he drove Elizabeth down the field on its final drive — one that covered 98 yards in the final minute — and threw a 49-yard touchdown pass to Jahad Thomas to beat Piscataway 37-33 en route to a perfect 11-0 campaign.

"I watch that play every day," Walker said.

Walker (6-1, 210) then led the North to touchdowns on its first two drives at Alumni Stadium, which is just down the road — Morris Avenue to be exact — where he guided Elizabeth to 26 victories the past four seasons.

He might also like what he sees on film of him hitting wide receiver Joe Jordan of Lakeland in stride for a 66-yard touchdown pass and the game's first points.

"We had a lot of speed, so it was my job to find the receiver," Walker said. "The main thing is to hit the receiver in stride."

"I used to throw to the player, not to the spot. That's one of the things I worked on and developed as I matured."

Behind Walker and Caldwell's Sonny Puzzo behind center and Weequahic's Akram Wadley and Madison's Justin Goodwin running and catching the ball, not only did the North become the first team to score more than 50 points, but it tied the series for the first time since 1992 when the second tie was produced to put the series at 6-6-2 at the time.

The North, which has now won the last two games and three of the last four, will attempt next year — for the first time since 1993 — to take its first series lead.

The North's previous high of 37 points came in its 37-15 win at Rutgers in 1995. The South's high of 41 points came in its 41-7 triumph at Rutgers in 1983.

Santos (5-10, 195) was part of a North defense that limited the South to just one score, which came right before halftime and after the North built a commanding 38-0 lead.

Santos, from his linebacker position, was in on several tackles, including a solo stop of South quarterback Nick Palladino on the final play of the third quarter.

"We were very prepared on defense after working hard all weekend long," Santos said. "The atmosphere here was just ridiculous with all of these great players."

"We made sure to contain, emphasizing containment. At the end of the day it was our hustle that prevailed."

Walker, who started at quarterback for Elizabeth since the first game of his freshman season back in 2009, is ready for the challenge Temple football will present.

"Temple gave me the opportunity to compete and play as a freshman," Walker said.

Walker could have turned his back on the Owls once head coach Steve Addazio left in December to become the head coach at Boston College. However, he felt very comfortable with new head coach Matt Rhule, who is a former Penn State player who grew up in State College, Pa.

"Coach Rhule is a very honest man," Walker said.

Walker played for former Penn State captain Chet Parlavecchio his freshman season in 2009, which is the only season Elizabeth finished under .500 since 1980. Parlavecchio, in his first season at the helm of the Minutemen, guided Elizabeth to the 2006 North 2, Group 4 crown.

"Coach P was a great coach," Walker said. "I was only 14 years old and the guys made it comfortable for me to play."

John Quinn took over as head coach in 2010, with Elizabeth rebounding from an uncharacteristic 1-9 campaign to finish 5-5, winning five of its final six contests.

"Coach Quinn is the greatest coach in Elizabeth history," Walker said. "He wanted us to succeed on the football field and to also grow up as men."

Santos starred for longtime Bloomfield head coach Mike Carter, who took over as head of the staff in 1991 after Parlavecchio guided the Bengals for four seasons. Carter, a 1979 Bloomfield graduate, was one of Parlavecchio's assistants.

Decisive victory for North as the series is now tied

The Bengals, after winning their first two state playoff games, came within less than a minute from upsetting Montclair in the North 1, Group 5 championship game.

The favored Mounties prevailed 16-13 in double overtime in a thrilling contest at East Rutherford's MetLife Stadium.

"To be on the first Bloomfield team to win a playoff game and then get to the championship game was pretty special," Santos said.

"Then to come here and represent Bloomfield football and the town was an honor."

The Johnson athletic department held its 2013 Spring Athletic Awards June 6 at the high school.

The evening, sponsored by the Crusader Athletic Booster Club, was held in the Arthur L. Johnson Auditorium.

All the spring teams and their seasons were highlighted by their coaches while they handed out letters and awards to the student-athletes.

Over 110 varsity athletic letters were handed out throughout the evening, as participation in athletics at Arthur L. Johnson High School continues to grow.

The program continued with the Student Athlete Award, which was presented by the Principal of Arthur L. Johnson High School, Mr. Rick Delmonaco. The Student Athlete Award is given out each athletic season to a student athlete that is not only a champion on the field, but in the classroom as well.

The 2013 Spring Student Athlete award recipient was Patricia Bailey.

The evening culminated with the announcement of the Team Most Valuable Players. The MVPs were: Baseball - John Stauffer, Golf - David Berry, Lacrosse - Sean Myers, Softball - Jamie Cheeka, Tennis - James Douglas, Boys' Spring Track & Field - Michael Vieira, Girls' Spring Track & Field - Cristina DeCristofaro.

The Supervisor of Athletics, Health, and Physical Education, Gus Kalikas, had this to say about the event: "The Spring Sports Awards was a wonderful event that allowed the administration, teachers, coaches, parents, and student athletes a chance to reflect on a wonderful spring sports season while honoring our student athletes for their remarkable accomplishments.

"Our teams, coaches, and student athletes continue to raise the bar both in the classrooms and on the athletic fields and the Clark School District could not be more proud of their performance this past spring sports season."

Rams get new gridiron coach

Wiggins, who grew up in the Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn, N.Y. where he played linebacker for the football team at Boys High School, coached the special teams for one year at now Boys & Girls High and then spent two years as the offensive coordinator at Lafayette High, also in Brooklyn.

Wiggins served as the linebackers coach at Roselle for four years before being named the head coach for the 2007 season.

Wiggins was 13-16 (.448) in his three years at the helm, including leading Roselle - in 2009 - to its first winning season since 1998, when the Rams went 8-3 and reached the North 2, Group 2 semifinals after winning a quarterfinal contest.

Grasso Jr. spent the 2008 and 2009 seasons as the offensive coordinator at Union under head coach Brian Sheridan. Grasso Jr. and Sheridan were roommates at Rutgers, where they both played linebacker.

Before Union, Grasso Jr. coached quarterbacks, outside linebackers and was a special teams coordinator on John Quinn's staff at New Brunswick.

Out of Rutgers, Grasso Jr. became an assistant coach on his father's staff at Roselle in 1997 and spent seven years there, three as offensive coordinator.

Grasso Jr. is a 1993 Colonia graduate who played fullback and linebacker for head coach Pat Barbato. Grasso was 15-15 (.500) in his three years at Roselle, including leading the Rams to the playoffs - in 2010 - for the first time since 2000.
